DISMISSAL REQUESTED

Laotian Summit Collaspes; Civil War Threat Near

PLAINE DES JARRES, Laos (AP)—A summit conference of the three leaders of Laos's coalition government collapsed Saturday and Prince Souvanna Phouma announced he will ask King Savang Vathana to be relieved as premier. His departure could spark full civil war.

The idea of the rightist, neutralist and leftist meeting was to turn the royal capital of Luang Prabang into the temporary administrative capital in an attempt to solve Laos' year-old crisis.

NO RESULTS

Souvanna, a neutralist, came out of a field tent in which the leaders had been meeting for two days and said no results had been reached. He had conferred with Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, the rightist faction leader, and Prince Souphanouvong, leader of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao and half-brother of Souvanna.

Souvanna, who has been premier for 22 months, told newsmen:

"Upon my return to Vientiane (permanent administrative capital) I will make a report to his majesty the king.

"Because of my inability to solve the Laotian problem I will ask the king to relieve me from functions of coalition premier."

He looked grim, depressed and nervous. Asked if the king would accept his resignation, Souvanna replied: "I don't know."

Souvanna had asked the king to relieve him a year ago, but the king requested him to stay on the job.

Souvanna was scheduled to leave April 23 with the king on state visits to France and Britain. It was reported in Paris, however, that because of his prostate operation, President Charles de Gaulle had informed the Laotians he could not receive the king and Souvanna and that a later date would have to be set.

Annual Cancer Drive Canvass Set For Today

Volunteer workers in 14 parishes of Northeast Louisiana will conduct a house - to - house canvass Monday in the annual Cancer Crusade to raise funds to combat cancer.

James Harbuck, Ouachita Parish drive chairman, explained that a "major effort" would be concentrated on Ouachita, but officials of the American Cancer Society said the drive, house - to - house, would also be conducted throughout the Fifth District.

April is Cancer Month in the United States when the annual Cancer Crusade is sponsored by the American Cancer Society. It is sponsored locally by the Ouachita Parish Unit.

Mrs. G. Fred Beckett, parish coordinator, is heading up the Ouachita house - to house drive, assisted by Mrs. DeWitt T. Milam, Ward 10, Mrs. Fred E. Lindsey, Ward 3, and Mrs. Matilda Collins, Ward 5.

"This will be one of the biggest drives we've ever conducted," Mrs. Beckett explained. "Our volunteer workers will knock on doors all over the parish. Of course, we encourage everyone to cooperate."

Dr. N. R. Spencer, president of the Ouachita Unit, explained that funds collected locally are used locally to assist cancer victims. He noted that a portion of the money also goes to cancer research.

"Money collected on the local basis is used to help cancer victims locally," Dr. Spencer said. "It also is used to finance the costly research that will someday lick cancer."

Local chapters throughout the Fifth District are sponsoring the house - to house campaign in their respective parishes.

Ben Hecht Dies With Book Near

NEW YORK (AP) — Ben Hecht, the author, died Saturday at the age of 70, leaving a legacy of millions of words in print and on film. An open book and his reading glasses lay beside his body.

In a career which started as a cub reporter, Hecht turned out about 70 motion picture scripts, 26 books, 20 plays and hundreds of short stories and magazine articles.

C119 Planes Crash In Air; Several Die

WILMINGTON, Ohio (UPI)—Two C119s apparently collided in flight Saturday night about 10 miles away from the nearby Clinton County Air Force Base while approaching for a landing, killing about 14 of the 19 aboard.

The base spokesman said the planes carried 10 Air Force reservists on weekend training and nine Army paratroopers out of Fort Campbell, Ky. He said the extent of the casualties was not officially known, as he had received no word from the investigating team at the scene.

14 DEAD

A newsman at the scene said there were 14 dead, and that 17 of those aboard had been accounted for. Three servicemen were reported injured, two critically, and taken to the Wilmington Memorial Hospital for treatment.

Paul Bennett, a farmer living about a quarter of a mile from the crash scene about five miles from here, said he was sitting in his kitchen when he heard "a terrific explosion, ran to the front door and saw flames come from one plane as it crashed to the ground."

The farmer said he ran to the telephone, called the base and ran to the crash scene where one plane burned furiously. The other flying boxcar, he said, was lying crumpled up about 100 yards away.

Bennett said the survivors were around the plane which did not burn. He said he also saw three men wearing parachutes around the planes, both demolished.

Sen. Eastland Chides North On Attitudes

Questions Degree Of Mix Violence For North, South

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mississippi Sen. James O. Eastland told the Senate on Saturday it is difficult to understand why President Johnson and other civil rights advocates consider "sit-ins, lie-ins and sleep-ins" violent in the North and peaceful in the South.

"A trespass on private property is equally or more reprehensible than a stall-in on a public road or highway," the Southern Democrat said, and in both instances the community should take any steps necessary to remove the trespassers and maintain law and order.

NORTH'S WARNINGS

Eastland spoke in the wake of a series of warnings by Johnson, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and Senate civil rights leaders that unruly demonstrations, such as the planned tieup of World's Fair traffic in New York City, would slow progress toward bettering the Negro's lot and impair the chances for passage of civil rights legislation.

The House-approved measure is receiving snail's-pace treatment in the Senate. Saturday was the 34th consecutive session and the third Saturday given over to debate.

Eastland and another Southern segregationist, Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., handled the speaking chores for Dixie, while Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., spoke in the measure's defense, describing it as moderate and conservative.

Meanwhile, behind the scenes:

—Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois registered their opposition to round-the-clock sessions, a move advocated by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, Democratic whip, as a means of putting pressure on the Southern speakers.

—Humphrey, floor manager for the bill, and other civil rights champions conferred with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy over amendments Dirkson has introduced to the equal employment opportunities section. Later, Kennedy was reported having said, "I am for Title 7 as it stands."

Scout, Fishermen Save Swimmer, 19

By BILL DAKIN
World Staff Writer

A 13-year-old Monroe Boy Scout, Gary Crumpton, held on to a struggling and apparently drowning Monroe youth in Bayou DeSiard late Saturday until help arrived and aided in rescuing the stricken swimmer.

Don Higgenbotham, 19, of 609 Roselawn Ave., was pulled from Bayou DeSiard about 7 p.m. Saturday by three fishermen after he apparently suffered cramps and became unable to swim.

He was rowed to bank, given artificial respiration by a bystander and rushed to St. Francis Hospital by a Kilpatrick ambulance. He was reported in good condition late Saturday.

According to witnesses, this is what happened.

Higgenbotham was swimming near the middle of the bayou about dusk when he apparently suffered cramps. He shouted to nearby fisherman, B. J. Green that he needed help. Green, who was accompanied by his wife and cousin in his boat, was approximately 150 yards from the stricken swimmer and shouted to a nearer fisherman, the Crumpton youth. Crumpton was about 75 yards away and immediately started rowing to the swimmer's aid.

During the approximate one minute it took Crumpton to reach Higgenbotham, the floundering swimmer had gone down "two or three times," Crumpton said. The 13-year-old Troop Seven Scout then made three attempts to hold the stricken swimmer above water. Each time he fought loose and went under. On the fourth attempt, the Green party arrived and aided in pulling Higgenbotham into a boat.

The semi-conscious youth was rowed to bank and given arti-

Goldwater Still Strong, Nixon Says

Nomination His If Senator Wins California Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard M. Nixon predicted Saturday that if Sen. Barry Goldwater wins the California primary he will either become the Republican presidential nominee "or will come very close to naming him."

The former vice president and 1960 GOP standard-bearer told the American Society of Newspaper Editors that he believes "there has been too much tendency to write off Barry Goldwater" because of his showing in early primaries.

GAINING DELEGATES

Actually, Nixon said, the Arizona conservative "is very close to having the requisite number of delegates" to go into the GOP convention in July with nomination assured.

This paralleled a claim made Saturday by Goldwater himself. In a speech prepared for the editors' convention, he predicted his own victory "on the first or second ballot" if he captures California's primary and wins the delegates he expects to get in June state conventions.

But another avowed candidate, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, told the editors that if opinion polls are a reliable guide, a Lodge-Nixon ticket will carry the GOP standard against a Johnson-Kennedy slate for the Democrats.

Nixon's political forecast came in a question-and-answer session. He noted that the political fortunes of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller also may hinge on the California primary. If Rockefeller wins it, "the premature burying of him will have to be re-examined," Nixon said.

And Nixon said Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, now foremost in some public opinion polls for the GOP nomination, has become "a force that the convention cannot ignore"—especially since he stands a good chance of winning the wide-open Oregon primary.

But Nixon said that Lodge, if he wants to be a presidential candidate and wants to make an issue of foreign policy, should resign from his ambassadorship in South Viet Nam and come home to make an issue of the conduct of the Vietnamese war against communism.

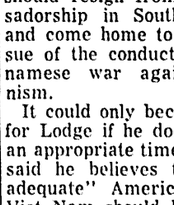
It could only become an issue for Lodge if he does resign "at an appropriate time," and Nixon said he believes that the "inadequate" American policy in Viet Nam should be a GOP issue.

He declared that Michigan's Gov. George W. Romney and Pennsylvania's Gov. William W. Scranton still are "very much in it." Then he offered what he called "a professional judgment" on the Democratic contest for a vice-presidential running mate for President Johnson.

"If the polls in November are like they are now, it will be Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.)," Nixon said.

Partly Cloudy Skies Forecast

The Twin Cities will continue to enjoy warm weather today and Monday, but widely scattered afternoon thundershowers may result in the area.



WARM

Skies will be partly cloudy, with only about 40 per cent sunshine but southerly winds will keep temperatures near the 80 - mark. Today's high is expected to be between 78 and 82, dropping to a low point of 64 or 68 tonight. Monday's temperatures should be about the same.

Saturday's mild temperatures climbed to 81 and a low of 66 was recorded. Thundershowers in the early hours Saturday brought .02 inches of rain for the Twin Cities.

Hope Ended On Survivors In Jet Crash

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Divers reached the wreckage of a jetliner in the Persian Gulf Saturday and reported they have given up all hope of finding any survivors among the 49 persons—including 23 Americans—aboard, an airline spokesman said.

The French-built Caravelle of Middle East Airlines-Air Liban plunged into the gulf while trying to land in a swirling sand storm Friday night at Dhahran, Saudi Arabia. It was just three minutes from landing time at the end of a two-hour nonstop flight from Beirut.

OIL EMPLOYES

Visibility at the time — 11:30 p.m. — fluctuated between 300 feet and 1,500 feet. The pilot was reported making a normal landing approach when the plane lost contact with the tower in Dhahran.

Most of the Americans aboard were employed or connected with the Arabian American Oil Co.—Aramco—which has headquarters and a complex for its employes at Dhahran.

Reports from Dhahran said only one body had been recovered and rescue operations were continuing.

Rescue operations were being impeded by rough weather, which began easing slightly after dark, the spokesman said.

The weather had cleared enough Saturday morning to permit a search by helicopter and small surface craft. A U.S. Navy spokesman reported the plane was sighted in shallow water between the British-protected island of Bahrain in the Persian Gulf and Dhahran. The exact location was given as 10 miles south-southeast of Dhahran.

Warriors Circle Whites In Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — A group of white missionaries in restive Kivu Province has messaged that their Lemera mission is menaced by encircling warriors and appealed for help from the United Nations.

Informed sources said Saturday that U. N. civilian operations men have been dispatched to Bukavu, 40 miles north of the mission, as a precaution of it becomes necessary to withdraw the missionaries.

They are about 20 Swedes and five or six Norwegians of the Pentecostal faith. As of Friday night, the mission was unharmed. The messages reported, however, the missionaries feared the warriors would attack.

FOUR OTHERS INJURED

Two Persons Die In Area Accident

RAYVILLE (Special)— A Rayville man and his grandson were injured fatally and four others hospitalized as a result of a car-truck collision east of Rayville Saturday afternoon on U.S. Highway 80.

The dead were identified as Wayne Sargeant, one and one-half year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Sargeant Sr.; and Doyle Green, 48, of Rt. 4, Rayville, driver of the car. Louisiana State police said the child was killed instantly. Green died several hours later in St. Francis hospital of injuries suffered in the crash.

The accident occurred at 2:25 p.m. Saturday about four and one-half miles east of Rayville when the car in which the two victims were riding was struck by a truck-trailer rig. The child's father is stationed in the Phillipines in military service and Mrs. Sargeant, with their three children, was staying with her father, Mr. Green, at his home.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete for both the boy and Mr. Green. The child's body was taken to Mulhearn Funeral Home in Rayville and Mr. Green's body taken to Gay's Funeral Home in Delhi.

The injured, all riding in the car driven by Mr. Green, include Mrs. Sargeant; her other two children, Mary Ann, six-months of age, and Charles E. Sargeant Jr., age 3; and Jessie G. Green, 14, of Rt. 4, Rayville.

Full extent of their injuires were not known late Saturday, but hospital officials said all were being kept overnight for observation. Mrs. Sargeant sustained a severe gash on the head, bruises and possible fractures. Family members said the children seemed to have suffered only minor injuries.

French Present Statue Of Saint To New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — A statue of Joan of Arc, the French peasant girl who became a general and later a saint, was officially presented to the United States and New Orleans on Saturday by France.

An honor guard from the French navy ship, Jeanne d'Arc, stood at attention as Baron Bruno de Leusse, first minister of the French Embassy in Washington tendered the statue to Mayor Victor Schiro.

DANGLES FROM ROPE

Balloon Soars Aloft Bearing Young Boy

MILL VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — A 12-year-old boy, dangling from a rope, was carried to a height of 3,000 feet by a balloon Saturday before the pilot realized the youngster's plight.

The pilot, William Berry, 36, of Concord, Calif., then put the hot-air balloon into a rapid descent and landed the boy safely.

The lad, Danny Nowell, of Tennessee Valley, had volunteered with others to hang onto restraining ropes until the pilot was ready for his ascent.

As the lad was jerked into the air 75 horror-stricken spectators screamed. Some women knelt in prayer.

At a height of 3,000 feet Berry sensed that something was amiss.

He saw the boy and at once cut off the fans that forced hot air into the 50-foot-high balloon.

Berry descended gently in the back yard of Robert Dewalt, two miles from the launching.

Danny was taken to Marin General Hospital where his left hand, badly discolored from loss of circulation, was treated. He was transferred to the Army's Letterman General Hospital in San Francisco.

Hopes Halt Possible In Next Decade

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson ordered a sweeping study Saturday of military manpower policies to determine whether the draft can be eliminated in the 1970s.

Johnson made the announcement at his second news conference in three days, this one a 35-minute session in his office, not announced in advance.

ALTERNATIVES

The President said Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara will undertake the one-year study to "consider alternatives to the present draft selection system, including the possibility of meeting our requirements on an entirely voluntary basis in the next decade."

Asked if this foreshadows a cutback in military strength, the chief executive said: "I wouldn't want to anticipate the results of that study. Of course, it is the hope of everyone that tensions in the world can ease, that we can bring about disarmament, that we can take part of the resources that are now going into military production and protection" and "spend them on a better society and a greater society."

Draft calls this year have run between 16,000 and 12,000 monthly.

During the Berlin crisis of 1961 the monthly quota climbed to a peak of 25,000 in September. In the fall of 1962 and again in early 1963 monthly quotas were at a low of 4,000.

Politics again figured prominently in Johnson's give-and-take with newsmen. In response to one question, Johnson seemed to concede that Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona is the

Goldwater Gets Louisiana GOP Nomination Bid

ALEXANDRIA, La. (AP) — The Louisiana Republican Party Saturday instructed its 20 delegates to the national convention to seek the nomination of Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona for president and Charlton H. Lyons Sr. of Shreveport for vice president.

Lyons, a wealthy oilman, made state history last month in his losing race for the governorship when he picked up 300,000 votes although the party registration was only a little more than 12,000.

The boisterous convention shouted down Lyons as he pleaded not to put an iron clad order for his name to be put up for vice president.

"We might find it is not an advantageous thing to do," he said. "I believe that instead of a mandate you should express a wish."

The convention then agreed that the Louisiana delegation could bow to Goldwater's wishes for a vice president after first putting in Lyons' name.

The convention elected Lyons as one of four delegates-at-large to the San Francisco convention, boosted him to membership on the State Central Committee and named him state party chairman. He will lead the Louisiana delegation to the July meeting.

But Nixon said that Lodge, if he wants to be a presidential candidate and wants to make an issue of foreign policy, should resign from his ambassadorship in South Viet Nam and come home to make an issue of the conduct of the Vietnamese war against communism.

It could only become an issue for Lodge if he does resign "at an appropriate time," and Nixon said he believes that the "inadequate" American policy in Viet Nam should be a GOP issue.

He declared that Michigan's Gov. George W. Romney and Pennsylvania's Gov. William W. Scranton still are "very much in it." Then he offered what he called "a professional judgment" on the Democratic contest for a vice-presidential running mate for President Johnson.

"If the polls in November are like they are now, it will be Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.)," Nixon said.

Hope Ended On Survivors In Jet Crash

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Divers reached the wreckage of a jetliner in the Persian Gulf Saturday and reported they have given up all hope of finding any survivors among the 49 persons—including 23 Americans—aboard, an airline spokesman said.

The French-built Caravelle of Middle East Airlines-Air Liban plunged into the gulf while trying to land in a swirling sand storm Friday night at Dhahran, Saudi Arabia. It was just three minutes from landing time at the end of a two-hour nonstop flight from Beirut.

OIL EMPLOYES

Visibility at the time — 11:30 p.m. — fluctuated between 300 feet and 1,500 feet. The pilot was reported making a normal landing approach when the plane lost contact with the tower in Dhahran.

Most of the Americans aboard were employed or connected with the Arabian American Oil Co.—Aramco—which has headquarters and a complex for its employes at Dhahran.

Reports from Dhahran said only one body had been recovered and rescue operations were continuing.

Rescue operations were being impeded by rough weather, which began easing slightly after dark, the spokesman said.

The weather had cleared enough Saturday morning to permit a search by helicopter and small surface craft. A U.S. Navy spokesman reported the plane was sighted in shallow water between the British-protected island of Bahrain in the Persian Gulf and Dhahran. The exact location was given as 10 miles south-southeast of Dhahran.

Partly Cloudy Skies Forecast

The Twin Cities will continue to enjoy warm weather today and Monday, but widely scattered afternoon thundershowers may result in the area.

WARM

Skies will be partly cloudy, with only about 40 per cent sunshine but southerly winds will keep temperatures near the 80 - mark. Today's high is expected to be between 78 and 82, dropping to a low point of 64 or 68 tonight. Monday's temperatures should be about the same.

Saturday's mild temperatures climbed to 81 and a low of 66 was recorded. Thundershowers in the early hours Saturday brought .02 inches of rain for the Twin Cities.

Warriors Circle Whites In Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — A group of white missionaries in restive Kivu Province has messaged that their Lemera mission is menaced by encircling warriors and appealed for help from the United Nations.

Informed sources said Saturday that U. N. civilian operations men have been dispatched to Bukavu, 40 miles north of the mission, as a precaution of it becomes necessary to withdraw the missionaries.

They are about 20 Swedes and five or six Norwegians of the Pentecostal faith. As of Friday night, the mission was unharmed. The messages reported, however, the missionaries feared the warriors would attack.

FOUR OTHERS INJURED

Two Persons Die In Area Accident

RAYVILLE (Special)— A Rayville man and his grandson were injured fatally and four others hospitalized as a result of a car-truck collision east of Rayville Saturday afternoon on U.S. Highway 80.

The dead were identified as Wayne Sargeant, one and one-half year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Sargeant Sr.; and Doyle Green, 48, of Rt. 4, Rayville, driver of the car. Louisiana State police said the child was killed instantly. Green died several hours later in St. Francis hospital of injuries suffered in the crash.

The accident occurred at 2:25 p.m. Saturday about four and one-half miles east of Rayville when the car in which the two victims were riding was struck by a truck-trailer rig. The child's father is stationed in the Phillipines in military service and Mrs. Sargeant, with their three children, was staying with her father, Mr. Green, at his home.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete for both the boy and Mr. Green. The child's body was taken to Mulhearn Funeral Home in Rayville and Mr. Green's body taken to Gay's Funeral Home in Delhi.

The injured, all riding in the car driven by Mr. Green, include Mrs. Sargeant; her other two children, Mary Ann, six-months of age, and Charles E. Sargeant Jr., age 3; and Jessie G. Green, 14, of Rt. 4, Rayville.

Full extent of their injuires were not known late Saturday, but hospital officials said all were being kept overnight for observation. Mrs. Sargeant sustained a severe gash on the head, bruises and possible fractures. Family members said the children seemed to have suffered only minor injuries.

French Present Statue Of Saint To New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — A statue of Joan of Arc, the French peasant girl who became a general and later a saint, was officially presented to the United States and New Orleans on Saturday by France.

An honor guard from the French navy ship, Jeanne d'Arc, stood at attention as Baron Bruno de Leusse, first minister of the French Embassy in Washington tendered the statue to Mayor Victor Schiro.

DANGLES FROM ROPE

Balloon Soars Aloft Bearing Young Boy

MILL VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — A 12-year-old boy, dangling from a rope, was carried to a height of 3,000 feet by a balloon Saturday before the pilot realized the youngster's plight.

The pilot, William Berry, 36, of Concord, Calif., then put the hot-air balloon into a rapid descent and landed the boy safely.

The lad, Danny Nowell, of Tennessee Valley, had volunteered with others to hang onto restraining ropes until the pilot was ready for his ascent.

As the lad was jerked into the air 75 horror-stricken spectators screamed. Some women knelt in prayer.

At a height of 3,000 feet Berry sensed that something was amiss.

He saw the boy and at once cut off the fans that forced hot air into the 50-foot-high balloon.

Berry descended gently in the back yard of Robert Dewalt, two miles from the launching.

Danny was taken to Marin General Hospital where his left hand, badly discolored from loss of circulation, was treated. He was transferred to the Army's Letterman General Hospital in San Francisco.

Hopes Halt Possible In Next Decade

Johnson made the announcement at his second news conference in three days, this one a 35-minute session in his office, not announced in advance.

ALTERNATIVES

The President said Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara will undertake the one-year study to "consider alternatives to the present draft selection system, including the possibility of meeting our requirements on an entirely voluntary basis in the next decade."

Asked if this foreshadows a cutback in military strength, the chief executive said: "I wouldn't want to anticipate the results of that study. Of course, it is the hope of everyone that tensions in the world can ease, that we can bring about disarmament, that we can take part of the resources that are now going into military production and protection" and "spend them on a better society and a greater society."

Draft calls this year have run between 16,000 and 12,000 monthly.

During the Berlin crisis of 1961 the monthly quota climbed to a peak of 25,000 in September. In the fall of 1962 and again in early 1963 monthly quotas were at a low of 4,000.

Politics again figured prominently in Johnson's give-and-take with newsmen. In response to one question, Johnson seemed to concede that Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona is the

Goldwater Gets Louisiana GOP Nomination Bid

ALEXANDRIA, La. (AP) — The Louisiana Republican Party Saturday instructed its 20 delegates to the national convention to seek the nomination of Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona for president and Charlton H. Lyons Sr. of Shreveport for vice president.

Lyons, a wealthy oilman, made state history last month in his losing race for the governorship when he picked up 300,000 votes although the party registration was only a little more than 12,000.

The boisterous convention shouted down Lyons as he pleaded not to put an iron clad order for his name to be put up for vice president.

"We might find it is not an advantageous thing to do," he said. "I believe that instead of a mandate you should express a wish."

The convention then agreed that the Louisiana delegation could bow to Goldwater's wishes for a vice president after first putting in Lyons' name.

The convention elected Lyons as one of four delegates-at-large to the San Francisco convention, boosted him to membership on the State Central Committee and named him state party chairman. He will lead the Louisiana delegation to the July meeting.

Local Junior High Students Tour Mexico

By SARAH LITTLE
World Staff Writer

Nineteen excited local junior high students are slated to arrive in Mexico City today, eager to try out their classroom Spanish and tour the old ruins of the ancient city.

The group represents Spanish students from the class of Mrs. Gerry Vineyard at Ouachita Parish Junior High School who departed on the Mexican trip from Monroe Friday. They will stay at the Hotel Metropole in Mexico City today through Wednesday morning before leaving on their way back home.

The itinerary while in Mexico City, according to Mrs. Vineyard, will include visits to the pyramids, old Aztec Indian ruins, the historical museums, the floating gardens, cathedrals, a Baptist seminary and church, a Mexican School and other points of interest.

"We plan to eat some of the popular Mexican dishes," Mrs. Vineyard said, adding that on the return trip the group will visit Saltillo and watch handloomed blankets being made. The class will also visit the Bishops Palace in Monterrey and tour the old city before leaving for Monroe Friday. They will also stop at San Antonio, Tex. and tour the Alamo.

The youngsters, a mixture of eight boys and 11 girls, raised money to pay for the trip through cake, pie and candy sales, rummage sales, car washes and a variety show at the school. "They had a lot of fun and learned quite a bit just in the fund-raising process" Mrs. Vineyard said, before pointing out that the trip will be an invaluable aid in furthering their study of Spanish and the Spanish speaking people.

The youths making the trip include Beverly Henson, Susan Walters, Cathleen Baham, Gwen Egloff, Merilyn Matkins, Lavania LaDart, Patricia Mercer, Evelyn Joynor, Carol Rushing, Candy Butler, Lois Boatright, Mike Barnidge, Robert Standard, Wayne Evans, David Shoemaker, Mike Flowers, Robert Watts, Bruce Swindle and Don Puckitt, from OPHS. Chaperones in addition to Mrs. Vineyard include Mrs. A. J. Lester, Mrs. Ed Hislop, Mrs. Lloyd Bealle and Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Witt. The group went by chartered Trailways bus.

Installation Today To End Convention

Installation of new officers and presentation of awards will climax the annual Spring convention of District III Pilot Clubs here today.

The festivities will close at a breakfast this morning on the roof of the Virginia Hotel at 8 o'clock when Dr. Vilda Shuman, Pilot International representative, installs the officers. A memorial service will also be given this morning by Gov. Polly Harris and Chaplain Mary Burns McNamara while presentation of annual awards and gifts will be made by Mrs. Mary Virginia Simrall, director, Pilot Club International.

The highliight of Saturday's sessions came with the banquet at 7:30 p.m. at which the Rev. John Klipatrick, pastor, Mangum, Memorial Methodist Church of Shreveport, spoke. Earlier, another highpoint was recorded when Dr. Shuman addressed the luncheon at 12:30 p.m. on the Roof.

Dr. Shuman said we must strive to live up to our potential, pointing out that with our "God given talents and abilities, we can choose either to do or not to do." She said we must choose whether "to be ministered unto or to minister unto others". Entertainment was provided at the luncheon by Rocky Robin, Cajun story and joke teller.

During the afternoon session, the convention sleected Biloxi, Miss., as the site of the fall council Oct. 17 and 18 and awarded the "Miss-Lou" contract to the Winnfield Club. This contract entails the official publication of the District III Pilot Clubs. A reception at 10 p.m. following the banquet closed activities Saturday night. Officials said that 218 Pilot Club members from throughout Louisiana and Mississippi registered for the convention.

New officers, elected Saturday afternoon, and to be installed this morning include Miss Phebe Hopper, Corinth, Miss., new district governor; Mrs. Louise Talley, Leesville, first lieutenant governor; Miss Ann Townsend, Columbus, Miss., second lieutenant governor; Mrs. Henrietta Knox, Baton Rouge, treasurer; and Mrs. Elizabeth Lowden, Corinth, Miss., secretary.

Awards to be presented include the McIver Achievement award, Club of the Year Award, Melbourne G. Holt Trophy, Best Pressbook and McSwean Attendance award.

The new district administrative council, new district chairmen and new presidents-elect will meet briefly in the Cameo Room following adjournment of the convention after breakfast. Theme of the convention was "Hands and Hearts United in Service."

Queen Crowned At Auto Show; Ends Late Today

Miss Patricia Trudnak of St. Matthews High School was crowned queen of the 1964 Auto Show Saturday night, climaxing first day activities of the annual event being staged at Eastgate Shopping Center.

More than 300 late model cars and trucks are on display at the shopping center and will remain there through 6 p.m. today when the 1964 show closes. Activities got underway Saturday morning when Miss Louisiana, Miss Linda Baucum of Springhill, led off a parade through downtown Monroe-West Monroe at 10 o'clock. Approximately 75 vehicles were in the parade.

Officials estimated that close to 5,000 local and area residents browsed through the car displays Saturday and are expecting an even larger crowd today. Local jazz bands and school bands from Neville High, Ouachita Parish High and West Monroe High provided music for the show until 6 p.m. Saturday when a Hootenanny contest was staged preceeding the coronation of the new auto show queen.

Mayor W. L. (Jack) Howard crowned Miss Trudnak at 8:15 p.m. Saturday, transferring the title from the 1963 Queen, Miss Betty Varino. Miss Trudnak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Trudnak of 204 Carolina Ave., Monroe, will receive a $150 gift certificate. She was sponsored in the contest by Studebaker Motors.

First and second runners-up of the show, sponsored by the Monroe and West Monroe New Car and Truck Dealers Association, were Miss Cecilia White of St. Matthews High, and Miss Jeanette Liner, Ouachita High. They will receive gift certificates of $100 and $60, while all other queen contestants and the 1963 queen received $25 gift certificates.

Winners in the Hootenanny contest include Andre Robinson, a Northeast State College coed who played the guitar and sang, in first place; the New Town Singers, of Bastrop, second; and Bobby Durham, NLSC student who played the guitar and sang. They won cash prizes of $100, first place; $60 for second place; and $40 for third place.

Other girls who competed in the Queen contest include Daria Dunckelman, NLSC; Becky York, OPHS; Martha Watson, West Monroe High; Jacque McBee, NLSC; Mary Louise Tolan, Neville High; Sherry Branch, Neville High; Claudia Roberts, West Monroe High; Barbara Hoff, West Monroe High; Sharon Thigpen, NLSC; and Jill Ann Marx, Neville High.

Polish President Operated Upon

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — President Alexander Zawadski, 65, underwent surgery two days ago for an ailment of the digestive tract, the official Polish press agency reported Saturday.

"The postoperation symptoms are correct," a brief announcement said, giving no further information on the exact condition of the president and member of the ruling Communist party poliburo.

The agency, quoting the Ministry of Health, said Zawadski had been in a hospital for more than 10 days and would remain hospitalized for several weeks.

Monroe Police Book Negro On Battery Count

A Monroe Negro, Virgil Henderson Jr., 43, of 1511 Hawk St., was booked by Monroe Police Saturday on charges of aggravated battery.

Henderson reportedly struck Ella Mae Mack, Negro, 36, of 2402 Renwick St., on the head with a brick, police said. She was treated at a local hospital and released.

The incident occured about 12:30 a.m. Saturday. Henderson was arrested at 11:55 a.m. at 2400½ Renwick St.

Henry Rumminger Jr., 35, of 1019 Alabama St., was booked by Monroe law officials on charges of driving while intoxicated and reckless driving.

Rumminger was booked at 9:50 a.m. Saturday after being apprehended on Kansas Lane at Selman Field.

Legion To Meet Monday Night

The L. B. Faulk American Legion Post No. 13 will lay plans for Memorial Day services at their regular meeting Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the American Legion Home of Forsythe Avenue.

J. B. Bradley Sr., Post Commander, said in addition to the Memorial Day planning, numerous other business matters are to be discussed and it is important that all members be present.

He added that the American Legion Auxilliary will also meet at the Home at the same time Monday. Refreshments for both groups will be served. Bradley said Memorial Day services will be held Sunday afternoon in a local cemetery May 31.

FOREGONE CONCLUSION

SEATTLE (AP) — There's no lack of confidence among members of the King County Republican Central Committee. Their calendar of events for the year includes these two dates for next fall:

"Nov. 3: General election."

LARGEST FORKED LEAF

MARION, Ky. (AP) — The forked leaf white oak tree on Roe Williams' farm is considered by some experts to be the largest of its kind still standing in America.

It is 6½ feet in diameter at the base, 118 feet high and is an estimated 1,000 years old.

Winners Named In Greek Week Song Festival

Phi Mu Sorority at Northeast State took first place in the annual Greek song festival Friday night when five national social organizations competed for honors in Biedenharn Hall. Scoring second was Kappa Alpha Fraternity, and third place went to Alpha Omicron Pi Sorority.

The festival highlighted Greek Week activities which ended last night with a dance in Gunby Dining Hall on campus.

Chapters of the organizations sang before a capacity audience who heard three numbers presented by each group.

Trophies were awarded to the two top scorers, and President George T. Walker sent a cash award to each participating organization. Alpha Omicron Pi Sorority captured third place in rating done by off-campus judges.

Judging the music were Mrs. Joe W. Caskey, Walter Mangham and Eugene Smith. Miss Frances Baldwin, Panhellenic faculty adviser, was in charge of the program.

Members of social Greek organizations had a social hour in the College Union Building after the song festival.

FOREIGN AID DISCUSSED

Passman Confers With Jordan King

Louisiana's Congressman Otto E. Passman, who, as chairman of the House Foreign Operations Appropriations Subcommittee, is the Nation's No. 1 foreign aid budget cutter, told Jordan's King Hussein at a luncheon in Washington on Thursday, that he is "in sympathy with the problems of Jordan."

But, in their across - the - table conversations at Blair House, which is the President's guest-house for visiting heads of State from other countries, he also emphasized to the visiting Near-East monarch and his official party that he is "particularly in sympathy with the problems of the American government and the American taxpayer," and that he will continue to work to cut the President's requests for foreign aid.

The king was host for the luncheon, which was a small affair, with relatively few guests, and Congressman Passman's impression was that he was "charming and personable."

He said he appreciated the young king's acknowledgement that he would always appreciate "how the United States stood by him personally and in very difficult times," which was apparently a reference to American aid in Jordan during domestic turmoil, but he also noted, he said, that the United States could not "continue to carry the financial load for his country or all the rest of the world, either."

In their exchange of remarks, Congressman Passman said, he made "crystal clear" that countries which receive help from this nation must "exert their full efforts also to help themselves."

Without going into details, Congressman Passman expressed the hope, too, that Jordan and Israel would take "constructive steps" to adjust "some of their major differences."

Local Building Pace Rises

Building permits issued hit a new peak this past week when permits for $232,161 worth of construction were written, according to Dale Martha, coordinator for the City Inspection Department.

Martha said one permit, for $172,111, was issued to the House of Light for construction of a brick electrical fixtures sales building to be located at 1221 N. 18th Street. Contractors for the eight-room building were listed as Lincoln Builders.

A $15,000 permit was issued to Monroe 66 Oil Company for erection of a masonry service station at 400 Hudson Lane. Three other permits written for new construction were to Leonard Taylor, to build a brick residence at 2316 Whitney Dr., $26,000; Pomroy Bonner, to erect a brick residence at 236 Oregon Trail, $12,000; and to Lloyd Fox, to build a brick residence at 2318 Amalie St., $17,000.

Permits written for additions or alterations to existing structures went to Baker Blackmon, add a frame carport at 118 S. 21st St., $100; T. F. Price, alter a frame house at 2814 Gordon Ave., $300; Q. H. Hudnall, add to frame house at 1611 S. 4th St., $1,800; Monroe City School Board to add a frame equipment room at Jefferson Junior High School, 1009 Pecan St., $1,500; H. W. Donachy, add and alter a frame house at 404 Forsythe Ave., $500; Keith Perry, add to frame residence at 606 Wilmuth St., $1,800; Charles Ryan, alter frame house at 1708 Riverside Dr., $200; George Smith, add frame storage at 1010 S. 6th St., $100; Milling Bernstein, add carport, 1810 Island Dr., $1,250; and Joseph Piro, add to brick residence at 1010 Roselawn, $2,000.

Two demolishment permits were issued to Charles Stratford, for a frame house at 115 Vicksburg St., and Mrs. Mary Hawthorn, frame house at 813 Mangum Alley.

Moving permits were issued to Willie Carradine, frame house from 807 McHenry Alley to outside the city; Willie Carradine, move house from 809 McHenry Alley to outside city; G. W. Welch, frame house from 1011 Oak to outside the city; Robert Layton, frame house from 110 Greens Alley to 1803 Bayou St.; C. O. Boyd, frame house from 810 Wood St., to West Monroe; R. W. Winners Named In Greek Week Song Festival

Phi Mu Sorority at Northeast State took first place in the annual Greek song festival Friday night when five national social organizations competed for honors in Biedenharn Hall. Scoring second was Kappa Alpha Fraternity, and third place went to Alpha Omicron Pi Sorority.

The festival highlighted Greek Week activities which ended last night with a dance in Gunby Dining Hall on campus.

Chapters of the organizations sang before a capacity audience who heard three numbers presented by each group.

Trophies were awarded to the two top scorers, and President George T. Walker sent a cash award to each participating organization. Alpha Omicron Pi Sorority captured third place in rating done by off-campus judges.

Judging the music were Mrs. Joe W. Caskey, Walter Mangham and Eugene Smith. Miss Frances Baldwin, Panhellenic faculty adviser, was in charge of the program.

Members of social Greek organizations had a social hour in the College Union Building after the song festival.

The special week's activities included a barbecue and skits presented by social Greek groups and humorous races on the drill field, a phase of the program initiated this year.

deputy sheriffs said Green pulled out of a driveway onto U.S. 80 into the path of the truck, driven west on the highway by William A. McFarland, 39, of Kilgore, Tex. The rig was the property of Ace Truck Leasing Co., Kilgore, Tex. Investigating officers said McFarland attempted to dodge the Green vehicle, but struck it in the left rear side. No charges were filed, pending completion of the investigation. McFarland was not hurt.

The injured were all taken to the clinic in Rayville for emergency treatment and later transferred to St. Francis hopsital in Monroe by Mulhearn ambulance.

LEAFLETS FAIL

ELISABETHVILLE, the Congo (AP)—A U.N. spokesman said a campaign in which 100,000 leaflets were dropped asking renegade Kataganese former Gendarmes to surrender has failed.

He said those who gave themselves up had neither weapons nor proof they were ex-gendarmes.

front-runner for the Republican presidential nomination.

Johnson related that he talked Friday to a man "very knowledgable in public affairs" who thought Goldwater might go into the GOP nominating convention in July with some 632 votes and that more than 500 votes "looked like a pretty solid figure."

Referring to Goldwater, Johnson said, "I think he will be up there pretty high."

Declining to announce his own candidacy for election, the President said, "I try to keep as far away from partisanship and campaigning as I can. I try to keep my politica lspeeches restrained."

The chief executive said he wants to "be president of all the people and do what I think is best for all the people; not just best for Democrats, but best for all Americans."

He said it is "very damaging to the American nation to have opposition for opposition's sake and to have blind opposition." He said "it grieves me" to see party-line opposition to measures "calculated to benefit all Americans" but he did not go into specifics.

The chief executive said he would have something to say "about the responsibility of the candidates" when he addresses the annual luncheon of The Associated Press in New York on Monday.

Johnson said his speech will encompass "a very general statement of our foreign policy," notably with respect to American-Soviet relations, Cuba Communist China, Viet Nam and Latin America.

Johnson opened his news conference by saying he has seen what he termed a "very inaccurate" published report that his Monday speech will announce plans for a cutback of 45 per cent in the production of fissionable materials for nuclear weapons.

Reading at a rapid clip, Johnson began the conference with a series of statements and announcements, one of them reciting encouraging economic statistics.

He also reported a year-to-year drop of 900 in federal employment, saying, "It is significant that it dropped at all because it has generally been increasing."

And he said government spending during the first three months of his administration averaged $1 million a day less than during the last three months of the administration of President John F. Kennedy.

Other opening announcements included these:

—Eugene Patterson, editor of the Atlanta Constitution, will be nominated to fill the only remaining vacancy on the Civil Rights Commission. He will replace M. Robert Storey, dean of the law school at Southern Methodist University also Harold Russell, handless paratroop veteran of World War II, will succeed the late Gen. Melvin Maas as chairman of the President's Committee Employment of the Physically Handicapped.

One of the first questions put to Johnson dealt with the White House negotiations aimed at averting a national rail strike threatened for next week.

The President said indications coming from persons familiar with progress of the talks have almost all "been encouraging and hopeful." He said, "We have had a very productive few days."

Demo Senator Denies Report Of Being Hurt

WASHINGTON (AP) — An aid to Sen. Clair Engle, D-Calif., denied Saturday a newspaper report that the senator tripped over a rug in his Washington home and suffered a slight injury.

The News Call Bulletin of San Francisco said Engle's wife, Lucretia, confirmed the fall in a telephone conversation, declined to say what day it happened, but said the senator did not go to a hospital.

Paul Green, press aide to the ailing senator, said he spoke to Mrs. Engle after hearing of the newspaper story and that she denied that the senator had fallen or that she had said he had fallen.

After being read an Associated Press account of the News Call Bulletin story, Green said: "I would like to officially deny the story."

Engle's health is a key issue in the 12-man race for the Democratic senatorial nomination in California's June 2 primary.

MILLION-DOLLAR JAGUAR— NOT FOR SALE!

The center of the first Mayan Empire, Chichen Itza, lifted its great pyramids above the forests of the Yucatan Peninsula on the east coast of Mexico in the fifth century, A.D.

Deep within the largest pyramid is a chamber dominated by a throne in the shape of a red jaguar, spotted with inserts of green jade. The Mexican government refused $1,000,000 for it 30 years ago!

Far to the north stand the remains of another ancient city, Teotihuacan, which housed 250,000 people in 700 A.D.

And only 35 miles from there is a modern capital of today's world—Mexico City. Here, the tall buildings are examples of the best in modern architecture. Commerce and industry, theater and the arts, education and medicine, people and customs—all are of today's world.

Knowledge of our modern neighbor is important today. Send for the free 16-page booklet, "Know Mexico," Box 1900, New York 19.

Presented in the interest of international goodwill through the cooperation of The Advertising Council, the Consejo Nacional de la Publicidad, and the Newspaper Advertising Executives Association.

LSU Advisors

Cynthia Leigh and Paula Neal of Monroe have been selected to serve as freshman advisors this fall at Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge, it was announced by Dean of Women Helen B. Gordon.

LSU's freshman advisors, numbering 100, are a group of outstanding upperclass women students who serve as "big sisters" to the incoming freshman coeds and help orient them to the life of the university.

Miss Leigh is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Edmund Leigh, and Miss Neal is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Neal.

Choir Concert

The West Monroe Junior High School Choir department will present its annual spring concert Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. There will be no admission charge. The theme will revolve around a school year, depicting a holiday for each month. A few students will provide "living portraits" to make each holiday "come alive." There will also be a potpourri section of all types of songs.

deputy sheriffs said Green pulled out of a driveway onto U.S. 80 into the path of the truck, driven west on the highway by William A. McFarland, 39, of Kilgore, Tex. The rig was the property of Ace Truck Leasing Co., Kilgore, Tex. Investigating officers said McFarland attempted to dodge the Green vehicle, but struck it in the left rear side. No charges were filed, pending completion of the investigation. McFarland was not hurt.

The injured were all taken to the clinic in Rayville for emergency treatment and later transferred to St. Francis hopsital in Monroe by Mulhearn ambulance.

LEAFLETS FAIL

ELISABETHVILLE, the Congo (AP)—A U.N. spokesman said a campaign in which 100,000 leaflets were dropped asking renegade Kataganese former Gendarmes to surrender has failed.

He said those who gave themselves up had neither weapons nor proof they were ex-gendarmes.

Hopes Halt Possible In Next Decade

front-runner for the Republican presidential nomination.

Johnson related that he talked Friday to a man "very knowledgable in public affairs" who thought Goldwater might go into the GOP nominating convention in July with some 632 votes and that more than 500 votes "looked like a pretty solid figure."

Referring to Goldwater, Johnson said, "I think he will be up there pretty high."

Declining to announce his own candidacy for election, the President said, "I try to keep as far away from partisanship and campaigning as I can. I try to keep my politica lspeeches restrained."

The chief executive said he wants to "be president of all the people and do what I think is best for all the people; not just best for Democrats, but best for all Americans."

He said it is "very damaging to the American nation to have opposition for opposition's sake and to have blind opposition." He said "it grieves me" to see party-line opposition to measures "calculated to benefit all Americans" but he did not go into specifics.

The chief executive said he would have something to say "about the responsibility of the candidates" when he addresses the annual luncheon of The Associated Press in New York on Monday.

Johnson said his speech will encompass "a very general statement of our foreign policy," notably with respect to American-Soviet relations, Cuba Communist China, Viet Nam and Latin America.

Robert Storey, dean of the law school at Southern Methodist University also Harold Russell, handless paratroop veteran of World War II, will succeed the late Gen. Melvin Maas as chairman of the President's Committee Employment of the Physicaily Handicapped.

One of the first questions put to Johnson dealt with the White House negotiations aimed at averting a national rail strike threatened for next week.

The President said indications coming from persons familiar with progress of the talks have almost all "been encouraging and hopeful." He said, "We have had a very productive few days."

Two-Day Area Schools Seminar Set On Americanism Vs. Communism

High school juniors and seniors in a five-parish area in northeast Louisiana will attend a two-day seminar on Americanism vs. Communism Monday and Wednesday, conducted over educational television station KLSE (channel 13) in Monroe.

Gordon Canterbury, manager of the station operated by the State Department of Education, said that all juniors and seniors in 3 schools will be required to two days each year devoted to such a seminar.

Canterbury estimated that 4,000 students would view the seminar which will feature four nationally-known speakers. Included in the program will be W. Cleon Skousen, Dr. Anthony T. Bouscaren, Max B. Skousen and Edward Hunter.

Canterbury pointed out that while the seminar is aimed at completing high school requirements, the general public can also view the seminar.

Canterbury said that this is the first time in its two-year history that television has been used to present the seminar. Last year, individual lecturers were used at each school. "This is the only means we have to allow all students to hear outstanding speakers such as the ones included in this year's seminar. It would be impossible for these speakers to go to all 3 schools," Canterbury said.

Parishes included in the viewing area are Ouachita, Caldwell, Franklin, Richland and Union.

Monday's program includes an invocation by Dr. Clifton R. Tennison, pastor of the First Baptist Church of West Monroe; the pledge of allegiance, followed by the national anthem. Shelby Jackson, state superintendent of education, will explain the purpose of the seminar.

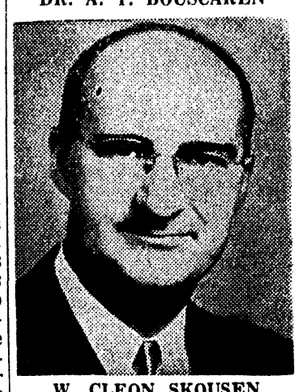
Cleon Skousen will present a lecture, "Communist World Outlook." Dr. Bouscaren will lecture on "Are The Communists Winning?" to be followed by a film, "Communism and Coexistence".

After lunch, Cleon Skousen will return with a lecture on "New Crises in the Cold". This will be followed by another film, "Albert in Blunderland." Dr. Bouscaren will conclude the first day's lectures with a discussion of "Why People Fall for Communism."

Rev. Wayne W. Gray, pastor of Covenant Presbyterian Church in Monroe, will present the invocation the second day. Max Skousen will lead off the lectures with "Know Your Freedoms." A film, "What is Communism?" will follow. Hunter will lecture on "At Stake: Our Free Society" to be followed by a film, "What is the Difference Between Communism and Socialism?"

DR. A. T. BOUSCAREN

MAX B. SKOUSEN



W. CLEON SKOUSEN

EDWARD HUNTER

After lunch, Skousen will return to lecture on "The Four Laws of Abundance". Another film, "Dear Uncle," will follow. Concluding the seminar will be a lecture by Hunter on "Behind the Washington Curtain."

The seminar will be presided over on both days by Miss Patricia Diana Jackson, consultant for the state department of education's Americanism program.

The lecturers in the seminar include four outstanding anti-communist personalities. Dr. Bouscaren is a member of the faculty of Le Moyne College in Syracuse, N. Y. He holds a B.A. degree from Yale and a masters and doctorate from the University of California. He was an officer in the Marine Corps during World War II and is a major in the reserves at present. He served on the faculty of the University of San Francisco, Marquette University, the National War College and participated in the defense strategy seminar of the War College in 1959-60.

He has written several books including "Society Expansion and the West", "Imperial Communism", "A Guide to Anti-Communist Action" and "Soviet Foreign Policy".

He is winner of the Christoer Award, the Wisconsin D.A.R. Award, the Freedoms Foundation Award and others.

Cleon Skousen is a former member of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. He is a native of Raymond, Canada, and attended school in Canada, Mexico and the United States.

He served as student body president at the San Bernardion College in California. He received his law degree at George Washington University in Washington, D.C. He entered the FBI while attending law school. He was appointed to an administrative position in the bureau in Washington but left the organization in 1951 to become director of public services and a member of the faculty of Brigham Young University. He was granted leave of absence from the university in 1956 to re-organize the Sale Lake City police department. He served as chief of police until 1960.

In 1960 he became field director for the American Security Council and editorial director of "Law and Order," a widely-distributed police magazine.

He has written a number of books including "The Naked Communist", a best-seller.

Hunter, an expert on brainwashing, is a former foreign correspondent and author of many books, including "Brainwashing: Pavlov to Powers". He served with the Office of Strategic Services during World War II and was consultant for the Pentagon on the Red Chinese brainwashing of prisoners during the Korean conflict. Testimony given in a Congressional investigation into brainwashing was reprinted as "Communist Psychological Warfare."

As a correspondent he covered the conquest of Manchuria by the Japanese and Ethiopia by the Italians. He covered the Spanish civil war and the re-occupation of the Rhineland by Hitler.

Max Skousen received his college education in Industrial Relations and Accounting at the University of Southern California.

From 1951 to 1958, he was a management training specialist for the Lockheed Aircraft Corporation in Burbank, Calif. During his last year at Lockheed, he served as the vice-presiden tof Lockheed's 3,000-member management club, and was selected as their man-of-the-year for 1958.

Skousen has been lecturing throughout the country for the last 20 years as a speaker for professional management, civic, and church groups.

Currently, he divides his time between instructing his courses as a management training specialist, appearing as guest speaker, writing booklets and articles, and as president of the Skousen Tax Service, Inc.

Among his writings is one book in its eighth edition, titled "How to Pray and Stay Awake." He has written numerous pamphlets on both management, religious, and economic subjects. He developed the "Selling America" program now being presented throughout the United States by the National Management Association.

He was recently awarded the Alexander Hamilton Award and the George Washington Gold Medal by the Freedoms Foundation of Valley Forge for his work in free enterprise economic education.

Organized Labor Supports Glenwood Hospital Expansion Program

The members of Organized Labor of Ouachita Parish wish to take this opportunity to express our appreciation and commend the Board of Commissioners of Glenwood Hospital for their unselfish and tireless efforts in the proposed expansion of Glenwood Hospital. We are appreciative, also of the efforts of the Board of Trustees, members of the Clergy, various members of the West Monroe Chamber of Commerce, and the many other dedicated citizens of our community.

Grateful for the priceless heritage we are privileged to enjoy, we are proud to join hands with our fellow citizens and lend our efforts to this most worthy community project for many reasons, a few of which we humbly submit for your serious consideration. We believe that the proposed expansion of Glenwood Hospital will:

1. Meet a moral community obligation by providing more and better hospital facilities - A deep therapy unit for the treatment of cancer will be added. The parking areas will be greatly increased. All regular services will be approximately doubled in size including X-ray, surgery, maternity, pharmacy, anesthesiology, kitchen, etc.
2. Stimulate our community economically by providing many construction jobs over an extended period of time and many additional permanent jobs.
3. Meet a desperate community need with NO ADDITIONAL TAXES.
4. Be an expression of civic and community pride and a wonderful tribute to a growing and prosperous community.

We respectfully urge all property owners who are qualified voters of Ward Five and especially members of Organized Labor to VOTE YES on April 21 for this much needed hospital expansion program. Vote at your regular voting precinct from 6 A.M. to 8 P.M. For free transportation to the polls call:

Moon Shot Cheaper Now Than In 70's

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — A leader of the lunar research program said Saturday night that "it is $6 billion cheaper to go to the moon in this decade than to wait until 1975."

George M. Low, deputy associate administrator for manned space flight in the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, based his estimate on a survey of the total cost of stretching out Project Apollo to delay a lunar landing into the 1970's.

"If the remaining six years of work were stretched out over 12 years, the total cost of the presently approved manned space flight program would increase by about 30 per cent, or about $6 billion," Low said in a paper prepared for delivery before the North Carolina National Guard Association.

Low said the timing of Project Apollo actually is quite conservative.

Low said that after six years, the United States has pulled ahead of the Soviet space experts in some areas and is rapidly reducing their advantage in areas in which they still lead.

He said this is the way the two nations compare today:

1. Even though the Soviets are still ahead in operational rocket power, and in duration of manned flight in earth orbit, the U.S. moved into a weight-lifting lead with a successful test flight of the Saturn I rocket last January.

2. The United States has orbited almost four times as many satellites as the Soviets, but the Soviets' are still ahead in the total weight of their satellites.

Last year alone, the United States put more satellites into earth orbit than the Soviets have since the space age began in 1957.

3. United States reliability has improved and in the last three years 82 per cent of earth orbit launchings were successful. The Soviet record is comparable.

4. The Soviets still hold a considerable lead in manned flight with six cosmonauts completing 259 orbits of the earth compared with 37 for six Mercury astronauts. Even the Soviet female cosmonaut has flown longer in space than all U.S. astronauts combined.

5. The Soviets have given more attention than the United States has to far out space exploration, and as a percentage of their total flights have placed five times as much emphasis on unmanned missions to the moon and the planets.

Nevertheless, the United States has had the outstanding success of the Mariner flight to Venus in 1952, and in near earth orbit, the U.S. emphasis has been much greater than that of the Soviets.

Police Checking Leads In Slaying Near Haughton

Mr. Richey's survivors include five brothers. One of them is a Shreveport patrolman, E. B. Richey, and another is a state trooper at Monroe, John W. Richey.

Each of them had a bullet wound in the back of the head, and the Bossier Parish coroner, Dr. C. H. McCuller, said the bullets were fired at close range, apparently while the victims' heads were covered with pillows, to muddle the shots.

The safe in the house and the cash register in the fishstand were emptied, but there was a wallet with about $200 in it in Richey's pocket.

Officers believed that Mrs. Richey, about 50, was preparing supper late Friday while Richey was at the baitstand. He apparently was pistol-whipped and forced into the house, where he was unconscious or stunned. The shot was fired into Mrs. Richey's head, and then the weapon was turned on Richey.

A burner on the gas stove was still alight, and fish were on the drainboard, when Edward Barnes, 22, a neighbor discovered the bodies about two hours after the slayings.

The Richeys formerly operated a baitstand in nearby Shreveport, but moved to Haughton about five years ago. They had no children.

Police Pistol Team Selected

Members of the pistol team that will compete at the state convention of the Louisiana Peace Officers Association in Baton Rouge April 26-30 have been selected by the West Monroe police department.

'Gap' Haunts McNamara

It's the ghost of the "missile gap" — an issue which the Democrats used to advantage against the Republicans in the 1960 presidential campaign.

When this specter moved in again last week in the form of congressional testimony by Gen. Curtis E. LeMay suggesting the United States is losing its military edge over Russia, McNamara through a Pentagon statement lodged a swift denial.

McNamara is determined there is to be no "superiority gap" issue, which he considers phony.

That's because when he became defense secretary in 1961, he found there wasn't any—that its alleged existence was based on a faulty, and perhaps colored, intelligence estimate.

Associates said McNamara, an independent Republican, never has understood why the Eisenhower administration did not challenge the Democrats with evidence to the contrary when they claimed there was a gap.

"He felt the Republicans permitted the Democrats to create a myth," said one official close to McNamara.

Referring to LeMay's testimony about a narrowing gap in superiority over the Soviet Union this official said "McNamara doesn't want to see another myth created."

Veteran Pentagon sources said Thomas S. Gates, the Eisenhower administration's last defense chief, rejected proposals from some aides that he strongly challenge the Democrats with facts.

The "missile gap" warnings were based on Air Force estimates which, sources said, were at the highest end of the range of possibilities projecting future Soviet missile strenth.

Moon Shot Cheaper Now Than In 70's

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — A leader of the lunar research program said Saturday night that "it is $6 billion cheaper to go to the moon in this decade than to wait until 1975."

George M. Low, deputy associate administrator for manned space flight in the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, based his estimate on a survey of the total cost of stretching out Project Apollo to delay a lunar landing into the 1970's.

"If the remaining six years of work were stretched out over 12 years, the total cost of the presently approved manned space flight program would increase by about 30 per cent, or about $6 billion," Low said in a paper prepared for delivery before the North Carolina National Guard Association.

Low said the timing of Project Apollo actually is quite conservative.

Low said that after six years, the United States has pulled ahead of the Soviet space experts in some areas and is rapidly reducing their advantage in areas in which they still lead.

He said this is the way the two nations compare today:

1. Even though the Soviets are still ahead in operational rocket power, and in duration of manned flight in earth orbit, the U.S. moved into a weight-lifting lead with a successful test flight of the Saturn I rocket last January.

2. The United States has orbited almost four times as many satellites as the Soviets, but the Soviets' are still ahead in the total weight of their satellites.

Last year alone, the United States put more satellites into earth orbit than the Soviets have since the space age began in 1957.

3. United States reliability has improved and in the last three years 82 per cent of earth orbit launchings were successful. The Soviet record is comparable.

4. The Soviets still hold a considerable lead in manned flight with six cosmonauts completing 259 orbits of the earth compared with 37 for six Mercury astronauts. Even the Soviet female cosmonaut has flown longer in space than all U.S. astronauts combined.

5. The Soviets have given more attention than the United States has to far out space exploration, and as a percentage of their total flights have placed five times as much emphasis on unmanned missions to the moon and the planets.

Nevertheless, the United States has had the outstanding success of the Mariner flight to Venus in 1952, and in near earth orbit, the U.S. emphasis has been much greater than that of the Soviets.

'Gap' Haunts McNamara

It's the ghost of the "missile gap" — an issue which the Democrats used to advantage against the Republicans in the 1960 presidential campaign.

When this specter moved in again last week in the form of congressional testimony by Gen. Curtis E. LeMay suggesting the United States is losing its military edge over Russia, McNamara through a Pentagon statement lodged a swift denial.

McNamara is determined there is to be no "superiority gap" issue, which he considers phony.

That's because when he became defense secretary in 1961, he found there wasn't any—that its alleged existence was based on a faulty, and perhaps colored, intelligence estimate.

Associates said McNamara, an independent Republican, never has understood why the Eisenhower administration did not challenge the Democrats with evidence to the contrary when they claimed there was a gap.

"He felt the Republicans permitted the Democrats to create a myth," said one official close to McNamara.

Referring to LeMay's testimony about a narrowing gap in superiority over the Soviet Union this official said "McNamara doesn't want to see another myth created."

Veteran Pentagon sources said Thomas S. Gates, the Eisenhower administration's last defense chief, rejected proposals from some aides that he strongly challenge the Democrats with facts.

The "missile gap" warnings were based on Air Force estimates which, sources said, were at the highest end of the range of possibilities projecting future Soviet missile strenth.

Police Checking Leads In Slaying Near Haughton

Mr. Richey's survivors include five brothers. One of them is a Shreveport patrolman, E. B. Richey, and another is a state trooper at Monroe, John W. Richey.

Each of them had a bullet wound in the back of the head, and the Bossier Parish coroner, Dr. C. H. McCuller, said the bullets were fired at close range, apparently while the victims' heads were covered with pillows, to muddle the shots.

The safe in the house and the cash register in the fishstand were emptied, but there was a wallet with about $200 in it in Richey's pocket.

Officers believed that Mrs. Richey, about 50, was preparing supper late Friday while Richey was at the baitstand. He apparently was pistol-whipped and forced into the house, where he was unconscious or stunned. The shot was fired into Mrs. Richey's head, and then the weapon was turned on Richey.

A burner on the gas stove was still alight, and fish were on the drainboard, when Edward Barnes, 22, a neighbor discovered the bodies about two hours after the slayings.

The Richeys formerly operated a baitstand in nearby Shreveport, but moved to Haughton about five years ago. They had no children.

Tech Delegates To Attend Meet In Mississippi

RUSTON (Special) — Twelve delegates from Louisiana Tech will be selected soon to attend the 1964 Southern Universities Student Government Association conference at Biloxi, Miss., May 7-9.

The University of Southern Mississippi is host school for this year's SUSGA meeting.

John David Stewart of Shreveport, Student Senate president, will participate in a panel discussion on "Student Senates and Legislatures."

This year's program will include 16 panel discussions and three business meetings and will include displays, outstanding guest speakers, individual conferences and entertainment.

Registration will be held from 8 to 11 a. m. on Thursday, May 7. The theme of the conference is "Improving Campus Relations Through Understanding."

NEWSPAPER CLOSED

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—Martial law authorities in Istanbul Saturday ordered the Istanbul newspaper Hergun to close for 10 days for publishing "baseless" stories.

The National Assembly extended martial law in force in Istanbul and Ankara for two months last Friday.

Police Pistol Team Selected

Members of the pistol team that will compete at the state convention of the Louisiana Peace Officers Association in Baton Rouge April 26-30 have been selected by the West Monroe police department.

Organized Labor Supports Glenwood Hospital Expansion Program

The members of Organized Labor of Ouachita Parish wish to take this opportunity to express our appreciation and commend the Board of Commissioners of Glenwood Hospital for their unselfish and tireless efforts in the proposed expansion of Glenwood Hospital. We are appreciative, also of the efforts of the Board of Trustees, members of the Clergy, various members of the West Monroe Chamber of Commerce, and the many other dedicated citizens of our community.

Grateful for the priceless heritage we are privileged to enjoy, we are proud to join hands with our fellow citizens and lend our efforts to this most worthy community project for many reasons, a few of which we humbly submit for your serious consideration. We believe that the proposed expansion of Glenwood Hospital will:

1. Meet a moral community obligation by providing more and better hospital facilities - A deep therapy unit for the treatment of cancer will be added. The parking areas will be greatly increased. All regular services will be approximately doubled in size including X-ray, surgery, maternity, pharmacy, anesthesiology, kitchen, etc.
2. Stimulate our community economically by providing many construction jobs over an extended period of time and many additional permanent jobs.
3. Meet a desperate community need with NO ADDITIONAL TAXES.
4. Be an expression of civic and community pride and a wonderful tribute to a growing and prosperous community.

We respectfully urge all property owners who are qualified voters of Ward Five and especially members of Organized Labor to VOTE YES on April 21 for this much needed hospital expansion program. Vote at your regular voting precinct from 6 A.M. to 8 P.M. For free transportation to the polls call:

West Monroe residents — FA 3-0516 or 387-0859
Seigle residents — FA 5-5132
Bawcomville residents — FA 5-5675

GUIDE TO GOOD READING

Got The Habit? Then Read More

By FRANCES FLANDERS
Ouachita Parish Librarian

Last week saw a very fine observance of National Library Week in Ouachita Parish. We feel that many people were reminded that READING IS THE KEY to the better things in life and we hope that they will come and continue the habit of using libraries. At the Ouachita Parish Public Library, there are a number of new books to stimulate the interest of the reader. "There May Be Heaven" by Elisabeth Ogilvie is a new novel, with a setting on the Maine coast. The author paints a most realistic picture of the lobster fishermen and this is a most readable book. For sheer enjoyment there is a new title written by David Walker. The title is "Winter of Madness" and the setting is a large Scottish country house. It is a delightful book and one which entertains thoroughly. Readers of mystery stories will find two new titles to interest them. "The Yellow Villa" by Suzanne Blanc and "The Hospitality of the House" by Doris Miles Disney.

In the field of non-fiction there are books for every taste. Those who read and enjoyed "The Screwtape Letters" by Clive Staples Lewis several years ago, will welcome a new book by the same author, called "Letters to Malcolm." The subject of the letters is prayer and its uses and the book should have a wide range of circulations. "Stars, Mandarins and Comissars" written by Harry Schwartz is the latest book dealing with the relations between Russia and red China. A most useful new book in the field of economics is "Intermediate Price Theory" written by Sidney Weintraub. "Foreign Dialects" by Lewis Herman is a most useful manual for actors, directors and writers.

"The Orion Book of Time" by Francoise LeLionnais is a very interesting discussion of time and ways in which it has been measured. "Ultrasonics" by Benson Carlin is quite an addition to the physics collection. "A History of Electricity" by Edward Tatnall Canby will also be useful to students. "The Plants" published by Life Magazine is another fine volume in the Life Nature Library. Isaac Asimov is an outstanding scientific writer. His latest book is "The Human Brain" and should be a most informative and useful volume. "Wonder Drugs" by Helmuth Boettcher is an informative book for the layman. "Interior Electric Wiring" by Kennard Graham is useful for the builder. It consists of two volumes, one on residential wiring and the other on industrial wiring. "Glenn's New Auto Repair Manual" will be widely used. OCee Ritch has written a book called "Care and Repair of Your Sport's Car" which will be welcomed by the owners of sports cars. "The Next Fifty Years In Space" by Erik Bergaust is a summary and a prediction.

"Bonsai for Americans" by George Frederick Hull will be of interest to many gardeners. "A History of Domesticated Animals" by Frederick Zeuner contains a wealth of interesting information. Contest are very popular with many readers who will enjoy Allen Glasser's "Official Guide To Prize Contests and how to Win Them." "Children are Artists" by Daniel M. Mendelowitz is an excellent introduction to childrens art for teachers and parents. "The Classical Tradition in Western Art" by Benjamin Rowland is a very fine addition to the art collection. "Decisions Before the House" by Robert Seymour is a guide to home building and remodeling. "Art, Artist and Society" by Geraldine Pelles is a disucssion of painting in England and France in the years from 1750 to 1850. Thre are two new books dealing with the work of John Milton; "Harmonious Vision" by Don C. Allen and "Studies in Milton" by Eustac Tillyard.

"Ulysses Found" by Ernle Bradford is the very fascinating account written by a man who followed the route of Ulysses as recorded in the Odyssey. He feels that this is a true account and not a myth as some authors have believed. Eren Nuri is the author of "Turkey Today and Tomorrow", which shows how Turkey is striving to become a Western nation. "An Overland Journey from New York to San Francisco in the Summer of 1859" written by Horace Greeley is a reprint of an old book which had an importannt effect on the history of our country. Volume 7 of the Life Magazine history of the United States brings the history up to the year 1890. This is a very finest of books and one which is widely used.

The Floating Nuthouse; All Kooks At Sea

THERE YOU ARE, BUT WHERE ARE YOU? By Robert Mirvish. Dutton. $3.95.

The old tub's name was the S.S. Flying Wind, but a more appropriate tag would have been The Floating Nuthouse.

She was a rusty old cargo vessel, pressed into merchant marine service in World War II. She was manned by a highly assorted crew of ecentrics, misfits, crew of eccentrics, misfits, castoffs and screwballs.

Her skipper, Lardgrass was a spouter of twisted cliches who had little faith in modern equipment or aids to navigation. Staffordson, the 80-year-old chief engineer, displayed a ghoulish glee in reading the obituaries of younger friends and acquaintances.

The radio officer, Sparks, had something about animals. On a visit to North Africa he solved his alarm clock problems by acquiring a scrawny little rooster, which he fed minced rubber bands, soaked in olive oil and other condiments. At another port he tried to bring a gorilla aboard, but the skipper broke that up at the gangplank, on the ground he had ship's papers for only one ape, "and which one of you is coming aboard?"

Then there was a young refugee from a laughing academy, Motherford, who turned a Russian banquet at Murmansk into a shambles by offering a toast "to that great Russion leader, Leon Trotsky."

This dizzy saga of saltwater taffy concludes with a postwar episode in which a dozen passengers come aboard — war brides.

'Tomorrow Will Be Monday' For Everyone

TOMORROW WILL BE MONDAY. By Katinka Loeser. Atheneum. $4.50.

To say that this series of stories is mostly about children and mothers is not enough.

Partly it is about things mothers have to cope with, such as a dead kitten, or a little boy's dread over his unknowing mother's appearance at a vitally important baseball game. These parts of the book are a fragile mirror held up to the ways in which the big people have to measure up in the little people's eyes.

And partly it is a mother's tender, tenuous remembrances of a far-away childhood, a backward look into another world. One story is faithful wife and mother. a night-piece, a nocturne, on the wry nuances of being a Another is a stark, clutching scene in a hospital, where maternal fortitude must assume a casual mask in the face of a terror a child cannot comprehend. There even is a story of old age and its strange effects on other generations.

So there is an ambivalence in this book, that flows between glad and sad, between childhood and age.

There is a clarity of eye, ear and mind in this author's response to life, and it is expressed in plain, vital and compasionate words.

Running the Scales

By JOHN CALE

With the season of performed arts phasing out nicely, there is an emphasis on nature's own handiwork as a silent sight beautiful to behold.

The April showers pelted the azaleas somewhat during the past week, but they still merit a look-see in most sections of the Twin Cities. Tulips in small and larger beds are still eye-catching, with roses rapidly moving into prominence.

This is not a means of calling up a previous review of an operetta which featured an aria entitled "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring." It's simply that this spring's crop of blossoms is too beautiful to overlook where true works of art are dealt with in one way or another.

Continuing in the floral vein, the Shreveport Symphony Repertory Opera Company will present Puccini's "Madame Butterfly" on the Lakeshore stage of Hodge's Gardens near Many, Louisiana, on May 2.

Singing the title role will be Jasmine Fleming Egan of Shreveport. Miss Egan, as feature soloist of what is sometimes known as Puccini's "most fragrant" opera, visited the gardens recently for advance publicity photos.

A floral report on the gardens lists azaleas, tulips, narcissi, freesias, millas, anamones, crabapples, dogwood, with early roses and gazanias in full color. Cherokee and Lady Banksia are heralding the rose season.

DUO PIANISTS

A Monday evening performance of the popular two-piano team, Ferrante and Teicher, is slated as the final regularly scheduled booking on the Louisiana Tech concert series. The concert will feature a variety of popular arrangements and will be held in the La. Tech Memorial gymnasium.

"The Stranger," a Northeast student-directed play, adapted for space staging and directed by Stan Wyatt, is set for a one-night-only performance on Tuesday of this week in the college's Student Union auditorium. The space staging consists of lighted platforms located at intervals on the darkened stage and was an important part of shifting the play from its original televised setting to the stage.

Also posted on the calendar are dates for the final concert of the season by the Twin City Symphony orchestra — Tuesday, April 28 — and another concert by the Monroe Youth Orchestra — Tuesday, April 28 — and another concert by the Monroe Youth Orchestra — May 4.

SPRING SERENADE

The annual "Spring Serenade," supervised and directed by Mrs. Estelle Schulze Sanders, is scheduled for 8:15 p.m. Monday at Neville Auditorium. The event is sponsored by the Cerebral Palsy Association and proceeds will go to that organization. "Spring Serenade" will feature vocal soloists and ensembles and piano selections by pianist LeRoy Anspach.

WORLD OF ART

Completion of plans for an art exhibit at the New York 1964-65 World's Fair has been announced by Warren Small, president of a corporation formed to sponsor the enterprise.

Titled "Art Gallery — '64," the commercial venture will provide a showcase for contemporary American painters from all over the United States. Their work will be on view in a specially designed salon in the Hall of Education Building.

A full range of subject matter and techniques will be, shown on a seven-week rotation basis. Admission to the gallery will be free. The pulbic, however, may purchase the original paintings, and full-color reproductions will be available at a nominal sum. The artists will receive royalties from the sales of prints and color transparencies of their works.

Principal co-sponsors of the exhibit are George Bresler, of the Manhattan firm of Bresler & Small, specialists in international commercial law, and Norman Perle, president of Consolidated Book Service.

FAMILY WEDDING DAY

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — February 13 was a red letter day for the G. E. Alexander family.

The Alexanders celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary. A daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Hughes of Paso Robles, Calif., observed their 23rd anniversary. And, a grandson and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Pruitt, celebrated their 11th.

Mountain Climbers Who Dared Tread

Among true adventure stories, Sayre's book surely must stand out not only for its colorful account of great risks, but also for its almost incredible series of hairline escapes, which can be credited only to the luck of fate, or a whole platoon of guardian angels.

It is a story of four amateur mountain climbers, of limited experience, trying in 1962 to reach the top of Mt. Everest (29,028 ft.) by way of the difficult North Face, a route for which there is no recorded climb that was successful.

The "old men" of the little expedition were the author, then 43, who teaches philosophy at Tufts, and his longtime friend Norman C. Hansen, 36, a Boston lawyer. The younsters were Roger A. Hart, 21 a geology student at Tufts, and a Swiss citizen whom the trio picked up en route, Hanpeter Duttle.

They gambled — and that is the word — on a light, fast moving trip without heavy or expensive logistical preparations. They took no oxygen cylinders, because of the weight. They sneaked over the Nepalese border under a pretext, because the North Face was in Communist - controlled Tibet. They did without Sherpa guides in the final dash, for economy. They spent only $12,411.59.

And they nearly died. Grit and raw luck took them to approximately 25,400 feet; gambling luck cut their mischances from death to injury; raw luck gave them a little extra food as they came back on the edge of starvation, far overdue.

Sayre tells his story with an engaging mixture of acute observation and a terrifying unconsciousness of how many times these men slapped the face of fate. He writes well, tells all. Except that he fails to credit the guardian angels, who must have had some nervous breakdowns.

We feel that many people were reminded that READING IS THE KEY to the better things in life and we hope that they will come and continue the habit of using libraries. At the Ouachita Parish Public Library, there are a number of new books to stimulate the interest of the reader. "There May Be Heaven" by Elisabeth Ogilvie is a new novel, with a setting on the Maine coast. The author paints a most realistic picture of the lobster fishermen and this is a most readable book. For sheer enjoyment there is a new title written by David Walker. The title is "Winter of Madness" and the setting is a large Scottish country house. It is a delightful book and one which entertains thoroughly. Readers of mystery stories will find two new titles to interest them. "The Yellow Villa" by Suzanne Blanc and "The Hospitality of the House" by Doris Miles Disney.

In the field of non-fiction there are books for every taste. Those who read and enjoyed "The Screwtape Letters" by Clive Staples Lewis several years ago, will welcome a new book by the same author, called "Letters to Malcolm." The subject of the letters is prayer and its uses and the book should have a wide range of circulations. "Stars, Mandarins and Comissars" written by Harry Schwartz is the latest book dealing with the relations between Russia and red China. A most useful new book in the field of economics is "Intermediate Price Theory" written by Sidney Weintraub. "Foreign Dialects" by Lewis Herman is a most useful manual for actors, directors and writers.

"The Orion Book of Time" by Francoise LeLionnais is a very interesting discussion of time and ways in which it has been measured. "Ultrasonics" by Benson Carlin is quite an addition to the physics collection. "A History of Electricity" by Edward Tatnall Canby will also be useful to students. "The Plants" published by Life Magazine is another fine volume in the Life Nature Library. Isaac Asimov is an outstanding scientific writer. His latest book is "The Human Brain" and should be a most informative and useful volume. "Wonder Drugs" by Helmuth Boettcher is an informative book for the layman. "Interior Electric Wiring" by Kennard Graham is useful for the builder. It consists of two volumes, one on residential wiring and the other on industrial wiring. "Glenn's New Auto Repair Manual" will be widely used. OCee Ritch has written a book called "Care and Repair of Your Sport's Car" which will be welcomed by the owners of sports cars. "The Next Fifty Years In Space" by Erik Bergaust is a summary and a prediction.

"Bonsai for Americans" by George Frederick Hull will be of interest to many gardeners. "A History of Domesticated Animals" by Frederick Zeuner contains a wealth of interesting information. Contest are very popular with many readers who will enjoy Allen Glasser's "Official Guide To Prize Contests and how to Win Them." "Children are Artists" by Daniel M. Mendelowitz is an excellent introduction to childrens art for teachers and parents. "The Classical Tradition in Western Art" by Benjamin Rowland is a very fine addition to the art collection. "Decisions Before the House" by Robert Seymour is a guide to home building and remodeling. "Art, Artist and Society" by Geraldine Pelles is a disucssion of painting in England and France in the years from 1750 to 1850. Thre are two new books dealing with the work of John Milton; "Harmonious Vision" by Don C. Allen and "Studies in Milton" by Eustac Tillyard.

"Ulysses Found" by Ernle Bradford is the very fascinating account written by a man who followed the route of Ulysses as recorded in the Odyssey. He feels that this is a true account and not a myth as some authors have believed. Eren Nuri is the author of "Turkey Today and Tomorrow", which shows how Turkey is striving to become a Western nation. "An Overland Journey from New York to San Francisco in the Summer of 1859" written by Horace Greeley is a reprint of an old book which had an importannt effect on the history of our country. Volume 7 of the Life Magazine history of the United States brings the history up to the year 1890. This is a very finest of books and one which is widely used.

(AP's "The Torch Is Passed" is not listed because it has not been sold generally in bookstores.)

The Floating Nuthouse; All Kooks At Sea

THERE YOU ARE, BUT WHERE ARE YOU? By Robert Mirvish. Dutton. $3.95.

The old tub's name was the S.S. Flying Wind, but a more appropriate tag would have been The Floating Nuthouse.

She was a rusty old cargo vessel, pressed into merchant marine service in World War II. She was manned by a highly assorted crew of ecentrics, misfits, crew of eccentrics, misfits, castoffs and screwballs.

Her skipper, Lardgrass was a spouter of twisted cliches who had little faith in modern equipment or aids to navigation. Staffordson, the 80-year-old chief engineer, displayed a ghoulish glee in reading the obituaries of younger friends and acquaintances.

The radio officer, Sparks, had a thing about animals. On a visit to North Africa he solved his alarm clock problems by acquiring a scrawny little rooster, which he fed minced rubber bands, soaked in olive oil and other condiments. At another port he tried to bring a gorilla aboard, but the skipper broke that up at the gangplank, on the ground he had ship's papers for only one ape, "and which one of you is coming aboard?"

Then there was a young refugee from a laughing academy, Motherford, who turned a Russian banquet at Murmansk into a shambles by offering a toast "to that great Russion leader, Leon Trotsky."

This dizzy saga of saltwater taffy concludes with a postwar episode in which a dozen passengers come aboard — war brides.

'Tomorrow Will Be Monday' For Everyone

TOMORROW WILL BE MONDAY. By Katinka Loeser. Atheneum. $4.50.

To say that this series of stories is mostly about children and mothers is not enough.

Partly it is about things mothers have to cope with, such as a dead kitten, or a little boy's dread over his unknowing mother's appearance at a vitally important baseball game. These parts of the book are a fragile mirror held up to the ways in which the big people have to measure up in the little people's eyes.

And partly it is a mother's tender, tenuous remembrances of a far-away childhood, a backward look into another world. One story is faithful wife and mother. a night-piece, a nocturne, on the wry nuances of being a Another is a stark, clutching scene in a hospital, where maternal fortitude must assume a casual mask in the face of a terror a child cannot comprehend. There even is a story of old age and its strange effects on other generations.

So there is an ambivalence in this book, that flows between glad and sad, between childhood and age.

There is a clarity of eye, ear and mind in this author's response to life, and it is expressed in plain, vital and compasionate words.

Running the Scales

By JOHN CALE

With the season of performed arts phasing out nicely, there is an emphasis on nature's own handiwork as a silent sight beautiful to behold.

The April showers pelted the azaleas somewhat during the past week, but they still merit a look-see in most sections of the Twin Cities. Tulips in small and larger beds are still eye-catching, with roses rapidly moving into prominence.

This is not a means of calling up a previous review of an operetta which featured an aria entitled "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring." It's simply that this spring's crop of blossoms is too beautiful to overlook where true works of art are dealt with in one way or another.

Continuing in the floral vein, the Shreveport Symphony Repertory Opera Company will present Puccini's "Madame Butterfly" on the Lakeshore stage of Hodge's Gardens near Many, Louisiana, on May 2.

Singing the title role will be Jasmine Fleming Egan of Shreveport. Miss Egan, as feature soloist of what is sometimes known as Puccini's "most fragrant" opera, visited the gardens recently for advance publicity photos.

A floral report on the gardens lists azaleas, tulips, narcissi, freesias, millas, anamones, crabapples, dogwood, with early roses and gazanias in full color. Cherokee and Lady Banksia are heralding the rose season.

DUO PIANISTS

A Monday evening performance of the popular two-piano team, Ferrante and Teicher, is slated as the final regularly scheduled booking on the Louisiana Tech concert series. The concert will feature a variety of popular arrangements and will be held in the La. Tech Memorial gymnasium.

"The Stranger," a Northeast student-directed play, adapted for space staging and directed by Stan Wyatt, is set for a one-night-only performance on Tuesday of this week in the college's Student Union auditorium. The space staging consists of lighted platforms located at intervals on the darkened stage and was an important part of shifting the play from its original televised setting to the stage.

Also posted on the calendar are dates for the final concert of the season by the Twin City Symphony orchestra — Tuesday, April 28 — and another concert by the Monroe Youth Orchestra — Tuesday, April 28 — and another concert by the Monroe Youth Orchestra — May 4.

SPRING SERENADE

The annual "Spring Serenade," supervised and directed by Mrs. Estelle Schulze Sanders, is scheduled for 8:15 p.m. Monday at Neville Auditorium. The event is sponsored by the Cerebral Palsy Association and proceeds will go to that organization. "Spring Serenade" will feature vocal soloists and ensembles and piano selections by pianist LeRoy Anspach.

WORLD OF ART

Completion of plans for an art exhibit at the New York 1964-65 World's Fair has been announced by Warren Small, president of a corporation formed to sponsor the enterprise.

Titled "Art Gallery — '64," the commercial venture will provide a showcase for contemporary American painters from all over the United States. Their work will be on view in a specially designed salon in the Hall of Education Building.

A full range of subject matter and techniques will be shown on a seven-week rotation basis. Admission to the gallery will be free. The pulbic, however, may purchase the original paintings, and full-color reproductions will be available at a nominal sum. The artists will receive royalties from the sales of prints and color transparencies of their works.

Principal co-sponsors of the exhibit are George Bresler, of the Manhattan firm of Bresler & Small, specialists in international commercial law, and Norman Perle, president of Consolidated Book Service.

FAMILY WEDDING DAY

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — February 13 was a red letter day for the G. E. Alexander family.

The Alexanders celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary. A daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Hughes of Paso Robles, Calif., observed their 23rd anniversary. And, a grandson and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Pruitt, celebrated their 11th.

Mountain Climbers Who Dared Tread

Among true adventure stories, Sayre's book surely must stand out not only for its colorful account of great risks, but also for its almost incredible series of hairline escapes, which can be credited only to the luck of fate, or a whole platoon of guardian angels.

It is a story of four amateur mountain climbers, of limited experience, trying in 1962 to reach the top of Mt. Everest (29,028 ft.) by way of the difficult North Face, a route for which there is no recorded climb that was successful.

The "old men" of the little expedition were the author, then 43, who teaches philosophy at Tufts, and his longtime friend Norman C. Hansen, 36, a Boston lawyer. The younsters were Roger A. Hart, 21 a geology student at Tufts, and a Swiss citizen whom the trio picked up en route, Hanpeter Duttle.

They gambled — and that is the word — on a light, fast moving trip without heavy or expensive logistical preparations. They took no oxygen cylinders, because of the weight. They sneaked over the Nepalese border under a pretext, because the North Face was in Communist - controlled Tibet. They did without Sherpa guides in the final dash, for economy. They spent only $12,411.59.

And they nearly died. Grit and raw luck took them to approximately 25,400 feet; gambling luck cut their mischances from death to injury; raw luck gave them a little extra food as they came back on the edge of starvation, far overdue.

Sayre tells his story with an engaging mixture of acute observation and a terrifying unconsciousness of how many times these men slapped the face of fate. He writes well, tells all. Except that he fails to credit the guardian angels, who must have had some nervous breakdowns.

The Central District, Ouachita Valley Council, Pinewood Derby will begin at 3 p.m. Saturday, April 25, at the Julia Wossman (Westminster) Recreation Center.

Jase Johnson, District Executive, asks that Cubmasters and Cub participants be at the center by 2 p.m. for registration. All cub scouts and their parents are invited to attend. There is no admission charge.

Cup trophies will be awarded first and second place winners who will then be eligible to participate in the Council Championship which will include first and second place winners from all 17 Districts in the race which will be one of the highlights of the "Adventure-rama" May 9 at the West Monroe fair grounds.

Guest speaker at the April Den Mother's Workshop held at the First National Bank of West Monroe was David Agnew, Sr., chairman of the "Adventure-rama." Special areas of thio annual scouting show discussed were: Booths for participating Cub Scouts, ticket sales, types of activities for Cubs and the Council Pinewood Derby.

Jack Pankey, Council Executive, spoke of the enthusiastic support the "Big Show" is having this year in the three scouting areas, Cubbing, Scouting and among the Explorers. "It is hoped," he stated, "that we will have 100 per cent participation as this is the one way we can show to our community the many areas of development there are for our boys."

Mrs. F. S. Roberts, Den Mother of Pack 37, West Monroe, enlisted the help of several other den mothers in presenting a skit. As the theme for this meeting was "Our First Americans" many items of Indian Craft were exhibited and explained by the Den mothers. Mrs. Pat Thompson of Pack 125, Mangham, presented the opening and closing ceremonies.

Den mothers present were: Mrs. E. L. Mattingly, Mrs. J. D. Carter and Mrs. James Bradford of Pack 133; Mrs. Maxine Walters and Mrs. Joe B. Smith of Pack 127; Mrs. D. M. Former Ruston Resident Will Talk At Meeting

RUSTON (Special) — Kelly Fearing, formerly of Ruston and now an associate professor of art at the University of Texas, will be the luncheon speaker in connection with a state meeting of the art section of the Louisiana Teachers Association to be held here Saturday, April 25.

Fearing, a graduate of the art department of Louisiana Tech, will address the visitors at 12:30 p.m. at the Holiday Inn at Ruston.

The convention will be the first spring meeting of the art teachers, supplementing the annual fall session. Those to attend will include art teachers of elementary, junior high, senior high schools and all colleges of the state.

Registration for the meeting is scheduled for 8:30 a.m. in the visual arts building.

A welcoming talk will be given by Dr. Virgil Orr, dean of the college at Tech, at 9 a.m. in room 203 of the art building, after which lectures on "The Art in Art Education" will be given by Miss Elizabeth Bethea, head of the Tech art department, and by Miss Mary Moffett, art professor here.

On the program also will be a demonstration of painting techniques by Mrs. Chiquita Squires of Monroe, an interior decorator. Art printing techniques and clay experiments by Tech students will be on the forenoon session.

'Land Of Lyndon' Is Tourist Magnet

The plain countryside around Johnson City, Texas, and in the vicinity of the LBJ ranch offered little in the way of tourist attractions until several months ago, when a native son, Lyndon Johnson, became president. Then a tourist trade boom developed, and has spiraled.

STONEWALL, Texas (AP) — You can drive—legally—through Lyndon Johnson country at 70 miles an hour and a while ago probably would have. No longer.

Everybody stops now and turns off Rt 290 to drive as slowly as the Secret Service will permit along the Pedernales River and gazes at the comfortable but not imposing ranch house on the opposite bank.

You can come away with the satisfaction of having seen the presidential home, with a Lyndon Johnson souvenir T-shirt or an ash tray shaped like Texas and bearing a portrait of the President unfortunately placed just where you'd stub out your cigarettes.

FRIENDLY PEOPLE

You'll leave behind some of the friendliest people on earth who are caught in a tourist boom, wondering if the balloon will pop come the November elections and who — from Lyndon's cousin Oriole to the village postmistress — often object the world press has pictured them as cow country kin to the Beverly Hillbillies. They aren't.

For sure, their life doesn't match the patio-swimming pool tempo of the LBJ Ranch with its blacktop landing strip in the backyard, pond-by-pond fishing excursions by Jeep with ranch hands to bait the hooks, and huge hamburgers shaped like Texas.

Local life matches the land—simple, hard, few frills. Stonewall is a peach center. But in spite of the pink clouds that dust the countryside at blossom time, this is a masculine land whose beauty emerges only after some looking. Parts of it are as rocky as upland Vermont. But there are no towering elms or oaks, only stunted and gnarled trees scattered over the flinty soil among occasional clumps of cactus. John Wayne would probably look off to the low hills on the far horizon and nod sagely: "Injun country."

GERMAN ANCESTRY

There were Indians, once, but most of the present families have been here for generations, many of them descendants of the original German pioneers who settled in the 1840s around Fredericksburg 16 miles to the west. Local folk have kept their language. An out-of-state motorist can get quite a shock when an attendant asks with a heavy Teutonic accent if he should "check der oil."

The people of Johnson Country stick to their traditions. Some of the older folk backcountry may still make their own soap and boil the laundry in a pot even though they have a perfectly good washing machine inside. You'll see women in pioneer-style sunbonnets, and clay brick houses with tin roofs. A ranch house here is the real thing and a far, far cry from one in Beverly Hills.

If they buy a car, 90 per cent of the time it's with cash, says Bob McKinney, a Ford dealer in Johnson City, 13 miles to the east. If they don't have the money, they don't buy the car. "Most of them, though, probably have saved more money than you or I will ever make," said McKinney. Lyndon Johnson, who turns off unused lights in the White House, comes by his frugality naturally.

They tell a story in the state capital at Austin, 60 miles away about the time Allen Dulles, then head of the CIA, stayed at the ranch. He came down one morning apologizing to Lady Bird because he had ripped a sheet.

"Don't mention it," she said. "I thought I could get by with it just one more time."

HOSPITABLE

Perhaps it's a hangover from the frontier days when people to talk to were few and far away but the natives hereabouts are unfailingly hospitable. They nod or say hello to complete strangers, even wave from their cars as they drive by. In Johnson City no one locks his home or even his business when he's around the corner for coffee. If it rains, a neighbor will bring in your laundry if you're out.

Even if you're the 50th tourist that day to ask directions to the LBJ Ranch, they'll say "Y'all come back" and sound like they mean it.

There's little of the braggadocio here often associated with Texans. Nothing's the biggest or best. St. Barnabas Episcopal church in Fredericksburg which the Johnsons have attended is a tiny, ancient log hut that holds 30 worshippers, the Rev. Jack Langford and an organist. The Secret Service agents have to stand outside. They call the Pedernales a river but George Washington could have thrown a paper dollar across it against a brisk headwind. Yet the eyes not only of Texas but the world are upon this countryside.

ON THE MAP

"You see," said Mrs. Gliddon triumphantly, "he's put us on the map." Indeed he has.

Simon Burg, orchard sprayer, presidential friend and head of the Stonewall Chamber of Commerce, can't recall all the dignitaries he's met at the ranch. But they range from the Pakistani camel driver Johnson befriended on a world tour to former Chancellor Adenauer of Germany. "That Konrad was a nice fellow. We talked in German for half an hour about peaches."

COMFORTABLY, EVENLY

Before Lyndon became world famous, life had gone on comfortably and evenly. About the biggest story in Fredericksburg —population 5,140—had been a murder, "and even then it was an out of town man who did it," said Art Kowert, publisher of a local weekly.

Adm. Chester Nimitz, World War II naval hero, had been the most illustrious native son. Not that townsfolk weren't warned. Johnson himself told his classmates when he was a boy here that one day he would be president. With such advance notice, you might think people would have been better prepared. But they weren't.

Why the President's birthplace—Cousin Oriole insists it's not the same building—a tiny 3-room shack near the ranch, was used either to store hay, as living quarters for Mexican migrant workers or just left empty.

Then the man every one here calls "Lyndon" became President.

BIG PROMOTION

Johnson City, where the President grew up and still votes, raised $1,800 in one night to put up signs at either end of town —pop. 771—announcing it was "Home Town of Lyndon B. Johnson."

Fredericksburg, seat of Gillespie County in which the ranch is located, is putting up signs announcing itself as "Gateway to the LBJ Ranch" as soon as it can raise the money. Chamber stationery already reads "County Seat of the Summer White House."

The natives, who by and large have always been fond of Lyndon, enjoy the tourists with their billfolds and the newsmen with their curious but intriguing ways.

But Cousin Oriole is decidedly disenchanted about her sudden emergence as an attraction rivaling Enchanted Rock, a nearby landmark on the old Pinta Trail. Cousin Oriole—Mrs. Oriole Bailey, a first cousin of Johnson's father—lives between Jordan and the ranch and is mad as hops that a Washington newswoman called her tin-roofed, rusty-screened little house a "shack."

CLAMS UP

If you reach for a notebook, Cousin Oriole will clam up. The first newsmen to reach her got her dander up and ruined things for their successors. But she evidently figures a reporter is off duty if he doesn't have pen in hand, and then she will talk pleasantly but formally.

"I'm glad you like this country," she said the other day, bidding farewell to a visitor who was hurrying to get out of sight to write down what she'd said. And it's true. It's a land and people you can like.

Down the dirt road that follows the river are the twisted branches of great live oaks that shade the headstones and neat lawn of the family burial plot where Cousin Oriole—and the President too, he says—will rest when their time comes.

ROCKING CHAIR

Harvey Jordan, retired now, in dusty boots and faded farm clothes, rocks in a rusty spring chair in the cool of his porch—it was Johnson's grandfather's once — and contentedly sips a highball as he looks past the fence down to the river.

The Secret Service sentry booths over by the ranch driveway are empty and no helicopters or planes are buzzing in and out of the landing strip. The First Family is away.

There are just the mockingbirds warbling and the long land beginning to come green with spring and turning a hazy purple way off where it meets the blue sky.

"Y'all come back," said Jordan.

'Black Monday' Birthday

May 17, 1954, was the day of the United States supreme court's shattering "black Monday" ruling that Negroes must be admitted into white schools before they could become equal with white people. Under an 1896 ruling of the supreme court it had been held that there was no discrimination if "equal but separate" facilities were provided. The "black Monday" decision of the supreme court will be 10 years old in about one month.

We are running a little ahead of the flood of comment on results of the decision that will come when the anniversary date arrives.

The logical deduction in the decision was that Negroes could never be equal to white people unless they went to school with them. Court members seemed to presume that Negro teachers were not equal to white teachers and that Negro children were either not equal or not as fit to associate with as white children. Otherwise, it is difficult to see how separation gave them less than equal opportunity.

The court's conclusion could have been something like this: "water and sugar are not equal but if sugar is dissolved in water and stirred thoroughly, all parts of the resulting product become of equal quality."

In the nearly 10 years that have elapsed since the 1954 ruling many sections throughout the south have not yielded one iota to what they consider an unjust and unwarranted intrusion into the lives of individuals. Many of the northern states have put in only token integration, although some have gone all out, greatly to their sorrow. In Washington, D.C., the white students have been driven out and Negroes have taken over most of the schools, both white and Negro. White children now in the Washington schools are mostly those of parents who are unable to move out.

It will be recalled that the late President Kennedy established a private school for the benefit of his daughter, Carolyn, and some 30 other children of highly-placed Washington officialdom and that it was integrated but that he certainly did not put his child into a school that was overrun with big, low-caliber children of people recently drawn to Washington by preferential hiring of Negroes. Also, it will be recalled that Attorney General Robert Kennedy put several of his sons in a private school.

Without forced integration, there would have been a gradual acceptance of intelligent Negroes into colleges. Negroes have long been accepted in northern colleges if they could meet qualifications and the tendency to accept them thus was moving southward. In fact, there was considerable sentiment for acceptance on a voluntary basis of those who were qualified. There is no way of knowing how soon integration in all parts of the country might have come about if it would have come naturally and there would have been no noticeable resentment.

During the period between the end of World War II and the 1954 court ruling there was a strong tendency to put more taxes into better buildings and more teachers for Negro schools. The Negro school situation had greatly improved.

Some acceptance of the idea that some Negroes are capable of contributing to civic, business, political and professional activities had come before the 1954 decision.

In the south, where Negroes in many instances out-number whites, a problem even more pressing than the integration of Negroes into white schools is the fear that there might be a Negro sheriff or a Negro majority of the county court. Negro officers ruled ruthlessly in the Reconstruction days following the Civil War.

One of the results of the integration drive is that many of the small communities are becoming smaller. Young white people are leaving because they don't want to establish a permanent home in a town that may be Negro-ruled. Negroes are leaving these same areas, partly because they will have little means of subsistance if the substantial white people leave, partly because they see better opportunities in other areas and partly because the integrationist talk in the north has caused them to think they will be more readily accepted socially, although this is rarely true.

In the latter part of the last 10 years there has come a realization that general ideas about removing so-called handicaps of Negroes of the south have a different appearance when they touch schools, apartments and jobs in cities in the north.

It will take more than moving to suburbs to solve the new situations and it is possible that during the second 10 years following the supreme court ruling there will be more news of disturbances from northern cities than from rural communities of the south.

Johnson Horse-Trading

If political analysts are right, President Johnson is far from being as "hotsy-totsy" with Premier Nikita Khrushchev of Russia as was the late President John F. Kennedy. In fact, there are some indications that Johnson may want to advance the causes of the United States as against those of Russia and other communist nations.

Reportedly, Johnson is about to put the brand of a Texas horse-trader on United States foreign policy.

From a series of white house meetings, including talks with Foy Kohler, American ambassador to Moscow, we may expect to see a new policy emerge to capitalize on the upheaval now going on in the communist world as a result of the mounting feud between Russia and Red China.

Policy-makers have concluded that, more than ever before, Khruschev needs and wants trade with the west, but he won't be able to get it without political strings attached, involving Russian concessions on such problems as Germany, disarmament, accessibility to the bloc from the west and reduction of Soviet support in trouble spots around the world.

With the domestic economy apparently rolling in high gear, with fairly good support from congress on a good many issues and his own political outlook apparently satisfactory to him, Johnson is spending more and more of his time on foreign affairs. In this endeavor, he apparently is giving up none of his reputed toughness.

One commentator said:

"This policy must be exercised as much as possible with quiet diplomacy to be effective, because drawing lines in public will only force Khrushchev to stay on his side. If domestic politics don't force Johnson to demonstate publicly how anti-Khrushchev he is, there is substantial hope in Washington that the Kremlin boss will make significant concessions over the next few years.

American citizens got scant comfort out of the wheat deal with Russia, under which that nation was allowed to buy huge quantities of surplus wheat from this country at below-market prices. It is to be hoped that any future trading with Russia will be on a more favorable basis.

At any rate, there is some solace in finding out that Johnson would like to gain some advantage in dealing with Russia if he could, instead of working eagerly to promote the interests of the Red overlord. No horse-trader ever gave the other man the best end of the deal if he could help it, so we can hope that Johnson won't lose his horse-trading instinct in dealing with Moscow.

Agriculture Building

Monroe, La.

To the Editor:

Last week Mr. Pettit answered a question asked by a taxpayer regarding the $40,000.00 or $50,000.00 expansion to the agriculture building. Also the $1.10 per square foot charge for rent paid by the federal and state employes.

Mr. Pettit stated that "All the offices in the agriculture building are rented to federal and state government officers." "Most of the other parishes in the State, especially the larger parishes, do the same thing."

For your information, Mr. Pettit: I was in Shreveport this week and asked if the federal and state agricultural agents occupied offices in the Parish buildings, and was informed that they did not. The only persons occupying the parish buildings are the county agent and the home demonstration agent.

To the Editor:

The American people are apprehensive and greatly concerned as to why Congress has:

1. Made no effort to control government officials who have usurped their power.

2. Ignored the importance of a balanced federal budget and continues to appropriate billions of dollars of the taxpaying public's money to foreign aid, urban renewal, welfare, and many other questionable programs.

For example: The United States of America is fast being disintegrated into a bankrupt, socialistic welfare state. Daily the purchasing power of the dollar is depreciating. Today the American people are governed largely by decisions rendered by politically appointed Supreme Court and Federal judges.

Federal court decisions have convinced an immature Negro race that they and their children are immune to public school discipline, social, federal, and local laws, and that citizenship means unrestricted use of welfare programs and a racial percentage of all jobs throughout the nation, regardless of their ability and training.

Civil rights, demonstrations, and biased, misleading information have been largely responsible for: creating public hysteria, lack of faith in the future existence of the nation, and are creating prejudice, hatred and internal dissention between various races and religious elements.

Compulsory school integration: Washington, the most integrated city in the United States, today is a city in disgrace and is known as the "crime-sick capital city." The public school discipline and crimes among the students is a national disgrace. The same is true of New York, Chicago, Detroit, and many other cities throughout the nation.

Is it strange that so many cities object to compulsory integration and fear the same thing may happen to their children and city which exists in Washington?

If the American people realized the hazards associated with the future existence of the nation they would use the authority of their votes in demanding that: elected and appointed government officials either change present-day policies of socialism or be retired from public life.

Freedom And You

Monroe, La.

To the Editor:

When Louis XIV asked his minister of war how it was that his great and popular country, France, was unable to conquer so small a country as Holland, his minister replied: "Because, Sire, the greatness of a country does not depend upon the extent of its territory, but upon the character of its people".

Today the world has become impressed not with territorial possessions but rather with military strength and scientific know how. We stand in awe at Megaton Bombs and Orbital Flights. We need neither to destroy the world, nor to escape from it, but rather to take life and make it peaceful and productive for all mankind. The reply that the minister gave Louis XIV is still valid in our quest for peace today.

What I, What any man, can do for his country is quite simple. He must look at himself and honestly endeavor to know himself. As Plato said, "To thine own self be true". If any man will honestly seek to free himself from his own selfish drives, then he will become captive to the higher moral and ethical values that encompass all of life.

The great Defenders of Freedom in history were sich men. They had gained a glimpse of what and who God is, and in the light of this truth came to understand what they are in relationship to God and humanity. In so doing they did not gain personal freedom from responsibility, from duty, or service, but rather they found themselves bound by these trues to the great purposes of life.

George Washington found his "Freedom" at a "Valley Forge". Cold, hungry, alone, discouraged, and committed to a hopeless cause; but yet he saw a Divine God, with a Divine Purpose for his life and the life of all mankind. When you, or I, have gained one glimpse of this truth, then we have found "Our Freedom" and in so doing can contribute greatly to the freedom of all mankind.

No Enforcement Horde

Chatham, La.

To the Editor:

In Monday's paper there was an excellent article by Bascom Timmons titled, 'No Enforcement Horde Expected', and in said article he stated, quote, 'CONTRARY TO WHAT many believe, the Justice Department insists it does not anticipate a need for a new horde of law enforcement officers to move in when and if the civil(un) rights bill is enacted'. As a matter of fact, the Department sees, or foresees(?) a lessening of resistence to racial integration, even in the South, once the bill becomes law, it's officials maintain.

Let me say that the department of Justice could be honestly mistaken, for mistaken it is, except in one part and I say that if the bill passes and if the South isn't made the perfect Utopia for the Negro people, and if most of them don't return to some place in the South as many people in the North, Northwest, Southwest, Northeast have been led to believe, then I predict they will have more trouble enforcing the so-called law in some of these sections than in the South.

I wonder how many in the Justice department have goine into these places and lived with the people and asked them their opinion as a whole about the racial question? If they have, then I am sure they must have been as astonished as I was at the answers, for most of them implied that the South brought the Negro over here so let them take them back and be responsible for them. When I informed them that the greatest part of the Negroes were brought in by northern merchantmen and British merchantmen plus some Dutch and a few others they asked me if I had ever read a history written by someone besides a Southerner. These people have been led to believe the Negro is so meek and humble that he will do whatever he is told, so what few remain with them will have to comply with such hints and signs as "We prefer Whites," or "We cater to Whites," "Negro be careful, there is an eye watching you," etc. When I asked some who insisted that we have integration in the south, if they would be willing to have it, they replied — and we don't have to!

Speaking of promises, didn't we get full assurance that the school integration decision of '54 would never require the use of federal troops? Asking a question please, just how dependable have been any promise from any branch of our government since 1933? No government has ever been as inconsistent as has ours and this includes both Democrats and Republicans. As you pointed out in your editorial in Monday's paper, we need a new tea party, but I say this time we need to save the tea and throw about 86 per cent of all government officials in the ocean and give them a much needed bath to wash some of the filth and stink off.

In Mr. Timmons' article he pointed out that former president Kennedy held at least 22 meetings with certain groups from Southern and border states, with the purpose of establishing direct contact with a broad segment of Southern leaders in an effort to learn what would be the reaction to his civil rights bill. If I remember correctly, Mr. Kennedy received favorable reports especially from the women's organizations, the church leaders, and most lawyers, but after this I also recall how a cry went up that these people didn't represent the whole and didn't even give the true reports as to the groups they represented. If I am wrong, please correct me. Anyway I do know that Mr. Kennedy began to back off and he thought the whole thing was being carried too far too fast for the good of the nation. Could this have been the chief cause for his assassination?

I was truly impressed by the statements of General Douglas MacArthur which were released after his death. I don't believe a single one of them were foolish and I believe as time goes on history will prove him more and more correct and when the whole truth is known about a lot of other things people will say, 'How could it have happened to us'?

Foreign Relations

El Paso, Texas

To the Editor:

The Council on Foreign Relations (our hidden government) was organized in N.Y. City, 1918, to create international thought among American citizens.

Through many Laura Spelman Rockefeller Foundation grants, Rockefeller interests maintain domination over CFR. Just as they used the infamous Institute of Pacific Relations, they now use CFR as a political agency.

We recall Richard Nixon's "midnight ride" and his conference with Nelson Rockefeller, during G.O.P. Convention. The results are now general knowledge:

Nixon should appoint Nelson and followers to Federal posts; choose appointees only after consulting Nelson; select internationalist appointees to (like Nixon himself); assist CFR's effort toward permanent U.N. Police Force; strengthen World Court so it can try individuals, as well as nations; internationalize Panama Canal and off shore islands (Pacific); support twelve bills and two treaties by UNESCO - WHO program, to bring mental health and education under U.N. control.

All of these things Kennedy (CFR) was committed to, so, no matter which political party won, Rockefeller interests would direct policy. (Nixon now lives in Rockefeller's apartment building).

Col. Mandel House internationalized CFR at Paris Peace Conference in 1919; planned CFR in other countries, under other names. Then was formed Britain's Royal Institute of International Affairs.

Forty one countries' CFRs under Comite International de L'Organization Scientifique, met in America for first time in 1963.

In 1925 CFR contained some Constitution-minded, conservative Americans. By 1939 it included Communists, pro-Communists and Marxist liberals, soon Communists of all complexions were included.

When they controlled key roles and propaganda, CFR changed character. Its insidious purpose became obvious.

The Communist espionage agency (Rockefeller financed) Institute of Pacific Relations, run by Owen Lattimore, Philip Jessup, et cetera became the leading spirit of CFR.

Alger Hiss (CFR) became head of Foreign Office in Rockefeller's Empire and policy maker for our State Department in Roosevelt's regime. With Stalin's approval, Hiss authored Yalta "betrayal" papers, and co-authored U.N. Charter.

In 1939, our State Department accepted "free" services of CFR.

Goldwater Team Doing Good Job

IN POLITICAL campaigns, it's important to keep your eye on the commentator. When Governor George Wallace of Alabama took one-third of the Democratic vote in the Wisconsin primary, the pundits saw in this a flop, a fizzle, and a defeat. That the Administration garners two-thirds against a segregationist in a progressive state was considered a thumping victory — though days before, the party propagandists had been saying that a small percentage of what Mr. Wallace polled would be a catastrophe for President Johnson and the Administration.

Now comes the Illinois primary in which Senator Barry Goldwater, hardly bothering to campaign, won roughly two-thirds of the votes. This is considered a defeat by the pundits, by a process of logic which puzzles me. Statistically, the Goldwater "defeat" in Illinois and the Administration "victory" in Wisconsin equate themselves. Politically, Senator Goldwater comes out way ahead.

I cite this because I expect that the carpers within Republican ranks will take this Alice-in-Wonderland reasoning as the basis for new attacks on the Goldwater team. After New Hampshire, these same carpers jumped with both feet on Dennison Kitchel, general manager of the Goldwater campaign, and on assorted others—blaming them for the strange and disappointing results. Much criticism was leveled at those who convinced Senator Goldwater that he "had it made" in New Hampshire, with the blame going to the team.

FEW BOTHERED to find out the facts. The story is an interesting one. For the Goldwater organization followed the advice and accepted the judgments of local Republican politicians. These politicians told the Goldwater aides that if he carried 50 percent of the Manchester vote and 10 per cent of the Portsmouth vote, he would sweep the state.

Surveys taken by the team showed that the Senator was running strong in those areas, and this was the basis for Mr. Goldwater's optimism. Those surveys were correct. Senator Goldwater carried Manchester by 2-to-1 and Portsmouth gave him 20 percent of the vote —or double what he needed to sweep. The local politicians were dead wrong, but the Goldwater team got the blame.

Despite setbacks and intra-party bickering, the team has been doing very well. In fact, it has done more organizationally than the Nelson Rockefeller junta. With little money, as compared to the easy hand of Governor Rockefeller and his adherents, Mr. Kitchel has built up an excellent organization in 47 states, with parallel finance committees to raise the cash from those who believe in conservatism but will fight for it to your death (and your money) rather than theirs.

THE KITCHEL organization has been beset by backbiting remarks because it is not "professional." The clamor for the pros is a little unusual, and it has little substance. When you push anyone to the wall, he can come up with only one recommendation. That is Leonard W. Hall, one-time Republican National Chairman under President Eisenhower.

The very conservatives who assailed him then for serving "moderate Republicanism" now urge that he be beckoned to the colors. They forget that he was at least partly instrumental for the chaos that seized the camp of Richard Nixon in the 1960 Presidential race. This chaos can be attributed to many causes, but certainly Mr. Hall was a part of it.

Professionalism is, of course, not the issue. The field directors of the Goldwater organization have more than enough experience to rise out of volunteer ranks. Richard Kleindienst, co-director with Clifton White, served seven years as Arizona state chairman. During this time, he devoted most of his efforts to becoming acquainted with the members of the Republican National Committee and with his counterparts in other states.

Mr. White helped build the Draft Goldwater organization and this was no slight political task. The job that was done in mobilizing public opinion is unmatched in American political annals when it is recalled that there was no helping hand from the press, as in the case of the so-called Willkie boom.

Ticking Of Clock May Ease Noises

DEAR DR. STEINCROHN: Some time ago someone wrote to you about an elderly man who had loud noises in his head and ears which prevented sleep. I've had that trouble and have been helped by the following simple trick. Have him place next to his bed a clock that ticks pretty loud. It will diminish the head sounds. Perhaps he will be able to get much needed sleep. — Mrs. S.

Comment: During the past year I have received a half dozen similar suggestions from people who were helped by the tick of the clock. I mention it today for the reason that it may help. Medical help doesn't always have to be "scientific." If it's harmless, why not?

DEAR DR. STEINCROHN: I have heard that garlic and onions are very good for an anemic person. My husband says that too much garlic isn't good for a person. What do you think? — Mrs. J.

Comment: I think your husband has a point. It's his way of saying politely that you are slowly alienating him. Love can jump just so many barriers, you know. And how about your friends? Have you been lonely lately? Garlic is garlic. It works against friends as well as against enemies. And onions besides! It's enough to scare away all the good red blood corpuscles instead of helping anemia.

DEAR DR. STEINCROHN: What is meant by "conservative treatment"? — Mrs. B.

Comment: It means taking the simpler way out; trying the medical instead of the surgical treatment, for instance. You have a duodenal ulcer? Let's not rush into operation and try conservative medical treatment first. You have painful angina pectoris? Let's try conservative medical management for months instead of trying one of the newer operations to increase the coronary circulation in the heart.

You have a gall bladder that is acting up? Let's see what diet will do; operation can wait a while. These are a few examples of conservative treatment. (Send for my leaflet, "When To Suspect Your Gall Bladder." Write to me in care of this newspaper. Enclose 15 cents and a stamped, self - addressed envelope.)

'Black Monday' Birthday

May 17, 1954, was the day of the United States supreme court's shattering "black Monday" ruling that Negroes must be admitted into white schools before they could become equal with white people. Under an 1896 ruling of the supreme court it had been held that there was no discrimination if "equal but separate" facilities were provided. The "black Monday" decision of the supreme court will be 10 years old in about one month.

We are running a little ahead of the flood of comment on results of the decision that will come when the anniversary date arrives.

The logical deduction in the decision was that Negroes could never be equal to white people unless they went to school with them. Court members seemed to presume that Negro teachers were not equal to white teachers and that Negro children were either not equal or not as fit to associate with as white children. Otherwise, it is difficult to see how separation gave them less than equal opportunity.

The court's conclusion could have been something like this: "water and sugar are not equal but if sugar is dissolved in water and stirred thoroughly, all parts of the resulting product become of equal quality."

In the nearly 10 years that have elapsed since the 1954 ruling many sections throughout the south have not yielded one iota to what they consider an unjust and unwarranted intrusion into the lives of individuals. Many of the northern states have put in only token integration, although some have gone all out, greatly to their sorrow. In Washington, D.C., the white students have been driven out and Negroes have taken over most of the schools, both white and Negro. White children now in the Washington schools are mostly those of parents who are unable to move out.

It will be recalled that the late President Kennedy established a private school for the benefit of his daughter, Carolyn, and some 30 other children of highly-placed Washington officialdom and that it was integrated but that he certainly did not put his child into a school that was overrun with big, low-caliber children of people recently drawn to Washington by preferential hiring of Negroes. Also, it will be recalled that Attorney General Robert Kennedy put several of his sons in a private school.

Without forced integration, there would have been a gradual acceptance of intelligent Negroes into colleges. Negroes have long been accepted in northern colleges if they could meet qualifications and the tendency to accept them thus was moving southward. In fact, there was considerable sentiment for acceptance on a voluntary basis of those who were qualified. There is no way of knowing how soon integration in all parts of the country might have come about if it would have come naturally and there would have been no noticeable resentment.

During the period between the end of World War II and the 1954 court ruling there was a strong tendency to put more taxes into better buildings and more teachers for Negro schools. The Negro school situation had greatly improved.

Some acceptance of the idea that some Negroes are capable of contributing to civic, business, political and professional activities had come before the 1954 decision.

In the south, where Negroes in many instances out-number whites, a problem even more pressing than the integration of Negroes into white schools is the fear that there might be a Negro sheriff or a Negro majority of the county court. Negro officers ruled ruthlessly in the Reconstruction days following the Civil War.

One of the results of the integration drive is that many of the small communities are becoming smaller. Young white people are leaving because they don't want to establish a permanent home in a town that may be Negro-ruled. Negroes are leaving these same areas, partly because they will have little means of subsistance if the substantial white people leave, partly because they see better opportunities in other areas and partly because the integrationist talk in the north has caused them to think they will be more readily accepted socially, although this is rarely true.

In the latter part of the last 10 years there has come a realization that general ideas about removing so-called handicaps of Negroes of the south have a different appearance when they touch schools, apartments and jobs in cities in the north.

It will take more than moving to suburbs to solve the new situations and it is possible that during the second 10 years following the supreme court ruling there will be more news of disturbances from northern cities than from rural communities of the south.

Johnson Horse-Trading

If political analysts are right, President Johnson is far from being as "hotsy-totsy" with Premier Nikita Khrushchev of Russia as was the late President John F. Kennedy. In fact, there are some indications that Johnson may want to advance the causes of the United States as against those of Russia and other communist nations.

Reportedly, Johnson is about to put the brand of a Texas horse-trader on United States foreign policy.

From a series of white house meetings, including talks with Foy Kohler, American ambassador to Moscow, we may expect to see a new policy emerge to capitalize on the upheaval now going on in the communist world as a result of the mounting feud between Russia and Red China.

Policy-makers have concluded that, more than ever before, Khruschev needs and wants trade with the west, but he won't be able to get it without political strings attached, involving Russian concessions on such problems as Germany, disarmament, accessibility to the bloc from the west and reduction of Soviet support in trouble spots around the world.

With the domestic economy apparently rolling in high gear, with fairly good support from congress on a good many issues and his own political outlook apparently satisfactory to him, Johnson is spending more and more of his time on foreign affairs. In this endeavor, he apparently is giving up none of his reputed toughness.

One commentator said:

"This policy must be exercised as much as possible with quiet diplomacy to be effective, because drawing lines in public will only force Khrushchev to stay on his side. If domestic politics don't force Johnson to demonstate publicly how anti-Khrushchev he is, there is substantial hope in Washington that the Kremlin boss will make significant concessions over the next few years.

American citizens got scant comfort out of the wheat deal with Russia, under which that nation was allowed to buy huge quantities of surplus wheat from this country at below-market prices. It is to be hoped that any future trading with Russia will be on a more favorable basis.

At any rate, there is some solace in finding out that Johnson would like to gain some advantage in dealing with Russia if he could, instead of working eagerly to promote the interests of the Red overlord. No horse-trader ever gave the other man the best end of the deal if he could help it, so we can hope that Johnson won't lose his horse-trading instinct in dealing with Moscow.

Agriculture Building

Monroe, La.

To the Editor:

Last week Mr. Pettit answered a question asked by a taxpayer regarding the $40,000.00 or $50,000.00 expansion to the agriculture building. Also the $1.10 per square foot charge for rent paid by the federal and state employes.

Mr. Pettit stated that "All the offices in the agriculture building are rented to federal and state government officers." "Most of the other parishes in the State, especially the larger parishes, do the same thing."

For your information, Mr. Pettit: I was in Shreveport this week and asked if the federal and state agricultural agents occupied offices in the Parish buildings, and was informed that they did not. The only persons occupying the parish buildings are the county agent and the home demonstration agent.

Image Feared By Many

Birmingham, Ala.

To the Editor:

The American people are apprehensive and greatly concerned as to why Congress has:

1. Made no effort to control government officials who have usurped their power.

2. Ignored the importance of a balanced federal budget and continues to appropriate billions of dollars of the taxpaying public's money to foreign aid, urban renewal, welfare, and many other questionable programs.

For example: The United States of America is fast being disintegrated into a bankrupt, socialistic welfare state. Daily the purchasing power of the dollar is depreciating. Today the American people are governed largely by decisions rendered by politically appointed Supreme Court and Federal judges.

Federal court decisions have convinced an immature Negro race that they and their children are immune to public school discipline, social, federal, and local laws, and that citizenship means unrestricted use of welfare programs and a racial percentage of all jobs throughout the nation, regardless of their ability and training.

Civil rights, demonstrations, and biased, misleading information have been largely responsible for: creating public hysteria, lack of faith in the future existence of the nation, and are creating prejudice, hatred and internal dissention between various races and religious elements.

Compulsory school integration: Washington, the most integrated city in the United States, today is a city in disgrace and is known as the "crime-sick capital city." The public school discipline and crimes among the students is a national disgrace. The same is true of New York, Chicago, Detroit, and many other cities throughout the nation.

Is it strange that so many cities object to compulsory integration and fear the same thing may happen to their children and city which exists in Washington?

If the American people realized the hazards associated with the future existence of the nation they would use the authority of their votes in demanding that: elected and appointed government officials either change present-day policies of socialism or be retired from public life.

Freedom And You

Monroe, La.

To the Editor:

When Louis XIV asked his minister of war how it was that his great and popular country, France, was unable to conquer so small a country as Holland, his minister replied: "Because, Sire, the greatness of a country does not depend upon the extent of its territory, but upon the character of its people".

Today the world has become impressed not with territorial possessions but rather with military strength and scientific know how. We stand in awe at Megaton Bombs and Orbital Flights. We need neither to destroy the world, nor to escape from it, but rather to take life and make it peaceful and productive for all mankind. The reply that the minister gave Louis XIV is still valid in our quest for peace today.

What I, What any man, can do for his country is quite simple. He must look at himself and honestly endeavor to know himself. As Plato said, "To thine own self be true". If any man will honestly seek to free himself from his own selfish drives, then he will become captive to the higher moral and ethical values that encompass all of life.

The great Defenders of Freedom in history were sich men. They had gained a glimpse of what and who God is, and in the light of this truth came to understand what they are in relationship to God and humanity. In so doing they did not gain personal freedom from responsibility, from duty, or service, but rather they found themselves bound by these trues to the great purposes of life.

George Washington found his "Freedom" at a "Valley Forge". Cold, hungry, alone, discouraged, and committed to a hopeless cause; but yet he saw a Divine God, with a Divine Purpose for his life and the life of all mankind. When you, or I, have gained one glimpse of this truth, then we have found "Our Freedom" and in so doing can contribute greatly to the freedom of all mankind.

No Enforcement Horde

Chatham, La.

To the Editor:

In Monday's paper there was an excellent article by Bascom Timmons titled, 'No Enforcement Horde Expected', and in said article he stated, quote, 'CONTRARY TO WHAT many believe, the Justice Department insists it does not anticipate a need for a new horde of law enforcement officers to move in when and if the civil(un) rights bill is enacted'. As a matter of fact, the Department sees, or foresees(?) a lessening of resistence to racial integration, even in the South, once the bill becomes law, it's officials maintain.

Let me say that the department of Justice could be honestly mistaken, for mistaken it is, except in one part and I say that if the bill passes and if the South isn't made the perfect Utopia for the Negro people, and if most of them don't return to some place in the South as many people in the North, Northwest, Southwest, Northeast have been led to believe, then I predict they will have more trouble enforcing the so-called law in some of these sections than in the South.

I wonder how many in the Justice department have goine into these places and lived with the people and asked them their opinion as a whole about the racial question? If they have, then I am sure they must have been as astonished as I was at the answers, for most of them implied that the South brought the Negro over here so let them take them back and be responsible for them. When I informed them that the greatest part of the Negroes were brought in by northern merchantmen and British merchantmen plus some Dutch and a few others they asked me if I had ever read a history written by someone besides a Southerner. These people have been led to believe the Negro is so meek and humble that he will do whatever he is told, so what few remain with them will have to comply with such hints and signs as "We prefer Whites," or "We cater to Whites," "Negro be careful, there is an eye watching you." etc. When I asked some who insisted that we have integration in the south, if they would be willing to have it, they replied — and we don't have to!

Speaking of promises, didn't we get full assurance that the school integration decision of '54 would never require the use of federal troops? Asking a question please, just how dependable have been any promise from any branch of our government since 1933? No government has ever been as inconsistent as has ours and this includes both Democrats and Republicans. As you pointed out in your editorial in Monday's paper, we need a new tea party, but I say this time we need to save the tea and throw about 86 per cent of all government officials in the ocean and give them a much needed bath to wash some of the filth and stink off.

In Mr. Timmons' article he pointed out that former president Kennedy held at least 22 meetings with certain groups from Southern and border states, with the purpose of establishing direct contact with a broad segment of Southern leaders in an effort to learn what would be the reaction to his civil rights bill. If I remember correctly, Mr. Kennedy received favorable reports especially from the women's organizations, the church leaders, and most lawyers, but after this I also recall how a cry went up that these people didn't represent the whole and didn't even give the true reports as to the groups they represented. If I am wrong, please correct me. Anyway I do know that Mr. Kennedy began to back off and he thought the whole thing was being carried too far too fast for the good of the nation. Could this have been the chief cause for his assassination?

The Week In Focus

by Jack Gates

(EDITOR'S NOTE: While Executive Editor Jack Gates is recovering from surgery at a Houston, Texas hospital, The Week in Focus is being readied by John Cole of the News-Star and Morning World editorial staff.)

In General

ALONG WITH the events of the week which kept editors on their toes so as to catch the latest leads — such as the Khrushchev death rumor and the Illinois primary — there was a deadline many Americans had to watch for. The Internal Revenue people said something about an April 15 deadline for filing income tax returns.

This gave many persons a feeling of meeting a deadline which should create a little mutual understanding of the journalist's world—"we're all brothers under the Form 1040 and some sort of deadline at some time."

ONE OF the news stories regarding April 15 tried to strike a note of consolation by pointing up the fact that in the United States we pay less of our nation's total production in taxes. Five western nations: West Germany, France, Italy, Britain were compared with the United States in the percentages of taxes so lifted. It seemed factual enough when the writer indicated that in the United States, some 25 per cent of our gross national product goes for federal, local and state taxes. West Germany and France are geared to about 33 per cent in taxes, while the British government calls for 29 per cent and the Italian revenuers reach out for 28 per cent of that country's G. N. P.

ALL THIS was a source of consolation until the final paragraph of the account. At that point the writer said something about "contributions" for Social Security, which is a strange name for an item listed under "taxes owed" on the annual form.

Illinois Voters

IN SPITE of attempts by some factions to attach a mantle of loser-apparent among GOP hopefuls to Arizona Senator Barry Goldwater, he nonetheless made an excellent showing in the Illinois primary on Tuesday.

GOLDWATER polled 63 per cent of the votes cast for Republican presidential nominees in Tuesday's primary election. Mrs. Margaret Chase Smith, of Maine, polled 26 per cent.

GOLDWATER

An estimated 2.2 million voters cast ballots.

Mrs. Smith, who claimed she spent only $85 in two brief Illinois appearances, said in Washington that her 197,556 votes "rejected political bigotry against a candidate just because she is a woman."

Goldwater and Mrs. Smith were listed directly on the ballot.

More than 80,000 write-in votes were cast. Some 200,000 other GOP voters expressed no preference for a presidential candidate.

MRS. SMITH

THE ELECTION was spurred by a bitter Republican gubernatorial contest, which was won handily by Charles H. Percy, 44, Chicago industrialist, making his first bid for public office. Percy defeated state treasurer William J. Scott, 37, by some 200,000 votes.

GOV. GEORGE C. Wallace of Alabama outpulled an avowed presidential candidate, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, by almost 3,000 votes. Wallace had 4,500 and Rockefeller 1,820.

Visiting Official

LOUISIANA'S Governor-Elect John J. McKeithen, who has conferred with several other state governors as well as President Johnson in recent weeks, last week visited Alabama and Texas for talks with Governors George Wallace and John Connally respectively.

Some observers see national political overtones behind the visits, since the subject of unpledged electors continues to enter the list of subjects which highlight subsequent news conferences. McKeithen has conferred personally with the governors of Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas, Texas, as well as with President Lyndon Johnson.

"We are prepared to take a position when the time arrives," McKeithen noted. McKeithen said he felt both Johnson and the unpledged electors movement had strong appeal among Louisiana voters.

THE INCOMING governor again emphasized he felt Johnson's chances in Louisiana would be badly damaged if U. S. Attorney General Robert Kennedy was picked as his running mate.

Developments

SECRETARY OF State Dean Rusk attended a three-day meeting of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization in Manila, the Philippines, last week. Though he said the organization SEATO must be prepared to act if necessary in order to prevent South Viet Nam from falling to the Reds, the communist Viet Cong guerrillas posed major threats on the heels of the Manilla conference. Guerrillas were reportedly massing near Kien Long, South Viet Nam, where a battle lasted three days and resulted in 300 dead or wounded on the government's side. The district chief, his wife and child, were killed and mutilated by the Red invaders of Kien Long.

IN AFRICA, Southern Rhodesia's new government put Nationalist leader Joshua Nkomo and three of his chief supporters under restrictive custody.

The crackdown followed the resignation Monday of Prime Minister Winston Field, whose all-white, conservative Rhodesian Front party had decided he was too moderate in dealing with the self-governing British territory's African majority.

MEANWHILE President Johnson says that civil rights demonstrations do their cause "no good" when they resort to civil disobedience and threaten health or safety of the people.

The Senate continued its long debate on the House-passed measure to ban racial discrimination in voting, education, employment, unions, public accommodations and use of federal funds.

SOUTHERN opponents of the bill still held the floor. A team composed of Sens. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., B. Everett Jordan, D-N. C., and John J. Sparkman, D-Ala., was to speak against the legislation.

"I am not an overly optimistic man, but I do believe that under our collective bargaining system a result can be reached," Johnson told a news conference Thursday.

"WE SHOULD know definitely, no later than Monday, whether the parties to this dispute will settle it by the process of bargaining and by responsible reason."

Senior Citizens

SOVIET PREMIER Nikita S. Khrushchev, reported dead earlier last week, celebrated his 70th birthday Friday with a new medal on his coat. With congratulations pouring from the Soviet bloc nations, there was also a telegram of best wishes from 71-year-old Chinese communist leader Mao-Tse-Tung.

Meanwhile, French President Charles De Gaulle, 73, completed a nationwide television address Thursday and entered a Paris hospital shortly thereafter. The independent Radio Luxembourg said De Gaulle underwent an operation Friday for removal of the prostate gland, but this was not confirmed by any official Paris source at the time.

LeMay — McNamara

SENATOR BARRY Goldwater charged the Johnson administration has "recklessly underestimated" the Communists and allowed the U.S. missile lead to falter.

He differed sharply with McNamara's assertion — backed by President Johnson — that this country is increasing its arms superiority over the Soviet Union.

McNAMARA

Goldwater referred to figures released by the Pentagon Wednesday. Its report countered testimony by Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, Air Force chief of staff, who said the Soviet Union has closed in on the U.S. edge in military strength.

The Pentagon figures are misleading, Goldwater said, given out only to silence critics.

"The whole truth is not being told to the American people," Goldwater said. An Air Force reserve general, he has long contended that McNamara is depending too heavily on missiles over manned bombers.

Mansfield Victory

THE STORY of a French nobleman, acting in the interests of his own country but enlightened by a spirit of adventure and a personal admiration for Confederate General Robert E. Lee, came to light in Louisiana this month when the nobleman's son visited the state.

The Frenchman was Prince Camille de Polignac who became a general in the army of the Confederate States of America. He distinguished himself in the Battle of Mansfield, which occurred on April 8, 1964, by leading a cavalry charge into the Union lines.

So proud of his accomplishment was Prince Camille that he named his son Prince Victor Mansfield de Polignac. And its was Prince Victor and his wife Elizabeth who visited the state on the occasion of the centennial of the Civil War battle, celebrated at Mansfield.

The Prince and Princess de Polignac were guests in the home of former State Senator Reimer Calhoun and Mrs. Calhoun who have renovated the first floor of the old Mansfield Female College for a residence. We understand this same building was used as a hospital during the war, so it was a likely setting for an interview with de Polignac when our representative was able to find a few moments on the crowded, but unhurried, schedule.

THE HISTORY books are improving their accounts of the Battle of Mansfield and the Red River campaign as the years pass. But what does the prince have to say of the present?

Well, first there is gratitude. In public appearances as well as in private conversations, he and his wife stressed appreciation from France for the kindness and assistance shown by America on more than one occasion. Then there were personal thanks for the hospitality shown on the present visit.

What about the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance; did he think it would hold together? "Yes," said Prince Victor, "the western Allies remind me of an old coat. Some of the parts may be worn and the seams may run in different directions, but when you put it on, it holds together somehow."

To a question relating to French President De Gaulle's recognition of Red China, Prince de Polignac said:

"Let me explain to you that I am no politician. President De Gaulle is highly popular with a great many people in France, and, while what he has done in this respect may appear strange to you people now, the future may show that he made the best decision."

Asked about his residence in Monaco and any possible connection with Prince Ranier and Princess Grace — former American movie star Grace Kelly — Prince Victor seemed pleased to get off the subject of international politics:

"Prince Ranier's father was a de Polignac. When he married the heiress of Monaco, he took the family name and passed it on to Ranier. I believe my grandfather and his great-great grandfather were brothers."

THE SITE of the de Polignac estate in France, which dates back to the 10th century, is the town of Puy in the province of Velay.

"This is a volcanic region right in the heart of France," the visitor remarked. When the description brought surprise, the prince quipped, "Oh, yes, there are volcanic areas in France. You already know about French politics and night life in some parts of Paris. They both get pretty volcanic at times."

The title of "prince" was conferred on a member of the family in 1823 by the Pope. And it was passed in direct line to our genial guest, Prince Victor Mansfield de Polignac.

Week In Focus Roundup

AN UNUSUAL strike in Belgium, tension on the Island of Cyprus, and the motion picture industry's academy awards made up a sweeping once-over of the week in review.

The Belgian government near the week's end ordered demobilization of military reserve doctors as Belgium's 12,000 physicians and dentists returned to their offices after an 18-day strike.

The Interior and Defense ministries directed all doctors called to active duty last Sunday to report immediately to provincial commanders for demobilization.

THE STRIKE ended even though the dispute over a new socialized medicine law which caused it remained unresolved.

It was the first time since communal warfare broke out last December that the archbishop had visited the Ledra Palace, which is situated on the armed border a few hundred yards from a big Turkish Cypriot gunpost.

It was this gunpost that caused Greeks Friday to throw up a fortified post at the hotel entrance.

AFTER FAILING to get the Greeks to remove the fortification during which a scuffle ensued, British troops in the United Nations built their own sandbag position between the Greeks and Turks.

SIDNEY POITIER, Negro actor who had trouble getting started because of his calypso-type British West Indies accent, has become the first of his race to win a top movie Oscar.

PATRICIA NEAL, 38, whose career has included downs as well as ups, made it a comeback story by taking best actress honors. Her winning role was as the slovenly housekeeper in "Hud."

Melvyn Douglas, once Greta Garbo's favorite leading man, pulled an upset by winning as best supporting actor for his performance as the patriarchal rancher of "Hud." John Huston of "The Cardinal" and Hugh Griffith of "Tom Jones" had been co-favorites.

Margaret Rutherford, dowdy duchess of "The V.I.P.S." and a heavy favorite, was named best supporting acrtess.

Rafferty For Governor?

EDITOR'S NOTE — California sprouts big controversies in many things. Nowhere is this truer than in public education, and no one is more controversial than Max Rafferty, who may have his eye on the governorship.

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—It's a long way from the office of superintendent of schools in LaCanada, Calif., to the governor's mansion in Sacramento. Don't bet that Max Rafferty won't make it in two jumps.

Rafferty, "Mr. Instant Controversy," made the first jump in November, 1962 when he was elected state superintendent of public instruction—titular head of the nation's biggest school system, with an annual budget of nearly $3 billion.

That was quite a jump for a Republican in heavily Democratic California, the most populous state in the union.

Moreover, Rafferty won against the bitter opposition of the retiring state superintendent, the State Board of Education, the Teachers' Union and all other organized labor, the California Teachers Association, the governor, and the state attorney general.

He did it with slashing attacks on "progressive education" and "life adjustment" in the schools, with star-spangled appeals for the teaching of patriotism, and with a born politician's knack for seeing two sides to every argument—the all-good and the all-bad.

Friend and foe alike believe Rafferty has his eye on Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown's job, which goes up for grabs in November 1966. Brown hasn't said yet if he'll try for another term.

"He is the darling of the right-wingers," Kent said recently, "And he is displaying all the classical symptoms of a candidate."

DR. RAFFERTY
. . . Mansion Next?

Rafferty, a long-time California teacher and school administrator, disclaims any interest in the governorship. He said, in an interview, "the professional politicians can find better qualified candidates in their own ranks."

He acknowledged, however, that he would run for governor —"or even the presidency, anyone would"—if he were assured the same support he got when he ran for state school superintendent. He defeated Dr. Ralph Richardson, former president of the Los Angeles Board of Education.

The four conditions Rafferty set for that race were all the financial backing he needed, newspaper support in each major population center, sufficient radio and television time "to get the message across," and a state-wide grassroots organization.

The state superintendent's office is nonpartisan and party affiliation is not listed on the ballot. Rafferty ran for the office with a frank appeal to conservatives.

From the day he started his campaign, Rafferty, 46, has kept education—and Rafferty—on the front pages of the state's newspapers.

His denunciation of a little-known dictionary of slang as 'a practicing handbook of sexual perversion" stirred up a state-wide furor, with echoes all over the country.

One critic said the attack "sent half the adolescents in the state scurrying to the library to look up the four-letter words."

Rafferty's suggestion that "a little bit of censorship might be in order" fanned the flames higher. Jesse M. Unruh, speaker of the assembly and a power in California politics, roared "a little bit of censorship is like being a little bit pregnant."

Rafferty's demand that patriotism be taught in the schools is supported by veterans' organizations, among others, but denounced by those who charge he wants to indoctrinate children.

In those rare periods when there is no particular issue up for debate, Rafferty keeps up his sporadic feud with the State Board of Education, most particularly with the board chairman, Thomas Braden. Braden is a Democrat and publisher of the Oceanside Daily Blade-Tribune.

Braden said in an interview: "Rafferty and I disagree primarily on the question of what education really is.

"I believe education is the instrument of freedom, and indoctrination is the bludgeon of tyranny, and the difference between education and indoctrination sums up the difference between ourselves and our enemies abroad."

Rafferty is an articulate, highly quotable phrasemaker who knows what he doesn't like. And what he doesn't like includes the current state of education, and modern poetry, painting, architecture, drama and literature.

"Modern education had deliberately debunked the hero to make room for the slob. Educators now collect college units the way housewives collect green stamps. You have done your best to produce a race of barely literate savages. We are teaching trivia."

In campaigning for the state superintendent's office, Rafferty said, "I ran on a straight platform of getting literacy and culture back into the curriculum."

The platform demanded more emphasis on subject matter, a learning-to-read program based at least 75 per cent on a phonetic approach, and textbooks with greater vocabularies, more content, more interesting style, elimination of racial stereotypes, and inclusion of excerpts from the classics.

It also called for geography, history and civics taught as separate courses and better teachers, including English teachers "who know grammar backwards and forwards.

Rafferty also said, "I fear there is a trend in the direction of taking God completely out of the classroom. I'm not so worried about the Supreme Court's decision on school prayer as I am the court's future decisions."

Braden, one of seven Democrats on the 10-member State Board of Education, said in a separate interview: "Rafferty's campaign was a phony. He fakes the issues."

In a magazine article, Braden once called Rafferty the "darling of the hate groups." He also said that after Braden's appointment as president of the state board, "20,000 letters poured into Sacramento in outraged protest."

CONSTANTLY ATTACKING and under attack, Max Rafferty (right), conservative state superintendent of school in California, keeps himself and education in the public eye. Here he works with Dr. Everett Calvert, chief deputy director, superintendent of schools, in Sacramento. Rafferty won election in 1962 with attacks on "progressive education." Phenix City--10 Years After Closure Of Vice

By REX THOMAS

PHENIX CITY, Ala. (AP) — People in Phenix City who knew Albert Fuller 10 years ago remember him as the swaggering chief deputy sheriff who liked expensive clothes and fancy guns—and money.

He was the law enforcement boss in the days when honky-tonks and gambling dens and bawdy houses flourished unchallenged, and Phenix City lived on the wages of sin.

Fuller lived well, and he enjoyed every minute of it. On a $200 a month salary, he reputedly spent 10 times that much, or more.

Phenix City has changed, and Albert Fuller has changed, in the decade since an assassin shot down racketbuster Albert Patterson and touched off a massive cleanup campaign which brought the sleezy vice empire crashing to ruins. Patterson had won the Democratic nomination for attorney general of Alabama on a promise to drive the racketeers out of his home town.

The once-swashbuckling sheriff's deputy who wore costly Texas-style hats and ornately engraved pistols now dresses in the drab white shirt and trousers of a life-termer at Kilby Prison. His income is 50 cents every three weeks. He was convicted of Patterson's murder in the wake of the vice purge.

In some ways, Fuller, now 44, who works extra hours in the Kilby cotton mill to "help the time go by faster," hasn't changed. He always strained to be polite, even to those who fought him; he still does. He dressed immaculately; in prison clothing, he is still neat, his shoes shined.

He still steadfastly denies any connection with the killing for which he was sent to prison for life.

"I ain't no more killed Mr. Patterson than nothing in this world," he protested in a recent interview, "and I don't know for sure who did."

But, he added, "like everybody else, I've got my ideas. I can't prove it in here, but if I'm ever paroled, I hope to live long enough to see the day when I can clear myself completely."

Fuller was convicted in March 1955, and, under Alabama's minimum sentence law, he will be eligible for parole next year. He got seven years for bribery in addition to the life term for murder, but prisoners are considered for parole after serving one-third of their terms or 10 years, whichever is less.

If prison conduct is a factor, the onetime deputy has that on his side. In the nine years since he walked into the penitentiary, he has never been disciplined for breaking the rules.

Fuller disclaimed any bitterness for what, in the same breath, he called a bum rap.

"I don't have no reason to feel bitter," he explained. "After being here so long, I can see that they (the prosecutors) went with what they had. They thought they were right."

"What they had" during the trial which lasted four weeks was testimony that:

—Fuller was seen with Patterson minutes before the antivice crusader was shot to death outside his law office the night of June 18, 1954, two days after he had officially been declared the nominee for attorney general.

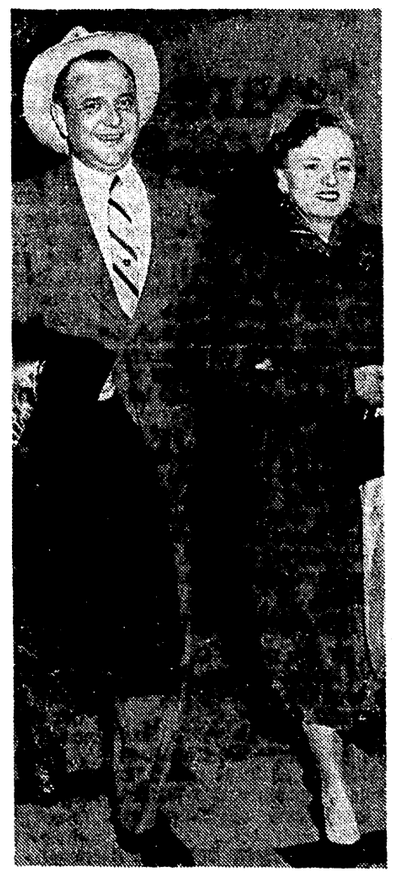
—His fingerprint was found on Patterson's car where the shooting occurred.

— Bullets found at Fuller's home were of the same texture, according to spectroscopic examination, as those taken from the body. The gun which fired them was never found.

Fuller had an alibi; witnesses said he was in the county jail at the time of the slaying. It wasn't enough.



PRISON GARB has replaced the expensive outfit Albert Fuller wore in February, 1955, entering court in Birmingham, Ala., with his wife during his trial for the murder of racketbuster Albert Patterson of Phenix City, Ala. Fuller, Phenix City chief deputy sheriff, was convicted in March, 1955, and is serving a life sentence in the penitentiary at Montgomery. He will be eligible for parole next year. SIDNEY POITIER, Negro actor who had trouble getting started because of his calypso-type British West Indies accent, has become the first of his race to win a top movie Oscar.

PATRICIA NEAL, 38, whose career has included downs as well as ups, made it a comeback story by taking best actress honors. Her winning role was as the slovenly housekeeper in "Hud."

Melvyn Douglas, once Greta Garbo's favorite leading man, pulled an upset by winning as best supporting actor for his performance as the patriarchal rancher of "Hud." John Huston of "The Cardinal" and Hugh Griffith of "Tom Jones" had been co-favorites.

Rafferty For Governor?

EDITOR'S NOTE — California sprouts big controversies in many things. Nowhere is this truer than in public education, and no one is more controversial than Max Rafferty, who may have his eye on the governorship.

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)— It's a long way from the office of superintendent of schools in LaCanada, Calif., to the governor's mansion in Sacramento. Don't bet that Max Rafferty won't make it in two jumps.

Rafferty, "Mr. Instant Controversy," made the first jump in November, 1962 when he was elected state superintendent of public instruction—titular head of the nation's biggest school system, with an annual budget of nearly $3 billion.

That was quite a jump for a Republican in heavily Democratic California, the most populous state in the union.

Moreover, Rafferty won against the bitter opposition of the retiring state superintendent, the State Board of Education, the Teachers' Union and all other organized labor, the California Teachers Association, the governor, and the state attorney general.

He did it with slashing attacks on "progressive education" and "life adjustment" in the schools, with star-spangled appeals for the teaching of patriotism, and with a born politician's knack for seeing two sides to every argument—the all-good and the all-bad.

Friend and foe alike believe Rafferty has his eye on Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown's job, which goes up for grabs in November 1966. Brown hasn't said yet if he'll try for another term.

"He is the darling of the right-wingers," Kent said recently, "And he is displaying all the classical symptoms of a candidate."

DR. RAFFERTY
. . . Mansion Next?

Rafferty, a long-time California teacher and school administrator, disclaims any interest in the governorship. He said, in an interview, "the professional politicians can find better qualified candidates in their own ranks."

He acknowledged, however, that he would run for governor —"or even the presidency, anyone would"—if he were assured the same support he got when he ran for state school superintendent. He defeated Dr. Ralph Richardson, former president of the Los Angeles Board of Education.

The four conditions Rafferty set for that race were all the financial backing he needed, newspaper support in each major population center, sufficient radio and television time "to get the message across," and a state-wide grassroots organization.

The state superintendent's office is nonpartisan and party affiliation is not listed on the ballot. Rafferty ran for the office with a frank appeal to conservatives.

From the day he started his campaign, Rafferty, 46, has kept education—and Rafferty—on the front pages of the state's newspapers.

His denunciation of a little-known dictionary of slang as 'a practicing handbook of sexual perversion" stirred up a state-wide furor, with echoes all over the country.

One critic said the attack "sent half the adolescents in the state scurrying to the library to look up the four-letter words."

Rafferty's suggestion that "a little bit of censorship might be in order" fanned the flames higher. Jesse M. Unruh, speaker of the assembly and a power in California politics, roared "a little bit of censorship is like being a little bit pregnant."

Rafferty's demand that patriotism be taught in the schools is supported by veterans' organizations, among others, but denounced by those who charge he wants to indoctrinate children.

In those rare periods when there is no particular issue up for debate, Rafferty keeps up his sporadic feud with the State Board of Education, most particularly with the board chairman, Thomas Braden. Braden is a Democrat and publisher of the Oceanside Daily Blade-Tribune.

Braden said in an interview: "Rafferty and I disagree primarily on the question of what education really is.

"I believe education is the instrument of freedom, and indoctrination is the bludgeon of tyranny, and the difference between education and indoctrination sums up the difference between ourselves and our enemies abroad."

Rafferty is an articulate, highly quotable phrasemaker who knows what he doesn't like. And what he doesn't like includes the current state of education, and modern poetry, painting, architecture, drama and literature.

"Modern education had deliberately debunked the hero to make room for the slob. Educators now collect college units the way housewives collect green stamps. You have done your best to produce a race of barely literate savages. We are teaching trivia."

In campaigning for the state superintendent's office, Rafferty said, "I ran on a straight platform of getting literacy and culture back into the curriculum."

The platform demanded more emphasis on subject matter, a learning-to-read program based at least 75 per cent on a phonetic approach, and textbooks with greater vocabularies, more content, more interesting style, elimination of racial stereotypes, and inclusion of excerpts from the classics.

It also called for geography, history and civics taught as separate courses and better teachers, including English teachers "who know grammar backwards and forwards.

Rafferty also said, "I fear there is a trend in the direction of taking God completely out of the classroom. I'm not so worried about the Supreme Court's decision on school prayer as I am the court's future decisions."

Braden, one of seven Democrats on the 10-member State Board of Education, said in a separate interview: "Rafferty's campaign was a phony. He fakes the issues."

In a magazine article, Braden once called Rafferty the "darling of the hate groups." He also said that after Braden's appointment as president of the state board, "20,000 letters poured into Sacramento in outraged protest."

Phenix City--10 Years After Closure Of Vice

By REX THOMAS

PHENIX CITY, Ala. (AP) — People in Phenix City who knew Albert Fuller 10 years ago remember him as the swaggering chief deputy sheriff who liked expensive clothes and fancy guns—and money.

He was the law enforcement boss in the days when honky-tonks and gambling dens and bawdy houses flourished unchallenged, and Phenix City lived on the wages of sin.

Fuller lived well, and he enjoyed every minute of it. On a $200 a month salary, he reputedly spent 10 times that much, or more.

Phenix City has changed, and Albert Fuller has changed, in the decade since an assassin shot down racketbuster Albert Patterson and touched off a massive cleanup campaign which brought the sleezy vice empire crashing to ruins. Patterson had won the Democratic nomination for attorney general of Alabama on a promise to drive the racketeers out of his home town.

The once-swashbuckling sheriff's deputy who wore costly Texas-style hats and ornately engraved pistols now dresses in the drab white shirt and trousers of a life-termer at Kilby Prison. His income is 50 cents every three weeks. He was convicted of Patterson's murder in the wake of the vice purge.

In some ways, Fuller, now 44, who works extra hours in the Kilby cotton mill to "help the time go by faster," hasn't changed. He always strained to be polite, even to those who fought him; he still does. He dressed immaculately; in prison clothing, he is still neat, his shoes shined.

He still steadfastly denies any connection with the killing for which he was sent to prison for life.

"I ain't no more killed Mr. Patterson than nothing in this world," he protested in a recent interview, "and I don't know for sure who did."

But, he added, "like everybody else, I've got my ideas. I can't prove it in here, but if I'm ever paroled, I hope to live long enough to see the day when I can clear myself completely."

Fuller was convicted in March 1955, and, under Alabama's minimum sentence law, he will be eligible for parole next year. He got seven years for bribery in addition to the life term for murder, but prisoners are considered for parole after serving one-third of their terms or 10 years, whichever is less.

If prison conduct is a factor, the onetime deputy has that on his side. In the nine years since he walked into the penitentiary, he has never been disciplined for breaking the rules.

Fuller disclaimed any bitterness for what, in the same breath, he called a bum rap.

"I don't have no reason to feel bitter," he explained. "After being here so long, I can see that they (the prosecutors) went with what they had. They thought they were right."

"What they had" during the trial which lasted four weeks was testimony that:

—Fuller was seen with Patterson minutes before the antivice crusader was shot to death outside his law office the night of June 18, 1954, two days after he had officially been declared the nominee for attorney general.

—His fingerprint was found on Patterson's car where the shooting occurred.

— Bullets found at Fuller's home were of the same texture, according to spectroscopic examination, as those taken from the body. The gun which fired them was never found.

Fuller had an alibi; witnesses said he was in the county jail at the time of the slaying. It wasn't enough.

PRISON GARB has replaced the expensive outfit Albert Fuller wore in February, 1955, entering court in Birmingham, Ala., with his wife during his trial for the murder of racketbuster Albert Patterson of Phenix City, Ala. Fuller, Phenix City chief deputy sheriff, was convicted in March, 1955, and is serving a life sentence in the penitentiary at Montgomery. He will be eligible for parole next year. Highway Boom In Twin Cities

By MARY ANNE CORPIN
Staff Writer

Work involved includes construction now underway on the Stella Street — Fifth Street section and traffic circle in West Monroe, and two sections of I-20 in Monroe, from Catalpa Street past Texas Avenue to Nutland Road.

If the weather holds good for roadbuilding, by March 1, 1965, close to $46 million worth of I-20 will be complete from the Bienville parish line to Nutland Road just beyond the city limits of Monroe.

The coast - to - coast highway now is open from Arcadia to Wells Road in West Monroe for through traffic. Local traffic can continue on to Thomas Road in West Monroe. The I-20 bridge across the Ouachita River also is open.

Westward from Arcadia to Shreveport and the Texas state line, several miles of I-20 are under contract or still to be let for construction, Fourth District Highway officials pointed out.

I - 20 from Stella to Fifth Streets, and the traffic circle, in West Monroe are slated for completion January 1, 1965.

The $4.846,098.38 project is 68 per cent complete.

WORK SCHEDULED

Work ahead includes paving of the interchange, pouring part of the bridge decks and incidentals. Forman noted that work completed includes all substructures on the bridges, and erection of all steel.

This section ties in to Wells Road on the west, and the $7 million I-20 bridge and its approaches on the east.

Beyond the bridge and its approaches in Monroe, the $4.543,-177.45 section from Catalpa Street to Texas Avenue is 63 per cent complete. Farnsworth Division of Fruin-Colnon of New Orleans is contractor on the project, which includes .7 of a mile of elevated highway.

Robert Graves has served as project engineer since the work order was let April 8, 1963.

Remaining work includes pouring part of the bridge decks, completing the grading and paving city streets and through lanes. All north-south through streets are being repaved at their intersection with Layton Avenue. Sections of Layton Avenue, Texas Avenue and Louise Anne Streets also are being repaved. Completion date is forecast for Feb. 1, 1965.

S and W Construction Co. of Memphis is 21 per cent complete on the $4,730,170.32 contract, slated for completion Mar. 1, 1965, with good weather.

Current work involves driving pilings, pouring substructures, grading and pouring bridge decks. No items are complete on this project.

The Fifth District engineer pointed out that the work order was given two weeks ago, April 6, on the $397,553.52 project for paving the Stella and Mill Street approaches to the Stella Street interchange in West Monroe.

The approaches will connect U. S. Highway 80 traffic directly from the Louisville Avenue bridge to I-20.

Work got underway this past week, and Forman anticipates that it will be complete to tie in with the interchange by the time that section of I-20 opens next January.

Stella and Mill will be made into one-way streets, with Stella leading to the interchange, and Mill carrying traffic back to U. S. 80.

The tie - in will be made at the intersection of Bridge and Cypress Streets in West Monroe.

Both streets will be rebuilt along their entire lengths. Completion of this project will provide a divided highway from Cypress Street to Olin Mathieson Mill.

TOTALS

Forman noted that including contracts now underway, the Fifth District now has 47.177 miles of I-20 either completed or under construction at contract cost of $41.7 million from the Bienville-Lincoln parish line to Nutland Road in Monroe.

He pointed out that normally, work runs slightly higher than contract estimates.

As a result, approximately $45,895.000 worth of I-20 has been or is being built in this area.

Projects completed, lengths and contract estimates are: Lincoln parish: Arcadia to Simsboro, 5.608 miles, $2,568,955.14; Simmsboro to Grambling, 4.564 miles, $2.040,248.13; Grambling to Ruston, 3.4777 miles, $1,994,-427.57; Ruston to Choudrant, 3.608 miles, $1,948,854.43; Ruston to Choudrant, 4.205 miles, $1,870,297.76; Choudrant to Calhoun in Lincoln Parish, 5.468 miles, $2,863,446.61.

Ouachita Parish, Choudrant to Calhoun, 4.999 miles, $2,482,-357.96; Calhoun to West Monroe, 5.615 miles, $2,286,008.44; West Monroe to Thompson Road, 5.-530 miles, $2,535,255.14; next comes the Stella Street section now underway; the bridge approaches, .596 of a mile, $3,825,-820.15; the bridge, .205 of a mile, $3,187,755; and finally the two sections of I-20 now under construction in Monroe.

Texas line to Greenwood, La., 3.3 miles under contract, two miles of this project has been accepted; 1.8 miles under contract to the railroad overpass east of Greenwood; 4.6 miles under contract from the railroad overpass to the Buncomb Road; two miles under contract from Buncomb Road to Curtis Lane, the city limits of Shreveport.

In Shreveport, 2.4 miles under contract from Curtis Lane to Hearne Avenue; 1.7 miles under contract from Hearne Avenue to Allen Avenue; 1.1 mile section has been completed and opened from Allen Avenue to Spring Street; .6 of a mile of approaches to the Red River bridge are under contract.

From the Red River east, Traffic Street on the Bossier City side ties in with the bridge approaches now under contract. Work has just begun on 1.2 miles of a section to Barksdale Boulevard. In the near future, a contract will be let for 2.7 miles from Barksdale Boulevard to Fosters Road at the edge of Bossier City.

The time has not been scheduled yet for letting the contract from the Bossier City limits to the ordnance plant midway between Bossier City and Minden. The 11½ mile connection from Foster Road in Bossier to the plant is being made via U. S. Highway 80. Joe Smith, assistant Fourth District engineer in charge of construction, pointed out that this section of U.S. 80 is four-lanes.

I-20 is open from McIntire to Ada. From Ada to Gibsland, 6.7 miles is under construction. The 6.3 mile section from Gibsland to Arcadia is close to completion, and should be open by October. The superhighway is open to traffic from Arcadia to the Bienville — Lincoln Parish line.

A New Medical Frontier Looms— Spare Parts For Dying Persons

By JOHN BARBOUR
Associated Press Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — This marvelous human mechanism—this man—is 99 per cent in working order. Yet he is slowly dying—before his time—because of one sick but vital part.

Here, on this hospital bed, is one of a doctor's most frustrating enigmas: For the want of a sound heart, or kidney, or lung, the whole man is lost.

This is the setting and the climate for a brave and drastic experimental technique: The transplanting of vital organs from one man to another, and to man from fellow creatures. If it succeeds, it could be one of the great medical advances of history.

CURRENT RECORD

So far the record is, at best, one of partial success. But there has been the promise, and hint, of greater success.

In the past 10 years there have been some 250 transplants of kidneys, at least two transplants of lungs, and a number of transplants of livers and spleens.

This year there has been a new accent—borrowing organs from animals for use in humans. Chimpanzee and baboon kidneys have been transplanted into humans with some success. Perhaps the best animal kidney results are those of a Tulane University team in New Orleans.

At the University of Mississippi, surgeons placed a chimpanzee heart in the body of a dying man. It lasted an hour.

Against these attempts to prolong life, there is a shadowy enemy on the side of death and failure.

It is the "rejection mechanism"—the human body's automatic system that rejects and destroys transplants as if they were foreign invaders.

There is probably more than one rejection mechanism at work—probably an arsenal of defenses the body mobilizes against foreign threat.

The operation was a success, and Herrick recovered, married, became a father, and was then struck down by a heart attack eight years later. The fatal attack was linked to blood vessel damage caused by original and subsequent kidney disease.

For most transplant recipients, however, success has been measured in days.

Today's transplant attempts, and the new twist of using animal organs, can be laid to advances in suppressing the rejection mechanisms.

Powerful new drugs have been developed which allow the body some of its natural defenses, while helping to stop the transplant rejections.

There is new progress too in identifying the processes that the body uses against transplants.

Within the past year, a young doctor from Stanford University has reported seeing what may be one of the rejection mechanisms at work in kidneys transplanted between dogs.

Dr. Samuel Kountz, a graduate of the University of Arkansas, found the mechanism by using powerful electron and light microscopes.

Through these lenses, Kountz and researchers watched battles between cells of the host dog and the cells from the transplanted kidney. The kidney died.

Knowing as little as they do about rejection, doctors reasoned that rejection mechanisms would be least between twins, since their bodies would be most nearly alike. This, theoretically, would be more true of identical twins than of fraternal twins. Identical twins have the most nearly identical genes of any two humans.

So transplants began between identical twins like Richard Herrick and his brother. In 1959, successful kidney transplants were made between fraternal twins. Since then "live" transplants have been made between brothers, mother and father to child, and so on in the familiar pattern.

Tallying the score last September, a transplant pioneer, Dr. Joseph E. Murray of Peter Bent Brigham found that seven of 28 identical twin transplant cases were still alive. Four of five more recent fraternal twin transplants were still alive. But only nine of 21 patients with nontwin transplants survived more than a year after their operation. The longest was more than two years for a brother-to-brother transplant.

Some of the most hopeful work on animal to human transplants is being done by a Tulane University research team.

Last Nov. 5, they implanted two chimpanzee kidneys into Jefferson Davis, 43, a Negro dockworker. Davis, who gave his consent, walked out of a New Orleans hospital six weeks after his operation. Two days later, he was back with the beginning of what was to be fatal pneumonia, his resistance weakened by the same drugs that enabled him to keep his life-saving kidney transplants.

He died Jan. 6. But for two months and one day, the kidneys of a 90-pound chimpanzee had kept Davis alive after his own kidneys had failed.

Just a month before Davis was operated on, the Tulane team had transplanted the kidneys of a Rhesus monkey into a 32-year-old woman. The kidneys worked for seven days before they failed and were removed. The woman died.

So far the Tulane researchers have performed six of the animal-to-man kidney transplants.

SACRIFICE OF A healthy kidney by Ronald Herrick (left) in 1954 gave eight years of life to his identical twin, Richard. Here they drink a toast in milk 10 months after the transplant operation. Without it, Richard could have lived only a fraction of the eight years. Kidney transplants have been the most successful of organ transfers. New experiments involve transplant of animal organs to humans. (AP Newsfeatures Photo)

What Keeps Shakespeare's Appeal Alive?

By ALFRED B. HARBAGE
Cabot Professor
of English Literature
Harvard University

Copyright 1964
By The Associated Press

Why is it that the plays of a writer born four centuries ago are acted all over the world, and are more often edited, reprinted, translated and even read than those of any other writer, living or dead?

"Bojangles" Robinson, genius of the tap dance, was once asked to what he attributed his success. After a moment of stern concentration, he said, "It must be m' dancin.'" It was a good reply.

It must be Shakespeare's writing that accounts for his success as a writer, not the stale "mysteries" about his life nor their semifresh "solutions." A reputation can be so awesome that it paralyzes our minds. We forget that it rests upon the conspicuous presence of merits of a simple kind. There comes a time when it seems simple-minded even to mention these merits, in fact almost disrespectful. People have always been fond of stories, and Shakespeare offers stories as good (even the same ones), and some have been more prolific, but no writer in history has offered so many good stories of so many different kinds. Shakespeare tapped the well-springs in epic verse, prose fiction, and ancient and modern history, so that there is scarcely a plot or situation which does not appear in one guise or another in his plays.

DRAMATIC

Whatever else it may be, "Hamlet" is a grand union of ghost and detective story. "Othello" does almost all that can be done with a story of villainous intrigue. No story of crime and punishment could be more gripping than "Macbeth."

Shakespeare knew gold when he saw it, and knew how to refine it. Of the many stories in Plutarch's parallel lives the best are the ones he chose to adapt, especially the one of the assassination of Caesar at his peak of glory, and the one of the fatal lure of Cleopatra as a threat to the Roman Empire.

So with the leaner deposits in Holinshed's "Chronicles of England, where Shakespeare panned precious metal from the long stretches of silt. Among fictions he instinctively chose the most durable. In spite of its apparent modernity, making it adaptable to New York's upper "West Side," the basic situation of "Romeo and Juliet" had been invented a thousand years before Shakespeare was born.

Most of his stories have the root-strength of a parable or folk tale beneath their grace and ingenuity. For instance, the Beatrice-Benedick story of the reluctant lovers, which Shakespeare himself invented, is a clever and humane variation upon the fable of the fox and the grapes. And the story of that beatnik prince, who loafs in taverns with the sleazy but comical Falstaff, until just the right moment for him to emerge in splendor to save his father and his country, is really two tales in one—that of Prince Hal of England and that of the ugly duckling. It pleases us now as it comforted us in childhood when we hoped that we too might turn out to be swans.

And just as they have always been fond of stories, people have always been interested in people. The many who move briskly about in Shakespeare's plays have the rare trait of seeming both strange and familiar. They are the uncommon symbols of common experience, so that they both excite us and serve as reference points in our awareness of actual people—including ourselves.

An amazing number of them have moved out of the plays to live on an invisible street which bisects all visible ones, so that they dwell just around the corner from everyone. It is a great feat for a writer to create even one such character. Cervantes deserves his fame for creating two: Don Quixote and Sancho Panza. Another Spaniard of the same era, Tirso de Molina, launched Don Juan into our lives.

The whole twentieth century has added only one character and his stooge to the short list of literary escapees: Sherlock Holmes and Doctor Watson. Dickens created quite a few, notably old Scrooge, so that he is Shakespeare's chief rival in this sort of alchemy, but his real-unreal people play only comic walk-on parts, while Shakespeare's play both minor and major roles.

CHAMPION MIXERS

Romeo and Shylock are his champion mixers. A person who has never read anything, let alone Shakespeare, may still see a young lover as a "Romeo." Testifying before a congressional investigating committee on the loan rackets of Cosa Nostra, a singing hoodlum —not conspicuously cultured — has referred to himself as a "Shylock" with a heart of gold.

Every newly married man is now a "Benedick," every prosy prosy old bore a "Polonius," every none-too-bright constable a "Dogberry," and so it goes.

The Prince of Denmark serves doubly—anyone vainly that he could act on the stage of the theater is a "ham." An enormous amount of human interest must be packed into these characters for them to have left such a stamp on the general mind.

Even when their names have not passed into common use, Shakespeare's characters have assumed symbolic identities larger than literary life, from the "puckish" Puck to the hunchback Richard.

Consider this small sampling, both in its diversity and in the way its members serve as touchstones to our shared ideals and antipathies: Juliet, Rosalind, Portia, Cordelia, Miranda, Audrey, Kate the shrew—Falstaff, Brutus, Antony, Iago, Caliban, MacBeth. Even the unlikely last, tough killer with a tender conscience, expands out of his play to codify our personal experience — he is ourselves in our dreams of horror."

Of course it is all done with mirrors—mirrors in the form of words, as only a poet can use words. Although the poetry is literally untranslatable, it seems to inspire the translators, so that millions in various lands are now wondering if he can possibly sound as good in English as he does in German, Russian, Urdu, Azerbaijani, and more than a hundred other tongues.

Those born to Shakespeare's own tongue have been recording their wonder and delight for centuries. Whatever the pretenses of the "strong, silent men," we all value words and the unique human gift of speech. We all wish we were more witty, more eloquent, more persuasive than we are, so that we could do our thoughts and feelings "justice." Shakespeare does it for us. He can make words laugh or sing or pray or weep or bleed, and he is so manifestly champion that we can admire without envy.

In a casual conversation recently among people quite familiar with "Romeo and Juliet," someone called attention to an effect in one of Friar Laurence's lines which no one present had noticed:

"These violent delights have violent ends

By their sound, and by their perfect timing, the last two words spell out "explosion" without need of mention: kiss, consume—hiss, boom! What can be said of a writer, who wrote over a hundred thousand lines, where such skill is passed by as routine? When Romeo first sees Juliet across that crowded room and says, "Oh, she doth teach the torches to burn bright!" the very shape of the sounds compels the speaker to speak slowly in open-mouthed wonder.

Romeo and Juliet is an early play, and inferior in style to later ones, but "inferior" is a relative term and we can apply it to Shakespeare's style only when we pit him against himself.

Shakespeare used a higher percentage of concrete one-syllable words than any great English writer has done since, but the imaginative richness of his language makes it hard for some readers, especially the young. Later in life these blame their troubles upon a fiendish conspiracy of scholars and teachers whom it is the fashion to kick at random.

Contractor Foster and Creighton began work on the 1.161 mile section, including .8 of a mile of interchange, on December 10, 1962. Robert Graves is project engineer.

WORK SCHEDULED

Work ahead includes paving of the interchange, pouring part of the bridge decks and incidentals. Forman noted that work completed includes all substructures on the bridges, and erection of all steel.

This section ties in to Wells Road on the west, and the $7 million I-20 bridge and its approaches on the east.

Beyond the bridge and its approaches in Monroe, the $4,543,-177.45 section from Catalpa Street to Texas Avenue is 63 per cent complete. Farnsworth Division of Fruin-Colnon of New Orleans is contractor on the project, which includes .7 of a mile of elevated highway.

Robert Graves has served as project engineer since the work order was let April 8, 1963.

Remaining work includes pouring part of the bridge decks, completing the grading and paving city streets and through lanes. All north-south through streets are being repaved at their intersection with Layton Avenue. Sections of Layton Avenue, Texas Avenue and Louise Anne Streets also are being repaved. Completion date is forecast for Feb. 1, 1965.

S and W Construction Co. of Memphis is 21 per cent complete on the $4,730,170.32 contract, slated for completion Mar. 1, 1965, with good weather.

Current work involves driving pilings, pouring substructures, grading and pouring bridge decks. No items are complete on this project.

The Fifth District engineer pointed out that the work order was given two weeks ago, April 6, on the $397,553.52 project for paving the Stella and Mill Street approaches to the Stella Street interchange in West Monroe.

The approaches will connect U. S. Highway 80 traffic directly from the Louisville Avenue bridge to I-20.

Work got underway this past week, and Forman anticipates that it will be complete to tie in with the interchange by the time that section of I-20 opens next January.

Stella and Mill will be made into one-way streets, with Stella leading to the interchange, and Mill carrying traffic back to U. S. 80.

The tie - in will be made at the intersection of Bridge and Cypress Streets in West Monroe.

Both streets will be rebuilt along their entire lengths. Completion of this project will provide a divided highway from Cypress Street to Olin Mathieson Mill.

TOTALS

Forman noted that including contracts now underway, the Fifth District now has 47.177 miles of I-20 either completed or under construction at contract cost of $41.7 million from the Bienville-Lincoln parish line to Nutland Road in Monroe.

He pointed out that normally, work runs slightly higher than contract estimates.

As a result, approximately $45,895,000 worth of I-20 has been or is being built in this area.

Projects completed, lengths and contract estimates are: Lincoln parish: Arcadia to Simsboro, 5.608 miles, $2,568,955.14; Simmsboro to Grambling, 4.564 miles, $2,040,248.13; Grambling to Ruston, 3.4777 miles, $1,994,-427.57; Ruston to Choudrant, 3.608 miles, $1,948,854.43; Ruston to Choudrant, 4.205 miles, $1,870,297.76; Choudrant to Calhoun in Lincoln Parish, 5.468 miles, $2,863,446.61.

Ouachita Parish, Choudrant to Calhoun, 4.999 miles, $2,482,-357.96; Calhoun to West Monroe, 5.615 miles, $2,286,008.44; West Monroe to Thompson Road, 5.-530 miles, $2,535,255.14; next comes the Stella Street section now underway; the bridge approaches, .596 of a mile, $3,825,-820.15; the bridge, .205 of a mile, $3,187,755; and finally the two sections of I-20 now under construction in Monroe.

Texas line to Greenwood, La., 3.3 miles under contract, two miles of this project has been accepted; 1.8 miles under contract to the railroad overpass east of Greenwood; 4.6 miles under contract from the railroad overpass to the Buncomb Road; two miles under contract from Buncomb Road to Curtis Lane, the city limits of Shreveport.

In Shreveport, 2.4 miles under contract from Curtis Lane to Hearne Avenue; 1.7 miles under contract from Hearne Avenue to Allen Avenue; 1.1 mile section has been completed and opened from Allen Avenue to Spring Street; .6 of a mile of approaches to the Red River bridge are under contract.

From the Red River east, Traffic Street on the Bossier City side ties in with the bridge approaches now under contract. Work has just begun on 1.2 miles of a section to Barksdale Boulevard. In the near future, a contract will be let for 2.7 miles from Barksdale Boulevard to Fosters Road at the edge of Bossier City.

The time has not been scheduled yet for letting the contract from the Bossier City limits to the ordnance plant midway between Bossier City and Minden. The 11½ mile connection from Foster Road in Bossier to the plant is being made via U. S. Highway 80. Joe Smith, assistant Fourth District engineer in charge of construction, pointed out that this section of U.S. 80 is four-lanes.

I-20 is open from McIntire to Ada. From Ada to Gibsland, 6.7 miles is under construction. The 6.3 mile section from Gibsland to Arcadia is close to completion, and should be open by October. The superhighway is open to traffic from Arcadia to the Bienville — Lincoln Parish line.

By JOHN BARBOUR
Associated Press Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — This marvelous human mechanism—this man—is 99 per cent in working order. Yet he is slowly dying—before his time—because of one sick but vital part.

Here, on this hospital bed, is one of a doctor's most frustrating enigmas: For the want of a sound heart, or kidney, or lung, the whole man is lost.

This is the setting and the climate for a brave and drastic experimental technique: The transplanting of vital organs from one man to another, and to man from fellow creatures. If it succeeds, it could be one of the great medical advances of history.

CURRENT RECORD

So far the record is, at best, one of partial success. But there has been the promise, and hint, of greater success.

In the past 10 years there have been some 250 transplants of kidneys, at least two transplants of lungs, and a number of transplants of livers and spleens.

This year there has been a new accent—borrowing organs from animals for use in humans. Chimpanzee and baboon kidneys have been transplanted into humans with some success. Perhaps the best animal kidney results are those of a Tulane University team in New Orleans.

At the University of Mississippi, surgeons placed a chimpanzee heart in the body of a dying man. It lasted an hour.

Against these attempts to prolong life, there is a shadowy enemy on the side of death and failure.

It is the "rejection mechanism"—the human body's automatic system that rejects and destroys transplants as if they were foreign invaders.

There is probably more than one rejection mechanism at work—probably an arsenal of defenses the body mobilizes against foreign threat.

The operation was a success, and Herrick recovered, married, became a father, and was then struck down by a heart attack eight years later. The fatal attack was linked to blood vessel damage caused by original and subsequent kidney disease.

For most transplant recipients, however, success has been measured in days.

Today's transplant attempts, and the new twist of using animal organs, can be laid to advances in suppressing the rejection mechanisms.

Powerful new drugs have been developed which allow the body some of its natural defenses, while helping to stop the transplant rejections.

There is new progress too in identifying the processes that the body uses against transplants.

Within the past year, a young doctor from Stanford University has reported seeing what may be one of the rejection mechanisms at work in kidneys transplanted between dogs.

Dr. Samuel Kountz, a graduate of the University of Arkansas, found the mechanism by using powerful electron and light microscopes.

Through these lenses, Kountz and researchers watched battles between cells of the host dog and the cells from the transplanted kidney. The kidney died.

Knowing as little as they do about rejection, doctors reasoned that rejection mechanisms would be least between twins, since their bodies would be most nearly alike. This, theoretically, would be more true of identical twins than of fraternal twins. Identical twins have the most nearly identical genes of any two humans.

So transplants began between identical twins like Richard Herrick and his brother. In 1959, successful kidney transplants were made between fraternal twins. Since then "live" transplants have been made between brothers, mother and father to child, and so on in the familiar pattern.

Tallying the score last September, a transplant pioneer, Dr. Joseph E. Murray of Peter Bent Brigham found that seven of 28 identical twin transplant cases were still alive. Four of five more recent fraternal twin transplants were still alive. But only nine of 21 patients with nontwin transplants survived more than a year after their operation. The longest was more than two years for a brother-to-brother transplant.

Some of the most hopeful work on animal to human transplants is being done by a Tulane University research team.

Last Nov. 5, they implanted two chimpanzee kidneys into Jefferson Davis, 43, a Negro dockworker. Davis, who gave his consent, walked out of a New Orleans hospital six weeks after his operation. Two days later, he was back with the beginning of what was to be fatal pneumonia, his resistance weakened by the same drugs that enabled him to keep his life-saving kidney transplants.

He died Jan. 6. But for two months and one day, the kidneys of a 90-pound chimpanzee had kept Davis alive after his own kidneys had failed.

Just a month before Davis was operated on, the Tulane team had transplanted the kidneys of a Rhesus monkey into a 32-year-old woman. The kidneys worked for seven days before they failed and were removed. The woman died.

So far the Tulane researchers have performed six of the animal-to-man kidney transplants.

SACRIFICE OF A healthy kidney by Ronald Herrick (left) in 1954 gave eight years of life to his identical twin, Richard. Here they drink a toast in milk 10 months after the transplant operation. Without it, Richard could have lived only a fraction of the eight years. Kidney transplants have been the most successful of organ transfers. New experiments involve transplant of animal organs to humans. (AP Newsfeatures Photo)

What Keeps Shakespeare's Appeal Alive?

By ALFRED B. HARBAGE
Cabot Professor
of English Literature
Harvard University

By The Associated Press

Why is it that the plays of a writer born four centuries ago are acted all over the world, and are more often edited, reprinted, translated and even read than those of any other writer, living or dead?

"Bojangles" Robinson, genius of the tap dance, was once asked to what he attributed his success. After a moment of stern concentration, he said, "It must be m' dancin.'" It was a good reply.

It must be Shakespeare's writing that accounts for his success as a writer, not the stale "mysteries" about his life nor their semifresh "solutions." A reputation can be so awesome that it paralyzes our minds. We forget that it rests upon the conspicuous presence of merits of a simple kind. There comes a time when it seems simple-minded even to mention these merits, in fact almost disrespectful. People have always been fond of stories, and Shakespeare offers stories as good (even the same ones), and some have been more prolific, but no writer in history has offered so many good stories of so many different kinds. Shakespeare tapped the well-springs in epic verse, prose fiction, and ancient and modern history, so that there is scarcely a plot or situation which does not appear in one guise or another in his plays.

DRAMATIC

Whatever else it may be, "Hamlet" is a grand union of ghost and detective story. "Othello" does almost all that can be done with a story of villainous intrigue. No story of crime and punishment could be more gripping than "Macbeth."

Shakespeare knew gold when he saw it, and knew how to refine it. Of the many stories in Plutarch's parallel lives the best are the ones he chose to adapt, especially the one of the assassination of Caesar at his peak of glory, and the one of the fatal lure of Cleopatra as a threat to the Roman Empire.

So with the leaner deposits in Holinshed's "Chronicles of England, where Shakespeare panned precious metal from the long stretches of silt. Among fictions he instinctively chose the most durable. In spite of its apparent modernity, making it adaptable to New York's upper "West Side," the basic situation of "Romeo and Juliet" had been invented a thousand years before Shakespeare was born.

Most of his stories have the root-strength of a parable or folk tale beneath their grace and ingenuity. For instance, the Beatrice-Benedick story of the reluctant lovers, which Shakespeare himself invented, is a clever and humane variation upon the fable of the fox and the grapes. And the story of that beatnik prince, who loafs in taverns with the sleazy but comical Falstaff, until just the right moment for him to emerge in splendor to save his father and his country, is really two tales in one—that of Prince Hal of England and that of the ugly duckling. It pleases us now as it comforted us in childhood when we hoped that we too might turn out to be swans.

And just as they have always been fond of stories, people have always been interested in people. The many who move briskly about in Shakespeare's plays have the rare trait of seeming both strange and familiar. They are the uncommon symbols of common experience, so that they both excite us and serve as reference points in our awareness of actual people—including ourselves.

An amazing number of them have moved out of the plays to live on an invisible street which bisects all visible ones, so that they dwell just around the corner from everyone. It is a great feat for a writer to create even one such character. Cervantes deserves his fame for creating two: Don Quixote and Sancho Panza. Another Spaniard of the same era, Tirso de Molina, launched Don Juan into our lives.

The whole twentieth century has added only one character and his stooge to the short list of literary escapees: Sherlock Holmes and Doctor Watson. Dickens created quite a few, notably old Scrooge, so that he is Shakespeare's chief rival in this sort of alchemy, but his real-unreal people play only comic walk-on parts, while Shakespeare's play both minor and major roles.

CHAMPION MIXERS

Romeo and Shylock are his champion mixers. A person who has never read anything, let alone Shakespeare, may still see a young lover as a "Romeo." Testifying before a congressional investigating committee on the loan rackets of Cosa Nostra, a singing hoodlum —not conspicuously cultured — has referred to himself as a "Shylock" with a heart of gold.

Every newly married man is now a "Benedick," every prosy prosy old bore a "Polonius," every none-too-bright constable a "Dogberry," and so it goes.

The Prince of Denmark serves doubly—anyone vainly that he could act on the stage of the theater is a "ham." An enormous amount of human interest must be packed into these characters for them to have left such a stamp on the general mind.

Even when their names have not passed into common use, Shakespeare's characters have assumed symbolic identities larger than literary life, from the "puckish" Puck to the hunchback Richard.

Consider this small sampling, both in its diversity and in the way its members serve as touchstones to our shared ideals and antipathies: Juliet, Rosalind, Portia, Cordelia, Miranda, Audrey, Kate the shrew—Falstaff, Brutus, Antony, Iago, Caliban, MacBeth. Even the unlikely last, tough killer with a tender conscience, expands out of his play to codify our personal experience — he is ourselves in our dreams of horror."

Of course it is all done with mirrors—mirrors in the form of words, as only a poet can use words. Although the poetry is literally untranslatable, it seems to inspire the translators, so that millions in various lands are now wondering if he can possibly sound as good in English as he does in German, Russian, Urdu, Azerbaijani, and more than a hundred other tongues.

Those born to Shakespeare's own tongue have been recording their wonder and delight for centuries. Whatever the pretenses of the "strong, silent men," we all value words and the unique human gift of speech. We all wish we were more witty, more eloquent, more persuasive than we are, so that we could do our thoughts and feelings "justice." Shakespeare does it for us. He can make words laugh or sing or pray or weep or bleed, and he is so manifestly champion that we can admire without envy.

In a casual conversation recently among people quite familiar with "Romeo and Juliet," someone called attention to an effect in one of Friar Laurence's lines which no one present had noticed:

"These violent delights have violent ends

By their sound, and by their perfect timing, the last two words spell out "explosion" without need of mention: kiss, consume—hiss, boom! What can be said of a writer, who wrote over a hundred thousand lines, where such skill is passed by as routine? When Romeo first sees Juliet across that crowded room and says, "Oh, she doth teach the torches to burn bright!" the very shape of the sounds compels the speaker to speak slowly in open-mouthed wonder.

Romeo and Juliet is an early play, and inferior in style to later ones, but "inferior" is a relative term and we can apply it to Shakespeare's style only when we pit him against himself.

Shakespeare used a higher percentage of concrete one-syllable words than any great English writer has done since, but the imaginative richness of his language makes it hard for some readers, especially the young. Later in life these blame their troubles upon a fiendish conspiracy of scholars and teachers whom it is the fashion to kick at random.

CURTAIN CALL

Little Theatre members who have not yet seen "Breath Of Spring" have a final opportunity to attend tonight's closing performance by calling the box office for reservations after 2 p.m.

Comments on "Breath Of Spring" have ranged from "hilarious" to "why did the playreading committee select it?" Where humor is concerned, one man's meat is another man's poison and "Breath Of Spring" either strikes you as very funny or it doesn't.

Members sometimes wonder why every season isn't a succession of hits that ran 1,000 performances on Broadway, but the task of the playreading committee is not that easy. First of all, a hit show is not always available. For two seasons people have been asking why we haven't done "Mary, Mary" and the answer is simply that it was not released for amateur production.

DIFFICULTIES

Secondly, the playreading committee has to consider difficulties of casting and staging. We do not have enough actors to give more than a few large cast shows and even with the magnificent facilities of Strauss Playhouse, we lack the manpower to produce complicated sets every time.

Then we do our best to avoid plays that might offend our members which has forced us to discard more than a few Broadway hits on the grounds that they would not survive blue-penciling. We also strive for a balanced season which means some variation from the comedies that are the staple fare of community theatre.

Finally, the preferences of the executive director have to be given reasonable weight, as in the last analysis the essential ingredient of any show is the director's personal commitment to it and involvement in it, without which no production can hope to succeed.

The playreading committee often starts with as many as 100 prospects of which 25 or more will be read in order to choose five. Taking into account all these factors, the selection of any given show means that in the best judgment of the committee and the director there was no alternative that our members would have liked better.

PLAY READING

A new play reading committee will go to work in June and will welcome any and all suggestions for shows to be given next season. The forthcoming annual meeting on May 4 at 7:30 p.m. at Strauss Playhouse provides an opportunity for members to voice criticisms and recommendations of all kinds for the betterment of Little Theatre, so we urge a representative attendance.

The customary audience dress rehearsal for families of the cast of "Breath Of Spring" was given last Wednesday to ready the players for the resumption of the run on Thursday. Special guests of Little Theatre were residents of St. Joseph's home.

Many thanks to Don Layburn of Sterlington for his gift of Air Force uniforms to our costume wardrobe. We can think of several possible plays where these would be useful.

Try outs for "Take Her, She's Mine" produced fewer candidates than we had hoped, but executive director Richard M. Clark expects to have the principals cast in time to start rehearsals this coming week. Including onlookers as well as participants, those present were Mary Ann Atkinson, Scherck Bogen, Barbara Borgkvist, Renee Breard, Betty and Kerry Bruce, Carole Cooper, V. P. Dalrymple;

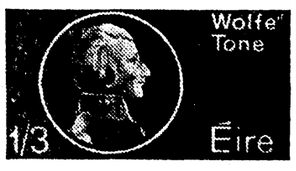
STAMPS

Eire honors the bi-centenary of Wolfe Tone, one of the leaders of the Irish Insurrection of 1798, with two new stamps of identical design. Tone was born in Dublin in 1763 and studied law at Dublin University. He was the founder of the Society of United Irishmen, a republican movement whose objective was to unite all Irishmen regardless of religious persuasion, in the fight for freedom. In 1795 he fled to America and later to France to enlist armed support for his cause. His naval force was intercepted by the British fleet and Tone was captured. He was sentenced to be hanged but died in prison before execution. The new stamp bears a portrait of Tone. The 4 pence is black and the 1 shilling 3 pence is blue.

Collectors in this country wishing first day covers may write to Irish Cachet Covers, 947 East 32nd Street, Brooklyn, N. Y. 11210. Cost of a complete set on cover is $1.00.



India has issued a new stamp commemorating the 104th birthday of Dr. W. M. Haffkine, reports the World Wide Philatelic Agency. Dr. Haffkine, a bacteriologist, earned recognition for his work to discover the cause and prevention of cholera. The new stamp is chestnut and plum in color and shows a portrait of Dr. Haffkine. The dates 1860-1963 appear on the borders of the stamp in English and Devanagari. Further reports from India indicate that there will be a stamp on May 22 honoring Raja Rammohon Roy.

Sweden will issue at the end of May a new stamp to commemorate the 800th anniversary of the Archdiocese of Uppsala. The stamp will bear the old Stefan seal, which belonged to Stefan, the first Archibishop of Uppsala who died in 1185 A.D.

CURTAIN CALL

Little Theatre members who have not yet seen "Breath Of Spring" have a final opportunity to attend tonight's closing performance by calling the box office for reservations after 2 p.m.

Comments on "Breath Of Spring" have ranged from "hilarious" to "why did the playreading committee select it?" Where humor is concerned, one man's meat is another man's poison and "Breath Of Spring" either strikes you as very funny or it doesn't.

Members sometimes wonder why every season isn't a succession of hits that ran 1,000 performances on Broadway, but the task of the playreading committee is not that easy. First of all, a hit show is not always available. For two seasons people have been asking why we haven't done "Mary, Mary" and the answer is simply that it was not released for amateur production.

DIFFICULTIES

Secondly, the playreading committee has to consider difficulties of casting and staging. We do not have enough actors to give more than a few large cast shows and even with the magnificent facilities of Strauss Playhouse, we lack the manpower to produce complicated sets every time.

Then we do our best to avoid plays that might offend our members which has forced us to discard more than a few Broadway hits on the grounds that they would not survive blue-penciling. We also strive for a balanced season which means some variation from the comedies that are the staple fare of community theatre.

Finally, the preferences of the executive director have to be given reasonable weight, as in the last analysis the essential ingredient of any show is the director's personal commitment to it and involvement in it, without which no production can hope to succeed.

The playreading committee often starts with as many as 100 prospects of which 25 or more will be read in order to choose five. Taking into account all these factors, the selection of any given show means that in the best judgment of the committee and the director there was no alternative that our members would have liked better.

PLAY READING

A new play reading committee will go to work in June and will welcome any and all suggestions for shows to be given next season. The forthcoming annual meeting on May 4 at 7:30 p.m. at Strauss Playhouse provides an opportunity for members to voice criticisms and recommendations of all kinds for the betterment of Little Theatre, so we urge a representative attendance.

The customary audience dress rehearsal for families of the cast of "Breath Of Spring" was given last Wednesday to ready the players for the resumption of the run on Thursday. Special guests of Little Theatre were residents of St. Joseph's home.

Many thanks to Don Layburn of Sterlington for his gift of Air Force uniforms to our costume wardrobe. We can think of several possible plays where these would be useful.

Try outs for "Take Her, She's Mine" produced fewer candidates than we had hoped, but executive director Richard M. Clark expects to have the principals cast in time to start rehearsals this coming week. Including onlookers as well as participants, those present were Mary Ann Atkinson, Scherck Bogen, Barbara Borgkvist, Renee Breard, Betty and Kerry Bruce, Carole Cooper, V. P. Dalrymple;

POITIER AS OTHELLO

NEW YORK (AP) — David Merrick, one of Broadway's busiest sponsors, is going to salute Shakespeare's quadricentennial with a production of "Othello."

Sidney Poitier is slated to portray the Moor of Venice in the venture, which is marked in for November debut. The director is to be Tony Richardson.

DEPARTMENT RESUMES

NEW YORK (AP) — Actors Equity association has set up a new department to promote and extend professional theater activities throughout the country.

The performing union operated a similar division from 1955 until 1960 when it lapsed during an administrative reorganization.

STAMPS

Eire honors the bi-centenary of Wolfe Tone, one of the leaders of the Irish Insurrection of 1798, with two new stamps of identical design. Tone was born in Dublin in 1763 and studied law at Dublin University. He was the founder of the Society of United Irishmen, a republican movement whose objective was to unite all Irishmen regardless of religious persuasion, in the fight for freedom. In 1795 he fled to America and later to France to enlist armed support for his cause. His naval force was intercepted by the British fleet and Tone was captured. He was sentenced to be hanged but died in prison before execution. The new stamp bears a portrait of Tone. The 4 pence is black and the 1 shilling 3 pence is blue.

Collectors in this country wishing first day covers may write to Irish Cachet Covers, 947 East 32nd Street, Brooklyn, N. Y. 11210. Cost of a complete set on cover is $1.00.

India has issued a new stamp commemorating the 104th birthday of Dr. W. M. Haffkine, reports the World Wide Philatelic Agency. Dr. Haffkine, a bacteriologist, earned recognition for his work to discover the cause and prevention of cholera. The new stamp is chestnut and plum in color and shows a portrait of Dr. Haffkine. The dates 1860-1963 appear on the borders of the stamp in English and Devanagari. Further reports from India indicate that there will be a stamp on May 22 honoring Raja Rammohon Roy.

Sweden will issue at the end of May a new stamp to commemorate the 800th anniversary of the Archdiocese of Uppsala. The stamp will bear the old Stefan seal, which belonged to Stefan, the first Archibishop of Uppsala who died in 1185 A.D.

How to live a new life of luxury for a few dollars extra a month

Most families can enjoy Total Electric Living in a GOLD MEDALLION HOME for about a dollar a day.

TOTAL ELECTRIC GOLD MEDALLION HOME LIVE BETTER ELECTRICALLY AWARD

Flameless electric servants take the labor out of caring for home and family. Planned lighting beautifies the home, inside and out, and protects precious eyesight.

Too expensive? Not at all!

LP&L's records show you can enjoy all the luxuries of Total Electric Living for about a dollar a day. Ask your LP&L representative to tell you about it.

Golf's Muscle Men Nab 5-Under-Pars For Houston Classic Lead

BIG MIKE SOUCHAK of Grossinger, N.Y., fired an iron shot from behind a small tree in the third round of the Houston Golf Classic Saturday on his way to tying Jack Nicklaus for the lead. Souchak and Nicklaus have five-under-par 208's after 54 holes. (AP Wirephoto)

Nicklaus Tied For 1st With Mike Souchak

HOUSTON (UPI) — Burly Jack Nicklaus and Mike Souchak put their muscle to use Saturday over the long and windy Sharpstown golf course to tie for the third-round lead in the $50,000 Houston Golf Classic.

Nicklaus fired his second straight five-under-par 66 for a 54-hole total of 208, five under par. Only a 76 on the first round kept the 205-pound "Golden Bear" from running away with the tournament.

Souchak, also a 25-pounder, stroked a three-under-par 68. The 36-year-old former Duke University football player, now playing golf out of Grossinger, N.Y., said he was firing his best golf in a long time.

The day's best round was a course record-tying 65 shot by Al Geiberger of Carlton Oaks, Calif. The tall, slender pro had an unusual round of nine birdies, three bogeys and six pars. The 65 gave Geiberger a 209 and left him one stroke back of the leaders.

Winds have been giving most of the touring pros troubles at Sharpstown, a new site for the classic. But the breezes abated somewhat Saturday morning and several good scores came in from the early finishers before winds whipped up again to 25 miles an hour in the afternoon.

Many of the pros complained repeatedly about being unable to reach the greens. It appeared this gave advantage to the raw power of Nicklaus and Souchak. Nicklaus had one drive Saturday that went 400 yards from the tee. It landed slightly below the edge of the green on the 422-yard 13th hole. The Columbus, Ohio, golfer got a birdie on the hole.

Morgan Honored For Hurdle Wins

Added glory for the Indians was Roger Morgan's selection as the outstanding track performer. The junior hurdle star captured firsts in two timber events and anchored two winning relay units.

Louisiana Tech finished third in the team totals with 49 points followed by McNeese with 35, Southeastern 34½, Southwestern 29, University of Houston 16, Steven F. Austin 13, Lamar Tech 3, Univeristy of Mississippi 2.

Jim Goodwin of the third place Bulldogs was tabbed the outstanding field performer for his record setting 160-3 ¾ discus toss. The old mark was 159-8 ¼ set by Steven F. Austin's Nixon in 1961.

The Indians literally ran away from the field as they took six first spots of a possible nine in the running events. The Tribe could manage no higher than two second places in the field.

Morgan took the 120 yard high hurdles in 14.0 and the 330 intermediates in 38.0. He teamed with Ronnie Fountain, Charles McDonald, and Don Brant to win the 440 and 880 baton races in 41.8 and 1:26.3.

The latter mark was a new record, breaking the 1:26.5 880 relay time by a Northeast foursome in 1962.

Cline Averett, Doug Constant, John Baker and Fountain romped to a 3:14.1 win in the mile relay as improving McNeese finished second.

The Tribe also took the sprint medley with a team of Averett, Roger Mann, McDonald, and Gayland LeBlanc turning in a 3:30 clocking.

In the distance medley Northeast finished third and in the two mile relay second. Ronnie Fountain added second place points to the Indian total with his showing in the 100 yard dash.

Gary Johnson of Northwestern tied John Pennel's meet pole vault mark of 14-7. Pennel currently holds the world's record and is the only man to clear 17 feet in the event.

Louisiana Tech won the freshman division with 52 points. Houston had 45, McNeese 21, Ole Miss 16, Northwestern 12, Stephen F. Austin 7, Centenary 5, and Northeast 2.

NORTHEAST-TECH SPLIT

Bounds Wins Three-Hitter; Canines Get Nightcap, 6-5

RUSTON (Special) — Louisiana Tech and Northeast State split a Gulf States Conference doubleheader here Saturday with the Indians winning the opener 3-0 on a trio of unearned runs and the Bulldogs taking the second game in eight innings 6-5, also the result of an unearned tally.

Woodson, who is troubled with a sore arm, is yet to allow an earned run in GSC competition, but has a 1-2 record.

Northeast is 6-2 in league play and the Bulldogs are 4-6 at the halfway mark.

The Indians bombed Tech southpaw ace Mike Powell in the second inning of the nightcap for four runs before Arnold Ramsey came to the rescue and turned in a nifty relief tour to take his third win against three losses.

Floyd Murry struckout seven men in the starter's role in the nightcap, but was touched for nine hits. Darryl Barnes relieved in the sixth and took his first loss of the season against two wins.

Northeast wrapped up the opener in the first inning when Joey McGinn led off with a single and Alton Thomas singled. Eddie Kincaid, attempting to sacrifice, was safe when Billy Sneed made an error and the bases were loaded.

John Pace hit a doubleplay ball to Woodson, but it went through his legs scoring McGinn. Charlie Dykes' sacrifice fly plated Thomas and Kincaid scored when Red Hall reached first on a fielder's choice.

In the second game, the Indians jumped all over Powell for four runs in the second inning. Pace walked, Dykes singled and Hall's single tallied Pace. David Worthington singled to score Dykes and Murray's one-baser scored Hall. McGinn singled to center to score Worthington and Powell walked Alton Thomas to load the bases with one out.

Tech scored once in the third when Billy Sneed singled, Billy Laird doubled and Paul Labenne's singled scored Sneed.

The Canines added two in the fifth on Ramsey's single and Laird's double which plated pinch runner Cliff Rowe. Labenne's single scored Laird.

The Indians took the lead again in the first extra frame when Dykes doubled and Hall singled him in.

In the bottom half of the eighth Tech tied it up on David Lee's single and pinch runner Rowe took second on a wild pitch. Rennie Howard singled in Rowe. Noddy Parker ended the game with one but with a single to right that went through Hall's legs to the fence and let Howard come all the way from first to score.

McGinn and Thomas both went three for four against Woodson in the first game. In the second game Dykes had four for four and Hall three for four. Laird had three for four for Tech.

Labenne, slowed earlier in the season after having a leg operation, made several good plays at shortstop. One time he stopped a screaming grounder with a diving stab, rolled over and flipped the ball to Sneed at second base for a force out. Fallin also pulled down some hard to reach shots from his left field position.

MALONEY, TSITOURIS HURL

Bums Manage Only One Hit

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Huge Frank Howard beat out an infield hit with two out in the ninth inning Saturday night, ruining a two-man no-hit effort by Jim Maloney and John Tsitouris in Cincinnati's 3-0 victory over Los Angeles.

The lumbering Howard's scratch single was the only hit off the two Red right-handers. Maloney pitched six innings of no-hit ball before giving way due to a side injury. Tsitouris came on starting the seventh, and didn't allow a hit until Howard's grounder.

The 6-foot-7 Howard smashed a ground ball back of second and the Reds' Leo Cardenas made a diving stop of the ball but was unable to recover in time to throw out the big runner and preserve the rare effort.

The only similar situation, in which more than one man is credited with a no-hitter, occurred May 26, 1956, when Cincinnati's John Klippstein, Hershell Freeman and Joe Black combined against Milwaukee.

Klippstein pitched the first seven innings, Freeman the eighth and Black the rest of the way, losing the no-hitter on Jack Dittmer's double in the 10th. The Braves won the game on three hits in the 11th, 2-1.

Maloney, a tall, strong 23-year-old who had a 23-7 record last season, started a bit shakily, then quickly settled down. He left with a side injury after finishing the sixth inning. The Reds' dressing room later announced he had a slight muscle tear.

He walked three and struck out six. One man reached first on an error.

Phils Manage Only Two Hits

CHICAGO (AP) — Bob Buhl gave up a 10-foot single in the first inning and did not yield another hit until the eighth in hurling the chicago Cubs to a three-hit 7-0 victory over the previously unbeaten Philadelphia Phillies Saturday.

Tony Taylor, leading off the first inning, was safe when his hit trickled barely onto the grass in front of the batter-s box.

PLAYOFF OPENER

Boston Celtics Beat Warriors

BOSTON (AP) — John Havlicek fired 18 points in a second period blitz and Bill Russell outdefensed Wilt Chamberlain as Boston defeated San Francisco 108-96 Saturday night.

The Celtics, seeking a sixth straight National Basketball Association playoff title, showed no rustiness from a long layoff while taking the opener of the best-of-seven final series. The next game will be in Boston Monday night.

Havlicek hit a record-tying eight field goals in the critical second quarter when the Celtics outscored the Warriors 32-15.

Unleashing their fast break against the slower Warriors, the Celtics jumped from a two-point to a 20-point lead, 55-35, in a five-minute burst.

Havlicek's 28 points and 28 more by Sam Jones led the defending champions, while Wilt Chamberlain had 22 points for the Warriors, 10 of them before intermission.

When Clyde Lovellette replaced Russell after the latter drew his fourth foul late in the third quarter, San Francisco had cut the lead from 20 points down to 13.

But Lovellette hit his first four field goal tries from far outside and Willie Naulls came off the bench for a couple of hot spells to keep Boston out of danger.

Boston got the lead to stay just before the opening period ended on a Havlicek jump shot. That only whetted the appetite of the big sophomore, who had vowed he would do more scoring in this final series than the sub-par 13-point average he managed in the Cincinnati series.

Frank Ramsey came in to tighten the defense and got the first four points of the second period. Then Havlicek scored Boston's next 14 points including a string of eight straight.

Peters Sends 4 Men Home For Chicago

BOSTON (AP)—The Chicago southpaw Gary Peters drove in four runs as the White Sox rolled to a 10-5 victory over Boston Saturday.

Peters helped his club to a 6-0 lad in the first inning with the first of his two doubles but the 1963 American League Rookie of the Year needed relief help before the White Sox nailed down their first victory in four games this season.

Peters, who will be 27 Tuesday, drove in three runs with his double in the first. His second double knocked in one of three Chicago runs in the third.

Despite his healthy 9-0 lead, Peters labored at times and was tagged for 10 hits and gave up three walks in the six innings he worked. However, he showed flashes of the form which carried him to 19 victories a year ago, especially in the sixth when he struck out defending league batting champion Carl Yastrzemski with the bases loaded.

Golf's Muscle Men Nab 5-Under-Pars For Houston Classic Lead

BIG MIKE SOUCHAK of Grossinger, N.Y., fired an iron shot from behind a small tree in the third round of the Houston Golf Classic Saturday on his way to tying Jack Nicklaus for the lead. Souchak and Nicklaus have five-under-par 208's after 54 holes. (AP Wirephoto)

Nicklaus Tied For 1st With Mike Souchak

HOUSTON (UPI) — Burly Jack Nicklaus and Mike Souchak put their muscle to use Saturday over the long and windy Sharpstown golf course to tie for the third-round lead in the $50,000 Houston Golf Classic.

Nicklaus fired his second straight five-under-par 66 for a 54-hole total of 208, five under par. Only a 76 on the first round kept the 205-pound "Golden Bear" from running away with the tournament.

Souchak, also a 25-pounder, stroked a three-under-par 68. The 36-year-old former Duke University football player, now playing golf out of Grossinger, N.Y., said he was firing his best golf in a long time.

The day's best round was a course record-tying 65 shot by Al Geiberger of Carlton Oaks, Calif. The tall, slender pro had an unusual round of nine birdies, three bogeys and six pars. The 65 gave Geiberger a 209 and left him one stroke back of the leaders.

Winds have been giving most of the touring pros troubles at Sharpstown, a new site for the classic. But the breezes abated somewhat Saturday morning and several good scores came in from the early finishers before winds whipped up again to 25 miles an hour in the afternoon.

Many of the pros complained repeatedly about being unable to reach the greens. It appeared this gave advantage to the raw power of Nicklaus and Souchak. Nicklaus had one drive Saturday that went 400 yards from the tee. It landed slightly below the edge of the green on the 422-yard 13th hole. The Columbus, Ohio, golfer got a birdie on the hole.

Morgan Honored For Hurdle Wins

Added glory for the Indians was Roger Morgan's selection as the outstanding track performer. The junior hurdle star captured firsts in two timber events and anchored two winning relay units.

Louisiana Tech finished third in the team totals with 49 points followed by McNeese with 35, Southeastern 34½, Southwestern 29, University of Houston 16, Steven F. Austin 13, Lamar Tech 3, Univeristy of Mississippi 2.

Jim Goodwin of the third place Bulldogs was tabbed the outstanding field performer for his record setting 160-3 ¾ discus toss. The old mark was 159-8 ¼ set by Steven F. Austin's Nixon in 1961.

The Indians literally ran away from the field as they took six first spots of a possible nine in the running events. The Tribe could manage no higher than two second places in the field.

Morgan took the 120 yard high hurdles in 14.0 and the 330 intermediates in 38.0. He teamed with Ronnie Fountain, Charles McDonald, and Don Brant to win the 440 and 880 baton races in 41.8 and 1:26.3.

The latter mark was a new record, breaking the 1:26.5 880 relay time by a Northeast foursome in 1962.

Cline Averett, Doug Constant, John Baker and Fountain romped to a 3:14.1 win in the mile relay as improving McNeese finished second.

The Tribe also took the sprint medley with a team of Averett, Roger Mann, McDonald, and Gayland LeBlanc turning in a 3:30 clocking.

In the distance medley Northeast finished third and in the two mile relay second. Ronnie Fountain added second place points to the Indian total with his showing in the 100 yard dash.

Gary Johnson of Northwestern tied John Pennel's meet pole vault mark of 14-7. Pennel currently holds the world's record and is the only man to clear 17 feet in the event.

Louisiana Tech won the freshman division with 52 points. Houston had 45, McNeese 21, Ole Miss 16, Northwestern 12, Stephen F. Austin 7, Centenary 5, and Northeast 2.

NORTHEAST-TECH SPLIT

RUSTON (Special) — Louisiana Tech and Northeast State split a Gulf States Conference doubleheader here Saturday with the Indians winning the opener 3-0 on a trio of unearned runs and the Bulldogs taking the second game in eight innings 6-5, also the result of an unearned tally.

Woodson, who is troubled with a sore arm, is yet to allow an earned run in GSC competition, but has a 1-2 record.

Northeast is 6-2 in league play and the Bulldogs are 4-6 at the halfway mark.

The Indians bombed Tech southpaw ace Mike Powell in the second inning of the nightcap for four runs before Arnold Ramsey came to the rescue and turned in a nifty relief tour to take his third win against three losses.

Floyd Murry struckout seven men in the starter's role in the nightcap, but was touched for nine hits. Darryl Barnes relieved in the sixth and took his first loss of the season against two wins.

Northeast wrapped up the opener in the first inning when Joey McGinn led off with a single and Alton Thomas singled. Eddie Kincaid, attempting to sacrifice, was safe when Billy Sneed made an error and the bases were loaded.

John Pace hit a doubleplay ball to Woodson, but it went through his legs scoring McGinn. Charlie Dykes' sacrifice fly plated Thomas and Kincaid scored when Red Hall reached first on a fielder's choice.

In the second game, the Indians jumped all over Powell for four runs in the second inning. Pace walked, Dykes singled and Hall's single tallied Pace. David Worthington singled to score Dykes and Murray's one-baser scored Hall. McGinn singled to center to score Worthington and Powell walked Alton Thomas to load the bases with one out.

Tech scored once in the third when Billy Sneed singled, Billy Laird doubled and Paul Labenne's singled scored Sneed.

The Canines added two in the fifth on Ramsey's single and Laird's double which plated pinch runner Cliff Rowe. Labenne's single scored Laird.

The Indians took the lead again in the first extra frame when Dykes doubled and Hall singled him in.

In the bottom half of the eighth Tech tied it up on David Lee's single and pinch runner Rowe took second on a wild pitch. Rennie Howard singled in Rowe. Noddy Parker ended the game with one but with a single to right that went through Hall's legs to the fence and let Howard come all the way from first to score.

McGinn and Thomas both went three for four against Woodson in the first game. In the second game Dykes had four for four and Hall three for four. Laird had three for four for Tech.

Labenne, slowed earlier in the season after having a leg operation, made several good plays at shortstop. One time he stopped a screaming grounder with a diving stab, rolled over and flipped the ball to Sneed at second base for a force out. Fallin also pulled down some hard to reach shots from his left field position.

MALONEY, TSITOURIS HURL

Bums Manage Only One Hit

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Huge Frank Howard beat out an infield hit with two out in the ninth inning Saturday night, ruining a two-man no-hit effort by Jim Maloney and John Tsitouris in Cincinnati's 3-0 victory over Los Angeles.

The lumbering Howard's scratch single was the only hit off the two Red right-handers. Maloney pitched six innings of no-hit ball before giving way due to a side injury. Tsitouris came on starting the seventh, and didn't allow a hit until Howard's grounder.

The 6-foot-7 Howard smashed a ground ball back of second and the Reds' Leo Cardenas made a diving stop of the ball but was unable to recover in time to throw out the big runner and preserve the rare effort.

The only similar situation, in which more than one man is credited with a no-hitter, occurred May 26, 1956, when Cincinnati's John Klippstein, Hershell Freeman and Joe Black combined against Milwaukee.

Klippstein pitched the first seven innings, Freeman the eighth and Black the rest of the way, losing the no-hitter on Jack Dittmer's double in the 10th. The Braves won the game on three hits in the 11th, 2-1.

Maloney, a tall, strong 23-year-old who had a 23-7 record last season, started a bit shakily, then quickly settled down. He left with a side injury after finishing the sixth inning. The Reds' dressing room later announced he had a slight muscle tear.

He walked three and struck out six. One man reached first on an error.

Phils Manage Only Two Hits

CHICAGO (AP) — Bob Buhl gave up a 10-foot single in the first inning and did not yield another hit until the eighth in hurling the chicago Cubs to a three-hit 7-0 victory over the previously unbeaten Philadelphia Phillies Saturday.

Tony Taylor, leading off the first inning, was safe when his hit trickled barely onto the grass in front of the batter-s box.

PLAYOFF OPENER

Boston Celtics Beat Warriors

BOSTON (AP) — John Havlicek fired 18 points in a second period blitz and Bill Russell outdefensed Wilt Chamberlain as Boston defeated San Francisco 108-96 Saturday night.

The Celtics, seeking a sixth straight National Basketball Association playoff title, showed no rustiness from a long layoff while taking the opener of the best-of-seven final series. The next game will be in Boston Monday night.

Havlicek hit a record-tying eight field goals in the critical second quarter when the Celtics outscored the Warriors 32-15.

Unleashing their fast break against the slower Warriors, the Celtics jumped from a two-point to a 20-point lead, 55-35, in a five-minute burst.

Havlicek's 28 points and 28 more by Sam Jones led the defending champions, while Wilt Chamberlain had 22 points for the Warriors, 10 of them before intermission.

When Clyde Lovellette replaced Russell after the latter drew his fourth foul late in the third quarter, San Francisco had cut the lead from 20 points down to 13.

But Lovellette hit his first four field goal tries from far outside and Willie Naulls came off the bench for a couple of hot spells to keep Boston out of danger.

Boston got the lead to stay just before the opening period ended on a Havlicek jump shot. That only whetted the appetite of the big sophomore, who had vowed he would do more scoring in this final series than the sub-par 13-point average he managed in the Cincinnati series.

Frank Ramsey came in to tighten the defense and got the first four points of the second period. Then Havlicek scored Boston's next 14 points including a string of eight straight.

Peters Sends 4 Men Home For Chicago

BOSTON (AP)—The Chicago southpaw Gary Peters drove in four runs as the White Sox rolled to a 10-5 victory over Boston Saturday.

Peters helped his club to a 6-0 lad in the first inning with the first of his two doubles but the 1963 American League Rookie of the Year needed relief help before the White Sox nailed down their first victory in four games this season.

Peters, who will be 27 Tuesday, drove in three runs with his double in the first. His second double knocked in one of three Chicago runs in the third.

Despite his healthy 9-0 lead, Peters labored at times and was tagged for 10 hits and gave up three walks in the six innings he worked. However, he showed flashes of the form which carried him to 19 victories a year ago, especially in the sixth when he struck out defending league batting champion Carl Yastrzemski with the bases loaded.

Mississippi Fish Kills

With Sam Hanna

Pesticide Blamed

By ROBERT A. LAFLEUR

Executive Secretary, Louisiana Stream Control Commission

The peculiar A-typical fish die-off in the Mississippi River and Atchafalaya Basin was first observed and investigated in December 1960. The die-off has continued intermittently, particularly during the colder winter months, since that time.

In December 1960 it was established that dying fish were found in the Mississippi River as far upstream as Lake Providence, Louisiana, and downstream to the mouth of the river; similarly the Atchafalaya Basin was affected from a point at least as far upstream in this basin as Krotz Springs or Milville, Louisiana, to the mouth.

We very definitely feel that this fish die-off has its origin, or is being caused by materials coming down the Mississippi River, from areas upstream in the river from Louisiana; since, bear in mind, the Mississippi River as we know it in Louisiana is virtually completely leveed off and, therefore, there is no surface run-off or drainage to the river from Louisiana.

(In a report before a senate subcommittee at Washington, D.C., Thursday, Mr. Lafleur, concluded that the pesticide containing endrin is responsible for massive fish kills. "I have come to that conclusion reluctantly . . . but prayed that it was not so," Lafleur said, adding, "I have no choice to believe the contrary" on the basis of reports of researchers and scientists.)

It has further been noted that in the fresh water areas bottom-feeding fish were the ones most affected. These species included catfish, fresh water drum, buffalo, shad, and a scattering of gar. In the brackish or estuarine areas red fish, speckle and white trout, mullet, and a large number of Menhaden (poagy fish) were dying.

Examination of the fish revealed that the majority of them suffered from moderate to severe gas distention of the air bladder and-or the stomach and small intestine. These symptoms suggested some type of bacterial infection, an aspect that has been repeatedly and thoroughly investigated; results to date have been of a negative nature.

All other water chemistry data based on conventional techniques and procedures have failed to provide clues to the cause of the fish deaths. For the last three or four years this agency has sought and received advice and assistance from a number of laboratories throughout the United States.

Exhaustive chemical analyses of the bottom mud and water have been conducted. Dying fish, mud, and water samples have been analyzed in our laboratory and laboratories of the Fish and Wild Life Service in Patuxent, Maryland, Kearneyville, West Virginia, and Denver, Colorado, and the State Agricultural Laboratory on the Louisiana State University campus. Fish, mud, and water have been submitted to the U. S. Public Health Service at Cincinnati, Ohio, and the fish disease laboratory of the Fish and Wild Life Service, Stuttgart, Arkansas.

As you have no doubt heard the Public Health Service facility at Cincinnati, Ohio, has detected and measured amounts of certain pesticides in fish flesh, mud, and water levels that are conside red toxic to fish and other aquatic life. This peculiar type of fish die-off has not been observed in any of our other state streams. There is a theory, as yet unsubstantiated, for this phenomena.

State agencies that have responsibilities in this matter are continuing the investigation into the cause of the fish kill and have also requested technical assistance from the Technical Services Branch of the Division of Water Supply and Pollution Control of the U.S. Public Health Service, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. The machinery (field monitoring stations) and other necessary field investigative details are at this time being worked out. Some of this work is already underway.

Little Man's Corner

It was mostly on the lakes and streams that the little man made news the past week.

Bob Semmes and Joe Strickland, Monroe, took 200 chinquapin bream at Black Bayou Lakes. Archie Parker, Alvin Parker, Willard Richards and Machelle Downing hit Black Bayou on a quick trip for 75, and Archie got 86 another day by himself.

Among those showing strings of 25-to-60 chinks and bluegills at Oliver's Boat Dock on Black Bayou were C. E. Thompson, W. H. Halley, Jack Wigley, Kenneth Davidson, L. R. Cupples, C. L. Covington and R. C. Covington, all of Monroe. Charlie Marx, Monroe, brought out a string of 75 bream; Sam Wilson, West Monroe, showed three bass totalling 9¾ pounds.

Ronnie O'Neal and Jimmy Gaspard, Ferriday, tapped Lake Concordia for 13 nice bass using purple worms. Percy May, Vidalia, took the limit of bass from Lake Concordia. Charlie Williams, Vidalia, and Mrs. Amos Alexander and Mrs. Eunice Brown, both of Vidalia, took bar fish limits from bar pits of their neighborhood. Al and Bill Strickland and "Jug Head" Jones, all of Ferriday, took bass limits at Deer Park.

Mrs. Ed Short and Mrs. C. T. Beasley, Winnsboro, used red worms for bream limits at Lake St. John, the same for John Grady, Lake St. John, Harlie Lawson, Crocket, Tex., Mr. and Mrs. B. U. Miller, Ferriday, and Mr. and Mrs. Gerlad Neyland, West Monroe, except that the Millers used crickets to catch theirs.

Morris L. Doughty, Natchez, Miss., is the target of friendly joking from his Catahoula parish hunting and fishing companions. The Adams county (Miss.) assessor and tax collector, killed a 16-pound wild turkey on the last day of the Mississippi hunt, taking his bird near Natchez. "Experienced" hunter friends of Doughty failed to get a bird themselves and are attributing his success to "beginners luck. But Doughty says he had been trying too long to be classed a beginner when he hit the jackpot. Louisiana's turkey season closes today.

BOB HANSEN from the University of Kansas stretches his head and shoulders as he makes his last stride to win the 100-yard dash in a dazzling 9.2 during the Kansas Relays Saturday. WITH CAMIEN, ROBERTS

Blazing Milers From SMU Garner Honors In Kansas

LAWRENCE, Kans. (AP) — SMU's blazing half-mile relay team, John Camien with a 4:03.2 anchor mile for Emporia State, and Texas A&M strongman Danny Roberts were the standouts of the 39th Kansas Relays Saturday.

Seven meet records were smashed and two equalled in the closing day, bringing the two-day meet harvest to 12 records set or equalled.

Roberts set a shotput record of 60-2¾. He won the discus at 176-9 Friday and is the seventh man in Kansas Relays history to win both weight events the same year.

Southern Methodist ran a 1:23.4 in the half-mile relay, one-tenth of a second under meet record and eight-tenths over the world mark set by Bobby Morrow and Abilene Christian in 1961.

SMU also won the 440-relay in 40.6 seconds.

Sophomore John Roderick anchored both teams.

Missouri missed both the meet and the world records with its 7:26.6 in the two-mile relay, despite Robin Lingle's 1:49.9 anchor half mile.

Lingle won by 50 yards.

Texas was expected to duel Missouri for a world mark in the two-mile but went for the distance medley gold medal instead and set a meet record of 9:48, anchored by Dick Romo.

Lingle blazed a 4:01 cleanup mile for a meet mark in the four-mile relay Friday and Romo chased him home with a 4:02.5.

The distance medley gave Texas its first relay gold medal on the Texas-Kansas-Drake relay circuit since 1959.

Ray Stevens of Lincoln, Neb., ran 3:47.9 in the Glenn Cunningham 1,500 meters and Hylke Van Der Wall of Manitoba U. won the 3,000 meter steeplechase in 8:56.3 for two more meet marks.

Records were equalled by Roger Sayers of Omaha with 10.3 in the 100-meter dash and by Lincoln U. of Missouri with a 1:24.2 in the college half-mile relay.

Camien, a slender distance star from Floral Park, N.Y., hauled Emporia State to a meet mark of 9:48.4 in the college distance medley. It smashed the meet mark of 9:54.2 set by Tom O'Hara and Chicago Loyola last year.

Wright Takes Rawls Control With 3-Under

SPARTANBURG, S.C. (AP)— Mickey Wright of Dallas, who has never played well over the Spartanburg Country Club course, shot a three-under-par 69 Saturday to take a second round one-stroke lead in the 12th annual Betsy Rawls Peach Blossom Women's Open Golf Tournament.

Miss Wright, five strokes off the pace entering Saturday's 18 holes over the 54-hole, $7,500 tournament, shot an eagle on the first hole, sinking a 25-foot putt. She bogied the second and ninth and was even par 35 at the turn. Her two-day total was 144.

On the back nine she had three birdies, including a two-footer on 11 which could have been another eagle. She two-putted on the 15th hole from six feet.

One stroke behind Miss Wright was Gloria Armstrong at 145. She had a 74 for the second day of the tournament. The Oakland, Calif., pro shot an eagle on the No. 5 hole, hitting her second shot within two inches of the cup.

Friday's first round leader Ruth Jessen, dropped to fifth place at 148. Shirley Englehorn dropped from second to third with a 76 Saturday for a two-day total of 146. Both had putting problems.

There was a four-way tie for fourth among Sandra Haynie, Marlene Hagge, Sandra McClinton and Mary Mills.

The final 18 holes will be played today.

Southern Wins Grambling Meet

GRAMBLING, La. (AP)— Southern won seven events and Grambling took six Saturday night in the sixth annual Grambling Relays.

Grambling edged Southern 3-2 in the relays, winning the mile relay in 3:09.9, best time in the state this season.

The winners:

220—Richard Stebbins, Grambling, :20.6

Sprint medley relay — Southern (Theron Lewis, Peter King, James Guy, Darrell Dotson) 3:20.

West Monroe Tops Dubach By 8-2 Count

DUBACH (Special) — Four West Monroe pitchers held Dubach hitless for six innings here Saturday night while Rebel batsmen were using a powerful nine-hit attack to take an 8-2 non-conference victory.

The game was a last dry run heore West Monroe faces Fair Park next week in the first of a best of three series for the district 1-AAA championship. The initiail game will be played Monday night at 7 p.m. in Confederate field and will find either Steve White (2-1) or Ray Alexander (5-2) going to the mound for the Rebels. The second game will be Thursday in Shreveport with a third to follow, if necessary.

With Bobby Gates pitching three innings, Bo Roberts two, Alexander one and White one, Dubach didn't manage a hit until the seventh when two runs were scored.

The runs came on a walk, back to back singles, another walk which plated one and a fielder's choice which scored the other.

MAYS HITS FIFTH

Redbird Blasts Beat San Francisco, 3-2

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Johnny Lewis, Ken Boyer and Curt Flood slammed home runs —the Cardinals' first of the year —as St. Louis outpowered San Francisco 3-2 Saturday.

Willie Mays belted his fifth homer in the five-game-old season for the Giants. But Flood negated Mays blow with his game-wining four-bagger in the sixth.

Right hander Ernie Broglio limited the Giants to five hits in evening his record at 1-1. Bob Bolin, victim of the three homers, lost his first decision. He yielded only one other hit in his six innings.

Broglio was in trouble the first three innings—much of it from his own generosity as he walked four and threw a wild pitch. Two errors also threatened his effort.

But the Giants stranded five runners in the span and capitalized only in the first when Mays beat out an infield roller, moved to second on the wild pitch and scored on Willie McCovey's single to right.

Thereafter, Broglio was bothered only by Mays' homer as he beat the Giants for the first time since June 1961.

Rookie Lewis slammed his first major league home run in the third, and Boyer put the Cards ahead 2-1 in the fifth.

Mays got his chance to tie the score in the fifth when Cardinal catcher Tim McCarver dropped Mays' pop foul among the waving glove of two youngsters in the first row of seats.

Willie belted Broglio's next pitch on a line over the 410-foot mark in straightaway center field. Despite his home run slugging, Mays has only one other hit so far this season.

The Cardinals won the series 2-1 as each team's record moved to 3-2

Baltimore Tags Yankees Again

BALTIMORE (AP) — Brooks Robinson doubled home the winning run Saturday as the undefeated Baltimore Orioles edged the winless New York Yankees 2-1 in 12 innings.

The victory was the fourth in a row for the Orioles—all by one or two runs—establishing a club record for consecutive triumphs at the start of a season. For the Yanks, it was their third straight extra-inning loss.

Rookie relief pitcher Pete Mikkelsen walked Norm Seibern to open the Oriole 12th, and the Baltimore first baseman moved to second when Yankee catcher Elston Howard fielded John Orsino's bunt and made a tardy throw on an attempted force play

Both teams scored singls runs in the fourth inning. A single by Roger Maris and a double by Tom Tresh, the only New York extra base hit of the season, accounted for the Yankee run off Baltimore starter Robin Roberts.

Oliva's First Blasts Twins Over Solons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tony Oliva's first major league home run, a blast over the right field fence on the first pitch of the 10th inning, led the Minnesota Twins to an 8-6 victory over the Washington Senators Saturday.

The Twins overcame some long distance clouting by Chuck Hinton and Ed Brinkman. Hinton hit his first home run, two triples to deepest center and a 410-foot fly to deep center.

Bernie Allen blasted home runs in the second and fourth innings, for the Twins, giving him three in three straight times at bat. He homered in the eighth inning Friday night.

The Twins had a 6-2 lead after five innings, but Brinkman and Hinton hit back-to-back homers to lead off the Senators' sixth in which they scored three runs altogether.

The Senators tied it in the eighth on Hinton's triple and Skowron's single, but a double play prevented further scoring.

Raceway Nearly Ready To Open

Final touches are being put on the West Monroe Speedway for stock cars and modifieds in preparation for the Sunday, May 2, opening runs.

Roy Smith, owner and manager of the speedway, said that heavy equipment work on the track has been finished and that the bleechers are more than half finished. Crash wall work is also nearly completed, he said.

The track is a quarter-mile clay oval located off the Jonesboro Road about three miles past the Olin mill on Browder Road.

Drivers and owners of cars will meet at 3 p.m. next Sunday at the speedway for preliminary talks.

Racing will continue every Sunday for about 26 weeks or until the last Sunday in October. About 28 stocks and 15 modifieds are lined up for the opening date.

Time trials start at 1:30 p.m. Admission is $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children. Pit passes are $2.

Mississippi Fish Kills

With Sam Hanna

Pesticide Blamed

By ROBERT A. LAFLEUR

Executive Secretary, Louisiana Stream Control Commission

The peculiar A-typical fish die-off in the Mississippi River and Atchafalaya Basin was first observed and investigated in December 1960. The die-off has continued intermittently, particularly during the colder winter months, since that time.

In December 1960 it was established that dying fish were found in the Mississippi River as far upstream as Lake Providence, Louisiana, and downstream to the mouth of the river; similarly the Atchafalaya Basin was affected from a point at least as far upstream in this basin as Krotz Springs or Milville, Louisiana, to the mouth.

We very definitely feel that this fish die-off has its origin, or is being caused by materials coming down the Mississippi River, from areas upstream in the river from Louisiana; since, bear in mind, the Mississippi River as we know it in Louisiana is virtually completely leveed off and, therefore, there is no surface run-off or drainage to the river from Louisiana.

(In a report before a senate subcommittee at Washington, D.C., Thursday, Mr. Lafleur, concluded that the pesticide containing endrin is responsible for massive fish kills. "I have come to that conclusion reluctantly . . . but prayed that it was not so," Lafleur said, adding, "I have no choice to believe the contrary" on the basis of reports of researchers and scientists.)

It has further been noted that in the fresh water areas bottom-feeding fish were the ones most affected. These species included catfish, fresh water drum, buffalo, shad, and a scattering of gar. In the brackish or estuarine areas red fish, speckle and white trout, mullet, and a large number of Menhaden (poagy fish) were dying.

Examination of the fish revealed that the majority of them suffered from moderate to severe gas distention of the air bladder and-or the stomach and small intestine. These symptoms suggested some type of bacterial infection, an aspect that has been repeatedly and thoroughly investigated; results to date have been of a negative nature.

All other water chemistry data based on conventional techniques and procedures have failed to provide clues to the cause of the fish deaths. For the last three or four years this agency has sought and received advice and assistance from a number of laboratories throughout the United States.

Exhaustive chemical analyses of the bottom mud and water have been conducted. Dying fish, mud, and water samples have been analyzed in our laboratory and laboratories of the Fish and Wild Life Service in Patuxent, Maryland, Kearneyville, West Virginia, and Denver, Colorado, and the State Agricultural Laboratory on the Louisiana State University campus. Fish, mud, and water have been submitted to the U. S. Public Health Service at Cincinnati, Ohio, and the fish disease laboratory of the Fish and Wild Life Service, Stuttgart, Arkansas.

As you have no doubt heard the Public Health Service facility at Cincinnati, Ohio, has detected and measured amounts of certain pesticides in fish flesh, mud, and water levels that are conside red toxic to fish and other aquatic life. This peculiar type of fish die-off has not been observed in any of our other state streams. There is a theory, as yet unsubstantiated, for this phenomena.

State agencies that have responsibilities in this matter are continuing the investigation into the cause of the fish kill and have also requested technical assistance from the Technical Services Branch of the Division of Water Supply and Pollution Control of the U.S. Public Health Service, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. The machinery (field monitoring stations) and other necessary field investigative details are at this time being worked out. Some of this work is already underway.

WITH CAMIEN, ROBERTS

Blazing Milers From SMU Garner Honors In Kansas

LAWRENCE, Kans. (AP) — SMU's blazing half-mile relay team, John Camien with a 4:03.2 anchor mile for Emporia State, and Texas A&M strongman Danny Roberts were the standouts of the 39th Kansas Relays Saturday.

Seven meet records were smashed and two equalled in the closing day, bringing the two-day meet harvest to 12 records set or equalled.

Roberts set a shotput record of 60-2¾. He won the discus at 176-9 Friday and is the seventh man in Kansas Relays history to win both weight events the same year.

Southern Methodist ran a 1:23.4 in the half-mile relay, one-tenth of a second under meet record and eight-tenths over the world mark set by Bobby Morrow and Abilene Christian in 1961.

SMU also won the 440-relay in 40.6 seconds.

Sophomore John Roderick anchored both teams.

Missouri missed both the meet and the world records with its 7:26.6 in the two-mile relay, despite Robin Lingle's 1:49.9 anchor half mile.

Lingle won by 50 yards.

Texas was expected to duel Missouri for a world mark in the two-mile but went for the distance medley gold medal instead and set a meet record of 9:48, anchored by Dick Romo.

Lingle blazed a 4:01 cleanup mile for a meet mark in the four-mile relay Friday and Romo chased him home with a 4:02.5.

The distance medley gave Texas its first relay gold medal on the Texas-Kansas-Drake relay circuit since 1959.

Ray Stevens of Lincoln, Neb., ran 3:47.9 in the Glenn Cunningham 1,500 meters and Hylke Van Der Wall of Manitoba U. won the 3,000 meter steeplechase in 8:56.3 for two more meet marks.

Records were equalled by Roger Sayers of Omaha with 10.3 in the 100-meter dash and by Lincoln U. of Missouri with a 1:24.2 in the college half-mile relay.

Camien, a slender distance star from Floral Park, N.Y., hauled Emporia State to a meet mark of 9:48.4 in the college distance medley. It smashed the meet mark of 9:54.2 set by Tom O'Hara and Chicago Loyola last year.

Wright Takes Rawls Control With 3-Under

SPARTANBURG, S.C. (AP)— Mickey Wright of Dallas, who has never played well over the Spartanburg Country Club course, shot a three-under-par 69 Saturday to take a second round one-stroke lead in the 12th annual Betsy Rawls Peach Blossom Women's Open Golf Tournament.

Miss Wright, five strokes off the pace entering Saturday's 18 holes over the 54-hole, $7,500 tournament, shot an eagle on the first hole, sinking a 25-foot putt. She bogied the second and ninth and was even par 35 at the turn. Her two-day total was 144.

On the back nine she had three birdies, including a two-footer on 11 which could have been another eagle. She two-putted on the 15th hole from six feet.

One stroke behind Miss Wright was Gloria Armstrong at 145. She had a 74 for the second day of the tournament. The Oakland, Calif., pro shot an eagle on the No. 5 hole, hitting her second shot within two inches of the cup.

Friday's first round leader Ruth Jessen, dropped to fifth place at 148. Shirley Englehorn dropped from second to third with a 76 Saturday for a two-day total of 146. Both had putting problems.

There was a four-way tie for fourth among Sandra Haynie, Marlene Hagge, Sandra McClinton and Mary Mills.

The final 18 holes will be played today.

West Monroe Tops Dubach By 8-2 Count

DUBACH (Special) — Four West Monroe pitchers held Dubach hitless for six innings here Saturday night while Rebel batsmen were using a powerful nine-hit attack to take an 8-2 non-conference victory.

The game was a last dry run beore West Monroe faces Fair Park next week in the first of a best of three series for the district 1-AAA championship. The initiail game will be played Monday night at 7 p.m. in Confederate field and will find either Steve White (2-1) or Ray Alexander (5-2) going to the mound for the Rebels. The second game will be Thursday in Shreveport with a third to follow, if necessary.

With Bobby Gates pitching three innings, Bo Roberts two, Alexander one and White one, Dubach didn't manage a hit until the seventh when two runs were scored.

The runs came on a walk, back to back singles, another walk which plated one and a fielder's choice which scored the other.

MAYS HITS FIFTH

Redbird Blasts Beat San Francisco, 3-2

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Johnny Lewis, Ken Boyer and Curt Flood slammed home runs —the Cardinals' first of the year —as St. Louis outpowered San Francisco 3-2 Saturday.

Willie Mays belted his fifth homer in the five-game-old season for the Giants. But Flood negated Mays blow with his game-wining four-bagger in the sixth.

Right hander Ernie Broglio limited the Giants to five hits in evening his record at 1-1. Bob Bolin, victim of the three homers, lost his first decision. He yielded only one other hit in his six innings.

Broglio was in trouble the first three innings—much of it from his own generosity as he walked four and threw a wild pitch. Two errors also threatened his effort.

But the Giants stranded five runners in the span and capitalized only in the first when Mays beat out an infield roller, moved to second on the wild pitch and scored on Willie McCovey's single to right.

Thereafter, Broglio was bothered only by Mays' homer as he beat the Giants for the first time since June 1961.

Rookie Lewis slammed his first major league home run in the third, and Boyer put the Cards ahead 2-1 in the fifth.

Mays got his chance to tie the score in the fifth when Cardinal catcher Tim McCarver dropped Mays' pop foul among the waving glove of two youngsters in the first row of seats.

Willie belted Broglio's next pitch on a line over the 410-foot mark in straightaway center field. Despite his home run slugging, Mays has only one other hit so far this season.

BIRDS UNBEATEN

Baltimore Tags Yankees Again

BALTIMORE (AP) — Brooks Robinson doubled home the winning run Saturday as the undefeated Baltimore Orioles edged the winless New York Yankees 2-1 in 12 innings.

The victory was the fourth in a row for the Orioles—all by one or two runs—establishing a club record for consecutive triumphs at the start of a season. For the Yanks, it was their third straight extra-inning loss.

Rookie relief pitcher Pete Mikkelsen walked Norm Seibern to open the Oriole 12th, and the Baltimore first baseman moved to second when Yankee catcher Elston Howard fielded John Orsino's bunt and made a tardy throw on an attempted force play

Both teams scored singls runs in the fourth inning. A single by Roger Maris and a double by Tom Tresh, the only New York extra base hit of the season, accounted for the Yankee run off Baltimore starter Robin Roberts.

Oliva's First Blasts Twins Over Solons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tony Oliva's first major league home run, a blast over the right field fence on the first pitch of the 10th inning, led the Minnesota Twins to an 8-6 victory over the Washington Senators Saturday.

The Twins overcame some long distance clouting by Chuck Hinton and Ed Brinkman. Hinton hit his first home run, two triples to deepest center and a 410-foot fly to deep center.

Bernie Allen blasted home runs in the second and fourth innings, for the Twins, giving him three in three straight times at bat. He homered in the eighth inning Friday night.

The Twins had a 6-2 lead after five innings, but Brinkman and Hinton hit back-to-back homers to lead off the Senators' sixth in which they scored three runs altogether.

The Senators tied it in the eighth on Hinton's triple and Skowron's single, but a double play prevented further scoring.

Raceway Nearly Ready To Open

Final touches are being put on the West Monroe Speedway for stock cars and modifieds in preparation for the Sunday, May 2, opening runs.

Roy Smith, owner and manager of the speedway, said that heavy equipment work on the track has been finished and that the bleechers are more than half finished. Crash wall work is also nearly completed, he said.

The track is a quarter-mile clay oval located off the Jonesboro Road about three miles past the Olin mill on Browder Road.

Drivers and owners of cars will meet at 3 p.m. next Sunday at the speedway for preliminary talks.

Racing will continue every Sunday for about 26 weeks or until the last Sunday in October. About 28 stocks and 15 modifieds are lined up for the opening date.

Time trials start at 1:30 p.m. Admission is $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children. Pit passes are $2.

Little Man's Corner

It was mostly on the lakes and streams that the little man made news the past week.

Bob Semmes and Joe Strickland, Monroe, took 200 chinquapin bream at Black Bayou Lakes. Archie Parker, Alvin Parker, Willard Richards and Machelle Downing hit Black Bayou on a quick trip for 75, and Archie got 86 another day by himself.

Among those showing strings of 25-to-60 chinks and bluegills at Oliver's Boat Dock on Black Bayou were C. E. Thompson, W. H. Halley, Jack Wigley, Kenneth Davidson, L. R. Cupples, C. L. Covington and R. C. Covington, all of Monroe. Charlie Marx, Monroe, brought out a string of 75 bream; Sam Wilson, West Monroe, showed three bass totalling 9¾ pounds.

Ronnie O'Neal and Jimmy Gaspard, Ferriday, tapped Lake Concordia for 13 nice bass using purple worms. Percy May, Vidalia, took the limit of bass from Lake Concordia. Charlie Williams, Vidalia, and Mrs. Amos Alexander and Mrs. Eunice Brown, both of Vidalia, took bar fish limits from bar pits of their neighborhood. Al and Bill Strickland and "Jug Head" Jones, all of Ferriday, took bass limits at Deer Park.

Mrs. Ed Short and Mrs. C. T. Beasley, Winnsboro, used red worms for bream limits at Lake St. John, the same for John Grady, Lake St. John, Harlie Lawson, Crocket, Tex., Mr. and Mrs. B. U. Miller, Ferriday, and Mr. and Mrs. Gerlad Neyland, West Monroe, except that the Millers used crickets to catch theirs.

Morris L. Doughty, Natchez, Miss., is the target of friendly joking from his Catahoula parish hunting and fishing companions. The Adams county (Miss.) assessor and tax collector, killed a 16-pound wild turkey on the last day of the Mississippi hunt, taking his bird near Natchez. "Experienced" hunter friends of Doughty failed to get a bird themselves and are attributing his success to "beginners luck. But Doughty says he had been trying too long to be classed a beginner when he hit the jackpot. Louisiana's turkey season closes today.

BIGGER, BETTER

Legion Baseball Adds Extra Tilt

The American Legion Amateur League, promising a bigger and better year in its second season of operation, has set Tuesday, May 12, as opening day of the season and the eight member clubs are already busy getting their teams into shape.

Saul Adler, league general manager, Saturday said the league that played only four days a week last year is planning a five-day playing week this season with the addition of Sunday afternoons to the regular four night games on Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of each week.

L. N. "Buddy" Blair, league president, has called a meeting for next Tuesday night at the American Legion Home on Forsythe Avenue for league directors and club managers and officials. Discussion of by-laws and player personnel figure on the program, Blair said.

Meanwhile, the league is preparing to launch an advanced ticket sale for opening day.

Again the league will honor opening day tickets at all games during the regular season, giving fans a bargain purchase of a full season of games, not including playoffs, for the price of one. After opening day the regular game to game prices will prevail.

Making opening day tickets at a one-game price but with season ticket status was a big stimulant in sales last season.

"Such a sale helps bring quick funds to assure the season's operations," Adler said. "League officials hope the general public will again support the project where athletes 18 and over can continue their desire to play organized ball and furnish recreation for many interested fans in Ouachita parish."

Clubs participating this year are Piggy Wiggly Stores, Rivers Ford, Falstaff-F. Strauss and Son, Ouachita National Bank, KTVE, All-Stars, Davis Food Stores, National Guard.

Adler announced the latest addition to the staff of club managers is Jerry Lovett, coach at Calhoun High, who will manage the KTVE team.

The May 12 season opener, 7:30 p.m. at Legion Memorial Stadium where all games will be played, matches Piggly Wiggly against Davis Food Stores.

The league, open only to players 18 years old and older, is limited to Ouachita parish residents of amateur status. Operation expenses are low, a reason for initial season success, because there are no salaries for officials, players, or managers, and no traveling expenses. Legion Stadium is the home park of all clubs.

Adler said the league schedule will be announced soon.

GEORGE MARLOWE

Mangham Star Ends Prep Stint On Finest Note

MANGHAM (Special) — An outstanding Mangham High School athlete completes his prep years with a shelf of trophies and awards to show for his performance as a sportsman, scholar and student leader.

George Marlow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodford Marlow, received the scholastic trophy, the all-district 2-B quarterback trophy and the most valuable player award given by his coaches at the annual All Sports Banquet here recently.

The star was an all-district quarterback both his junior and senior years and was recipient of the MVP award last year.

Marlowe was on the track and basketball teams in addition to his football action. As a cager, he took the all-tournament trophy at the Mangham meet in December, 1963.

In the role of a student leader, Marlowe was president of his sophomore, junior and senior classes and is now president of the Mangham High Student Council. He also is business manager of the high school annual and a member of Mu-Sigma Honor Society.

To round out his final high school year, Marlowe is a member and reporter of the Future Farmers of America at Mangham and a member of the Richland Parish Parliamentary Law Team that boasts of three straight first places.

Tigers Edge Los Angeles; Cash Homers

DETROIT (AP) — A three-run home run by Norm Cash in the fifth inning gave the Detroit Tigers a 3-2 victory over the Los Angeles Angels Saturday.

Cash's hit came after the game was delayed an hour and 19 minutes because of rain. The game was played under cloudy skies and 46 degree temperatures, compared to a record-setting high of 84 Friday.

Ken McBride held the Tigers to a single hit in the first four innings, but gave up two walks before Cash's homer.

Bobby Knoop hit his second solo home run in as many days in the fifth for the Angels' second run.

Dick Egan came on in the sixth inning, after Alan Koch walked the only two batters he faced, and blanked the Angels the rest of the way to preserve Lolich's victory.

Bailey Hammers Mets' Pitcher In Bucs' Victory

NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Bailey hammered New York Met pitching for four hits Saturday as Pittsburgh handed the Mets their fourth straight loss 9-4 before 31,480 fans at Shea Stadium.

Don Schwall was rolling along easily with a 9-2 lead until Tim Harkness rifled a line drive off the pitcher's right leg in the eighth. Schwall was carried off the field, but it was announced later that he had suffered only a bruised knee.

Donn Clendenon slammed a home run and two singles and Bill Virdon had three singles in the Pirates' 15-hit attack.

The Mets, shut out by Schwall for six innings, picked up a pair on Jim Hickman's two - run pinch single in the seventh. They put together four more hits, including a double by Bob Taylor, for two more runs in the eighth and picked up another in the ninth on three straight singles and a force play.

Fant Happy With Spring Cage Practice

Coach Lenny Fant was encouraged by the showing of his Northeast State basketball team in an intrasquad game Thursday night that ended three weeks of spring cage drills.

The Gamblers, a team coached by ex-Indian Irby Gamble, scored an 83-67 victory over the Tom-Toms, coached by former Tribe star Stuart Toms, in the game.

"Our shooting was extremely good," said Fant, who watched the game from the stands. "The winning team shot 63 per cent from the floor and the losers 47 per cent."

Fant said he thought rebounding and ball handling made the difference in the intra-squad game. The Gamblers hauled down 42 rebounds with Paul Thompson collecting 13 and veteran Larry Butler 12. Lawson Swearingen was the only dependable rebounder the losers had and gathered in half of the team's 28 rebounds.

Tommy Enloe of the Tom-Toms, who averaged 13.8 points and made the 1964 all - Gulf States Conference second team, was the game's leading scorer with 23 points. Swearingen got 14 and Dick Williams nine.

Albert Krause led the winners with 18 points, Thompson and Butler got 17 each, Emmett Pickett 14 and Billy Brooks 12.

Fant noted that Thompson had been one of the most improved players in drills this spring and did an outstanding job in the game.

"Paul began to improve markedly around the first of February and continued to improve in spring practice," Fant said.

"Pickett has also shown a lot of improvement in spring workouts and Enloe's shooting accuracy increased. Swearingen's shooting also improved and he did a good job on the boards Thursday night. Krause was shooting well, as always, this spring and his defense is also much better. This has been his weak point and he has been working hard on it. Speaking of defense, Butler did a good job of it in the intra-squad game."

Butler and Enloe were regulars on the Indian team last winter while Brooks and Williams divided another starting assignment. The other two starters, Gamble and all-GSC Jimmy Walker, have completed their eligibility.

Three members of the team — Mike Vining and redshirts Glynn Saulters and Rich Bailey —are competing in spring sports and did not participate in spring practice.

BIGGER, BETTER

Legion Baseball Adds Extra Tilt

The American Legion Amateur League, promising a bigger and better year in its second season of operation, has set Tuesday, May 12, as opening day of the season and the eight member clubs are already busy getting their teams into shape.

Saul Adler, league general manager, Saturday said the league that played only four days a week last year is planning a five-day playing week this season with the addition of Sunday afternoons to the regular four night games on Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of each week.

L. N. "Buddy" Blair, league president, has called a meeting for next Tuesday night at the American Legion Home on Forsythe Avenue for league directors and club managers and officials. Discussion of by-laws and player personnel figure on the program, Blair said.

Meanwhile, the league is preparing to launch an advanced ticket sale for opening day.

Again the league will honor opening day tickets at all games during the regular season, giving fans a bargain purchase of a full season of games, not including playoffs, for the price of one. After opening day the regular game to game prices will prevail.

Making opening day tickets at a one-game price but with season ticket status was a big stimulant in sales last season.

"Such a sale helps bring quick funds to assure the season's operations," Adler said. "League officials hope the general public will again support the project where athletes 18 and over can continue their desire to play organized ball and furnish recreation for many interested fans in Ouachita parish."

Clubs participating this year are Piggy Wiggly Stores, Rivers Ford, Falstaff-F. Strauss and Son, Ouachita National Bank, KTVE, All-Stars, Davis Food Stores, National Guard.

Adler announced the latest addition to the staff of club managers is Jerry Lovett, coach at Calhoun High, who will manage the KTVE team.

The May 12 season opener, 7:30 p.m. at Legion Memorial Stadium where all games will be played, matches Piggly Wiggly against Davis Food Stores.

The league, open only to players 18 years old and older, is limited to Ouachita parish residents of amateur status. Operation expenses are low, a reason for initial season success, because there are no salaries for officials, players, or managers, and no traveling expenses. Legion Stadium is the home park of all clubs.

Adler said the league schedule will be announced soon.

Senior At Tech Is Given Grant For Internship

RUSTON (Special) — Helen Diane Smith of Jamestown, a senior in home economics at Louisiana Tech, has received a year's grant of $4,690 for a dietetic internship at Houston, effective Sept. 15.

The appointment came from the Veterans Administration Hospital in affiliation with Baylor University School of Medicine and the Texas Medical Center at Houston.

Miss Smith is scheduled to obtain a B. S. degree in home economics at Tech in August. She is a graduate of the Ringgold High School and is an academic scholarship student at Tech. She is a member of Phi Kappa Phi, honor society, and the Home Economics Club at the college.

After serving her internship in Houston, Miss Smith will be an approved dietitian of the American Dietetic Assn.

Area Man Makes Perilous Climb

URANIA (Special)—A Urania man stationed at the Naval Air Facility in Sicily, climbed to the crater of Mt. Etna, Sicily's largest mountain, which is an active volcano.

He is Don Lord, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Y. Lord of Urania, who made the climb with O. E. Nail of Jacksonville, Fla.

The mountain, 10,600 feet high, is seldom climbed during the winter months. Lord and Nail made the climb January 26, spending about six and one-half hours climbing from the 7,300-foot level and back amid ice fields and deep drifts.

Barnett Ignores Dwindling Chain Mail To Evers' Widow

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Former Gov. Ross Barnett almost ignored Saturday a diminishing number of chain mail envelopes which could result in nearly $8,000 for the widow of Negro Medgar Evers.

"They continue to come to my office," Barnett told The Associated Press. "I don't pay any attention to them."

Barnett—without his consent or knowledge—was named trustee of a chain letter money scheme designed to raise funds for Mrs. Evers, widow of Mississippi's leading integrationist.

A chain letter began circulating throughout the nation, and abroad, during January naming Barnett trustee of a fund for the Evers family.

The letter resulted in about 8,000 envelopes bearing $1 checks flooding Barnett's office before a court-appointed trustee finally acquired the task of handling the money involved.

Some of the envelopes bore checks and money orders for more than $1, but an estimated 99 per cent contained the $1 check made out to "Ross Barnett, trustee of memorial fund of family of Medgar Evers."

MISS JULIA ANN REAGAN

Julia Ann Reagan To Wed Kenneth Hebert In June

Mr. and Mrs. Beverly Julian Reagan, 3307 Richmond St., Monroe, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Julia Ann Reagan to Kenneth Ray Hebert. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge Hebert of Jennings.

The couple has chosen Friday, June 12 as the date for their wedding which will be solemnized at 2:30 p.m. in St. Joseph's Catholic Church. Rev. William F. Allen will perform the ceremony.

Miss Reagan has chosen her sister, Miss Janette Adair Reagan to serve as maid of honor. Bridesmaids will be Mrs. Robert Stanley Vance, Monroe; Mrs. I. C. Barton, Camden, Ark., Miss Patricia Marie Hart, Beaumont, Texas and Miss Pamela Louise Hebert, Jennings.

David Whitney Vincent of Jennings will attend Mr. Hebert as best man and named as groomsmen are Cecil Eric Nelson, Hallock, Minn., Clifford Oral Worley, Robert Charles Payne, both of Monroe and Elzy John Baker, Jennings. Ushers will be Ronald Carl Hebert, Jennings and Douglas Reagan Haynes of Monroe and ring bearer will be Douglas Reagan Haynes Jr.

The bride-elect is the granddaughter of Albert Cogswell Alford and the late Mrs. Marie Beaumont Alford and of Mrs. Beverly William Reagan and the late Mr. Reagan. She graduated from Neville high school where she was a member of Delta Beta Sigma sorority and also graduated from Northeast Louisiana State College and is a member of Alpha Omicron Pi social sorority.

Mr. Hebert was graduated from Jennings high school and is a senior in the School of Pharmacy at Northeast Louisiana State College, where he is a member of Phi Delta Chi, National Pharmaceutical fraternity and A.P.H.A. American Pharmaceutical fraternity. He is the grandson of Mrs. Eva Lantz and the late Joseph Lantz and of Antoine Hebert and the late Mrs. Marie Hebert.

Following their marriage the couple will be at home on McCain Drive in Monroe.

MRS. MELVIN WESLEY HICKS, before her marriage Friday, April 17 in Bastrop was Miss Brenda Joye Yates, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Yates, Cooper Lake Road, Bastrop. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hicks, Walker Road, Swartz. The couple will be at home at 1603½ Country Club Road in Bastrop.

WARM HUES FOR 1964

The color forecast for 1964 home decor is "warm and sunny". Mexican pink, warm browns, Indian curry, and yellow shades running from deep amber to bright banana lead the field in settings presented by leading A.I.D. designers. More and more of these exotic upholsteries are used with latex foam rubber cushioning in either contemporary or period settings. To get a soft look, the designers merely place a foam rubber cushion inside an envelope of down.

MRS. BRUCE REYNOLDS PARKS JR.

South Carolinian Weds Lt. Bruce R. Parks Jr.

Vows uniting in marriage Miss Grace Olivia Herring, of Columbia College, Columbia, S. C., and Lt. Bruce Reynolds Parks Jr., Ft. Jackson, S. C., were solemnized Sunday, April 12 at 3:30 p.m. in Ware Shoals Methodist Church, Ware Shoals, S. C.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jones Graham Herring of Ware Shoals and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Reynolds Parks of West Monroe.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of silk linen with fitted bodice of re-embroidered Alencon lace and seed pearls, featuring a scalloped scoop neckline and brief sleeves. The skirt, with straight front featured side emphasis of unpressed pleats and garland of matching lace, with back fullness falling to a chapel train from a cummerbund defined by an elongated bow at the center back. A satin braided crown studded with pearls held her shoulder veil of illusion and she carried a bouquet of orchids and stephanotis.

Misses Annette and Nannette Herring, twin sisters of the bride, served as maids of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Eleanor Thomson of Breneau Academy, Gainesville, Ga., Miss Frances Parks, West Monroe, sister of the groom; Miss Jerri Woods, Lander College, Greenwood, S. C., Miss Lynda Ruth Davis, Greenville, S. C., Miss Glenda Knight, Spartanburg Jr. College, Spartanburg, S. C., Miss Betty Stone of Winthrop College, Rock Hill, S. C.

They wore pink sheath gowns in summer sheer with scoop necklines, short sleeves and floating back panels from a large cabbage rose of self-fabric. Crowns of pearls and horsehair braid in matching shade with circular veils attached formed their headpieces. The honor attendants carried bouquets of pink roses and the brides maids carried red roses.

Miss Patricia Towns Herring of Ware Shoals, cousin of the bride, was flower girl and wore a frock of pink organza over taffeta.

Honorary bridesmaids were Misses Betsy Huckabee, Mary Doug Hubbard, Dee Bryan, Lu Lancaster, Patsy Bradley, Barbara Bradley, Nancy Ayer, and Nan Mauldin, all of Columbia College, Columbia, S. C.

Traditional wedding music was provided by the organist, Miss Frankie Rice and the soloist, Miss Bonnie Jo Isbill, both of Ware Shoals, and students at Furman University, Greenville, S. C.

Mr. Parks attended his son as best man and ushers were Lt. Henry D. Sisson, Florence, Ala., Lt. Robert D. Roussin, St. Louis, Mo., Capt. John Harold Stone Jr., Columbia, S. C., Dr. Bernard H. Booth III, Memphis, Tenn., cousin of the groom and Lt. Archie B. Dowdle Jr., of Tobyhanna, Pa., Kirk Woodliet, Columbia, S. C., and Louis Parks, Greenville, S. C. Ring bearer was Thomas Clayton Pritchard of Ware Shoals.

Candles were lighted by Jones Herring, brother of the bride and Gene Hodges, her cousin.

A reception was held following the ceremony in Fellowship Hall of the church which was decorated for the occasion with red roses, pink snapdragons, white gladioli and white candles. Assisting with courtesies were Mrs. R. H. Latimer, Mrs. Don Ashley, Mrs. Elizabeth Martin, Miss Betty Grant, Miss Martha Brissey, Miss Laura Clifford, Miss Marie Gasque and Miss Ammie McMemimin.

For a wedding trip to Gatlinburg, Tenn., the bride changed into a three-piece off white suit of double knit with pink trim, white accessories and a white orchid corsage. They will be at home at 1122 Shirley Street in Columbia, S. C.

The bride is a sophomore at Columbia College where she is majoring in chemistry and math. Lt. Parks was graduated from Northeast Louisiana State College, where he was president of Tau Kappa Epsilon social fraternity, a member of the Wesley Foundation and Kappa Psi honorary pharmacy fraternity. He is at present stationed at Fort Jackson as a pharmacy officer.

Double Ring Vows Unite Martha Diane Sanchez, Robbins M. Claypool Jr.

Jesus the Good Shepherd Church was scene of the ceremony Saturday, April 18 which united in marriage Miss Martha Diane Sanchez, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Everett Sanchez of Monroe and Robbins Marshall Claypool Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robbins Marshall Claypool Sr., of Houston, Texas.

The Rev. Dave P. Dabria performed the double ring ceremony at 5 p.m. in the presence of family members and close friends. Nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Robert Easterling and Mrs. Waymon Etier.

Vows were exchanged in a setting of white gladioli and shasta daisies flanked by four eight-branched candelabra, entwined with ivy and holding ivory tapers.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of ivory peau de soie fashioned on traditional lines. The sweetheart neckline was etched with applique motifs and long tapered sleeves formed lily points over the wrists. She wore a shoulder length veil of silk illusion held in place by a single handmade rose of ivory peau de soie and carried a bouquet of white roses combined with stephanotis.

Miss Kay Sanchez, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor and bridesmaid was Miss Jean Shaughnessy of Monroe. The attendants wore identical gowns of yellow peau de soie styled with jewel neckline, three quarter length sleeves and semi-belled skirts. Matching circlet veils and slippers completed their costumes and each carried a nosegay of small yellow roses.

James L. Hart Jr. of Houston attended Mr. Claypool as best man. Serving as ushers were George S. Buckner Jr., of Monroe; James Wade Ingram III, Dale Mayes and Gilbert H. Frederick Jr., all of Houston.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Sanchez wore a gown of French blue silk linen with matching accessories and a cymbidium orchid corsage. Mrs. Claypool, mother of the groom, selected a powder blue silk crepe gown with accessories to match. Her corsage was also a pink cymbidium orchid.

RECEPTION

Following the ceremony the bride's parents entertained with a reception at Highland Park Country Club. The bride's table was covered with a white silk organza cloth and centered with an arrangement of white stock and yellow daisies flanked by yellow tapers in silver candelabra. A memory candle and garlands of bridal smilax graced the bride's book table.

Mrs. William W. Wilson greeted guests at the entrance and Miss Linda Faye Atkins presided at the bride's book. The traditional wedding cake was served by Mrs. Echard Wheeler and Mrs. Richard P. Pierce. Alternating at the punch bowl were Mrs. J. Young Sanchez and Mrs. Perry Aldridge. Rice bags were distributed by Miss Debra Sanchez, sister of the bride. Others assisting with courtesies were Mrs. Charles Campbell, Miss Frances Phillips and Miss Sandy Dean.

When the couple left on a wedding trip the bride was wearing a turquoise silk sheath topped with a self-fabric cape. Her accessories were of matching turquoise. The couple will establish a home in Houston where Mr. Claypool is associated with the Gulf Tool Company.

A graduate of Neville high school, Mrs. Claypool received her Bachelor of Arts degree from Louisiana State University and is at present teaching in the Houston Independent School System. Mr. Claypool attended Bellaire high school, Bellaire, Texas and graduated from Sam Houston State College.

WATER NEED

An easy way to check the water requirements of plants, says the Society of American Florists, is to tap the side of the flower pot with your fingernail. If a ringing sound is heard, the plant needs a "drink."

John C. Taylor, Oklahoma Girl Plan June Wedding

Engagement of Miss Sally Sue Criswell of Carrier, Oklahoma to John C. Taylor of Monroe is announced by her parents, Major and Mrs. Charles R. Criswell, Altus Air Force Base, Oklahoma. The future bridegroom is the son of Major (Ret.) and Mrs. M. J. Taylor of Dallas, Texas and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Robertson of Monroe.

June 12 is the date chosen for the wedding which will be solemnized at 8 p.m. in the Chapel at Vance Air Force Base in Enid, Oklahoma. Chaplain Aubrey B. Chase will perform the double ring ceremony.

The bride-elect graduated from high school in Goose Bay, Labrador and attended the University of Oklahoma, where she served as dorm president, was a member of Cate Center Presidents Council and was a finalist for Sweetheart of Independent Students Association. She is also active in Young Republicans and is the granddaughter of Senator and Mrs. Floyd E. Carrier, Carrier, Okla.

WARM HUES FOR 1964

The color forecast for 1964 home decor is "warm and sunny". Mexican pink, warm browns, Indian curry, and yellow shades running from deep amber to bright banana lead the field in settings presented by leading A.I.D. designers. More and more of these exotic upholsteries are used with latex foam rubber cushioning in either contemporary or period settings. To get a soft look, the designers merely place a foam rubber cushion inside an envelope of down.

MRS. BRUCE REYNOLDS PARKS JR.

South Carolinian Weds Lt. Bruce R. Parks Jr.

Vows uniting in marriage Miss Grace Olivia Herring, of Columbia College, Columbia, S. C., and Lt. Bruce Reynolds Parks Jr., Ft. Jackson, S. C., were solemnized Sunday, April 12 at 3:30 p.m. in Ware Shoals Methodist Church, Ware Shoals, S. C.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jones Graham Herring of Ware Shoals and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Reynolds Parks of West Monroe.

Rev. M. E. Boozer performed the double ring ceremony in which Lt. Parks gave his bride an heirloom ring which had been in his family over 100 years.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of silk linen with fitted bodice of re-embroidered Alencon lace and seed pearls, featuring a scalloped scoop neckline and brief sleeves. The skirt, with straight front featured side emphasis of unpressed pleats and garland of matching lace, with back fullness falling to a chapel train from a cummerbund defined by an elongated bow at the center back. A satin braided crown studded with pearls held her shoulder veil of illusion and she carried a bouquet of orchids and stephanotis.

Betty Peck, Jack Shaffer Exchange Vows Saturday

Miss Betty Florence Peck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Smith Peck Jr. of Sicily Island, became the bride of Jack Dale Shaffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Fleeman and the late Jack Gilpin Shaffer of Lake Providence on Saturday, April 18.

The double ring ceremony was solemnized at 10 a.m. in St. Patrick Church of Ferriday with the Rev. John Gayer officiating.

Miss Betty Chisum attended the bride as maid of honor and only attendant. Mr. Fleeman served as best man for the bridegroom.

Mrs. Shaffer graduated from Sicily Island high school and attended Louisiana Tech. Mr. Shaffer is a graduate of Lake Providence high school and Peddie Preparatory School, Heightstown, New Jersey. He is now a student at Tulane University and a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity.

The couple will be at home in New Orleans.

He graduated from Spearsville high school and from Louisiana Polytechnic Institute, Ruston and is now a coach at Farmerville high schools.

Junior League Silver Tea To Benefit Charity

Plans are nearing completion for the Junior Charity League's annual Silver Tea which will be held Tuesday, April 21 at the new home of Mrs. Thad J. Ryan Jr., 2311 Pargoud Blvd., from 3 until 6 p.m.

All proceeds from the tea will be coupled with active volunteer service and used to further the numerous philanthropic projects the League has undertaken. Among current League activities, the group provides milk funds for underprivileged children, layettes for Charity hospital and clothes for needy children.

Continuing their special interest in the community's children, members provide volunteer service to the Cerebral Palsy School, Cooley School for Mentally Retarded Children and Crippled Children's Clinic. Funds raised through the League's Follies and Thrift shop enable the group to assist the YWCA program and to provide a scholarship to Northeast Louisiana State College.

Cultural interests of the League are continued by work with the newly formed Masur Museum of Art and Northeast Concert Association and the donation last year of an art collection to the Ouachita Parish Public Library.

Invitations to the tea have been received by all local women's clubs and each League member will invite five guests. All former members of the League are also urged to attend.

Mrs. Harry Bell, general chairman of the Silver Tea, has reported the formation of necessary committees with all league members working towards the success of the event. Heading the various committees are Mrs. John Kelso Jr., flowers; Mrs. Gene Worthen, kitchen chairman; Mrs. Edgar P. Chapman, assistant kitchen chairman; Mrs. Ed Seymour Jr., pick-up committee; Mrs. Elmer Slagle Jr. and Mrs. Pierre Lauve, serving committee and Mrs. Jack Rivers, publicity.

Miss Barbara Addison will provide piano background music from 3 until 4 and from 5 until 6 p.m. with eight members of the Youth Symphony a special feature during the 4 to 5 hour.

Miss Ledbetter Fiance Plan June Wedding

Of interest in this area is announcement made by Mrs. Wilma Boothe Wilson of Baton Rouge and Paradis, of the engagement of her daughter, Mary Sylvia Ledbetter, whose father is the late Dr. Despommier Ledbetter of New Orleans, to Walter Patrick Tucker. The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvis Anthony Tucker of Baton Rouge.

The couple will be married on June 6 at 10 a.m. nuptial mass at Saint Gerard Majella Catholic Church in Baton Rouge.

Miss Ledbetter, who was reared in the Monroe area, is the granddaughter of Mrs. Alzier Penn Boothe and the late Byron Stutson Boothe of Wisner and the late Dr. and Mrs. Benjamin Alfred Ledbetter of New Orleans. She was graduated from Istrouma high school and attended Louisiana Polytechnic Institute in Ruston where she pledged Alpha Chi Omega. She was a delegate to Quadrinilla at the University of Illinois and sang in the Women's Chorus while at Louisiana Tech.

Mr. Tucker is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Walter Joseph Tucker of Shriever and the late Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Vick of Clinton. He graduated from Istrouma high school and will receive a degree in mechanical engineering from Louisiana State University in June. He is a member of Pi Tau Sigma, national honorary mechanical engineering fraternity, Tau Beta Phi, national honorary engineering fraternity and active in the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

Following their marriage the couple will reside in Slidell.

MRS. CARL H. VARNELL

MISS CAROL ANNE McDONALD

Carol Anne McDonald To Wed USAF Lieutenant

Engagement of Miss Carol Anne McDonald, graduating senior at Centenary College, Shreveport to Daniel Webbe Risik, Barksdale Air Force Base, is announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ivy McDonald, 1008 Emerson, Monroe. The future bridegroom is the son of Webbe A. Risik and the late Mrs. Risik, South Burlington, Vermont.

The wedding is planned for Saturday, June 20 to be solemnized at 12 noon Nuptial Mass in Grace Episcopal Church. Officiating will be the Rev. Bradley Trimble of Grace church and the Rev. David Comegys of St. George's Episcopal Church in Bossier City.

Miss McDonald has chosen Miss Betty Ralph of Osceola, Ark., her roommate at Centenary, to serve as maid of honor. Bridesmaids will be Miss Diane McGee and Miss Lynn Marx, both of Monroe and junior bridesmaid will be Miss Cornelia DeLee, Shreveport, cousin of the bride-elect.

Mr. Risik will attend his son as best man and chosen as groomsmen are Lt. Kenneth Alexander, Lt. William B. Williams and Lt. Gary Whittlinger, all of Barksdale Air Force Base. Ushers will be Lt. Thomas Wardlow and Capt. Noel Strickland, also of Barksdale.

The bride-elect is the granddaughter of Mrs. Seaborn B. DeLee and the late Mr. DeLee and the late Mr. and Mrs. John Lucien McDonald. She was graduated from Neville high school where she was a member of Lambda Sigma Chi. At Centenary where she is a senior, she is serving as president of her sorority, Alpha Xi Delta and is also Sweetheart of Tau Kappa Epsilon, Miss Alpha Xi Delta, Panhellenic and president of Canterbury Club, and a member of Cencoe.

A lieutenant in the USAF, the prospective bridegroom graduated from Cathedral high school and the University of Vermont. He is a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity.

DOUBLE LIVING ROOM

Double living rooms are coming back in style. One outstanding setting at the New York Decoration and Design Show featured twin-tufted latex foam rubber sofas at opposite ends of a long narrow room. Octagonal rug-shaped designs in the white vinyl floor defined the two main conversation areas. The room was ingeniously divided for separate activities by a centrally placed game table that could also be used for serving or dining.

Candlelight Scene Used For Varnell-Martin Vows

In a candlelight seetting on Saturday, April 18 at the Olla United Pentecostal Church, Miss Jo Ann Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norris Martin of Olla became the bride of Rev. Carl H. Varnell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Varnell of Waskom, Texas.

Rev. E. B. Douglas and Rev. W. A. Bingaman performed the 8 p. m. ceremony. A large white cross outlined with white chrysanthemums, greenery and pompons, based with an arrangement of white gladioli and stock and flanked by branched candelabra formed a background for the exchange of vows. White pompons and satin ribbons also decorated the candelabra.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of white crystalline taffeta, enhanced with lace appliques reembroidered with seed pearls. The slim front skirt swept to back fullness terminating in a chapel train. The back waistline was dramatized by a large bow. Long sleeves tapered to lily points over her wrists. Her bouffant veil of illusion fell fingertip length from a pearl tiara and she carried a yellow-throated white orchid in an arrangement of carnations with white love knotted ribbons.

Miss Judy Martin, maid of honor, wore a street - length gown of mystic blue peau de soie, styled with slim front panel and pleated back skirt. Her headdress was of matching illusion and she carried a single pale yellow chrysanthemum encircled wth greenery and showered with yellow satin ribbons tied in love knots. Dressed identically to the honor attendant were the bridesmaids, Miss Sheryl Melder, Mrs. Glenda Moore, Mrs. Virginia Stringer and Mrs. Rebecca LaFleur.

Candles were lighted by Michael Chance and Miss Cynthia Castle. Miss Castle wore a mystic blue frock, styled with scalloped collar, back bow and short puffed sleeves.

Rev. Glen Maughon attended Rev. Varnell as best man and groomsmen were Rev. Roger Lewis, Wayne Moore, James Allen Bingaman and Jerry Wayne Martin.

Following the ceremony the bride's parents entertained at a reception in the church annex. For the occasion Mrs. Martin, mother of the bride was wearing a blue silk sheath with white hat and gloves and black patent accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

For travel when the couple left on a short wedding trip the bride wore a yellow linen three-piece suit with pale yellow blouse, white lizard shoes and bag and white hat, accented by a yellow bow. The couple will establish a home in Waskom, Texas.

SHOWER PETALS

It is customary at church weddings for flower girls to strew rose petals in the path of the bride. Rose petals also may be used to "shower" the bride and groom when they emerge from the church after the ceremony.

Fort Miro Chapter, DAR Accepts New Members

Mrs. R. B. Bailey and Mrs. Thurla Hearn Bordelon were accepted as new members of Fort Miro Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution when it met last Saturday at the home of Mrs. Roy R. McCue on Milton. Miss Carrie Dee Drew, regent, called the meeting to order and Mrs. John G. Cale, flag chairman, led the Pledge of Allegiance and the American's Creed.

Miss Drew called attention to the April issue of the D.A.R. magazine in which Fort Miro chapter was one of five in the country cited for special recognition for the full page newspaper coverage of their 50th anniversary.

Mrs. H. D. Montgomery and Miss Drew will represent the chapter at the annual Continental Congress to be held in Washington D. C. this month.

Mrs. R. T. Faulk gave the national defense report which was an editorial by Jameson G. Campaigne, editor of the Indianapolis Star, in which he drew an analogy of the conquest of Carthage by Rome and our present day situation in the cold war.

The conservation report was given by Mrs. Eugene Flournoy, who urged all members to practice everyday conservation, especially concerning water and forests. She cited efforts of members of the chapter who have planted numerous trees and rose fences, not only for protection of property but for protection of small wild flowers and animals.

Officers elected include Mrs. A. Milling Bernstein, first vice regent; Mrs. Mabel Cole Ratliff, second vice regent; Mrs. George C. Weaks, historian and Mrs. Cecil P. Jarrell, librarian.

The historian, Mrs. Edward J. Brown reported that of the local entries in the essay contest on an outstanding Revolutionary soldier, one written by John Randall Dye had received honorable mention in the state contest. She also proposed an appropriate recognition for him and his school, Georgia Tucker.

Mrs. Pascal Norris, program chairman, introduced Frank Breese as guest speaker for the afternoon. Mr. Breese gave a talk on the history of Monroe during the Civil War years 1860-1864. He pointed out comparative statistics of available volunteers, population, casualities and material resources of the North and South at that time and told of events at the National Democratic Convention and the state convention that led eventually to Louisiana's secession from the union.

Other members present were Mrs. Tripp Faulk Jr., Mrs. Harry Petty, Mrs. Flora M. Potts, Mrs. Paul Bauer, Mrs. A. W. Wilkins, Mrs. Adelia Baylor, Mrs. W. J. Veazey, Harriett Boyle, Mrs. Mike John Jr., Mrs. Brooks Dawkins, Mrs. John P. Zoll, Mrs. George Guier, Mrs. George Hemphill, Mrs. Kennedy Abington, Mrs. Emma Alexander, Mrs. W. B. Matthews, Mrs. W. C. Oliver, Mrs. M. M. Tabb, Mrs. B. S. McRaney, Miss Frances Flanders, Mrs. J. S. Drew, Mrs. Wharton Brown, Mrs. Gilbert Marx, Mrs. A. E. Montgomery, Mrs. Roland Brown, Mrs. Foster Wallace, Mrs. O. C. Roddey, Mrs. Lee Hodges, Mrs. Duncan Cook, Mrs. W. L. Alexander, Mrs. Harry L. Stone, and two guests Mrs. S. M. McReynolds and Mrs. Thomas Davenport.

SOFA-HIKI

One of the newest sectionals is the latex foam rubber sofa-hiki — a convenient piece to flank a large square lamp table for a corner arrangement. The sofa, which also can be used for sleeping, fits along the narrow wall of a room and the hiki snugly tucks in under the corner table with space for extra seating. It is really a wooden bench with a separate latex foam rubber cushion.

TO WED APRIL 22 are Miss Jeanette Nolan, above and Glen David Harper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Harper of Sterlington, whose forthcoming marriage is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy D. Nolan of Fairbanks. Mr. Harper graduated from Sterlington high school, where Miss Nolan is scheduled to graduate in May. The couple will reside in Sterlington where the future bridegroom is employed.

MRS. VICTOR PHILIP ZAGONE JR.

Zagone-Tasson Nuptials Read In Catholic Church

A double ring ceremony at Our Lady of Fatima Catholic Church united in marriage Miss Charlotte Linda Tasson, daughter of Sgt. Major and Mrs. Frank J. Tasson of Clarksville, Tenn., and Victor Philip Zagone Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Zagone Sr., 508 D'Arbonne Street, Monroe.

The Rev. Warren T. Larroque performed the 10:30 a.m. Nuptial Mass on April 4, with appropriate music by Mrs. Sam Lasuzzo, organist and Mrs. Waymon Etier, soloist. White gladioli were used on the altar which was flanked by two baskets of gladioli.

Miss Mary Jo Zagone, maid of honor, wore a gown of apricot peau de soie with matching headpiece and slippers. The gown was styled with short sleeves and bell skirt, caught at the back with a self fabric rose. Dressed identically to the honor attendant were the bridesmaids Miss Sheila Rester and Mrs. Joseph Cernigliaro. The attendants also wore strands of pearls and carried bouquets of talisman roses.

Flower girl was Miss Cathy Maxwell, who wore a full skirted frock of apricot peau de soie with matching headband. She carried a basket of white and talisman colored carnations.

J. C. Zagone attended his brother as best man and groomsmen were Charlie Biggar and Joe Cerniglaro. George Cernigliaro and Buddy Embanato served as ushers and ring bearer was John Messina.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Knights of Columbus Hall. The bride's table was covered with an Italian cutwork cloth and held the wedding cake, which was encircled with bridal wreath. On either side of the table were baskets of white gladioli. An arrangement of white bridal wreath and iris centered the linen covered serving table. Presiding at the tables were Mrs. Travis A. Maxwell, Mrs. James Balsam, Mrs. Carey Messina and Mrs. J. C. Zagone. Miss Marianne Lasuzzo had charge of the guest book and with Miss Judy Balsamo also distributed rice bags to the guests.

When the couple left for a wedding trip the bride was wearing a pink and white polka dot silk suit with pink linen coat and white accessories. Her corsage was an orchid. They have established a home at 1600 North 6th.

Mrs. Zagone graduated from Clarksville high school and attended Northwestern State College, Natchitoches. Mr. Zagone graduated from St. Matthew's high school and attended Northeast Louisiana State College.

ZIPPY BURGERS

Like onion flavor with your hamburgers? Then add minced onion to the beef before shaping into patties — about two tablespoons to a pound of beef will be just right.

BUTTONS

Use dental floss when sewing on buttons that take a lot of hard wear. The added strength of the floss makes the stitchery last longer than regular thread.

MISS BONNIE RHEA SMITH

'Tips' To Sales Personnel Guarantee Customer Loss

By PATRICIA MC CORMACK

—When you approach the customer, say, "can I help you, hon" or "whatcha need, dearie?

—If the customer says she is just looking, don't leave her alone for a moment.

—When a customer is trying to make up her mind about an item don't give her a chance to think. Talk continuously.

—If the customer asks for your opinion, always tell her she looks too fat or too thin, depending on her weight.

—If a customer wants to return something, always argue or refer her to someone else who is out to lunch. While she's looking for the someone else, scoot, fast as you can.

These "tips" for saleswomen in dress departments are part of a failure formula cited in the current issue of "Texas Fashions," a trade journal published by the Texas Fashion Creators Association.

The report — "How NOT to Succeed by Really Trying" — aims, of course, to help sales personnel in ready-to-wear goods departments to bone up on better procedures than the ones described.

"This article," the association said, "is designed for those store owners who have too many customers and wish to eliminate them.

"Just distribute this sample list of rules to your sales to your sales force, see that they adhere to them and your customers are guaranteed to disappear in droves."

All of the rules use the "reverse psychology" to touch on pet gripes of customers.

Among other things, it is suggested that sales personnel flatter the customer by saying that everything (no matter how it looks on her) is "just darling, honey" and "was just made for you." Customers are stupid and don't know what's right for them anyway.

Hemerocallis Club Has Talk By Mrs. Parker

Mr. Lee Parker of Dermott, Ark., was guest speaker for the Twin City Hemerocallis Club when it met Monday night at the home of Mrs. Julius Irving, 1010 Civic Street.

R. C. Pittard, president opened the meeting and after the business session it was announced that Mrs. Mary White won a ribbon on her entry entitled "At the Bend of the River," in the Tulip Festival show in West Monroe.

Mrs. Parker talked on eradication of weeds and how to properly feed and care for the daylily.

Hostesses were Mrs. Suzee Gorman, Mrs. James F. Monroe and Mrs. E. R. Arnold, who served refreshments from a table, covered with a yellow cloth and centered with an arrangment of purple African violents in a silver compote.

Guests for the evening were Mrs. Lee Parker, Mrs. C. W. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Griffith and members present were Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Cobb, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Turner, Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Mangham, Mrs. Alice Davidson, Mrs. Gorman, Mrs. Monroe, Mrs. Arnold, Mrs. Patti Carr, Mrs. Irving, Mrs. White, Mrs. Oma Slaughter, Mrs. Roy Whitlock, R. C. Pittard, Mrs. Thelma Johns, Mrs. Jewel Earl and Mrs. Fred Hayton.

Hosts for the May meeting will be Mr. Pittard, Mrs. Hayton and Mrs. Slaughter.

Bonnie Smith To Wed Ronald Williams In June

Planning a June wedding are Miss Bonnie Rhae Smith of Lake Charles, formerly of Pineville and Ronald Wayne Williams of Monroe, also a former resident of Pineville, whose engagement was revealed at an announcement coffee held Saturday, April 11 in Pineville.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Smith of Pineville and parents of the propsective bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Wendall Wayne Williams of Monroe.

Miss Smith, a graduate of Louisiana College, is employed by the Calcasieu Parish School Board and has been teaching in Lake Charles this past school year.

Mr. Williams is a senior marketing major at Northeast Louisiana State College.

The wedding will be solemnized on June 6 at 6 p.m. in the home of the bride's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey E. Scroggs, Edgewood Drive, Pineville, following which the couple will reside in Monroe.

MRS. VICTOR PHILIP ZAGONE JR.

A double ring ceremony at Our Lady of Fatima Catholic Church united in marriage Miss Charlotte Linda Tasson, daughter of Sgt. Major and Mrs. Frank J. Tasson of Clarksville, Tenn., and Victor Philip Zagone Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Zagone Sr., 508 D'Arbonne Street, Monroe.

The Rev. Warren T. Larroque performed the 10:30 a.m. Nuptial Mass on April 4, with appropriate music by Mrs. Sam Lasuzzo, organist and Mrs. Waymon Etier, soloist. White gladioli were used on the altar which was flanked by two baskets of gladioli.

Miss Mary Jo Zagone, maid of honor, wore a gown of apricot peau de soie with matching headpiece and slippers. The gown was styled with short sleeves and bell skirt, caught at the back with a self fabric rose. Dressed identically to the honor attendant were the bridesmaids Miss Sheila Rester and Mrs. Joseph Cernigliaro. The attendants also wore strands of pearls and carried bouquets of talisman roses.

Flower girl was Miss Cathy Maxwell, who wore a full skirted frock of apricot peau de soie with matching headband. She carried a basket of white and talisman colored carnations.

J. C. Zagone attended his brother as best man and groomsmen were Charlie Biggar and Joe Cernigiaro. George Cernigliaro and Buddy Embanato served as ushers and ring bearer was John Messina.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Knights of Columbus Hall. The bride's table was covered with an Italian cutwork cloth and held the wedding cake, which was encircled with bridal wreath. On either side of the table were baskets of white gladioli. An arrangement of white bridal wreath and iris centered the linen covered serving table. Presiding at the tables were Mrs. Travis A. Maxwell, Mrs. James Balsam, Mrs. Carey Messina and Mrs. J. C. Zagone. Miss Marianne Lasuzzo had charge of the guest book and with Miss Judy Balsamo also distributed rice bags to the guests.

When the couple left for a wedding trip the bride was wearing a pink and white polka dot silk suit with pink linen coat and white accessories. Her corsage was an orchid. They have established a home at 1600 North 6th.

Mrs. Zagone graduated from Clarksville high school and attended Northwestern State College, Natchitoches. Mr. Zagone graduated from St. Matthew's high school and attended Northeast Louisiana State College.

'Tips' To Sales Personnel Guarantee Customer Loss

By PATRICIA MC CORMACK

—When you approach the customer, say, "can I help you, hon" or "whatcha need, dearie?

—If the customer says she is just looking, don't leave her alone for a moment.

—When a customer is trying to make up her mind about an item don't give her a chance to think. Talk continuously.

—If the customer asks for your opinion, always tell her she looks too fat or too thin, depending on her weight.

—If a customer wants to return something, always argue or refer her to someone else who is out to lunch. While she's looking for the someone else, scoot, fast as you can.

These "tips" for saleswomen in dress departments are part of a failure formula cited in the current issue of "Texas Fashions," a trade journal published by the Texas Fashion Creators Association.

The report — "How NOT to Succeed by Really Trying" — aims, of course, to help sales personnel in ready-to-wear goods departments to bone up on better procedures than the ones described.

"This article," the association said, "is designed for those store owners who have too many customers and wish to eliminate them.

"Just distribute this sample list of rules to your sales to your sales force, see that they adhere to them and your customers are guaranteed to disappear in droves."

All of the rules use the "reverse psychology" to touch on pet gripes of customers.

Among other things, it is suggested that sales personnel flatter the customer by saying that everything (no matter how it looks on her) is "just darling, honey" and "was just made for you." Customers are stupid and don't know what's right for them anyway.

Hemerocallis Club Has Talk By Mrs. Parker

Mr. Lee Parker of Dermott, Ark., was guest speaker for the Twin City Hemerocallis Club when it met Monday night at the home of Mrs. Julius Irving, 1010 Civic Street.

R. C. Pittard, president opened the meeting and after the business session it was announced that Mrs. Mary White won a ribbon on her entry entitled "At the Bend of the River," in the Tulip Festival show in West Monroe.

Mrs. Parker talked on eradication of weeds and how to properly feed and care for the daylily.

Hostesses were Mrs. Suzee Gorman, Mrs. James F. Monroe and Mrs. E. R. Arnold, who served refreshments from a table, covered with a yellow cloth and centered with an arrangment of purple African violents in a silver compote.

Guests for the evening were Mrs. Lee Parker, Mrs. C. W. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Griffith and members present were Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Cobb, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Turner, Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Marcham, Mrs. Alice Davidson, Mrs. Gorman, Mrs. Monroe, Mrs. Arnold, Mrs. Patti Carr, Mrs. Irving, Mrs. White, Mrs. Oma Slaughter, Mrs. Roy Whitlock, R. C. Pittard, Mrs. Thelma Johns, Mrs. Jewel Earl and Mrs. Fred Hayton.

Hosts for the May meeting will be Mr. Pittard, Mrs. Hayton and Mrs. Slaughter.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES EDWARD SMITH JR.

Elizabeth Barnes Weds James Edward Smith Jr.

Baskets of white gladioli and emerald foliage banked the altar of St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Monroe for the wedding of Miss Elizabeth Ann Barnes of Natchez and James Edward Smith Jr., of this city, which was solemnized Saturday, April 4 at 12 noon.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Lucious Roberts Barnes of Natchez, Miss., and the late Mr. Barnes. The groom is the son of Mrs. Edgar Osbon of Bastrop and the late J. E. Smith.

A prelude of organ music was provided by Mrs. Harold Price, who also accompanied Miss Marion Mann as she sang The Lord's Prayer and Ave Maria.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, John R. Barnes of Jackson, Miss. Her floor length gown of Chantilly lace over satin was styled with a scoop neckline and long sleeves tapered to lily points. Iridescent sequins and pearls embellished the bodice. The detachable train of white satin extended from a back bustle effect, caught with three self fabric roses. Her elbow length veil was held in place by a tiara of matching lace, pearls and sequims. She carried a bouquet of roses centered with a removable corsage.

Mrs. William H. Lee, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Mary Thweatt, Miss Janet Kinnison, Miss Elaine Carnell and Mrs. Cecil Ford and Mrs. Charles Nugent, both also sisters of the bride. The attendants were identically gowned in floor length frocks of apricot peau de soie, detailed with scoop necklines, three quarter sleeves and bell shaped skirts. Their headdresses were of self fabric roses with veils of matching tulle. They wore matching slippers and carried white Spanish lace fans with clusters of yellow roses, greenery and apricot ribbons attached.

Flower girl was Miss Lorraine Dore of Natchez, who wore a floor length dress of white organdy over taffeta, accented with a cummerbund of apricot peau de soie with streamers falling to the hemline. She carried a white basket of yellow roses and greenery. Eddie Nugent, nephew of the groom, served as ring bearer.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Barnes wore an aqua dress of whipped creme with matching shoes, white straw hat and gloves. Her corsage was of white glamellias. Mrs. Osbon, mother of the groom, wore a beige dress with pleated skirt and lace bodice with matching jacket. She wore bone patent accessories and a beige straw hat accented with flowers of yellow, orange and green under tulle. Her corsage was of yellow glamellias.

Following the exchange of vows a reception was held in the social hall of the church. The tables were covered with white damask cloths and centered with arrangements of yellow and white gladioli, with silver candelabra.

Mrs. Marvin Howze and Mrs. Emma Brown, aunts of the groom, served the tiered wedding cake. Presiding at the crystal punch bowls were Mrs. Darwin Dennis of Natchez and Mrs. Anthony Panzier of Monroe. Mrs. Noel Dore of Natchez, had charge of the guest book.

For travel when the couple left on a wedding trip to New York the bride was wearing a suit of navy blue linen with blouse and gloves of white with navy polka dots. Her hat was a wide brim navy straw. The couple is now at home at 516 Riverside Drive in Monroe.

THIS IS THE DAY for the Tulane Conference in Monroe, and all-day program at the Paragon club. The program opens with registration from noon until one, with luncheon at one. Panel discussions during the afternoon will be led by outstanding authorities in their respective fields. A reception is planned at five p.m., as final event of the day. OLIVE and RYAN SARTOR, JR., are serving as co-chairmen of the conference.

Visitors from Tulane were invited to supper last night at the home of MARIE LOUISE and GEORGE SNELLINGS JR. Other guests for the party included those who had worked on committees for today's Tulane Conference. Marie Louise's home was decorated throughout with festive arrangements of spring flowers. A standing buffet highlighted by marinated smoked tongue and daube glace was served during the evening.

Another affair planned in connection with the Tulane conference is a milk punch party to be held this morning at the home of SANCI and HILLMAN MADISON JR. Honor guests are to be MARY MILLS and KEN ABINGTON JR., who are down for the weekend from Lake Village, Arkansas. Old school friends of the Abingtons have been invited to the Madisons between eleven and twelve this morning.

Last Friday evening, WILHEMINA INABNET entertained at her home in honor of her visiting son and daughter-in-law, the Barlow Inabnets Jr., who will be making their home in Greensboro, North Carolina. Bouquets of dogwood branches used with white Dutch iris were placed in the reception area of Wilhemina's home for the party. Guests included friends of Barlow's from school days. This week Barlow and Pam were vacationing in Mexico, while CATHY and LUCY stayed here with their grandmother.

"BEST PARTY OF THE SEASON" was the verdict of those in attendance at the Big Timers' Dance club spring formal last Saturday night at Bayou DeSiard country club. Dancers complimented the music of Joe Reichman, his twin pianos and orchestra. At the conclusion of the evening, Joe returned the compliment and bragged on the group as being a delight to play for, his most responsive audience. Several members took advantage of this opportunity to bring out of town guests. With the SIDNEY GILLS were his sister and brother - in - law, MAUDE S. and BILL McCLARY of Shreveport. Maude S. was wearing a blue silk crepe dress with narrow skirt to the floor and overblouse of blue sequins.

Guests of the JACK MABRAYS were JEAN and ARNOLD TURNER JR., of Jackson, Mississippi. Jean's dress of mauve pink crepe was styled with scoopneck bodice worked with rows and rows of jeweled beading.

Visitors from Lake Providence, JUNE AND FRANK VOELKER, attended the dance with the LON HEUERS. Blue lace was used for June's drees, with scalloped strapless bodice and narrow full length skirt. Martha's choice was mocha silk shantung for overblouse and long skirt; vari-colored tapestry for the Chanel jacket . . . The JOHN HUNTS had as their guests his brothers and their wives: LAURA and ALEX HUNT; SANDRA and DAVIS HUNT, all of Ruston. Rosemary's dress featured an unusual color combination of pink blouse, and long green skirt, joined with a blue cummerbund.

Yellow and white were favorite colors noted in dance dresses. JEAN DICKENHORST combined the two in a floral print of yellow flowers on white in a full length wrap-around skirt.

Many mouth-watering colors were noted in the long dresses on the dance floor. DARLENE CROSSLAND was lovely in palest pink crepe, narrow skirt falling from a raised waistline outlined with a tracery of silver beading . . . Stunning was the word for BETTY HASTINGS' full-skirted strawberry pink chiffon. Panels of the material fell from her shoulders to the floor in back . . . CHARLOTTE ETHRIDGE wore a watered silk print in shades of pink and chartreuse . . . VERA KELSO's pale blue crepe, with narrow skirt and overblouse, was worn with matching headband. Palest apricot ice best describes the lovely lovely color of BERNICE WOODS' ballgown.

Tuesday will be the day for the Silver Tea given each year by the JUNIOR CHARITY LEAGUE. Hours for the affair are three until six. Tuesday the party will be held at the new home of CISSY and JERRY RYAN at 2309 Pargoud boulevard. Your reporter visited there this week to give you a preview. The house is two stories, of Colonial brick with green shutters. One enters double walnut doors flanked with brass lanterns. The entrance hall is floored with slate and features walnut wainscotting under wallpaper printed with grey-green medallions on white. Stairs to the second floor are straight ahead, with doors to the living room at the left; guest room to the right; and dining room under the stairs.

Family dining room, kitchen, and den are actually one king-size room divided by two "islands" of walnut cabinets. That dividing the first two contains the stove and serving counter; the second a fireplace which opens into both den and dining area. Twenty-four light windows, 3 in the dining area and 6 in the den, are covered with draw draperies of a blue and green linen tweed. A green leather easy chair is used opposite a pair of chairs covered in blue and green check. From this room, French doors open onto the patio at the back of the house.

Only downstairs bedroom is the guest room, with its walls and carpet of aqua. Here draperies and bedspreads are of a material printed in shades of green and aqua. More of this print is used to cover the twin headboards (which reach the high ceiling); and to form the half-canopies.

Upstairs, the boys' rooms are paneled in pecan. BILL's draperies are printed with sailing ships; his bedspread is gold corduroy. MIKE's olive green bedspreads pick up a shade of the rust, blue, and green plaid draperies. The boys' bath is papered with a print of old Chevrolet cars . . . The girls' rooms are in blues and white: KATHERINE's paper is white with a tiny figure of blue and green; her curtains, white with blue borders. JERELYN's room has pale blue walls with sheer draperies of white silk printed with sprays of blue flowers. All four children's rooms have double closets and marvelous built-in drawer and storage space.

The master suite is designed with an open fireplace in a wall which also features a built-in desk, shelves, and cabinets. White draperies draw across French doors which open onto the upstairs gallery. This fascinating spot looks down on the patio which nestles between the house and the levee; and because of its height, commands a view of the river across the levee and through the trees.

This is the week to be going to Ruston. Thursday marks the four hundredth birthday of William Shakespeare and Louisiana Tech has selected this time for the presentation of its first Festival of Arts. Although drama is being emphasized in many of the sessions, scope of the program includes many other fields of creative art. The Tech Art Gallery in the Visual Arts building will be open Monday through Saturday from 8 until 4:30. On Tuesday evening, Rho Gamma chapter of Sigma Tau Delta will hold its annual banquet on Tuesday evening and its awards program on Wednesday evening. A showing of "The Titan", story of Michaelangelo, (who died the year Shakespeare was born) will be held Wednesday evening at 8.

DR. GEORGE R. KERNODLE, professor of drama at the University of Arkansas and former guest director at Shakespeare Memorial Theatre, Stratford, England, will address a convocation in Howard auditorium Thursday morning at 9:40. That evening a program of Renaissance music is to be presented by the Tech Choir and Madrigal Singers.

Friday's program includes a Readers' Theatre production at two in the Little Theatre and the opera "Figaro" in Howard auditorium at seven-thirty. On Saturday a Shakespearean motion picture will be shown in the Little Theatre at two p.m., and that evening the Bard's play, "Twelfth Night" is being presented by the Tech Theatre Players, also in the Little Theater. A concert by the Ruston Civic Symphony next Sunday afternoon at three in the student center will conclude the week's special events.

Not on the Festival program, but an outstanding event at Tech nonetheless, is the appearance of the piano duo of Ferrante and Teicher tomorrow at eight p.m. in Memorial Gymnasium. This pair, making their fourth appearance on a Louisiana Tech Concert association series, are one of the most popular teams ever to appear in Ruston.

Last meeting of the club year for Northeast Louisiana Branch, Association of American Penwomen, is planned for Saturday in Ruston to coincide with the Festival. The group will meet in the Visual Arts building around eleven, register, and visit the art show before their luncheon at noon in the student center. DR. JOHN B. WILSON, Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences and chairman of the Festival, is to speak on Shakespeare.

And for our poem of the week, shakespeare's instructions to actors, as spoken by Hamlet:

Speak the speech, I pray you, as I pronounced it to you, trippingly on the tongue; but if you mouth it, as many of your players do, I had as lief the town-crier spoke my lines. Nor do not saw the air too much with your hand, thus; but use all gently; for in the very torrent, tempest, and — as I may say, — whirlwind of passion, you must acquire and beget a temperance, that may give it smoothness. O! it offends me to the soul to hear a robustious periwig-pated fellow tear a passion to tatters, to very rags, to split the ears of the groundlings, who for the most part are capable of nothing but inexplicable dumbshows and noise . . . Be not too tame either, but let your own discretion be your tutor: suit the action to the word, the word to the action; with this special observance, that you o'erstep not the modesty of nature; for anything so overdone is from the purpose of playing, whose end, both at the first and now, was and is, to hold, as 'twere, the mirror up to nature.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES EDWARD SMITH JR.

Elizabeth Barnes Weds James Edward Smith Jr.

Baskets of white gladioli and emerald foliage banked the altar of St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Monroe for the wedding of Miss Elizabeth Ann Barnes of Natchez and James Edward Smith Jr., of this city, which was solemnized Saturday, April 4 at 12 noon.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Lucious Roberts Barnes of Natchez, Miss., and the late Mr. Barnes. The groom is the son of Mrs. Edgar Osbon of Bastrop and the late J. E. Smith.

A prelude of organ music was provided by Mrs. Harold Price, who also accompanied Miss Marion Mann as she sang The Lord's Prayer and Ave Maria.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, John R. Barnes of Jackson, Miss. Her floor length gown of Chantilly lace over satin was styled with a scoop neckline and long sleeves tapered to lily points. Iridescent sequins and pearls embellished the bodice. The detachable train of white satin extended from a back bustle effect, caught with three self fabric roses. Her elbow length veil was held in place by a tiara of matching lace, pearls and sequins. She carried a bouquet of roses centered with a removable corsage.

Mrs. William H. Lee, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Mary Thweatt, Miss Janet Kinnison, Miss Elaine Carnell and Mrs. Cecil Ford and Mrs. Charles Nugent, both also sisters of the bride. The attendants were identically gowned in floor length frocks of apricot peau de soie, detailed with scoop necklines, three quarter sleeves and bell shaped skirts. Their headdresses were of self fabric roses with veils of matching tulle. They wore matching slippers and carried white Spanish lace fans with clusters of yellow roses, greenery and apricot ribbons attached.

Flower girl was Miss Lorraine Dore of Natchez, who wore a floor length dress of white organdy over taffeta, accented with a cummerbund of apricot peau de soie with streamers falling to the hemline. She carried a white basket of yellow roses and greenery. Eddie Nugent, nephew of the groom, served as ring bearer.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Barnes wore an aqua dress of whipped creme with matching shoes, white straw hat and gloves. Her corsage was of white glamellias. Mrs. Osbon, mother of the groom, wore a beige dress with pleated skirt and lace bodice with matching jacket. She wore bone patent accessories and a beige straw hat accented with flowers of yellow, orange and green under tulle. Her corsage was of yellow glamellias.

Following the exchange of vows a reception was held in the social hall of the church. The tables were covered with white damask cloths and centered with arrangements of yellow and white gladioli, with silver candelabra.

Mrs. Marvin Howze and Mrs. Emma Brown, aunts of the groom, served the tiered wedding cake. Presiding at the crystal punch bowls were Mrs. Darwin Dennis of Natchez and Mrs. Anthony Panzier of Monroe. Mrs. Noel Dore of Natchez, had charge of the guest book.

For travel when the couple left on a wedding trip to New York the bride was wearing a suit of navy blue linen with blouse and gloves of white with navy polka dots. Her hat was a wide brim navy straw. The couple is now at home at 516 Riverside Drive in Monroe.

THIS IS THE DAY for the Tulane Conference in Monroe, and all-day program at the Paragon club. The program opens with registration from noon until one, with luncheon at one. Panel discussions during the afternoon will be led by outstanding authorities in their respective fields. A reception is planned at five p.m., as final event of the day. OLIVE and RYAN SARTOR, JR., are serving as co-chairmen of the conference.

Visitors from Tulane were invited to supper last night at the home of MARIE LOUISE and GEORGE SNELLINGS JR. Other guests for the party included those who had worked on committees for today's Tulane Conference. Marie Louise's home was decorated throughout with festive arrangements of spring flowers. A standing buffet highlighted by marinated smoked tongue and daube glace was served during the evening.

Another affair planned in connection with the Tulane conference is a milk punch party to be held this morning at the home of SANCI and HILLMAN MADISON JR. Honor guests are to be MARY MILLS and KEN ABINGTON JR., who are down for the weekend from Lake Village, Arkansas. Old school friends of the Abingtons have been invited to the Madisons between eleven and twelve this morning.

Last Friday evening, WILHEMINA INABNET entertained at her home in honor of her visiting son and daughter-in-law, the Barlow Inabnets Jr., who will be making their home in Greensboro, North Carolina. Bouquets of dogwood branches used with white Dutch iris were placed in the reception area of Wilhemina's home for the party. Guests included friends of Barlow's from school days. This week Barlow and Pam were vacationing in Mexico, while CATHY and LUCY stayed here with their grandmother.

"BEST PARTY OF THE SEASON" was the verdict of those in attendance at the Big Timers' Dance club spring formal last Saturday night at Bayou DeSiard country club. Dancers complimented the music of Joe Reichman, his twin pianos and orchestra. At the conclusion of the evening, Joe returned the compliment and bragged on the group as being a delight to play for, his most responsive audience. Several members took advantage of this opportunity to bring out of town guests. With the SIDNEY GILLS were his sister and brother - in - law, MAUDE S. and BILL McCLARY of Shreveport. Maude S. was wearing a blue silk crepe dress with narrow skirt to the floor and overblouse of blue sequins.

Guests of the JACK MABRAYS were JEAN and ARNOLD TURNER JR., of Jackson, Mississippi. Jean's dress of mauve pink crepe was styled with scoopneck bodice worked with rows and rows of jeweled beading.

Visitors from Lake Providence, JUNE AND FRANK VOELKER, attended the dance with the LON HEUERS. Blue lace was used for June's drees, with scalloped strapless bodice and narrow full length skirt. Martha's choice was mocha silk shantung for overblouse and long skirt; vari-colored tapestry for the Chanel jacket . . . The JOHN HUNTS had as their guests his brothers and their wives: LAURA and ALEX HUNT; SANDRA and DAVIS HUNT, all of Ruston. Rosemary's dress featured an unusual color combination of pink blouse, and long green skirt, joined with a blue cummerbund.

Yellow and white were favorite colors noted in dance dresses. JEAN DICKENHORST combined the two in a floral print of yellow flowers on white in a full length wrap-around skirt.

Many mouth-watering colors were noted in the long dresses on the dance floor. DARLENE CROSSLAND was lovely in palest pink crepe, narrow skirt falling from a raised waistline outlined with a tracery of silver beading . . . Stunning was the word for BETTY HASTINGS' full-skirted strawberry pink chiffon. Panels of the material fell from her shoulders to the floor in back . . . CHARLOTTE ETHRIDGE wore a watered silk print in shades of pink and chartreuse . . . VERA KELSO's pale blue crepe, with narrow skirt and overblouse, was worn with matching headband. Palest apricot ice best describes the lovely lovely color of BERNICE WOODS' ballgown.

Tuesday will be the day for the Silver Tea given each year by the JUNIOR CHARITY LEAGUE. Hours for the affair are three until six. Tuesday the party will be held at the new home of CISSY and JERRY RYAN at 2309 Pargoud boulevard. Your reporter visited there this week to give you a preview. The house is two stories, of Colonial brick with green shutters. One enters double walnut doors flanked with brass lanterns. The entrance hall is floored with slate and features walnut wainscotting under wallpaper printed with grey-green medallions on white. Stairs to the second floor are straight ahead, with doors to the living room at the left; guest room to the right; and dining room under the stairs.

Family dining room, kitchen, and den are actually one king-size room divided by two "islands" of walnut cabinets. That dividing the first two contains the stove and serving counter; the second a fireplace which opens into both den and dining area. Twenty-four light windows, 3 in the dining area and 6 in the den, are covered with draw draperies of a blue and green linen tweed. A green leather easy chair is used opposite a pair of chairs covered in blue and green check. From this room, French doors open onto the patio at the back of the house.

Only downstairs bedroom is the guest room, with its walls and carpet of aqua. Here draperies and bedspreads are of a material printed in shades of green and aqua. More of this print is used to cover the twin headboards (which reach the high ceiling); and to form the half-canopies.

Upstairs, the boys' rooms are paneled in pecan. BILL's draperies are printed with sailing ships; his bedspread is gold corduroy. MIKE's olive green bedspreads pick up a shade of the rust, blue, and green plaid draperies. The boys' bath is papered with a print of old Chevrolet cars . . . The girls' rooms are in blues and white: KATHERINE's paper is white with a tiny figure of blue and green; her curtains, white with blue borders. JERELYN's room has pale blue walls with sheer draperies of white silk printed with sprays of blue flowers. All four children's rooms have double closets and marvelous built-in drawer and storage space.

The master suite is designed with an open fireplace in a wall which also features a built-in desk, shelves, and cabinets. White draperies draw across French doors which open onto the upstairs gallery. This fascinating spot looks down on the patio which nestles between the house and the levee; and because of its height, commands a view of the river across the levee and through the trees.

This is the week to be going to Ruston. Thursday marks the four hundredth birthday of William Shakespeare and Louisiana Tech has selected this time for the presentation of its first Festival of Arts. Although drama is being emphasized in many of the sessions, scope of the program includes many other fields of creative art. The Tech Art Gallery in the Visual Arts building will be open Monday through Saturday from 8 until 4:30. On Tuesday evening, Rho Gamma chapter of Sigma Tau Delta will hold its annual banquet on Tuesday evening and its awards program on Wednesday evening. A showing of "The Titan", story of Michaelangelo, (who died the year Shakespeare was born) will be held Wednesday evening at 8.

DR. GEORGE R. KERNODLE, professor of drama at the University of Arkansas and former guest director at Shakespeare Memorial Theatre, Stratford, England, will address a convocation in Howard auditorium Thursday morning at 9:40. That evening a program of Renaissance music is to be presented by the Tech Choir and Madrigal Singers.

Friday's program includes a Readers' Theatre production at two in the Little Theatre and the opera "Figaro" in Howard auditorium at seven-thirty. On Saturday a Shakespearean motion picture will be shown in the Little Theatre at two p.m., and that evening the Bard's play, "Twelfth Night" is being presented by the Tech Theatre Players, also in the Little Theater. A concert by the Ruston Civic Symphony next Sunday afternoon at three in the student center will conclude the week's special events.

Not on the Festival program, but an outstanding event at Tech nonetheless, is the appearance of the piano duo of Ferrante and Teicher tomorrow at eight p.m. in Memorial Gymnasium. This pair, making their fourth appearance on a Louisiana Tech Concert association series, are one of the most popular teams ever to appear in Ruston.

Last meeting of the club year for Northeast Louisiana Branch, Association of American Penwomen, is planned for Saturday in Ruston to coincide with the Festival. The group will meet in the Visual Arts building around eleven, register, and visit the art show before their luncheon at noon in the student center. DR. JOHN B. WILSON, Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences and chairman of the Festival, is to speak on Shakespeare.

And for our poem of the week, shakespeare's instructions to actors, as spoken by Hamlet:

Speak the speech, I pray you, as I pronounced it to you, trippingly on the tongue; but if you mouth it, as many of your players do, I had as lief the town-crier spoke my lines. Nor do not saw the air too much with your hand, thus; but use all gently; for in the very torrent, tempest, and — as I may say, — whirlwind of passion, you must acquire and beget a temperance, that may give it smoothness. O! it offends me to the soul to hear a robustious periwig-pated fellow tear a passion to tatters, to very rags, to split the ears of the groundlings, who for the most part are capable of nothing but inexplicable dumbshows and noise . . . Be not too tame either, but let your own discretion be your tutor: suit the action to the word, the word to the action; with this special observance, that you o'erstep not the modesty of nature; for anything so overdone is from the purpose of playing, whose end, both at the first and now, was and is, to hold, as 'twere, the mirror up to nature.

MISS ELIZABETH NAN WHITE

Area Couple Plans July Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Julius B. White of Pineville, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Nan White of Arcadia to Fred Allen Dozier, Barksdale Air Force Base. He is the son of Mr .and Mrs. Chiles Deason Dozier of Urania.

The wedding will be an event of July 19 to be solemnized at 3 p.m. in First Baptist Church of Pineville. Dr. R. Houston Smith, pastor of the church and Rev. W. A. Curnow, pastor of Jackson Street Presbyterian Church, Alexandria, will perform the ceremony.

Attending the bride will be her cousins, Mrs. Joe W. Brown of Alexandria, as matron of honor and Miss Peggy McCoy, Alexandria, as bridesmaid. Grady H. Reed III of Carthage, Texas, will serve as best man for Mr. Dozier, his cousin.

The prospective Bridegroom is the grandson of Mrs. Chiles Cann Dozier, now of Monroe and the late Mr. Dozier of Farmerville, and of Stacia J. McCartney and the late Mrs. McCartney of Urania.

ROLLICKIN' ROBINS

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — Red pyracantha berries are being blamed for making robins drunk in this southern Arizona resort city. This is possible because the berries ferment and are an outside attraction to hungry robins. But John Schaefer, head of the Tucson Audubon Society, suspects the birds are not drunk all the time — merely over-stuffed.

Roman Culture Discussed For Fine Arts Club

The home of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Anspach, Edgewater Gardens, was scene of the April meeting of the Fine Arts Club Monday night.

Mrs. E. E. Lawson, vice-president, conducted the business meeting following which the program entitled, "Pots and Pans and Earrings and Spoons" was presented.

A paper was given by Mrs. W. J. Veazey on the culture of the Greeks and Romans one hundred years before the birth of Christ. Miss Cliffie Olmstead chose as her subject "The Arts and Culture of the Romans."

Following the program a dessert course was served by the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Anspach and Leon Hammonds. Others present were Mrs. Florence Albritton, Mrs. Kate Allison, John G. Cale, Mrs. J. Norman Coon, Miss Ladelle Duke of Homer; Mr. and Mrs. Everett Lawson, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Newman, Miss Cliffie Olmstead, Mrs. Eloise Stanhope and Mrs. W. J. Veazey.

MISS CLARA SUE DAY

Couple Sets Date For June Vows

Planning a June wedding are Miss Clara Sue Day and George Keith Abbott, whose engagement is announced by parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Day of Point. The future groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Abbott Jr. of Jonesboro.

Providence Baptist Church at Point will be scene of the ceremony on June 7 at 3 p.m. with Rev. Billy Carter officiating.

Attending the bride will be Miss Sandria Antley of Downsville as maid of honor and Miss Cynthia Day, Point, as bridesmaid. Robert Abbott of New Iberia will serve as best man and ushers will be Robert Day and Walter Abbott.

Grandparents of the bride-elect are Mrs. Robert Y. Kennedy and the late Mr. Kennedy and Mrs. George Carter and the late Bargie Day. Miss Day is a graudate of Downsville high school and was graduated in February, 1964 from Northeast Louisiana State College.

Mr. Abbott is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Abbott Sr. A graduate of Jonesboro-Hodge high school, he is now a senior at Northeast where he will graduate in June.

Following their marriage the couple will reside in Monroe.

Michael McKinley Named White Rose Of Sigma Tau

The event was the Northeast State Beta Nu chapter's "White Rose" formal, highlighted by the announcement of the College coed who will wear the "White Rose" title for the coming school year.

Miss Michael McKinley, sophomore elementary education major from Monroe, was crowned by the reigning Rose, Miss Jan Hallmark, also of Monroe. The new queen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. McKinley, was presented an arm bouquet of white roses and a trophy engraved with her name and title.

During the ceremonies the three candidates for the coveted honor were presented with their escorts. Miss Diane McCain of Winnsboro and Buddy Loftin; Miss Sharon Thigpen of DeRidder and Gerald Williams; and Miss McKinley and Billy Bryant.

Receiving at the dance were Sigma Tau Gamma President Bob Fava of Bastrop and Miss Jimmy Lou Gaines, John Taylor and Miss Hallmark.

Preceding the coronation ceremony, pledges and their dates were introduced by DeWayne Copeland, pledge class president. They were joined by actives and their dates, who were presented by President Bob Fava.

Following this feature, couples danced to the music of The Capris, orchestra from Alexandria. Theme for the occasion was set by floral decorations, accented by a white latticed nook with red climbing roses. Another attractive decor under a latticed canopy was a tiered arrangement of potted red and pink geraniums and begonias. White rosebud corsages worn by all dates completed the effect of spring time.

Attending were: John Clema and Barbara Borgkvist, John Taylor and Jan Hallmark, Bob Fava and Jimmie Lou Gaines, Rodney Nolan and Sylvia Smith, Charles McManhan and Carolyn DeBlieux, Ronald Sumter and Lyria Brannon, Thomas Frazier and Marylynn Sue Chapman, Richard Langlinais and Melanie McNatz, Ron Weir and Hannah Ware, Dwayne Farrar and Sara Lewis.

Why Grow Old

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Accessories can make a tremendous difference in the way a woman looks. Sometimes members of the fair sex fail to realize that the color, size and placement of these influence their appearance just as their makeup and hair styling do. They can be flattering or unflattering.

There is a sameness about this year's spring and summer suits. Most of them have the same little box jacket with braid or buttons or flap pockets. It is an attractive style and is becoming to most figures, but because the style is so universal this season, it may become monotonous.

According to one of New York City's leading fashion show stylists, an accessory, especially jewelry, is the prettiest way to battle the "uniform" look. However, this highly experienced executive warns that too many women spoil, rather than sparkle, their outfits by wearing the wrong accessories in the wrong place. A woman's skin tone and figure should also be considered.

Here are some of this expert's suggestions for choosing accessories which will flatter you and individualize your new outfit.

Necklaces: A bright strand of beads or pearls dresses up the neckline of a suit or dress, but you must watch the length. A long face and slim neck are flattered by a short strand, or several short strands of beads. A round or square face, or a short neck, needs a longer length of necklace for a more pleasing proportion.

If you have one of the new plunge neckline dresses don't spoil the whole effect by wearing a short strand of pearls. It confuses the lines. Wear a necklace only slightly shorter than your decolletage.

Since necklines are so close to the face, be sure to flatter your complexion too. Never wear red or purple beads if you have a ruddy complexion. If your skin is slightly sallow avoid amber. If it is very fair do not use black. The contrast is too harsh.

If your suit is trimmed with gold buttons, and more than half are this year, use pearls, gold or colored stones. Do not wear silver, copper or gunmetal.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Clothes to Fit Your Figure and Personality," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet number 54 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Hat Interest Is Revived

This spring has seen a revival of hat interest. Women who haven't worn more than a hair bow for years have been rushing out to buy hats.

But this new crowd of hat wearers has new ideas about hats. For instance, they ignored the tradition that the spring hat must be a mass of flowers. Preferred were shovel-brim white smooth straws, striped silk berets, airy cages of net lightly touched with flowers, big bretons in rough plaited straws.

All around New York, at the spring fashion luncheons in the hotels, hats are going easy on the flower theme. The accent is on shape and color, especially when the hat is big and brimmed, as many are. Favorite shades are white, turquoise, yellow and pink, especially pink, in every shade from cotton candy to a lush raspberry straw with a floppy brim.

Moment Musical Coterie Meets At Caldwells

The Moment Musical Coterie met in the home of Annie Laurie Caldwell on Bon Aire Drive with Shelley Fuller and Brenda Bell, co-hostesses. A social hour preceded the program during which time the hostesses served refreshments.

Following the business session the musical program included: Gavotte - Henkel by Carol Allen accompanied by Lane Allen; Concerto in C Major Kasschan by Annie Laurie Caldwell, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. James G. Caldwell; Skating-Cu-las by Leslie Faucett; Polish Dance - Kedera by Shelly Fuller; Sicilian - Schumann by Mary Hickman; Theme from Piano Concerto - Greig, by Rebo King; Barcarolle - Kulah, by Lynn Loflin; Military March - Schubert by Laura Lou Polen; Gretchen Dances - Stevens by Carol Salley.

In addition to performers, members present were Betty Bartlett, Lari Lue Bewick, Jeannie Frazer, Sally Kilpatrick, Suzanne Taylor, Lou Lemert, Anne Martin, Martha Maxwell, Becky Willey, Brenda and Debbie Hamilton, Cindy Williams, and guests were Lee Lenore Caldwell, Mrs. Caldwell, Mrs. Fuller and Lane Allen.

MISS ELIZABETH NAN WHITE

Area Couple Plans July Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Julius B. White of Pineville, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Nan White of Arcadia to Fred Allen Dozier, Barksdale Air Force Base. He is the son of Mr .and Mrs. Chiles Deason Dozier of Urania.

The wedding will he an event of July 19 to be solemnized at 3 p.m. in First Baptist Church of Pineville. Dr. R. Houston Smith, pastor of the church and Rev. W. A. Curnow, pastor of Jackson Street Presbyterian Church, Alexandria, will perform the ceremony.

Attending the bride will be her cousins, Mrs. Joe W. Brown of Alexandria, as matron of honor and Miss Peggy McCoy, Alexandria, as bridesmaid. Grady H. Reed III of Carthage, Texas, will serve as best man for Mr. Dozier, his cousin.

The prospective Bridegroom is the grandson of Mrs. Chiles Cann Dozier, now of Monroe and the late Mr. Dozier of Farmerville, and of Stacia J. McCartney and the late Mrs. McCartney of Urania.

ROLLICKIN' ROBINS

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — Red pyracantha berries are being blamed for making robins drunk in this southern Arizona resort city. This is possible because the berries ferment and are an outside attraction to hungry robins. But John Schaefer, head of the Tucson Audubon Society, suspects the birds are not drunk all the time — merely over-stuffed.

Roman Culture Discussed For Fine Arts Club

The home of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Anspach, Edgewater Gardens, was scene of the April meeting of the Fine Arts Club Monday night.

Mrs. E. E. Lawson, vice-president, conducted the business meeting following which the program entitled, "Pots and Pans and Earrings and Spoons" was presented.

A paper was given by Mrs. W. J. Veazey on the culture of the Greeks and Romans one hundred years before the birth of Christ. Miss Cliffie Olmstead chose as her subject "The Arts and Culture of the Romans."

Following the program a dessert course was served by the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Anspach and Leon Hammonds. Others present were Mrs. Florence Albritton, Mrs. Kate Allison, John G. Cale, Mrs. J. Norman Coon, Miss Ladelle Duke of Homer; Mr. and Mrs. Everett Lawson, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Newman, Miss Cliffie Olmstead, Mrs. Eloise Stanhope and Mrs. W. J. Veazey.

MISS CLARA SUE DAY

Couple Sets Date For June Vows

Planning a June wedding are Miss Clara Sue Day and George Keith Abbott, whose engagement is announced by parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Day of Point. The future groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Abbott Jr. of Jonesboro.

Providence Baptist Church at Point will be scene of the ceremony on June 7 at 3 p.m. with Rev. Billy Carter officiating.

Attending the bride will be Miss Sandria Antley of Downsville as maid of honor and Miss Cynthia Day, Point, as bridesmaid. Robert Abbott of New Iberia will serve as best man and ushers will be Robert Day and Walter Abbott.

Grandparents of the bride-elect are Mrs. Robert Y. Kennedy and the late Mr. Kennedy and Mrs. George Carter and the late Bargie Day. Miss Day is a graudate of Downsville high school and was graduated in February, 1964 from Northeast Louisiana State College.

Mr. Abbott is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Abbott Sr. A graduate of Jonesboro-Hodge high school, he is now a senior at Northeast where he will graduate in June.

Following their marriage the couple will reside in Monroe.

Michael McKinley Named White Rose Of Sigma Tau

The event was the Northeast State Beta Nu chapter's "White Rose" formal, highlighted by the announcement of the College coed who will wear the "White Rose" title for the coming school year.

Miss Michael McKinley, sophomore elementary education major from Monroe, was crowned by the reigning Rose, Miss Jan Hallmark, also of Monroe. The new queen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. McKinley, was presented an arm bouquet of white roses and a trophy engraved with her name and title.

During the ceremonies the three candidates for the coveted honor were presented with their escorts. Miss Diane McCain of Winnsboro and Buddy Loftin; Miss Sharon Thigpen of DeRidder and Gerald Williams; and Miss McKinley and Billy Bryant.

Receiving at the dance were Sigma Tau Gamma President Bob Fava of Bastrop and Miss Jimmy Lou Gaines, John Taylor and Miss Hallmark.

Preceding the coronation ceremony, pledges and their dates were introduced by DeWayne Copeland, pledge class president. They were joined by actives and their dates, who were presented by President Bob Fava.

Following this feature, couples danced to the music of The Capris, orchestra from Alexandria. Theme for the occasion was set by floral decorations, accented by a white latticed nook with red climbing roses. Another attractive decor under a latticed canopy was a tiered arrangement of potted red and pink geraniums and begonias. White rosebud corsages worn by all dates completed the effect of spring time.

Attending were: John Clema and Barbara Borgkvist, John Taylor and Jan Hallmark, Bob Fava and Jimmie Lou Gaines, Rodney Nolan and Sylvia Smith, Charles McManhan and Carolyn DeBlieux, Ronald Sumter and Lyria Brannon, Thomas Frazier and Marylynn Sue Chapman, Richard Langlinais and Melanie McNatz. Why Grow Old

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Accessories can make a tremendous difference in the way a woman looks. Sometimes members of the fair sex fail to realize that the color, size and placement of these influence their appearance just as their makeup and hair styling do. They can be flattering or unflattering.

There is a sameness about this year's spring and summer suits. Most of them have the same little box jacket with braid or buttons or flap pockets. It is an attractive style and is becoming to most figures, but because the style is so universal this season, it may become monotonous.

According to one of New York City's leading fashion show stylists, an accessory, especially jewelry, is the prettiest way to battle the "uniform" look. However, this highly experienced executive warns that too many women spoil, rather than sparkle, their outfits by wearing the wrong accessories in the wrong place. A woman's skin tone and figure should also be considered.

Here are some of this expert's suggestions for choosing accessories which will flatter you and individualize your new outfit.

Necklaces: A bright strand of beads or pearls dresses up the neckline of a suit or dress, but you must watch the length. A long face and slim neck are flattered by a short strand, or several short strands of beads. A round or square face, or a short neck, needs a longer length of necklace for a more pleasing proportion.

If you have one of the new plunge neckline dresses don't spoil the whole effect by wearing a short strand of pearls. It confuses the lines. Wear a necklace only slightly shorter than your decolletage.

Since necklines are so close to the face, be sure to flatter your complexion too. Never wear red or purple beads if you have a ruddy complexion. If your skin is slightly sallow avoid amber. If it is very fair do not use black. The contrast is too harsh.

If your suit is trimmed with gold buttons, and more than half are this year, use pearls, gold or colored stones. Do not wear silver, copper or gunmetal.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Clothes to Fit Your Figure and Personality," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet number 54 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Hat Interest Is Revived

This spring has seen a revival of hat interest. Women who haven't worn more than a hair bow for years have been rushing out to buy hats.

But this new crowd of hat wearers has new ideas about hats. For instance, they ignored the tradition that the spring hat must be a mass of flowers. Preferred were shovel-brim white smooth straws, striped silk berets, airy cages of net lightly touched with flowers, big bretons in rough plaited straws.

All around New York, at the spring fashion luncheons in the hotels, hats are going easy on the flower theme. The accent is on shape and color, especially when the hat is big and brimmed, as many are. Favorite shades are white, turquoise, yellow and pink, especially pink, in every shade from cotton candy to a lush raspberry straw with a floppy brim.

Moment Musical Coterie Meets At Caldwells

The Moment Musical Coterie met in the home of Annie Laurie Caldwell on Bon Aire Drive with Shelley Fuller and Brenda Bell, co-hostesses. A social hour preceded the program during which time the hostesses served refreshments.

Following the business session the musical program included: Gavotte - Henkel by Carol Allen accompanied by Lane Allen; Concerto in C Major Kasschan by Annie Laurie Caldwell, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. James G. Caldwell; Skating-Culas by Leslie Faucett; Polish Dance - Kedera by Shelly Fuller; Sicilian - Schumann by Mary Hickman; Theme from Piano Concerto - Greig, by Rebo King; Barcarolle - Kulah, by Lynn Loflin; Military March - Schubert by Laura Lou Polen; Gretchen Dances - Stevens by Carol Salley.

In addition to performers, members present were Betty Bartlett, Lari Lue Bewick, Jeannie Frazer, Sally Kilpatrick, Suzanne Taylor, Lou Lemert, Anne Martin, Martha Maxwell, Becky Willey, Brenda and Debbie Hamilton, Cindy Williams, and guests were Lee Lenore Caldwell, Mrs. Caldwell, Mrs. Fuller and Lane Allen.

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

By MRS. JOHN TOLAR

Dr. John Wright, professor of horticulture at Louisiana Tech, Ruston, presented an interesting as well as beautiful program last Wednesday on the T.V. Fifth District Garden Center Program. The interest derived from his topic, "White Elephants" — meaning those containers that we all have on our shelves that are constantly being pushed back because they are hard to arrange flowers in.

Purposely Dr. Wright used this type container for his designs proving that these can be used in many ways and achieve that first and most important aim — "Beauty." It is so wonderful what a little gilt or gold spray paint will do to make our container more distinctive. Two identical "nautilus" ceramic pitchers in shades of light orange and yellow were sprayed with gold paint (lightly).

RICHER FINISH

PETAL SHAPED

A very ornate petal-shaped upright container made of light green ceramic served as the container for the fresh line material of one small stalk of banana plant containing three small leaves. Three white tulips were placed within the line as the only flowers used. The secret of using this container lies in capturing the line formation of the container and transmitting it into the design of the flowers or line materials. Thus — the banana stalk with the leaves resembled the leaf-shaped container-creating harmony between the container and plant material, forming a very pleasing effect.

If our container resembles a boat — make the design express this same feeling. One of the containers that Dr. Wright used was a boat shaped ceramic in tones of green into brown. Tall iris leaves (tiered) formed the line on the left side of the container. A smaller grouping of the iris leaves low to the right finished the lower part of the design's line. Rose colored anemones with black centers filled in this line on both sides. More were grouped together on the left with the tall foliage. A very interesting design with distinction that was pleasant to look at and study it's mood and meaning.

DISTINCTION

A tall green period-type vase was sprayed with soft gold paint to give it more distinction. Dr. Wright used many types of soft colored feminine-type flowers to form a massed oval design that could easily be named a French Rococo Period Design. Wedgewood blue Iris formed the outline for this design which was filled-in with groupings of small daffodils, white tulips, creamy yellow roses, narcissis and yellow - orange ranucules forming the center of interest.

a fan - shaped container was a clue to form a fan-shaped design. Iris foliage formed the fan shaped design. Within this line white tulips, white ranuculus, and yellow anemones were placed as filler flowers for this massed design.

The last design was created in a low green and tan irregular shaped bowl. Tall iris foliage looped to give strength and add interest to the line was placed as the main line material to one side in the bowl. One tall leaf was placed as the main primary line with these looped leaves curving gracefully at the tip.

PINK PEONIES

Light pink peonies were placed within this line, with the bud as the tallest placement. This particular peony (Marietta Sisson) is a double type, early bloomer, grown in the garden of Mr. and Mrs. K. M. Colby, Edgewater Gardens in Monroe. This design will last for quite a while since the peony can be enjoyed several days while it is opening. In using this type flower this should be considered as it will open into quite a large blossom as time passes. It is interesting to watch the different stages from bud to full flower. Each stage is lovely and enjoyable. Just give plenty of room for this expansion and keep in fresh water and cool place in the home. I am still enoying several blooms that came from this lovely garden several days ago.

I do hope this program inspired you to take out your "White Elephant" container, study it from all angles and then challenge yourself to make an outstanding design. Try it soon and thank Dr. Wright for inspiring you with his wonderful program.

Next Wednesday — The Sunset Garden Club of Ruston, will present the T.V. and Garden Center Program. Mrs. Paul Davidson is president of this club. — Be Watching —

Date to remember —April 28, the Newellton Garden Club will present it's annual Spring Flower Show. The theme is "Through the Garden Gate." It will be held at the American Legion Home. Time: 3 to 6 P.M. The public is cordially invited.

Some Sprays Cause More Apple Buds

Profs. L. J. Edgerton and M. B. Hoffman said that one compound — maleic hydrazide — increased the number of flower buds on McIntosh, Delicious and red - strain Northern Spy trees. They said that triiodobenzoic acid caused a significant increase in flower bud formation (for bloom the following year) when sprayed on mature Baldwin trees early in June.

Insects Really Have Seniority

Are insects a problem in your garden? You have lots of company.

Dr. E. H. Smith, entomologist at the New York State Agricultural Experiment Station, says insects are the most successful creatures on earth. He figures there are one million species, which mean they comprise about 80 per cent of the world's lower and higher animal population.

One reason for the insect's success, Smith related, is seniority. They have been on earth for 450 million years, long before man. Consequently, he said nature has had great opportunity to build a creature that can withstand all sorts of battles against its most aggressive competitor — man.

Elegance Is Brought To Kitchen

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newfeatures Writer

Elegance has hit the kitchen. Flour and sugar canisters have been put into cupboards and oil painting and wood carvings have gone to the walls.

SHADED BRASS

"I played down color in this kitchen except what is available in the accessories and the natural Belgian linen curtains," Mrs. Jablow explains.

The kitchen, an old-fashioned one, has the much coveted high ceiling and white wall tiles found in apartment buildings of long ago. It has a pantry, something every woman should have, but usually only available in older homes and apartments, she says.

"A pantry with additional sinks and drainboards is a blessing, handy for all sorts of jobs from hand laundry to organizing floral arrangements. It's the ideal place to prepare food for parties. The modern home needs a pantry more than any other area particularly for storage needs," she says.

DESIGNS

Mrs. Jablow designs furniture and accessories, a good deal of it from stainless steel. So when she saw the stainless steel sinks, vintage 1929, in this apartment, she decided to use the metal in other areas, highlighting it with the accessories from abroad.

METAL BASE

"Wood lends a particular kind of softness to this metal, enhancing it all the more," she says.

ELEGANT OLD-FASHIONED kitchen was fixed up for her own apartment by designer Evelyn Jablow. She used stainless steel sinks and cabinets, put objects of art on the tiled walls and hung an old English lighting fixture from the ceiling.

AFTER CERAMIC TILE has been installed, epoxy grout is spread over the face and pushed into the joints, followed by a washing with a cloth or sponge to remove the excess.

Ceramic Tile Moves To Kitchen

AP Newsfeatures

Ceramic tile has moved into the kitchen as a counter-top work surface. New epoxy tile adhesives and grouts have made it easier to install the tile, as well as provide resistance to heat, chemicals and stains.

The tiles can be installed over ¾-inch exterior grade plywood or over the previous surface as long as it is solidly attached. If plywood is used, ¼-inch gaps should be left between the sheets. These gaps are filled with epoxy setting material to insure that there is no shifting at a later time. The setting material also is spread on the plywood in a ⅛-inch coat and the tile pressed firmly into it.

The mortar should be allowed to set overnight, after which epoxy grouting material is spread on the face of the tiles and into the joints with a trowel or a putty knife with a wide blade. The surplus epoxy is washed off the face of the tiles and off the trowel or knife with warm water.

Actually, there are two types of epoxy mortar, one known as AAR-11, the other as UG-11. Either can be used for both setting the tiles and for grouting, the AAR-11 is preferred for the setting, UG-11 for the grouting.

They are made by different manufacturers in different brands, so it's a good idea to check the label for precise instructions on its use. No matter what kind you get, it will come into part-part packages, with the smaller unit being added to the larger unit and stirred in just prior to using.

Ceramic mosaic tile comes in square and rectangular shapes either one inch or two inches in size. Extra-duty glazed tile usually is 4¼ inches square. Either can be used on kitchen countertops and back-splash units. Various colors and designs are available.

ON THE HOUSE

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

The physical structure of plywood makes it an especially desirable material for projects which require large unbroken surfaces. Plywood sheets measuring 4 feet by 8 feet are standard in all lumber yards. Many dealers carry panels in smaller sizes and some will make cuts to exact specifications.

When you are purchasing a 4 by 8 sheet and doing your own cutting — which is the most economical method — spend a little extra time in laying out the work. You will discover very often that all the pieces for your project can be cut out of a single panel provided you plan the cuts properly. In all woodworking, there is a certain amount of waste. But this waste can be kept to a minimum if you do not make the cuts in a catch-as - catch - can fashion. As any experienced carpenter will tell you, "measure twice and cut once." And don't forget to allow space for saw kerfs between adjacent pieces.

In doing the cutting, keep the good side of the plywood facing up if you are using a handsaw, a table saw or a radial saw. If you are using a portable power saw, the cutting is done with the good side face down. This advice is designed to prevent the best side of the plywood from splintering as the saw goes through it. But a little splintering may occur with a handsaw until you get the knack of working with plywood. Until that time, the splintering can be reduced by placing a piece of scrap lumber under the scribed line and sawing both together.

Remember that plywood which will be used outdoors should be the exterior type. It is made with a special adhesive that holds the plys together in all kinds of weather. Plywood can be purchased either in softwoods or hardwoods. The softwoods include fir, pine, redwood and cedar. The hardwoods include birch, maple, oak, cherry, walnut, mahogany and beech. You will find that not all dealers carry all kinds, but if you want a special wood which your dealer does not have in stock, he should be able to get it for you fairly quickly. The big seller is fir plywood, because it is the most plentiful and the cheapest. It has a wild grain that is a little tricky to finish, but which can be conquered by using one of the special sealers made especially for this type of wood.

Here's The Answer

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

QUESTION: I am getting ready to do a lot of painting, both inside and outside the house. I have to buy some paint brushes. Can you give me some advice?

ANSWER: The best advise is to get quality brushes, not only because they will last longer, but because they will do a better job right from the start. More specifically, a brush to be used for exterior work should be from 3 to 6 inches; one for use on interior walls and ceilings should be 3 or 4 inches wide; one for furniture and small surfaces should be between one and one half and 3 inches; and one for window sashs and similar areas should be the one-inch sash type. Always work from the dry section toward the section you have just painted. On exterior surfaces, the paint must be worked in. On flat interior surfaces, use a kind of fanning stroke. On furniture or when using enamel, flow the paint on. There are exceptions to all of this, especially if you are using a special type of paint. That's why, no matter what you read here and anywhere else, the first thing you should do before starting a paint job is to read the instructions on the label carefully.

Containers Secondary To Flowers

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

A flying dutchman came to our house by automobile, carrying a big box of spring flowers. Dick Schuyt of Haarlem, Holland was grounded by a snowstorm on a tour taking him half way across this country.

Schuyt is an internationally known floral arranger and designer who grew up in Holland's bulb district. He has created flower show displays in many countries.

So when Dick walked through our door and handed the lady of the house the flowers, she handed them right back and subtly, like an elephant in a greenhouse, set two bowls (one a converted bomb sight we acquired long ago) on the table.

The tall, handsome Dutchman, to whom "the flowers come first," had a fine chance to voice his theories.

NOT SECONDARY

The flowers, he says, "never play a secondary role to the containers to the subordinate plant material, to the place where the exhibit is being held or even to an abstract design that exists in my head."

"I never subject flowers to an arbitrary design, but always let the design glorify the flowers," he said trimming the stems of his gift of bright red tulips and gay daffodils with a sharp knife.

"There is a tendency to allow flowers to be overwhelmed by secondary considerations—a preconceived formula, artificial accessories, unnatural bouquets," he said. "To me this is a mistake, and this is what I mean when I say flowers come first."

He intends his arrangements to glorify the neutral beauty of the flowers.

SUGGESTS

Schuyt suggests that before starting an arrangement, the occasion and situation be considered. This, he says, facilitates ordering the appropriate flowers to create a suitable design.

Buy only fresh flowers. Cut the stems at an angle with a sharp knife, rewrap in florist's or waxed paper, stand them upright in cold water for an hour. Do not use newspaper as the print may spot foliage and blossoms.

Keep on hand a variety of pin holders, oasis blocks, chicken wire and assorted simple containers of various heights.

The intended use of the arrangement should determine the type of container. For pedestals, where height is desirable, use a tall vase. A shallow container will not block the view across the dining table. Simple containers will not detract attention from the flowers.

DESIGN USE

Let the design glorify the flowers. Do not mix incongruous flowers. Use natural materials—wood, stone, foliage — and avoid artificial accessories. Driftwood has little to do with tulips but flowering cherry branches and tulips together express spring. Pine cones are fine for Christmas but use care in combining them with iris or tulip arrangements.

Some combinations Schuyt enjoys include tulips with iris or azaleas or lilacs. Daffodils and Lilacs; tulips, iris or daffodis with forsythia; cherry, pussy willows, tulips and rhododendron.

AVOID

Avoid using many different flowers in one arrangement.

Remember that the design "exists to call attention to the essential qualities of the flowers," he said. "Therefore, I find it best to use no more than two or three different kinds of flowers that naturally bloom in the same season."

Repot House Plants Now

By AUDREY H. DAWSON

April is an ideal month to repot house plants. A good soil mixture is five parts garden loam soil, four parts peat moss or leaf mold, and one part builders' sand. Repot plants in a pot of least one size greater than the one in which they previously grew.

After months of confinement in areas that are not usually favorable for plant growth, move your house plants to porches, beneath large shade trees, or other areas out - of - doors where more favorable conditions are present. Sink pots in beds if possible to conserve moisture. Most house plants are very tender, so avoid placing them in areas where they get full sunlight or in windy areas.

April is the month to take definite steps to enrich the landscape by adding color. Bedding plants are available at nurseries and garden centers. Plants to set out may include: Petunia, hibiscus, caladium bulbs, daisy, salvia, geranium, elephant ear, lantana, ageratum, coleus.

CLOTHING MEETING

If you, Mrs. Homemaker, want to get the newest information on clothing construction techniques, come to the meeting on Tuesday, at 9:30-11:30 A.M. at the Agricultural Building in West Monroe. If you want to learn the easy way to set in a sleeve without gathers or an easy way to put in a zipper, easy way to make a bound buttonhole and other new ideas come to this meeting. The nursery will be open if you wish to leave your children. The meeting is open to all homemakers of Ouachita Parish.

FROZEN MEATS

Most frozen meats may be cooked either with or without previous thawing. But do allow extra cooking time for meats not thawed first. Large frozen roasts, for example may take as much as 1½ times as long to cook as unfrozen cuts of the same weight and shape. Our specialists suggest that you, Mrs. Homemaker, put the meat in the refrigerator to thaw it. Leave the meat in its original wrapping while it thaws to prevent drying. For the best quality, cook thawed meat immediately.

LIFE OF A CAR

Some people get a new car every time a new model comes out, but the average American hangs onto his auto for several years. A man driver will probably keep a new car six years and if he bought a used one he will keep it slightly less than four years. A woman will trade or sell a new car after seven years and will keep a used car almost five years.

A person's age also affects how long he drives a car. Young people tend to turn in their car more quickly than the elderly. Men between 25-39 keep new cars an average of 5.4 years, used cars 3.4 years. Those between 40 and 59 aren't so anxious to change. They will drive new cars 5.8 years and used cars 4.3 years. Older men, 60 and up, hold onto a new car an average of 7.3 years, a used car 6.4 years according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture family economists.

WHERE MONEY GOES

Are you, Mrs. Homemaker, curious as to how much money you spend for food for your family? A recent study gives a breakdown for an average group of consumers as to "Where the money goes". It indicates that, for every dollar spent on groceries, dry groceries account for 29 cents, followed by the meat department which takes 23 cents of the dollar. This left less than 50 cents to be spent as follows — non foods, 19 cents, produce, 10 cents, dairy, 8 cents, baked goods, 7 cents, and frozen foods, 4 cents.

The report also showed that $3.83 out of each $20. spent in the grocery store went in the non-foods category. The largest items in this group were tobacco products. The report showed that the American public spent more money in grocery stores for pet foods than baby foods. How about you, Mrs. Homemaker, how much health do you buy at the grocery store?

POWDERED GRAPEFRUIT JUICE

If you, Mrs. Homemaker, are interested in keeping up with the new in foods, you will be interested in knowing that grapefruit juice will soon be on the market in powdered form. It is still in the experimental stages, but about to be market tested. It dissolves easily in water and has a good fresh flavor. The new product was developed by U.S. Department of Agriculture research and Florida Citrus Commission.

Trees Need Food, Light

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

Dogwood trees that failed to bloom this year need feeding or more sun or both. Where other trees are crowding them out, some of the trees must be removed. If tall trees are shading them too much, some of the lower limbs of the shade trees may be removed to the advantage of the dogwoods. In any case, both shade trees and dogwoods should be fed every year.

Old dogwood trees may have circulation trouble. There may be borers in them, too, though young trees are also subject to borers. One would never think that a soft worm with a big jaw could even be called such a formidable name as "borer." From listening to the powerful click of the pine borer, however, we know that those jaws are capable of cutting wood like a saw.

HATCHING

Borers hatch out from eggs laid in cracks in the bark of trees or in places where the wood has been exposed underneath the bark. The commonest way in which borers get started in dogwoods is through barked areas where lawn mowers have damaged the trees. Nobody really likes to get down on hands and knees and cut grass around the bases of trees, but that is the only way to do it.

Small pieces of flagstone can be laid in a circle at the bottom of trees, but one has to be sure that the stones do not cut into the tree as they grow.

NEW SHOOTS

As we have noted in the column before, old dogwood trees with bad circulation will send out suckers from their roots. The old trunk will eventually die, but one of the new shoots should be chosen and allowed to grow into a new tree. As soon as you see that the old trunk of a dogwood is dying, let one of the shoots develop. In three to five years, you will have a new tree and can cut away the old one.

In areas that have been burned over or where all the trees have been cut, the dogwoods immediately send up dozens of shoots from the remaining roots. It is almost impossible to kill dogwood roots, so you need not despair if something happens to your trees; they will almost surely send up new shoots from their roots. All the experts on borers tell us that borers have a difficult time in a really growing tree. It is in starving, bruised and injured trees that one finds the most borer trouble.

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

By MRS. JOHN TOLAR

Dr. John Wright, professor of horticulture at Louisiana Tech, Ruston, presented an interesting as well as beautiful program last Wednesday on the T.V. Fifth District Garden Center Program. The interest derived from his topic, "White Elephants" — meaning those containers that we all have on our shelves that are constantly being pushed back because they are hard to arrange flowers in.

Purposely Dr. Wright used this type container for his designs proving that these can be used in many ways and achieve that first and most important aim — "Beauty." It is so wonderful what a little gilt or gold spray paint will do to make our container more distinctive. Two identical "nautilus" ceramic pitchers in shades of light orange and yellow were sprayed with gold paint (lightly).

RICHER FINISH

PETAL SHAPED

A very ornate petal-shaped upright container made of light green ceramic served as the container for the fresh line material of one small stalk of banana plant containing three small leaves. Three white tulips were placed within the line as the only flowers used. The secret of using this container lies in capturing the line formation of the container and transmitting it into the design of the flowers or line materials. Thus — the banana stalk with the leaves resembled the leaf-shaped container-creating harmony between the container and plant material, forming a very pleasing effect.

If our container resembles a boat — make the design express this same feeling. One of the containers that Dr. Wright used was a boat shaped ceramic in tones of green into brown. Tall iris leaves (tiered) formed the line on the left side of the container. A smaller grouping of the iris leaves low to the right finished the lower part of the design's line. Rose colored anemones with black centers filled in this line on both sides. More were grouped together on the left with the tall foliage. A very interesting design with distinction that was pleasant to look at and study it's mood and meaning.

DISTINCTION

A tall green period-type vase was sprayed with soft gold paint to give it more distinction. Dr. Wright used many types of soft colored feminine-type flowers to form a massed oval design that could easily be named a French Rococo Period Design. Wedgewood blue Iris formed the outline for this design which was filled-in with groupings of small daffodils, white tulips, creamy yellow roses, narcissis and yellow - orange ranucules forming the center of interest.

a fan - shaped container was a clue to form a fan-shaped design. Iris foliage formed the fan shaped design. Within this line white tulips, white ranuculus, and yellow anemones were placed as filler flowers for this massed design.

The last design was created in a low green and tan irregular shaped bowl. Tall iris foliage looped to give strength and add interest to the line was placed as the main line material to one side in the bowl. One tall leaf was placed as the main primary line with these looped leaves curving gracefully at the tip.

PINK PEONIES

Light pink peonies were placed within this line, with the bud as the tallest placement. This particular peony (Marietta Sisson) is a double type, early bloomer, grown in the garden of Mr. and Mrs. K. M. Colby, Edgewater Gardens in Monroe. This design will last for quite a while since the peony can be enjoyed several days while it is opening. In using this type flower this should be considered as it will open into quite a large blossom as time passes. It is interesting to watch the different stages from bud to full flower. Each stage is lovely and enjoyable. Just give plenty of room for this expansion and keep in fresh water and cool place in the home. I am still enoying several blooms that came from this lovely garden several days ago.

I do hope this program inspired you to take out your "White Elephant" container, study it from all angles and then challenge yourself to make an outstanding design. Try it soon and thank Dr. Wright for inspiring you with his wonderful program.

Next Wednesday — The Sunset Garden Club of Ruston, will present the T.V. and Garden Center Program. Mrs. Paul Davidson is president of this club. — Be Watching —

Date to remember —April 28, the Newellton Garden Club will present it's annual Spring Flower Show. The theme is "Through the Garden Gate." It will be held at the American Legion Home. Time: 3 to 6 P.M. The public is cordially invited.

Some Sprays Cause More Apple Buds

Profs. L. J. Edgerton and M. B. Hoffman said that one compound — maleic hydrazide — increased the number of flower buds on McIntosh, Delicious and red - strain Northern Spy trees. They said that triiodobenzoic acid caused a significant increase in flower bud formation (for bloom the following year) when sprayed on mature Baldwin trees early in June.

Insects Really Have Seniority

Are insects a problem in your garden? You have lots of company.

Dr. E. H. Smith, entomologist at the New York State Agricultural Experiment Station, says insects are the most successful creatures on earth. He figures there are one million species, which mean they comprise about 80 per cent of the world's lower and higher animal population.

One reason for the insect's success, Smith related, is seniority. They have been on earth for 450 million years, long before man. Consequently, he said nature has had great opportunity to build a creature that can withstand all sorts of battles against its most aggressive competitor — man.

Elegance Is Brought To Kitchen

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newfeatures Writer

Elegance has hit the kitchen. Flour and sugar canisters have been put into cupboards and oil painting and wood carvings have gone to the walls.

SHADED BRASS

"I played down color in this kitchen except what is available in the accessories and the natural Belgian linen curtains," Mrs. Jablow explains.

The kitchen, an old-fashioned one, has the much coveted high ceiling and white wall tiles found in apartment buildings of long ago. It has a pantry, something every woman should have, but usually only available in older homes and apartments, she says.

"A pantry with additional sinks and drainboards is a blessing, handy for all sorts of jobs from hand laundry to organizing floral arrangements. It's the ideal place to prepare food for parties. The modern home needs a pantry more than any other area particularly for storage needs," she says.

DESIGNS

Mrs. Jablow designs furniture and accessories, a good deal of it from stainless steel. So when she saw the stainless steel sinks, vintage 1929, in this apartment, she decided to use the metal in other areas, highlighting it with the accessories from abroad.

METAL BASE

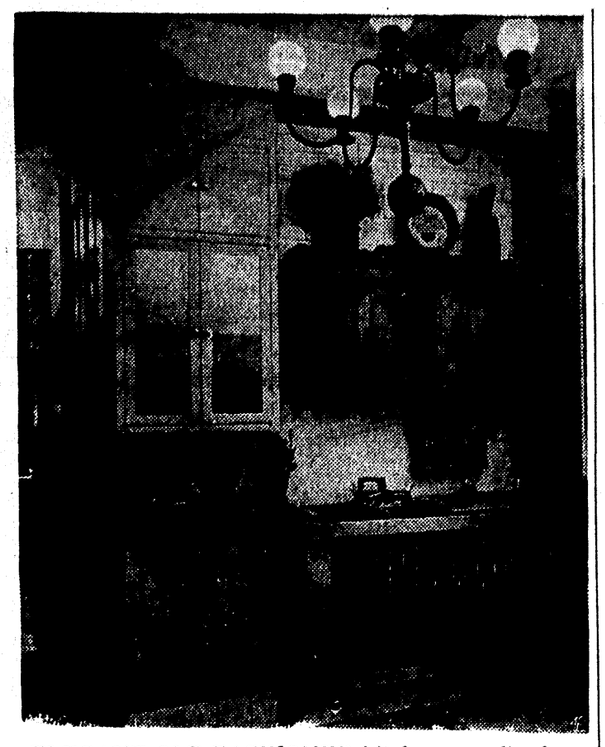
"Wood lends a particular kind of softness to this metal, enhancing it all the more," she says.



ELEGANT OLD-FASHIONED kitchen was fixed up for her own apartment by designer Evelyn Jablow. She used stainless steel sinks and cabinets, put objects of art on the tiled walls and hung an old English lighting fixture from the ceiling.

AFTER CERAMIC TILE has been installed, epoxy grout is spread over the face and pushed into the joints, followed by a washing with a cloth or sponge to remove the excess.

Ceramic Tile Moves To Kitchen

AP Newsfeatures

Ceramic tile has moved into the kitchen as a countertop work surface. New epoxy tile adhesives and grouts have made it easier to install the tile, as well as provide resistance to heat, chemicals and stains.

The tiles can be installed over ¾-inch exterior grade plywood or over the previous surface as long as it is solidly attached. If plywood is used, ¼-inch gaps should be left between the sheets. These gaps are filled with epoxy setting material to insure that there is no shifting at a later time. The setting material also is spread on the plywood in a ⅛-inch coat and the tile pressed firmly into it.

The mortar should be allowed to set overnight, after which epoxy grouting material is spread on the face of the tiles and into the joints with a trowel or a putty knife with a wide blade. The surplus epoxy is washed off the face of the tiles and off the trowel or knife with warm water.

Actually, there are two types of epoxy mortar, one known as AAR-11, the other as UG-11. Either can be used for both setting the tiles and for grouting, the AAR-11 is preferred for the setting, UG-11 for the grouting.

They are made by different manufacturers in different brands, so it's a good idea to check the label for precise instructions on its use. No matter what kind you get, it will come into part-part packages, with the smaller unit being added to the larger unit and stirred in just prior to using.

Ceramic mosaic tile comes in square and rectangular shapes either one inch or two inches in size. Extra-duty glazed tile usually is 4¼ inches square. Either can be used on kitchen countertops and back-splash units. Various colors and designs are available.

ON THE HOUSE

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

The physical structure of plywood makes it an especially desirable material for projects which require large unbroken surfaces. Plywood sheets measuring 4 feet by 8 feet are standard in all lumber yards. Many dealers carry panels in smaller sizes and some will make cuts to exact specifications.

When you are purchasing a 4 by 8 sheet and doing your own cutting — which is the most economical method — spend a little extra time in laying out the work. You will discover very often that all the pieces for your project can be cut out of a single panel provided you plan the cuts properly. In all woodworking, there is a certain amount of waste. But this waste can be kept to a minimum if you do not make the cuts in a catch-as - catch - can fashion. As any experienced carpenter will tell you, "measure twice and cut once." And don't forget to allow space for saw kerfs between adjacent pieces.

In doing the cutting, keep the good side of the plywood facing up if you are using a handsaw, a table saw or a radial saw. If you are using a portable power saw, the cutting is done with the good side face down. This advice is designed to prevent the best side of the plywood from splintering as the saw goes through it. But a little splintering may occur with a handsaw until you get the knack of working with plywood. Until that time, the splintering can be reduced by placing a piece of scrap lumber under the scribed line and sawing both together.

Remember that plywood which will be used outdoors should be the exterior type. It is made with a special adhesive that holds the plys together in all kinds of weather. Plywood can be purchased either in softwoods or hardwoods. The softwoods include fir, pine, redwood and cedar. The hardwoods include birch, maple, oak, cherry, walnut, mahogany and beech. You will find that not all dealers carry all kinds, but if you want a special wood which your dealer does not have in stock, he should be able to get it for you fairly quickly. The big seller is fir plywood, because it is the most plentiful and the cheapest. It has a wild grain that is a little tricky to finish, but which can be conquered by using one of the special sealers made especially for this type of wood.

Here's The Answer

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

QUESTION: I am getting ready to do a lot of painting, both inside and outside the house. I have to buy some paint brushes. Can you give me some advice?

ANSWER: The best advise is to get quality brushes, not only because they will last longer, but because they will do a better job right from the start. More specifically, a brush to be used for exterior work should be from 3 to 6 inches; one for use on interior walls and ceilings should be 3 or 4 inches wide; one for furniture and small surfaces should be between one and one half and 3 inches; and one for window sashs and similar areas should be the one-inch sash type. Always work from the dry section toward the section you have just painted. On exterior surfaces, the paint must be worked in. On flat interior surfaces, use a kind of fanning stroke. On furniture or when using enamel, flow the paint on. There are exceptions to all of this, especially if you are using a special type of paint. That's why, no matter what you read here and anywhere else, the first thing you should do before starting a paint job is to read the instructions on the label carefully.

Containers Secondary To Flowers

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

A flying dutchman came to our house by automobile, carrying a big box of spring flowers. Dick Schuyt of Haarlem, Holland was grounded by a snowstorm on a tour taking him half way across this country.

Schuyt is an internationally known floral arranger and designer who grew up in Holland's bulb district. He has created flower show displays in many countries.

So when Dick walked through our door and handed the lady of the house the flowers, she handed them right back and subtly, like an elephant in a greenhouse, set two bowls (one a converted bomb sight we acquired long ago) on the table.

The tall, handsome Dutchman, to whom "the flowers come first," had a fine chance to voice his theories.

NOT SECONDARY

The flowers, he says, "never play a secondary role to the containers to the subordinate plant material, to the place where the exhibit is being held or even to an abstract design that exists in my head."

"I never subject flowers to an arbitrary design, but always let the design glorify the flowers," he said trimming the stems of his gift of bright red tulips and gay daffodils with a sharp knife.

"There is a tendency to allow flowers to be overwhelmed by secondary considerations—a preconceived formula, artificial accessories, unnatural bouquets," he said. "To me this is a mistake, and this is what I mean when I say flowers come first."

He intends his arrangements to glorify the nautral beauty of the flowers.

SUGGESTS

Schuyt suggests that before starting an arrangement, the occasion and situation be considered. This, he says, facilitates ordering the appropriate flowers to create a suitable design.

Buy only fresh flowers. Cut the stems at an angle with a sharp knife, rewrap in florist's or waxed paper, stand them upright in cold water for an hour. Do not use newspaper as the print may spot foliage and blossoms.

Keep on hand a variety of pin holders, oasis blocks, chicken wire and assorted simple containers of various heights.

The intended use of the arrangement should determine the type of container. For pedestals, where height is desirable, use a tall vase. A shallow container will not block the view across the dining table. Simple containers will not detract attention from the flowers.

DESIGN USE

Let the design glorify the flowers. Do not mix incongruous flowers. Use natural materials—wood, stone, foliage — and avoid artificial accessories. Driftwood has little to do with tulips but flowering cherry branches and tulips together express spring. Pine cones are fine for Christmas but use care in combining them with iris or tulip arrangements.

AVOID

Avoid using many different flowers in one arrangement.

Remember that the design "exists to call attention to the essential qualities of the flowers," he said. "Therefore, I find it best to use no more than two or three different kinds of flowers that naturally bloom in the same season."

As soon as you see that the old trunk of a dogwood is dying, let one of the shoots develop. In three to five years, you will have a new tree and can cut away the old one.

In areas that have been burned over or where all the trees have been cut, the dogwoods immediately send up dozens of shoots from the remaining roots. It is almost impossible to kill dogwood roots, so you need not despair if something happens to your trees; they will almost surely send up new shoots from their roots. All the experts on borers tell us that borers have a difficult time in a really growing tree. It is in starving, bruised and injured trees that one finds the most borer trouble.

Reports On Business Profits Are Glowing

By ROGER LANE
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A rich copper discovery, glowing business profit reports and new feats by the hustling auto industry sparked the fast-stepping economy during the week.

Climbs in the gross national product, nonfarm jobs and construction spending in recent periods reinforced general optimism.

President Johnson announced that the gross product, which measures the over-all output of goods and services, rose to an annual rate of $608.5 billion in the first quarter, up $8.5 billion from the preceding quarter.

The accompanying job gains, he said, showed "real progress in cutting down unemployment," now at a rate of 5.4 per cent.

The President coupled his appraisal of progress in the economy with word that he was bearing down heavily to dispel a menace to its continuation, the threat of a nationwide railroad strike.

Johnson said "I hope and pray" that the crisis would be erased by the week's end—even though rail management and union bargainers meeting night and day in the White House are operating under a strike truce running through next Friday.

He obviously was giving himself some leeway in the event the parties couldn't voluntarily agree.

Steel production, climbing steadily since the first of the year, leveled off on a very high plane, an annual output rate of 128 million tons, and retail sales dipped 1 per cent in March to $21.1 billion. Neither was regarded as a very disturbing development.

The minerals discovery in Ontario, Canada, near Timmins, about 350 miles northwest of Toronto, finally was confirmed by Texas Gulf Sulphur Co. after persisting and rising reports.

Texas Gulf, holding about 70 per cent of mineral rights in Kidd Township, where the discovery was made, said preliminary data indicated copper, zinc and silver ore reserves of more than 25 million tons.

Some of the rich ore lay only 20 or 25 feet below ground, it was reported, promising relatively easy and cheap recovery by the open pit method of mining.

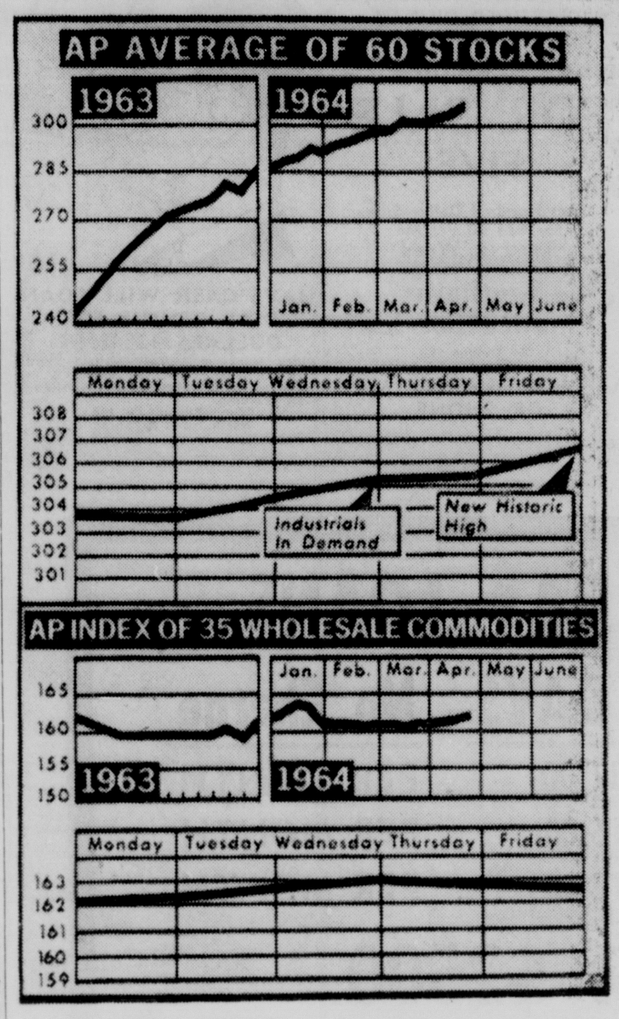
The auto picture, long lustrous, was brightened by a weekly production high for 1964, and all-time record sales in the first 10 days of April.

The early April dealer sales mark was 4 per cent ahead of a year ago and eclipsed the comparable 1955 peak performance.

A rapidly swelling flow of earnings reports on the January-March quarter was clogged with statements of profit gains. Aluminum Co. of America said profits were up 15 per cent. International Business Machines showed a 50 per cent gain, Monsanto Chemical a rise of over 85 per cent, General Telephone & Telegraph a jump of about 15 per cent.



ASSOCIATED PRESS average of 60 stocks reached a new historic high when it closed Friday at 306.7 from 303.9 a week earlier. This was the third straight weekly rise in the barometer. Led by livestock, the Commodity Index moved higher for the third week in a row, closing Friday at 162.7 from 162.1 in the preceding period. (AP Wirephoto)

Stocks Climb To New Highs During Week

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market last week climbed to new records in the popular averages amid increasing signs of speculative activity.

One stock, Texas Gulf Sulphur, dominated trading a good deal of the time. It ran up a weekly volume of more than a million shares and scored a net gain of 10⅛ at 40¼.

Texas Gulf's discovery of a rich lode of copper, silver and zinc, near Timmins, Ontario, prompted a turbulent rush on the Toronto Stock Exchange to buy stocks with nearby properties. On the New York Exchange, the discovery brought gains to Barber Oil, which owns 300,000 shares of Texas Gulf, and to Curtis Publishing, which owns land in the vicinity, but there was no wholesale rush as in Toronto.

In fact, most of the week the general tenor on the big board was one of caution, even as the averages marched to new highs day after day. The list was going through more of its "self-corrective" procedure characterized by profit taking in recent gainers and buying of neglected issues.

On the American Stock Exchange, meanwhile, the percentage gain of one low-priced stock put even Texas Gulf's rise to shame. This was Tel-a-sign, which in one week made a rise of nearly 200 per cent as it advanced 2¼ points to a closing price of 3½.

On the big board, gainers outnumbered losers by 690 to 655 of the 1,524 issues traded.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 2.8 to 306.7, for its third straight weekly advance.

NINE WELLS COMPLETED

Oil, Gas Activity Gains Past Week

Activity nudged moderately higher last week in the Monroe Oil & Gas District when a total of nine wells were completed in six of the district's 15 northeast Louisiana parishes. One well also was recompleted in Catahoula Parish.

District Manager Duncan S. Cook's weekly report, just released by the Monroe minerals division office of the Louisiana Conservation Commission, showed the finals in Ouachita and Catahoula Parishes, which had two each, and Concordia, Rapides, Tensas and Union, all with one each.

Area drillers, meanwhile, were drilling or testing at 22 active sites in 10 of the 15 parishes. Cook's breakdown recorded most of the activity in LaSalle Parish with seven such rigs, followed by Tensas with four and Concordia with three.

Catahoula Parish had two active rigs, while Avoyelles, Caldwell, Franklin, Ouachita, Rapides and Union reported one each.

Totals on new activity rose slightly over the preceding week, with the new report showing 13 fresh stakings in five parishes — LaSalle and Union Parishes, four each, Caldwell and Tensas with two each and Concordia with one.

The Catahoula recompletion was in the Tew Lake Field, section 26-9-6E, and was H. A. Harper's Robert Wiley Ut. No. 1, recompleted at 4305 feet.

Meantime, only one well was plugged and abandoned during the week, leaving the total on inactive sites at 62.

TOUR OIL REFINERY

Twenty-nine students from Neville High School, Monroe, visited the Lion Oil refinery at El Dorado, Ark., Friday. They saw more than 100 petroleum products being made in the various manufacturing units of the 35,000-barrel-per-day plant.

The group was led by Charles Kulcke, biology teacher and sponsor of the Science Club. Max Moody, refinery manager, greeted the club at the plant recreation hall where H. H. Shugart, chemist, gave an oral preview of what they were to see. In the afternoon, the group toured another Monsanto facility, the El Dorado Chemical Plant.

NAMED DIRECTOR

Frank W. Hulse, President of Southern Airways, Inc., announced that G. Frank Purvis, Jr. of New Orleans has been selected to serve on the airline company's board of directors.

A native of Rayville, Louisiana, Purvis was educated at Rayville High School and Kemper Military School. He received an Associate in Arts degree in 1932, and in 1935 received his L.L.B. degree from the Louisiana State University Law School.

APPOINTED MANAGER

Gordon A. Cain, Houston, Tex. has been apointed general manager of Continental Oil Company's petrochemical department, with headquarters in Houston, it was announced Saturday by L. F. McCollum, president. He will succeed the late E. R. Baker.

Since 1955, Cain, a native of Rayville, has been vice president of Petro-Tex Chemical Corporation, Houston, manufacturers of butadiene for rubber, alkylate for high octane gasoline, and other petrochemical products. Petro-Tex is owned jointly by Tennessee Gas Corporation and FMC Corporation.

PLANT DEDICATION

The formal dedication of AMF Beaird's new manufacturing plant in Shreveport, Louisiana is scheduled for 9:30 a.m., Saturday, May 2, it was announced Saturday by the firm's president, John L. Tullis. Built in Shreveport's Slack Industrial Park at a cost of $9.2 million, the new facility is rated as one of the largest and most modern heavy metal fabrication plants in the Southwest.

Oil Industry '64 Outlook Still Bright

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Stockholders of most major oil companies are being advised the industry's prospects for 1964 are good.

Most of the annual financial reports being mailed to stockholders are optimistic but warn of continued sharp competition and depressed products prices.

"Prospects for the petroleum industry in 1964 are generally good, even with perennial difficulties with costs, prices and regulations. Even though prices for crude oil and refined products continue under pressure. . . record levels in industry operations, along with further gains in earnings, appear likely."

Socony Mobil Oil Co. emphasized its forecast of a good year by saying it has earmarked a record $475 million for 1964 capital and exploration expenditures.

Texaco Inc. said free world demand for petroleum in 1964 should rise about six per cent—from two to three per cent in the United States and eight to 10 per cent in other areas.

The Phillips Petroleum Co. said expanding highway systems, trends to suburban living, increasing pleasure travel, and a rising general economy should cause 1963's strong demand for gasoline to continue.

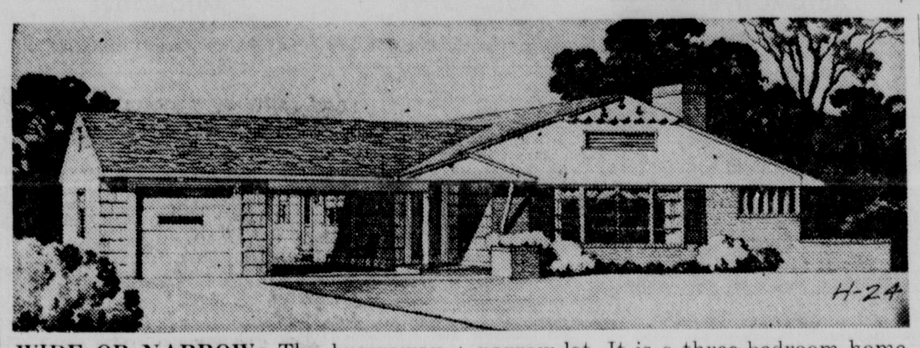
"At Gulf's 1963 level of operations in the United States alone, one-half cent a gallon in the price of gasoline is equivalent to more than $24 million a year in operating revenues," the report said.

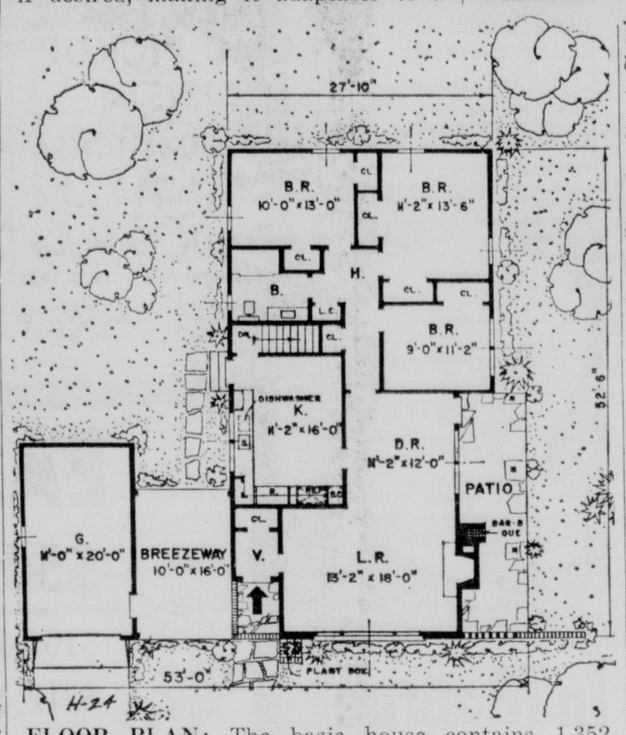
Reports Make 'Beans Bearish

CHICAGO (AP) — Prices in the grain futures market were influenced almost entirely last week by reports from Washington which affected essentially only two commodities on the Board of Trade.

The first report was an official one which listed total stocks of the various commodities still remaining on farms on April 1. Chief interest in that report was the available supply of soybeans.



WIDE OR NARROW: The breezeway and garage could be left off this house if desired, making it adaptable to a narrow lot. It is a three-bedroom home with full basement. The architect is William G. Chirgotis.



FLOOR PLAN: The basic house contains 1,352 square feet of living area. If the breezeway and garage were left off, the house would be less than 31-feet wide including the side patio—narrow enough for a 50-foot lot in many cities.

HOUSE OF THE WEEK

Ranch Home Can Be Tailored To Lot

By JULES LOH

No one can deny the convenience of one-level living. Ranch style homes not only are up to date in appearance but are in keeping with modern living trends.

Trouble is, most of them require such wide lots that their prices can be sky high, land costs being what they are nowadays.

Today's House of the Week was designed by architect William G. Chirgotis to solve this vexing problem. It is design H-24 in the weekly series.

The house is so constructed that you can tailor it to suit your own lot — even if it's as narrow as 50 feet. By leaving off the garage and breezeway (the garage can be placed in the rear) the width of the house is less than 31 feet.

Even if the lot size is large enough to accommodate the garage and breezeway they can be left off when the house is built and added later when the budget permits.

The house contains a basic living area of 1,352 square feet in over-all dimensions, including the garage and breezeway, of 53' wide by 52'6" deep.

Within this tidy perimeter are three bedrooms, bath, living room, dining room and a kitchen large enough for a brrakfast table. There is a full basement with laundry facilities and, as an especially nice touch, a covered side patio with a built-in barbecue.

The exterior features a low-pitched double gable, brick veneer, hand split cedar shingles and a decorative brick planter at t he attractive covered entry. The roof is asphalt shingle.

ADDITIONAL DETAILS

The outdoor living facilities are nicely arranged in this house — a feature which will be more and more appreciated as warm weather arrives.

Both the breezeway and side patio are covered, and the breezeway could even be screened. Behind the breezeway and right outside the kitchen door is a somewhat private nook ideal as a play area (because of the supervision from the kitchen) or as an open patio. Opportunities for creative plant arrangements are on all sides of the house.

There is no formal foyer, but a vestibule with a coat closet serves the function nicely if modestly.

The living room has wall areas well suited to furniture arrangements, anf features a wood-burning fireplace. Architect Chirgotis suggests use of pine paneling around the fireplace.

The dining room adjoins in an open plan which is ideal for entertaining. Outside the dining room is the patio, convenient for outdoor dining; in fact the food can be cooked right there in the built-in barbecue which shares the same chimney as the living room fireplace.

The bedroom portion is a nicely laid out wing with just the right amount of hall space. The hall is expanded at the end where the bedroom doors are concentrated, eliminating congestion and providing a convenient hub for housekeeping. There are two closets in the hall; one, a linen closet, located just outside the bathroom door. All three bedrooms also are equipped with an abundance of closet space.

The kitchen is arranged for step - saving convenience with the appliances in an L-shaped plan. Double windows over the sink provide plenty of natural light and air, besides affording a clear view of the backyard.

Reports On Business Profits Are Glowing

By ROGER LANE
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A rich copper discovery, glowing business profit reports and new feats by the hustling auto industry sparked the fast-stepping economy during the week.

Climbs in the gross national product, nonfarm jobs and construction spending in recent periods reinforced general optimism.

President Johnson announced that the gross product, which measures the over-all output of goods and services, rose to an annual rate of $608.5 billion in the first quarter, up $8.5 billion from the preceding quarter.

The accompanying job gains, he said, showed "real progress in cutting down unemployment," now at a rate of 5.4 per cent.

The President coupled his appraisal of progress in the economy with word that he was bearing down heavily to dispel a menace to its continuation, the threat of a nationwide railroad strike.

Johnson said "I hope and pray" that the crisis would be erased by the week's end—even though rail management and union bargainers meeting night and day in the White House are operating under a strike truce running through next Friday.

He obviously was giving himself some leeway in the event the parties couldn't voluntarily agree.

Steel production, climbing steadily since the first of the year, leveled off on a very high plane, an annual output rate of 128 million tons, and retail sales dipped 1 per cent in March to $21.1 billion. Neither was regarded as a very disturbing development.

The minerals discovery in Ontario, Canada, near Timmins, about 350 miles northwest of Toronto, finally was confirmed by Texas Gulf Sulphur Co. after persisting and rising reports.

Texas Gulf, holding about 70 per cent of mineral rights in Kidd Township, where the discovery was made, said preliminary data indicated copper, zinc and silver ore reserves of more than 25 million tons.

Some of the rich ore lay only 20 or 25 feet below ground, it was reported, promising relatively easy and cheap recovery by the open pit method of mining.

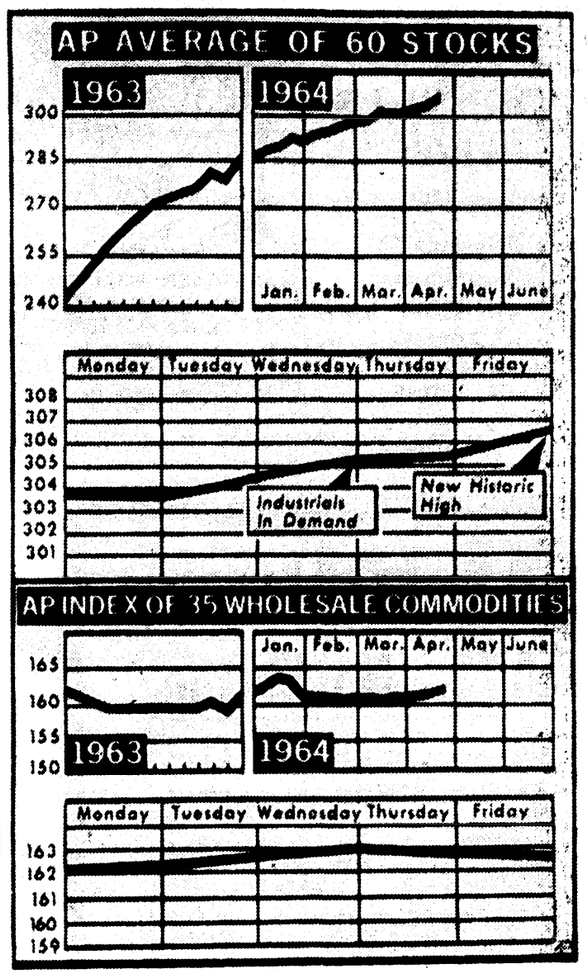
The auto picture, long lustrous, was brightened by a weekly production high for 1964, and all-time record sales in the first 10 days of April.

The early April dealer sales mark was 4 per cent ahead of a year ago and eclipsed the comparable 1955 peak performance.

A rapidly swelling flow of earnings reports on the January-March quarter was clogged with statements of profit gains. Aluminum Co. of America said profits were up 15 per cent. International Business Machines showed a 50 per cent gain. Monsanto Chemical a rise of over 85 per cent, General Telephone & Telegraph a jump of about 15 per cent.



ASSOCIATED PRESS average of 60 stocks reached a new historic high when it closed Friday at 306.7 from 303.9 a week earlier. This was the third straight weekly rise in the barometer. Led by livestock, the Commodity Index moved higher for the third week in a row, closing Friday at 162.7 from 162.1 in the preceding period. (AP Wirephoto)

Stocks Climb To New Highs During Week

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market last week climbed to new records in the popular averages amid increasing signs of speculative activity.

One stock, Texas Gulf Sulphur, dominated trading a good deal of the time. It ran up a weekly volume of more than a million shares and scored a net gain of 10⅛ at 40¼.

Texas Gulf's discovery of a rich lode of copper, silver and zinc, near Timmins, Ontario, prompted a turbulent rush on the Toronto Stock Exchange to buy stocks with nearby properties. On the New York Exchange, the discovery brought gains to Barber Oil, which owns 300,000 shares of Texas Gulf, and to Curtis Publishing, which owns land in the vicinity, but there was no wholesale rush as in Toronto.

In fact, most of the week the general tenor on the big board was one of caution, even as the averages marched to new highs day after day. The list was going through more of its "self-corrective" procedure characterized by profit taking in recent gainers and buying of neglected issues.

On the American Stock Exchange, meanwhile, the percentage gain of one low-priced stock put even Texas Gulf's rise to shame. This was Tel-a-sign, which in one week made a rise of nearly 200 per cent as it advanced 2¼ points to a closing price of 3½.

On the big board, gainers outnumbered losers by 690 to 655 of the 1,524 issues traded.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 2.8 to 306.7, for its third straight weekly advance.

NINE WELLS COMPLETED

Oil, Gas Activity Gains Past Week

Activity nudged moderately higher last week in the Monroe Oil & Gas District when a total of nine wells were completed in six of the district's 15 northeast Louisiana parishes. One well also was recompleted in Catahoula Parish.

District Manager Duncan S. Cook's weekly report, just released by the Monroe minerals division office of the Louisiana Conservation Commission, showed the finals in Ouachita and Catahoula Parishes, which had two each, and Concordia, Rapides, Tensas and Union, all with one each.

Area drillers, meanwhile, were drilling or testing at 22 active sites in 10 of the 15 parishes. Cook's breakdown recorded most of the activity in LaSalle Parish with seven such rigs, followed by Tensas with four and Concordia with three.

Catahoula Parish had two active rigs, while Avoyelles, Caldwell, Franklin, Ouachita, Rapides and Union reported one each.

Totals on new activity rose slightly over the preceding week, with the new report showing 13 fresh stakings in five parishes — LaSalle and Union Parishes, four each, Caldwell and Tensas with two each and Concordia with one.

The Catahoula recompletion was in the Tew Lake Field, section 26-9-6E, and was H. A. Harper's Robert Wiley Ut. No. 1, recompleted at 4305 feet.

Meantime, only one well was plugged and abandoned during the week, leaving the total on inactive sites at 62.

TOUR OIL REFINERY

Twenty-nine students from Neville High School, Monroe, visited the Lion Oil refinery at El Dorado, Ark., Friday. They saw more than 100 petroleum products being made in the various manufacturing units of the 35,000-barrel-per-day plant.

The group was led by Charles Kulcke, biology teacher and sponsor of the Science Club. Max Moody, refinery manager, greeted the club at the plant recreation hall where H. H. Shugart, chemist, gave an oral preview of what they were to see. In the afternoon, the group toured another Monsanto facility, the El Dorado Chemical Plant.

NAMED DIRECTOR

Frank W. Hulse, President of Southern Airways, Inc., announced that G. Frank Purvis, Jr. of New Orleans has been selected to serve on the airline company's board of directors.

A native of Rayville, Louisiana, Purvis was educated at Rayville High School and Kemper Military School. He received an Associate in Arts degree in 1932, and in 1935 received his L.L.B. degree from the Louisiana State University Law School.

APPOINTED MANAGER

Gordon A. Cain, Houston, Tex. has been apointed general manager of Continental Oil Company's petrochemical department, with headquarters in Houston, it was announced Saturday by L. F. McCollum, president. He will succeed the late E. R. Baker.

Since 1955, Cain, a native of Rayville, has been vice president of Petro-Tex Chemical Corporation, Houston, manufacturers of butadiene for rubber, alkylate for high octane gasoline, and other petrochemical products. Petro-Tex is owned jointly by Tennessee Gas Corporation and FMC Corporation.

PLANT DEDICATION

The formal dedication of AMF Beaird's new manufacturing plant in Shreveport, Louisiana is scheduled for 9:30 a.m., Saturday, May 2, it was announced Saturday by the firm's president, John L. Tullis. Built in Shreveport's Slack Industrial Park at a cost of $9.2 million, the new facility is rated as one of the largest and most modern heavy metal fabrication plants in the Southwest.

Oil Industry '64 Outlook Still Bright

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Stockholders of most major oil companies are being advised the industry's prospects for 1964 are good.

Most of the annual financial reports being mailed to stockholders are optimistic but warn of continued sharp competition and depressed products prices.

"Prospects for the petroleum industry in 1964 are generally good, even with perennial difficulties with costs, prices and regulations. Even though prices for crude oil and refined products continue under pressure. . . record levels in industry operations, along with further gains in earnings, appear likely."

Socony Mobil Oil Co. emphasized its forecast of a good year by saying it has earmarked a record $475 million for 1964 capital and exploration expenditures.

Texaco Inc. said free world demand for petroleum in 1964 should rise about six per cent—from two to three per cent in the United States and eight to 10 per cent in other areas.

The Phillips Petroleum Co. said expanding highway systems, trends to suburban living, increasing pleasure travel, and a rising general economy should cause 1963's strong demand for gasoline to continue.

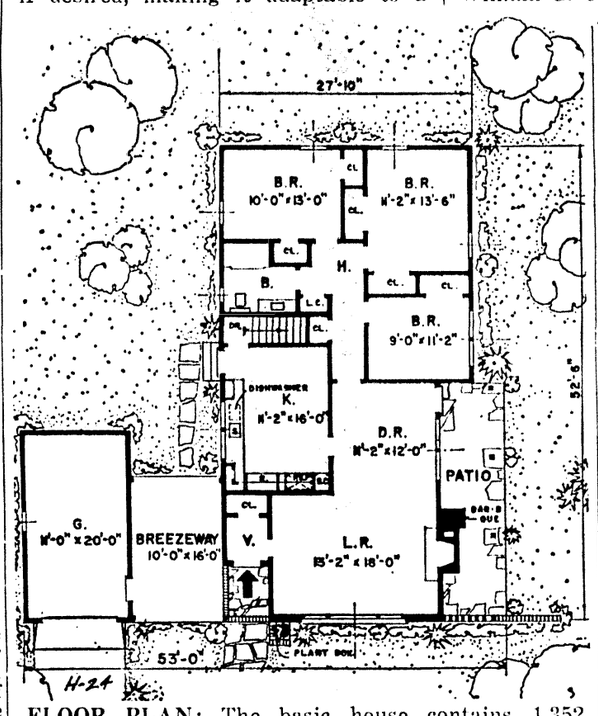
"At Gulf's 1963 level of operations in the United States alone, one-half cent a gallon in the price of gasoline is equivalent to more than $24 million a year in operating revenues," the report said.

Reports Make 'Beans Bearish

CHICAGO (AP) — Prices in the grain futures market were influenced almost entirely last week by reports from Washington which affected essentially only two commodities on the Board of Trade.

The first report was an official one which listed total stocks of the various commodities still remaining on farms on April 1. Chief interest in that report was the available supply of soybeans.

WIDE OR NARROW: The breezeway and garage could be left off this house if desired, making it adaptable to a narrow lot. It is a three-bedroom home with full basement. The architect is William G. Chirgotis.



FLOOR PLAN: The basic house contains 1,352 square feet of living area. If the breezeway and garage were left off, the house would be less than 31-feet wide including the side patio—narrow enough for a 50-foot lot in many cities.

HOUSE OF THE WEEK

By JULES LOH

No one can deny the convenience of one-level living. Ranch style homes not only are up to date in appearance but are in keeping with modern living trends.

Trouble is, most of them require such wide lots that their prices can be sky high, land costs being what they are nowadays.

Today's House of the Week was designed by architect William G. Chirgotis to solve this vexing problem. It is design H-24 in the weekly series.

The house is so constructed that you can tailor it to suit your own lot — even if it's as narrow as 50 feet. By leaving off the garage and breezeway (the garage can be placed in the rear) the width of the house is less than 31 feet.

Even if the lot size is large enough to accommodate the garage and breezeway they can be left off when the house is built and added later when the budget permits.

The house contains a basic living area of 1,352 square feet in over-all dimensions, including the garage and breezeway, of 53' wide by 52'6" deep.

Within this tidy perimeter are three bedrooms, bath, living room, dining room and a kitchen large enough for a brrakfast table. There is a full basement with laundry facilities and, as an especially nice touch, a covered side patio with a built-in barbecue.

The exterior features a low-pitched double gable, brick veneer, hand split cedar shingles and a decorative brick planter at t he attractive covered entry. The roof is asphalt shingle.

ADDITIONAL DETAILS

The outdoor living facilities are nicely arranged in this house — a feature which will be more and more appreciated as warm weather arrives.

Both the breezeway and side patio are covered, and the breezeway could even be screened. Behind the breezeway and right outside the kitchen door is a somewhat private nook ideal as a play area (because of the supervision from the kitchen) or as an open patio. Opportunities for creative plant arrangements are on all sides of the house.

There is no formal foyer, but a vestibule with a coat closet serves the function nicely if modestly.

The living room has wall areas well suited to furniture arrangements, anf features a wood-burning fireplace. Architect Chirgotis suggests use of pine paneling around the fireplace.

The dining room adjoins in an open plan which is ideal for entertaining. Outside the dining room is the patio, convenient for outdoor dining; in fact the food can be cooked right there in the built-in barbecue which shares the same chimney as the living room fireplace.

The bedroom portion is a nicely laid out wing with just the right amount of hall space. The hall is expanded at the end where the bedroom doors are concentrated, eliminating congestion and providing a convenient hub for housekeeping. There are two closets in the hall; one, a linen closet, located just outside the bathroom door. All three bedrooms also are equipped with an abundance of closet space.

The kitchen is arranged for step - saving convenience with the appliances in an L-shaped plan. Double windows over the sink provide plenty of natural light and air, besides affording a clear view of the backyard.

A full study of this architect-designed House of the Week may be obtained by writing THE HOUSE OF THE WEEK, c-o the Monroe Morning World, Monroe, La., and enclosing 50 cents to cover cost of handling and mailing. Please specify House Plan H-24.

Some Are Like Boxes

Nobody really notices Volkswagens any more.

They're so well known, they sort of blend in with the scenery.

It doesn't matter what the scenery is, either. You can buy a VW in any one of 633 cities in the country. (Or in any one of 136 countries in the world.)

Hot and cold just aren't important. The VW engine is air-cooled. It doesn't use any water, so it can't freeze up or boil over.

And having the engine in the back makes all the difference when it comes to mud and sand and snow.

The weight is over the power wheels and so the traction is terrific.

VWS also get along so well wherever they are because the VW people make sure that their service is as good in Toledo as it is in Tasmania.

1964 AUTO SHOW April 18-19 EASTGATE

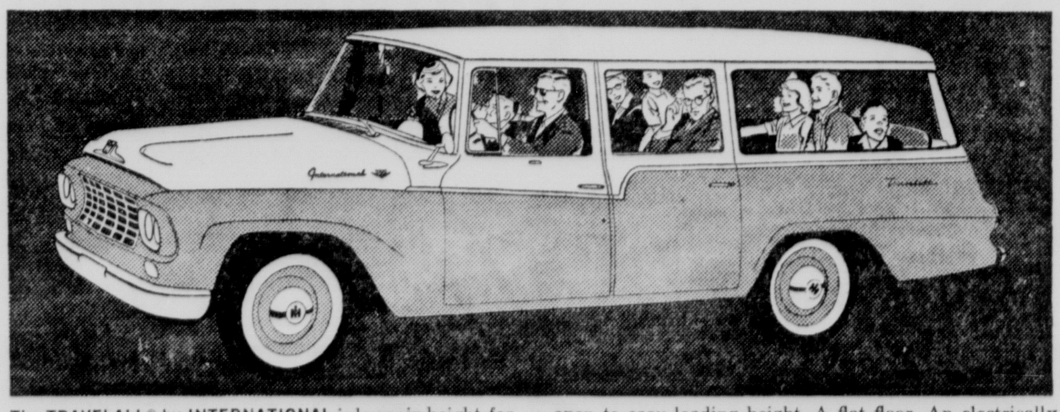
SUN. 1 P.M. to 6 P.M.

America's new work-or-play wonder! The Scout is a whole new idea in low-cost transportation. It's a hardtop pickup that hauls man-size loads of cargo one minute. The next, it's an open air runabout that carries three passengers in front and more in the rear. Optional all-wheel drive makes it an off-road workhorse, too. Optional Travel-Top converts into a handy town delivery. But no matter where the Scout goes, it saves on gas and oil with the thrifty INTERNATIONAL 4-cylinder Comanche engine. There's never been anything like the Scout before!



The TRAVELALL® by INTERNATIONAL is lower in height, for easy in-and-out. Inside, it offers lots of room for passengers and loads. Seating arrangements adjust to every need: 9 people plus load; 6 people plus a big load; 3 people plus a giant load. It has four wide doors. A tailgate that swings open to easy loading height. A flat floor. An electrically operated rear window and a clean underside for extra ground clearance. INTERNATIONAL V-8 power is standard. Some models offer torsion-bar front suspension for smoothest riding and box-type frame for husky hauling.

INTERNATIONAL

We're headquarters for the

SCOUT and TRAVELALL!

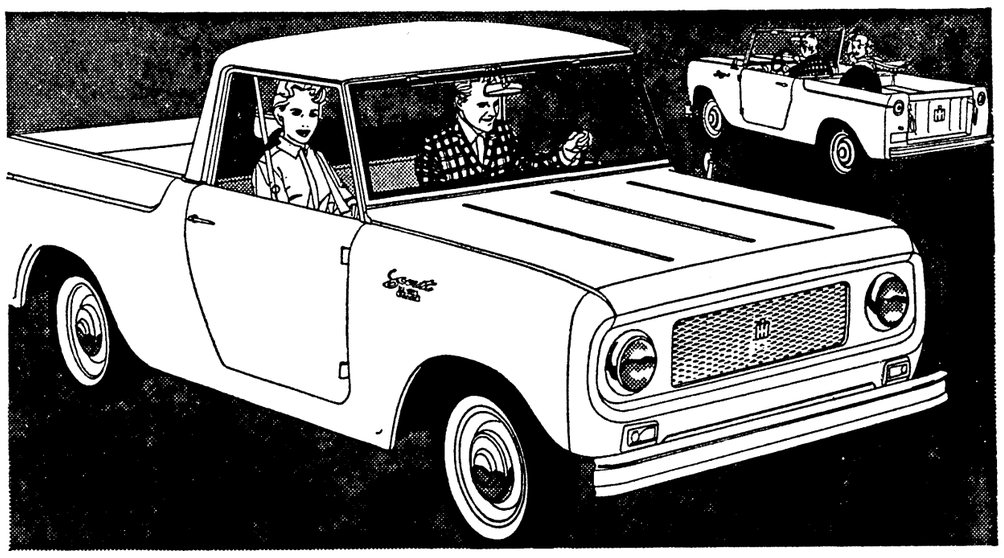
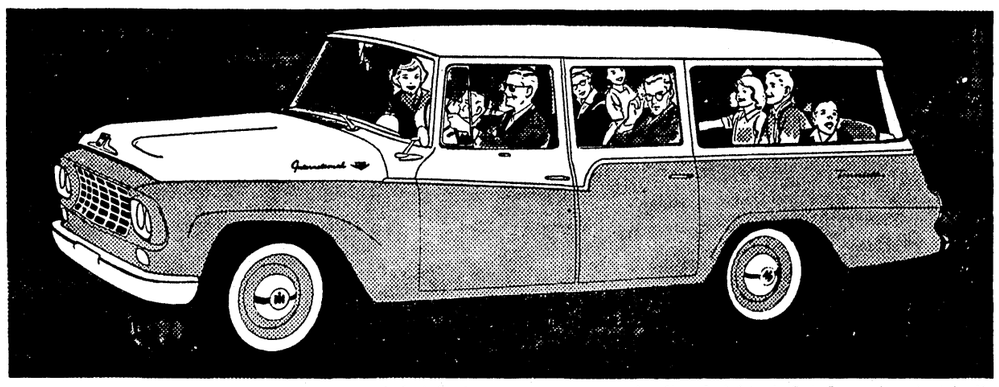
1964 AUTO SHOW April 18-19 EASTGATE

SUN. 1 P.M. to 6 P.M.



America's new work-or-play wonder! The Scout is a whole new idea in low-cost transportation. It's a hardtop pickup that hauls man-size loads of cargo one minute. The next, it's an open air runabout that carries three passengers in front and more in the rear. Optional all-wheel drive makes it an off-road workhorse, too. Optional Travel-Top converts into a handy town delivery. But no matter where the Scout goes, it saves on gas and oil with the thrifty INTERNATIONAL 4-cylinder Comanche engine. There's never been anything like the Scout before!



The TRAVELALL® by INTERNATIONAL is lower in height, for easy in-and-out. Inside, it offers lots of room for passengers and loads. Seating arrangements adjust to every need: 9 people plus load; 6 people plus a big load; 3 people plus a giant load. It has four wide doors. A tailgate that swings open to easy loading height. A flat floor. An electrically operated rear window and a clean underside for extra ground clearance. INTERNATIONAL V-8 power is standard. Some models offer torsion-bar front suspension for smoothest riding and box-type frame for husky hauling.

COOKWARE
VACUMATIC Triple thick heavy gauge stainless steel cookware makes all other cookware sold on dinners obsolete-has new styling - making cooking faster and easier because of a vacuum valve.
IF you have ever attended or been invited to a cookware dinner and have not bought-you are lucky.
VOLLRATH, manufacturers of this cookware, is known in every hospital and by doctors. They have been in business for over 90 years. They manufacture hospital equipment along with the finest cookware.
FOR a short time, until we hire and train an organization, we will give you a factory deal unheard of in cookware history. You will save the following: cost of dinners, salesmen commission, hostess and door prize gifts, also bonds to promote sales. THIS SAVES YOU A LOT OF MONEY. IT CAN BE FINANCED. Call 387-1890 or write P. O. Box 279, Monroe, La. for additional information.

Actor Starts Famous Career Because Of Want Ad

Although he was so nervous during the audition he lost the opportunity, he determined he would become an actor. He studied constantly and when his next chance came along he made the grade.

COOKWARE
VACUMATIC Triple thick heavy gauge stainless steel cookware makes all other cookware sold on dinners obsolete-has new styling - making cooking faster and easier because of a vacuum valve.
IF you have ever attended or been invited to a cookware dinner and have not bought-you are lucky.
VOLLRATH, manufacturers of this cookware, is known in every hospital and by doctors. They have been in business for over 90 years. They manufacture hospital equipment along with the finest cookware.
FOR a short time, until we hire and train an organization, we will give you a factory deal unheard of in cookware history. You will save the following: cost of dinners, salesmen commission, hostess and door prize gifts, also bonds to promote sales. THIS SAVES YOU A LOT OF MONEY. IT CAN BE FINANCED. Call 387-1890 or write P. O. Box 279, Monroe, La. for additional information.

Actor Starts Famous Career Because Of Want Ad

Although he was so nervous during the audition he lost the opportunity, he determined he would become an actor. He studied constantly and when his next chance came along he made the grade.

I'M A FORMER MARINE MYSELF, MAJOR FLAGG... AND I'M JUST AS INCENSED AS YOU ARE AT THIS KILLING. BUT MY POWER IS LIMITED. IT STOPS AT THE GATE TO THE DEPOT.

IN OTHER WORDS, YOU BELIEVE IN HIT... THEN RUN FOR COVER ON THE BASE?

CHIEF OF DETECTIVES

EVERYTHING POINTS IN THAT DIRECTION. YOUR OWN WITNESS SAYS SO...

YET THAT BUTTON COULD BE THE KEY WE NEED.

HOW'S THAT, SKIPPER?

THAT'S A BIG ORDER, MAJOR...

I THINK I GOT YA, SKIPPER. MEANWHILE, WE'LL ALERT THE SUPPLY ROOMS ON THE BASE. WE CAN CUT OFF ANY CHANCE OF OUR MAN REPLACING THAT BUTTON.

EXACTLY.

JULIE JUST TOOK CALVIN BURLEY BY THE SCRUFF OF THE NECK AND DROVE HIM TO SEE HENRY TYSON, THE PUBLISHER, POP. THAT BOY MAY NOT TALK, BUT HE SURE AS SHOOTIN' CAN WRITE!

SO—YOU THINK YOU'RE THE FIRST MAN IN THE WORLD TO HAVE A HANDICAP, EH, MR. BURLEY? AND YOU WANT TO CRAWL BACK INTO THE PROTECTIVE VASTNESS OF YOUR PRIVATE WORLD TO AVOID EXPOSURE OF YOUR AFFLICTION!

WELL, SIR— OTHERS HAVE BEEN HANDICAPPED, TOO. INDEED, AND IT HASN'T STOPPED THEM FROM MAKING A REAL STAB AT LIVING WITH PEOPLE INSTEAD OF RUNNING FROM THEM.

YOU SEE, SIR— YOU WERE QUITE WRONG ABOUT ME. I CAN UNDERSTAND THE BURDEN OF AN AFFLICTION! ACTUALLY, I HAVEN'T WALKED SINCE I WAS NINE YEARS OF AGE.

NOW—THE CHOICE IS YOURS. DO YOU WALLOW IN A PIT OF DESPAIR AND SELF-PITY, OR DO YOU REJOIN THE WORLD AS A MAN WHO SPEAKS SO ELOQUENTLY IN HIS BOOKS HE NEEDS NO SPOKEN WORDS TO ADD TO HIS VIVID IMAGES?

MISS WORTH—CALL THE PLANT AND TELL THEM TO START SETTING MR. CALVIN BURLEY'S NOVEL IN TYPE. YES, MISS WORTH—MR. BURLEY HAS AGREED TO BECOME ONE OF OUR AUTHORS!

HELP FOR HOMEMAKERS

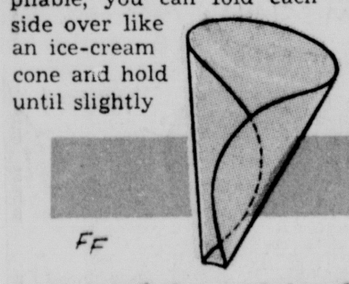
Hints from Heloise

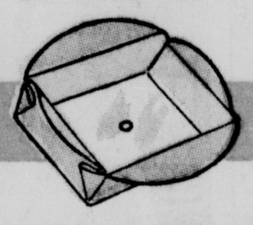
DEAR HELOISE:
What can be done with old warped 78 RPM records? They are so scratched they are no good as is.
M.M.

DEAR M. M.
These records make darling little wall vases or patio vases or containers for potted plants. Here's how:

Bring a big pot of water to the boiling point. Dip your old record in the water and leave it for a minute or two until it becomes soft. Remove from the pan and place on the drainboard.

While it's still warm and pliable, you can fold each side over like an ice-cream cone and hold until slightly cool! (If it's too hot, use pliers). When dry, it may be painted.





By inserting a small bottle and planting some ivy in it you have a darling wall vase. The little hole in the back will serve for the hanger. Place on a nail. These are most attractive in groups of three.

Records may also be molded over a shallow pan to make a flat shallow planter for cactus and small house plants.

The little hole will serve as a drain for the plant.

Old records also make adorable little window boxes for parsley. And did you know that bird seed will grow? I don't know who would eat it, but then we don't eat flowers either!

Fill the container with earth, sprinkle bird seed on top of it, scratch the dirt gently with a fork, add a little water, and in a short time you will have a beautiful miniature garden. Children love to watch it grow. Little dolls and glass animals may be inserted in the garden to make a most attractive scene.

EASY COOKING OIL

DEAR HELOISE:
When I buy a bottle of vegetable oil I pour it into a soft plastic dispenser such as used for mustard and catsup. The oil pours just beautifully, and I get the right amount I need every time.
Jackie

FOR BABY'S BIB

DEAR HELOISE:
I keep my baby's plastic-lined bibs and panties soft and pliable by putting them in an old, damp pillowcase after they have been washed. I close the pillowcase with a big safety pin and throw the whole kit and kaboodle, right along with the other clothes, into my dryer.

Before the clothes are completely dry I remove this filled pillowcase, and the plastic on my baby's clothing is soft and pliable again.
Mama

YARN DEPARTMENT

DEAR HELOISE:
I discovered that when knitting or crocheting with light yarn, a dark skirt gives contrast and allows me to see the stitches easier.

Consequently I made a reversible "knitting" apron. One side is made of dark material, so when I work with light yarns it is easy to see the stitches. The other side is light-colored, so when I work with dark yarns they are easy to see, also.

I sewed large pockets on both sides of this apron. These pockets hold my yarn while knitting and also serve as a knitting bag!

When through knitting, I just hang the apron up, and all the paraphernalia is in one place.
Mrs. G.P. Gernet

CLEANS SCREENS

DEAR HELOISE:
It is quite well known that a cup of kerosene per gallon of warm water is excellent for washing windows. You can use the same method on the window screens! Especially if you live near salt water. We find this puts a protective coating on our screens and prevents rust.
E. Manning

FLAT BACON

DEAR HELOISE:
When I have bacon and pancakes for breakfast I have found that I can roll up a few slices of bacon and use them as a "pad" to grease my grill before I put the pancake batter on it. This will not burn your hands.

Then I unroll the pieces of bacon and lay them in a separate skillet and fry them. The little heat that is absorbed into the bacon strips melts the bacon thoroughly so that it lies flat in the frying pan.
Ludlow Androdi

SILVERWARE CARE

DEAR HELOISE:
A one-quart-size plastic bottle, such as bleach comes in, can be a wonderful timesaver when washing silverware the old-fashioned way.

Cut off the top part of the bottle, leaving a six or seven-inch container. Poke the bottom full of holes with an ice pick or scissor point.

When you wash and rinse your silverware, stand it upright in this container and pour scalding water over it all, and it will drain and dry in minutes.

Also, for the next meal, you can bring the silverware to the table in the same container while you set the table. For picnics take your silverware along in the container and set it right on the table.
Anne Schiver

DRY-MOP WINDOWS

DEAR HELOISE:
My home has large picture windows about 10 feet high. To dust these, I simply use a long-handled dry dust mop—the type one uses to dry-mop floors.

To clean the windows I use a window spray and then dry-mop them. Presto! my windows are sparkling . . . finished in nothing flat.
X. Y. Z.

CORDUROY LINT

DEAR HELOISE:
For women who wash black corduroy trousers and have trouble keeping lint off them in the washing machine:

Wash the trousers inside out after you have closed the end of each leg and the waist with heavy rubber bands. I do this with all my boys' school trousers. They never have any lint on them.

WORKING ORDER: Home repairs are handled more easily if the workshop area is clean and uncluttered. Make use of wall space to keep tools and cleaning aids out of the way yet within easy reach.

Work Routine Is Eased In Shop Center

A well - organized home workshop is the starting point for successful home improvement projects, large or small. Whether your work area is elaborate or make-shift, home improvement and repair jobs will be easier to handle if your workshop is clean and uncluttered.

First, keep the entire work surface clear. A simple pegboard for hanging tools above the workbench not only clears the work surface for action, but puts tools within safe and easy reach.

ODDS, ENDS

Smaller odds and ends belong in storage drawers and shelves. By labeling each storage drawer you'll find it's simple to keep track of assorted nails and wood screws, glue, steel wool, spare parts, sandpaper, and small articles waiting to be repaired. An excellent no-smudge label may be made by printing on masking tape with a ballpoint pen.

Eliminate oily rags, which not only create clutter, but are a major safety hazard. Mount a paper towel holder on the wall within easy reach, and use disposable paper towels for during and after-the-job clean-ups. Be sure to keep a jar of mechanics hand cleaner nearby for cleaning tool handles as well as hands.

EASIER

Remember that the next job will be easier if you leave the workshop in order. After each use, clean tools and hang on pegboard. Return nails and small items to drawers. Wipe off work surface with an absorbent paper towels and linseed oil or a liquid wax cleaner.

Discard used towels and repair materials and you're in "working order" for the next job.

Face Lift Entrance Of House

First impressions are important. That's why many home owners, as well as architects and designers, feel the entrance area of a house demands special attention. It's a good place to start if you're planning to give the exterior of the house a face-lift.

Fortunately, in order to give a house a new custom look it's rarely necessary to turn to costly custom-made millwork items. Factory-made entryways, panel doors, windows, mouldings and the like are available at building materials dealers all over the country.

It's even possible to obtain authentic reproductions of Colonial doors in stock sizes. These are made of durable ponderosa pine and are precision-made for accurate fit and treated with special chemicals to prove extra protection against all kinds of weather.

Complete entranceways are available in packaged units, including carefully fitted frames to make installation as easy as possible and to reduce on-the-job labor costs. A variety of designs are available, including Colonial, with its finely reeded pilasters and intricately worked pediments, caps and heads.

Details In Decor Very Important

Bath Lavatory Can Be Enhanced

According to Webster, the word "vanitory" doesn't exist. But don't make that statement to the average homeowner or you'll find yourself in one whale of an argument.

In recent years, vanitories have come to be not only distinctive, but also essential home features, reflecting the increased emphasis on glamor and usefulness in the bathroom of modern Americana.

The corporation which created the term "vanitory" back in 1948 when they were first introduced, lists the following reasons for the popularity laminate vanitories in recent years:

1. They come in an endless variety of designs and colors to match any bathroom decor.
2. Space utilization — because of modern postforming techniques, odd-shaped areas (such as a corner) can be fitted with a vanitory.
3. Economy — both countertop and storage area are provided by the vanitory, making it less expensive for the value derived.
4. Unsightly plumbing fixtures are hidden by the vanitory "skirt," though a well-designed vanitory makes these same fixtures easily accessible for repairs.

For the homemaker who wants to add the extra decorator touch to her home that will set it apart from the others on the block, there is no more effective or economical way to do it than with the use of custom shutters.

Today, inexpensive shutters are available in a wide variety of sizes to fit any application. The basic styles include horizontal and vertical louvers, solid and fabric panels.

VERSATILE

SINGLE TYPE

Modern room decor will probably call for full window single hung shutters. These units are available in any height up to 96 inches. And for extra tall windows, a door-high shutter can be topped off with matching panels to fill the opening.

In formal rooms fabric panel doors may be used to carry out the theme of draperies and furniture.

Evergreens Add Beauty To Property

There is not a home property in the United States that can look beautiful all year long without evergreens.

There are evergreens for every location. The foliages vary considerably in relation to form, color and texture. They may be so low as to creep along the ground, or high enough to reach into the sky. They are the most important plants in the home landscape, from the hedge, to the specimen shrub or tree.

Some evergreens have lovely flowers, while others, in the warmer climates bear some of our most delicious fruits.

Consult with your nurseryman in purchasing these plants. Evergreens grow in many shapes and sizes, according to the American Association of Nurserymen, and one should know what he is doing in buying them. He usually cannot tell just by observing them stacked side by side. One should have a knowledge of how the plant will grow after purchase. Nurserymen have such knowledge.

FIT LOCATION

Every plant should fit its location on the property. You don't want a tall-growing tree near windows, or even too close to the house. The right trees or shrubs planted in the right places should be the goal with evergreens.

Evergreens usually are used for hedges or "wind breaks," in order to make the property warmer in winter and cooler in summer. A solid evergreen "wind" break" will tone down cold winds for a distance along the ground of 10 times the height of the planting. It should be planted on the side of the property from which the cold winds blow. Plantings also can be made to channel the breeze into your outdoor living room in hot summer weather. The hedges insure privacy.

HOMEOWNER'S PACKAGE INSURANCE

Fix Up 'Heart Of The Home' First

The sweltering population and the shrinking dollar have led to an increase in professional and do-it-yourself remodeling projects.

The cost of new housing and the expense of moving often prevent a growing family from seeking new quarters. Instead, the homeowner invests in remodeling an older one, almost any family would find this approach ideal.

FEATURES

Planned to have one wall in common with the bathroom bedroom area, the room features pass-through storage cabinets and sorting bins. Thus steps are saved when sorting soiled laundry and storing clean linens.

The automatic washer and a small sink are next to the sorting bins. The sink is used for pretreating extra-soiled areas of garments and removing stains. But, as Gordon points out, it also comes in handy when dishes pile up during parties, or for flower arranging and other hobbies.

Detergents, bleaches and other laundry aids are stored in a cabinet under the sink and in matic clothes dryer is next to the outside wall where accomplished by running a short duct through the wall.

CLOSET

Next to the closet a U-shaped desk serves as the homemaker's office when it's not being used as a sewing center. Built-in cupboards and drawers be-low the desk provide ample storage space for the sewing machine and dressmaking supplies. Just such a room — with work and storage space for all kinds of jobs — was designed by Barbara Gordon, architect for the Home Laundry Idea center. Whether building a new home or remodeling an older one, almost any family would find this approach ideal.

WORKING ORDER: Home repairs are handled more easily if the workshop area is clean and uncluttered. Make use of wall space to keep tools and cleaning aids out of the way yet within easy reach.

Work Routine Is Eased In Shop Center

A well - organized home workshop is the starting point for successful home improvement projects, large or small. Whether your work area is elaborate or make-shift, home improvement and repair jobs will be easier to handle if your workshop is clean and uncluttered.

First, keep the entire work surface clear. A simple pegboard for hanging tools above the workbench not only clears the work surface for action, but puts tools within safe and easy reach.

ODDS, ENDS

Smaller odds and ends belong in storage drawers and shelves. By labeling each storage drawer you'll find it's simple to keep track of assorted nails and wood screws, glue, steel wool, spare parts, sandpaper, and small articles waiting to be repaired. An excellent no-smudge label may be made by printing on masking tape with a ballpoint pen.

Eliminate oily rags, which not only create clutter, but are a major safety hazard. Mount a paper towel holder on the wall within easy reach, and use disposable paper towels for during and after-the-job cleanups. Be sure to keep a jar of mechanics hand cleaner nearby for cleaning tool handles as well as hands.

EASIER

Remember that the next job will be easier if you leave the workshop in order. After each use, clean tools and hang on pegboard. Return nails and small items to drawers. Wipe off work surface with an absorbent paper towels and linseed oil or a liquid wax cleaner.

Discard used towels and repair materials and you're in "working order" for the next job.

Face Lift Entrance Of House

First impressions are important. That's why many home owners, as well as architects and designers, feel the entrance area of a house demands special attention. It's a good place to start if you're planning to give the exterior of the house a face-lift.

Fortunately, in order to give a house a new custom look it's rarely necessary to turn to costly custom-made millwork items. Factory-made entryways, panel doors, windows, mouldings and the like are available at building materials dealers all over the country.

It's even possible to obtain authentic reproductions of Colonial doors in stock sizes. These are made of durable ponderosa pine and are precision-made for accurate fit and treated with special chemicals to prove extra protection against all kinds of weather.

Complete entranceways are available in packaged units, including carefully fitted frames to make installation as easy as possible and to reduce on-the-job labor costs. A variety of designs are available, including Colonial, with its finely reeded pilasters and intricately worked pediments, caps and heads.

Details In Decor Very Important

Bath Lavatory Can Be Enhanced

According to Webster, the word "vanitory" doesn't exist. But don't make that statement to the average homeowner or you'll find yourself in one whale of an argument.

In recent years, vanitories have come to be not only distinctive, but also essential home features, reflecting the increased emphasis on glamor and usefulness in the bathroom of modern Americana.

The corporation which created the term "vanitory" back in 1948 when they were first introduced, lists the following reasons for the popularity laminate vanitories in recent years:

1. They come in an endless variety of designs and colors to match any bathroom decor.
2. Space utilization — because of modern postforming techniques, odd-shaped areas (such as a corner) can be fitted with a vanitory.
3. Economy — both countertop and storage area are provided by the vanitory, making it less expensive for the value derived.
4. Unsightly plumbing fixtures are hidden by the vanitory "skirt," though a well-designed vanitory makes these same fixtures easily accessible for repairs.

For the homemaker who wants to add the extra decorator touch to her home that will set it apart from the others on the block, there is no more effective or economical way to do it than with the use of custom shutters.

Today, inexpensive shutters are available in a wide variety of sizes to fit any application. The basic styles include horizontal and vertical louvers, solid and fabric panels.

VERSATILE

SINGLE TYPE

Modern room decor will probably call for full window single hung shutters. These units are available in any height up to 96 inches. And for extra tall windows, a door-high shutter can be topped off with matching panels to fill the opening.

In formal rooms fabric panel doors may be used to carry out the theme of draperies and furniture.

Evergreens Add Beauty To Property

There is not a home property in the United States that can look beautiful all year long without evergreens.

There are evergreens for every location. The foliages vary considerably in relation to form, color and texture. They may be so low as to creep along the ground, or high enough to reach into the sky. They are the most important plants in the home landscape, from the hedge, to the specimen shrub or tree.

Some evergreens have lovely flowers, while others, in the warmer climates bear some of our most delicious fruits.

Consult with your nurseryman in purchasing these plants. Evergreens grow in many shapes and sizes, according to the American Association of Nurserymen, and one should know what he is doing in buying them. He usually cannot tell just by observing them stacked side by side. One should have a knowledge of how the plant will grow after purchase. Nurserymen have such knowledge.

FIT LOCATION

Every plant should fit its location on the property. You don't want a tall-growing tree near windows, or even too close to the house. The right trees or shrubs planted in the right places should be the goal with evergreens.

Evergreens usually are used for hedges or "wind breaks," in order to make the property warmer in winter and cooler in summer. A solid evergreen "wind" break" will tone down cold winds for a distance along the ground of 10 times the height of the planting. It should be planted on the side of the property from which the cold winds blow. Plantings also can be made to channel the breeze into your outdoor living room in hot summer weather. The hedges insure privacy.

Diamonds Are Used On Projects

Since they retain their true dimensions, there is a tight seal between the door and frame. When used outside in colder climes, they virtually eliminate the need for storm doors. And when hardened steel locks are combined with strong steel entry doors, you needn't worry about security.

The safety features of steel doors make them just right for the hobby room if any member of the family uses inflammable paints or electrical tools. They should also be used on house entries from the garage and furnace rooms where a fire could start. Steel doors withstand much higher temperatures than any other door materials.

Small industrial diamonds, on the end of rotating drill bits, are simplifying the job of boring holes in masonry walls or foundations for installation of new pipes. These bits so shatter-resistant that they crystal-like operating methods of old-fashioned impact drill as almost noiseless.

DRILLING RIGS

Although the diamonds must be cooled by water while the drill is cutting through masonry, vacuum units catch the water and remove it to a container.

Many plumbers and electricians are now equipped with diamond drill rigs. The diamond-impregnated drill bits come in a wide range of sizes, from one-fourth-inch diameter up to 14-inches diameter. This allows a choice of a bit of just the right size for the pipe to be installed. This so bits created by the diamond bit does not break surrounding material as do old-fashioned impact methods of opening walls for pipping.

Keep Doors Of Steel Are Handsome

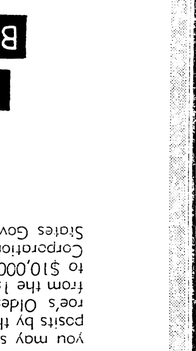
SPRUCE UP HOUSE

One of the easiest and most with any kind of room decor. It decorative ways to spruce up an old house or lend added charm to a new one is with steel doors. You can have solid colors or decorator colors and finishes that have many advantages when used outside the house. They are also suitable for any room or closet inside.

CHOICE

You can have your choice of a painted finish in every shape and color from the rainbow. And then some. Steel doors also permits the maximum of effort. Then there are vinyl or plastic coatings in many colors and patterns that resist fading and scratching while letting you blend the door in a variety of styles, colors and finishes — and when you add their modern good looks to the rugged qualities of steel — it's easy to see why many homeowners are adding this kind of door.

DOORS OF STEEL, now come



In addition to their handsome appearance, steel doors offer many extraordinary abuse and under extraordinary abuse and require a minimum of upkeep. They are immune to rotting, warping and sagging regardless of the climate, age or wear.

Take Care When Busy Gardening

Mowing may be a man's job but it's the woman who makes the flowers grow. And to most women, the garden is a source of pride and pleasure.

However, even a few hours outdoors planting and pruning can play havoc with good looks. This year why not make gardening a beauty treatment? There's no reason to wither as the lawn. Complexion can still look as well manicured as the rest of you.

A day of gardening is a good way to cultivate a sunfan early in the year. Take precautions with a hat and up with a glowing color instead of a dried-out complexion. When your skin is first exposed to the sun after winter months, it's advisable to use a suntan lotion for even skin color. If your skin is particularly sensitive to the sun, invest in hands are protected with a thin film of petroleum jelly.

Before starting your chores apply a thin coat of petroleum jelly to your hands to keep the skin soft. Too, you will find tanning instead of a lobster red that grass and other garden stains are easier to remove if a hat with a visor.

Put Flowers In All Rooms

You need only a few daffodils to bring a fresh, bright look to every room in the house. Put a few in a small vase in the places where you can see and enjoy them as you go about your daily work — beside the telephone, on a kitchen counter or shelf, as a centerpiece for the table, in the bathroom.

A few of bent flowers in a creamer of sugar bowl add a very effective, or a pretty glass of coffee cup is just the right tea for three to four daffodils. One of the nicest things about daffodils is that they do not require arranging. Just remember to give them water as needed, and they will stay fresh and lovely for days.

This is the time of year when planted your bulbs last Fall, you can begin cutting daffodils from great quantity. As long as they are seasonal, you can go on enjoying them through the rest of the Winter until Spring the rest assured returns. And then, if you can begin cutting daffodils from the garden.

Start At The Top To Build Playroom In The Basement

FOR FAMILY

There are few jobs that offer a chance to start at the top, but it's the logical place to begin the construction of a basement recreation room.

Two good reasons for a basement room are (1) a finished ceiling level and (2) a ceiling that's soaring at the joists. Both are important to the noise of future sawing and shaper. says a home improvement specialist for a chemical company.

A basement recreation room in three stages — the ceiling, the walls and finally covering the floor — is his spare time," says Bill Herbert. "This will permit him to budget his expenses for supplies over a period of time and also keep his working area from becoming overcrowded with materials he doesn't immediately need."

To prepare a ceiling for tiling, Herbert suggests nailing three-inch-wide staple strips across the joists, 12 inches on centers. Start the first strip flush against a wall. The second strip should be spaced so its center is the same distance from the wall as the width of a border tile. Two nails should be used at each cross.

The first step is to shim under joists with thin wedges or along edges where trimming is required.

"As with the ceiling, wall paneling such as gypsum wallboard goes on best when applied over furring strips," Herbert continues.

"The furring strips — one-by-three-inch sizes are also best for this job — can be secured to a cement wall with metal anchors made especially for this purpose.

"These furring strips should be applied horizontally, 16 inch-es center-to-center, except in corners where two vertical strips should be positioned to provide a continuous nailing surface."

Panels of gypsum wallboard—by-eight-feet sheets — can be applied directly to the furring, which are made in standard four-foot sizes, with either paint or wallpaper.

"A suitable floor covering — like linoleum or good quality deck paint — will complete the third stage of basic construction," Herbert says.

"Built-in benches, a soda bar, game area or storage space can be added later — as time and budget permit."

But tape recorders have various other uses.

VARIOUS USES

If your home improvement plans call for a high fidelity stereo system and your budget is limited, one of the new portable tape recorders could be ideal.

For example, stereo tape recorder recently introduced serves as a handsome self-contained unit or, if you want to make additions later, as part of a custom-built high fidelity system.

Many people have misconceptions, stemming from rapid developments in the field, about tape recorders. They feel tape recorders are complicated and expensive and are not sure of their uses.

EXPERIENCE NEEDED

But simplified home tape recorders now available feature more automatic and less manual controls. The new machine has only five knobs and a person unfamiliar with tape recorders and with no technical background can learn to operate it almost as easily as a radio.

A home tape recorder is surprisingly versatile. Of course, it allows you to record voices or music and it plays pre-recorded tapes of either. The best of the music on discs is also available on tapes and hi-fi buffs feel the sound quality of tapes is superior to discs.

Notions Cabinet Lots Of Fun For Children

Want to keep the children on the other side of the screen door? They won't bang in and out of the house nearly so often if you supply them with a Notions Nest outdoors — a gayly decorated box equipped with the items children usually come in asking for.

You can get a big wooden cheese box from the neighborhood grocery and decorate it yourself. Instead of paint it's faster to use colored plastic tape. Why not alternate two colors for stripes to match the awnings? Or make it a bright red, children's favorite color. You either screw the Nest to the back of the house or attach it to a window sill if there's one low enough. Otherwise, hang it inside the garage. That way it's always in youngsters' reach.

EASY TO EQUIP

You'll find it easy to equip the Notions Nest. Just think of the things the children most frequently need. You'll want to include tissues, of course. They never seem to have enough of these. Be sure to supply a tube of petroleum jelly. They can apply it themselves straight from the tube to relieve the pain and soothe their inevitable scratches and scrapes. It's ideal, too, for lubricating bicycles so they won't squeak. And, if your children are like most they ask for an adhesive bandage for the slightest scratch. Keep them happy with a large box in the Notions Nest.

Probably the most frequent excuse children use for coming int the house is to ask for a glass of water. Keep a small thermos filled with water in the Nest, along with some paper cups. That will quench their thirst and eliminate a few trips.

IDEAL GIFT

An ideal gift for city apartment dwellers, the Society of American Florists says, is an indoor plant garden. Lush green foliage is a pleasant relief to these people who see concrete, brick, steel, and glass day and night.

Hardwood Walls

The Kitchen Deserves Improving

No matter how the world may change, the kitchen remains the heart of the home.

It's where children rush to greet Mom after school. It's Dad's first port of call when his work day is done. Most important of all, the kitchen is Mother's exclusive domain, the place where she spends the largest part of her day.

As such, it should be a cheerful room where she can function efficiently and easily. And it should be inviting to every other member of the family, offering them warmth and relaxation at any time.

If your kitchen falls short of this idea, now is the time to do something about it. Now is the time to turn your thoughts to steel for beauty, efficiency and friendliness.

A well organized kitchen should have plenty of counter space and enough storage in each work area to make it easy to put things where they belong.

Gleaming steel requires less care than any other material. This makes it deal for the kitchen from both a decorative and convenience standpoint. Steel cabinets, both the wallhanging and the standing models, are roomy. They're also immune from warping and cracking — the spoil or spills can be wiped up in a matter of seconds.

New Look Is Available For Ceilings

The suspended ceiling consists of a metal grid system which is installed at whatever ceiling height is desired. Ceiling panels — acoustical, incombustible, or decorative — are then laid into position in the grid.

For many years the suspension system has been the popular method of installing ceilings in large projects, such as office buildings are being made available to homeowners through local building materials dealers.

COST LOW

The cost is low, too. A modern suspended ceiling can be installed in an average - size room (12' x 15') for under $85.00, according to The Celotex Corporation.

This type of ceiling has several other advantages:

Since ceiling panels simply rest on the flanges of the grid members, they can be tipped out of position and removed at any time. This makes it easy for cleaning. Fiberboard panels, which are available either in acoustical or decorative finishes, can be washed with a sponge and a mild detergent.

The high ceilings of old-fashioned rooms can be lowered and modernized without the extra labor and expense of installing heavy ceiling joists and other framing.

GLARE FREE

Evenly diffused, glare - free lighting can be placed wherever required, with the use of translucent lay - in panels. An all-luminous ceiling adds dimension to small rooms, and cheerfully brightens kitchens and other rooms.

THE MASCULINE TONE FOR THIS LIBRARY is established by the distinctive pecan woodgrain wall paneling and the massive furnishings. The paneling is a factory-finished hardboard which maintains its fine appearance simply by occasional wiping with a damp cloth.

Staple Tiles To Ceilings

Thinking about a new ceiling for your basement, attic, or any room in the house? There is a new lightweight stapler that is a boon to the "do-it-yourselfer" for putting up ceiling tile. It double-staples the tile directly to gypsum board or rock lath. This extra holding power eliminates any need for glue or cement and makes the job faster and easier.

The Gyplok Tacker already has been tested and approved by most major ceiling tile manufacturers.

There's Art In Cleaning The House

Getting curtains, drapes and slipcovers to come clean is only half the battle against the winter's accumulation of dirt. Brightening colors and fabrics is the other. If whites look tattle-tale gray and colors look faded and wan, add a special bleach with brightener to the wash water.

Avoid bleaches with chlorine which could harm rather than brighten colors and fine fabrics. Rather, use a chlorine-free bleach which works by oxygen action.

Remember when we depended upon bright sunlight to bleach our curtains? First there was the all day ordeal with the collapsible curtain stretcher. After that duel in the sun there remained a long and painstaking ironing job.

Science, with its beautiful man-made fabrics for curtains, drapes and slipcovers has performed labor saving miracles for the housewife. Today's drip dry materials are laundered quickly and safely by hand or automatic machine. Just be sure to use the detergent and bleach designed especially for them.

Fix Up 'Heart Of The Home' First

The swelling population and the shrinking dollar have led to an increase in professional and do-it-yourself remodeling projects.

The cost of new housing and the expense of moving often prevent a growing family from seeking new quarters. Instead, the homeowner invests in redecorating or an add-a-room project. Prefinished paneling often proves an ideal material for refurbishing the home or finishing an additional space.

As producers of building products, U.S. Plywood Corporation finds that family decorators now are aware of the wide selection of interior paneling in all price ranges, but ask for direction in the treatment of these panels for certain "problem" area such as:

EXTRA HIGH WALLS

To minimize height: install grooved panels horizontally or combine a paneled wood wainscot with wallpaper or paint. To emphasize height use one or more grooved panels one above the other. Match grooves and butt points for a visually vertical effect.

NARROW HALLWAY

Use a light-toned ungrooved plywood panel on walls and ceiling or finish ceiling with grooved panels — the grooves running across the hall from side wall to side wall for a widening effect. If ceiling is too high, install a suspended light fixture and create a gallery for paintings or photographs.

BATHROOMS

Prefinished plywood paneling is practical except for tub and shower enclosure where the wood look may be continued by installing a high pressure laminate — like plastic —in a matching or constrasting woodgrain pattern. Micarta should be bonded with waterproof contact glue to a substrate such as Novoply particle board.

CLOSETS

Perforated hardboard panels are ideal for hanging house cleaning accessories and tools. For a winter storage closet, aromatic red cedar paneling is inexpensive and decorative.

Permanent plywood paneling for walls, cabinets and doors features a thermoplastic finish, developed specifically to withstand high humidity and heat. For countertops, sink and backsplash areas, use a high-pressure laminate. Both materials require only a damp "wipe" for maintenance.

TO SOLVE A COMMON PROBLEM of moisture and high heat in the kitchen, the paneling for wall and cabinets shown here has been treated with a clear, thermoplastic finish. It seals in the natural beauty of the wood and protects panels from kitchen grease and smoke. Both are permanent panels and plastic surfaces require only a damp "wipe" for maintenance.

Arrangement Of Room Is All-Purpose

Wouldn't it be nice to have a separate room for those homemaking tasks that seem to create constant clutter? There are so many — washing, ironing, sewing and keeping the family books, not to mention all kinds of hobbies.

Just such a room — with work and storage space for all kinds of jobs — was designed by Dallas architect Joseph F. Gordon, A.I.A., for the Home Laundry Idea center. Whether building a new home or remodeling an older one, almost any family would find this approach ideal.

FEATURES

Planned to have one wall in common with the bathroom bedroom area, the room features pass-through storage cupboards and sorting bins. Thus steps are saved when sorting soiled laundry and storing clean linens.

The automatic washer and a small sink are next to the sorting bins. The sink is used for pretreating extra-soiled areas of garments and removing stains. But, as Gordon points out, it also comes in handy when dishes pile up during parties, or for flower arranging and other family hobbies.

Detergents, bleaches and other laundry aids are stored in a cabinet under the sink and in cupboards overhead. The automatic clothes dryer is next to the outside wall where, according to experts, venting is easily accomplished by running a short duct through the wall.

CLOSET

A full-length closet on the opposite wall is useful for hanging wash-and-wear garments as they are removed from the dryer, and for storing the iron and ironing board.

Next to the closet a U-shaped desk serves as the homemaker's office when it's not being used a sa sewing center. Built-in cupboards and drawers below the desk provide ample storage space for the sewing machine and dressmaking sundries.

A folding door hides the entire room — and its possible clutter — from the rest of the house. But you won't get that "closed-in" feeling because Gordon has provided a view through sliding glass doors into the patio or play area. You can enjoy the garden or keep an eye on the children while you work.

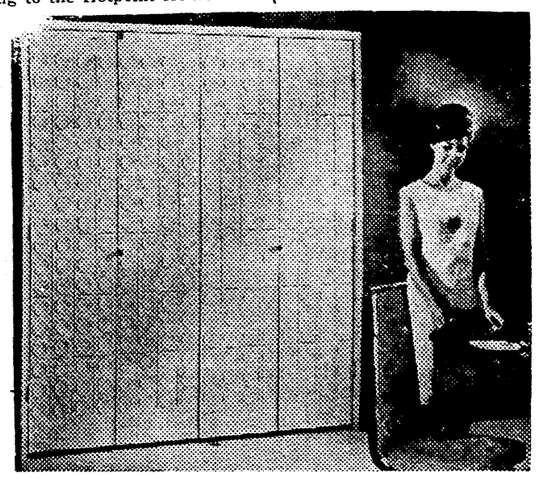
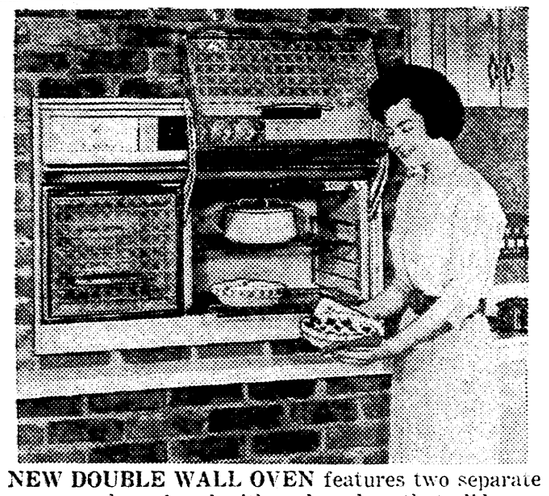
Plan For Every Activity In Home

The location of the home laundry puzzles many homeowners about to build, remodel, or simply improve the house. According to the Hotpoint Home Laundry Institute, the least likely place to find laundry equipment today is in the basement, unless this is a "family room."

The kitchen is a location for



DECORATOR-STYLED LAUNDRY ALCOVE is possible and easily achieved with the addition of handsome folding doors. The doors shown above are prehung in their own frames so an entire unit can be installed by a handyman in ten minutes with common hand tools. Four patterns are available, all with durable surfaces of polymer plastic that needs no finishing.



NEW DOUBLE WALL OVEN features two separate ovens, each equipped with a glass door that glides up out of the way instead of swinging down or out in the usual manner. The brick wall adds a smart note to the area.

washer and dryer that is highly convenient and also eye-pleasing, as the home laundry "twins" are style-and-color correlated to the kitchen appliances. The flat tops of the laundry equipment provides additional counter space.

PANTRY

A butler pantry adjacent to the kitchen, sometimes found in older houses, is an ideal home laundry area. Some families prefer their automatic washer and dryer in the bathroom as this area not only has convenient plumbing connections, but is near to the rooms where much laundries are frequently found in garages and, in kindly climates, in carports.

The ideal placement for home laundry is, of course, in it s own special area — a separate room devoted to the care of clothes and linens. Sinks, storage closets, folding and sorting areas, facilities for ironing, sewing and mending can be located here.

APPEARANCE

While this is sometimes called the "utility room", it need not look utilitarian. Most women buy white rather than colored washer and dryer as they do not wish to be tied down to an unchangeable basic color for the long lifetime of the laundry equipment. Then they add zestful color by decorating the clothes-care utility room with striking wallpaper design, murals, tiles, and plants.

Extra Phones May Increase Conveniences

In any kind of home improvement project, a little advance planning always pays dividends. This is particularly true in the case of telephone service which is sometimes overlooked or taken for granted.

With the advice of your local telephone company, the most convenient location for phones and other communications services for your home can be determined in advance. For example, a wall phone in a kitchen can be so placed that one can dial conveniently and have easy access to a writing surface for note-taking.

A final thought on phone planning is consideration of the decorative lift that can be obtained through the use of telephones in color. Wall phones now are available in white, beige, yellow and pink; table model phones in white, beige, green, pink and blue, and Princess phones in white, beige, pink, blue and turquoise.

Wood Sidings

MAKE IT YOURSELF with a mosaic kit that comes with everything you need. The size is 8½" by 24" and has a solid mahogany frame. It's a brilliant wall decor!

Treatment Of Walls Is Important

Miss Lockhart, who has done some of Hollywood's most intriguing homes, feels that all too often wall decorations fail to give that "just right" touch to create not only a conversation - making background, but also to coordinate the room's decor.

Charming wall decorations need not be expensive. A bit of imagination in the selection and in the hanging is all that is needed to convert many products now on the market into an accent of elegance.

MOSAIC

Mosaic wall plaques, for instance, are available in a variety of subjects to fit any decor. The kits of these mosaics are unusually complete — right down to the crushed crystals, marble and jewels, which make them not only entrancing to hang but fun to easily create.

The sparkling, jeweled decor dimension mosaics, for example, are as equisite as musuem pieces. Designed by Hallman is a series of 8½" x 24" panel kits which can be hung separately, or coordinated. Gorgeous splendid jeweled pheasant will give any setting a new and brilliant look; and Mrs. Lockhart defies anyone to guess that the kits from which they are assembled cost any more than $5.00.

CORK PANELS

Cork panels, too, available in any lumber yard, can be the decoration of a handsome wall decoration at a complete cost of less than $10.00. Easily set into a baroque frame, the cork makes a character textured background on which to hang or insert a beautifully painted plate, or Dresden china doll that will give a piquant lift to most any mid-Victorian room.

In a stark white modern frame the cork panel will brilliantly set off brass or copper decorations to make a conversation piece for contemporary decoration, while in a maple frame it is Early American.

LBJ Orders Uranium Reduction

U.S. Opposition Caused Failure Of Laos Coup

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. diplomatic sources said today the right - wing army coup in Laos had collapsed after one day. U.S. opposition to the coup apparently was a major factor.

"The situation is back where it was 36 hours ago," said an American diplomat who had been in contact with the U.S. Embassy in Vientiane, the Laotian capital.

He said reports were still sketchy, but that diplomatic dispatches from Vientiane said neutralist Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma had been released from house arrest and leaders of the coup had apologized for their attempt to topple the coalition government.

REPORTED CALM

The dispatches said the rebel leaders also apologized to Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, right - wing leader in Laos, who was not linked to the coup.

There was no immediate information on the whereabouts of Souvanna, but he was believed in Vientiane, which was reported calm.

"The situation in Vientiane appears to be gradually reverting to what it was before," an American diplomat said.

In Bangkok, however, the newspaper Thai Rath said that after the report of the coup's collapse, Vientiane radio repeated Sunday's communiques from the military committee which staged Sunday's predawn coup.

Leonard Unger, U.S. ambassador to Laos, had brought pressure on Gen. Kouprasith Abhay, the anti-Communist career officer who led the army group that overthrew Souvanna's coalition.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, who had been visiting South Viet Nam, said before leaving for Washington that the United States disapproved of the coup and feared it might upset the Geneva accord of 1962 which set up a coalition government for Laos.

Britain and France also came out in opposition to the coup.

The coup took place shortly after Souvanna returned from the Plaine des Jarres, where he had attended a summit meeting with the other leaders of the coalition, Gen. Phoumi and Prince Souphanouvong, leader of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao and half brother of the premier.

State Police Jury Meeting Begins Today

New Election Plan To Be Studied By Group

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—More than 1,400 local government officials were in town today for the 40th annual convention of the Police Jury Association of Louisiana.

The convention was to open today and run through Tuesday.

A new form of election for police jurors and highway funds were expected to come in for a lot of discussion by the delegates.

The election plan calls for electing jurors to staggered terms to prevent loss of continuity when large numbers of jurors are defeated in an election, as happened in some cases in recent elections.

Backers of the plan said it would give parishes more stable government.

ENFORCEMENT

Also up for discussion was a proposal to ask the legislature for another delay in enforcement of a state law imposing a financial penalty on parishes using the ward system to distribute highway funds.

The state highway act cuts off appropriations to parishes which allocate money to jury members on a ward basis to spend at their discretion. The law requires distribution by the unit system, under which the entire jury decides how money will be spent.

The legislature has granted a series of temporary delays in enforcement of the law.

Gov.-Elect John J. McKeithen was scheduled to address Tuesday's session. Other speakers were Highway Director Ray Burgess and Supt. of Education-Elect William Dodd.

Queen Juliana Shuns Wedding Of Daughter

PARIS (AP) — Dutch Queen Juliana has washed her hands of the Rome wedding of her daughter Princess Irene to a long-shot pretender to the throne of Spain.

The family of the bridegroom-to-be, Prince Carlos of Bourbon-Parma, announced in Paris Sunday that the couple would marry in a Roman Catholic ceremony in the Italian capital on April 29.

Complaining that the Dutch royal family was told of the arrangements just before the newspapers got the news, the queen's secretary announced in the Hague that Juliana and Prince Bernhard would not attend.

STRAINED

A spokesman for the Bourbon-Parma family admitted that relations between the two families were severely strained. He blamed the Dutch government.

"We regret that certain political circles which have not succeeded in breaking the engagement have at least managed to lessen the good understanding between the two royal families which separates them for the time being, to their great regret," the spokesman said.

Truman Turns First Spade

Truman introduced Churchill when the former British prime minister made his famous "Iron Curtain" speech on the Westminster College campus here March 5, 1964.

"Form Stettin in the Baltic to Trieste in the Adriatic an iron curtain has descended across the continent," said Churchill, referring to the Soviet Union's grip on Eastern Europe.

Nixon Most Likely GOP Nominee

But Goldwater Far Ahead In Personal Choice

NEW YORK (AP)—A nationwide poll of Republican county chairmen and other party leaders named former Vice President Richard M. Nixon as the most likely winner of the 1964 GOP presidential nomination.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, however, was far ahead as the personal preference of the 1,606 persons participating.

The survey was the third such poll taken by The Associated Press.

In the survey, which began April 1, correspondents in 50 states and the District of Columbia questioned more than 3,000 county chairme vice chairmen, town leaders and other party officials.

TWO PARTS

There were two parts in the questionnaire—"Who is your personal preference to be the nominee?" and "Whom do you think the convention will nominate?"

Here are the results:

Most Likely to be Nominated
Nixon—526
Goldwater—427
Lodge—189
Scranton—159
Rockefeller—50
Others—19
No opinion expressed—223

Your Personal Preference
Goldwater—722
Nixon—301
Lodge—193
Scranton—191
Rockefeller—84
Others—27
No preference—88

The first Associated Press survey was made last October; the second in December after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Judge Restrains Interference At World Fair

NEW YORK (AP)—A judge issued today a temporary restraining order, effective immediately, barring interference with all modes of transportation to the World's Fair, which opens Wednesday.

Justice Joseph M. Conroy of the Queens State Supreme Court signed the order, aimed at forestalling the planned stall-in by civil rights groups. Among those named in the order were Isiah Brunson, head of the Brooklyn chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality; Herbert Callendar, head of the Bronx CORE; and Arnold Goldwag, public relations head of Brooklyn CORE.

SUSPENDED

The Brooklyn chapter has been suspended by the national CORE for its plans to tie up the city's transportation—subways, highways, commuter trains and tunnels—leading to the fair site in Flushing, Queens.

Trade School Operation Study Asked

W. E. Whetstone of Monroe said today the State Board of Education has called on the 25-man superintendents committee to conduct a study of trade school operations.

The board, at its regular monthly meeting Friday and Saturday at Hodges Gardens, declined to rescind a motion prohibiting high school students from attending trade and vocational schools.

"We adopted a 10-point resolution requesting the 25-man committee of superintendents to check into all performances of trade schools and submit their recommendations by June 1st with the possibility of providing vocational training under the local school boards for all of the 552 high schools in Louisiana rather than just a few," Whetstone said.

REQUEST

Supt. Milton Hall and Asst. Supt. P. G. Mangum of Ouachita Parish appeared before the board with a request from the Fifth District Superintendents Association to rescind the original motion regarding trade schools.

But Whetstone said, "We heard them out, but took no action."

Whetstone, who represents the Fifth District on the board, touched off a controversy with his resolution to stop high school students from attending vocational and trade schools.

Meantime, Supt. Joseph J. Davies Jr., who serves on the state board from Arabi, issued the following statement today on the trade school issue:

"The recent policy established by the State Board of Education limiting the attendance of high school students at trade schools has been highly publicized through newspaper editorials, letters, resolutions by political subdivisions, Chambers of Commerce, etc. The majority of this publicity has been highly critical. Gains Reported In Rail Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today federal mediators have reported to President Johnson "some definite gains" in emergency railroad bargaining talks aimed at averting a nationwide strike.

"However," said White House press secretary George Reedy "there are some very difficult issues that still remain."

Reedy said one of the mediators told him that the talks have now reached a stage "where to gain an inch is as difficult as it was to gain a foot a week ago."

Reedy said intensive talks will continue, with Johnson maintaining close liaison with the mediators.

RE-DOUBLE EFFORTS

Asked whether Johnson was satisfied with the report, made at about 10 p.m., Sunday, Reedy said: "Obviously the only thing that would be satisfactory is a settlement."

He said Johnson commended both sides "for the gains they have made, and urged them to re-double their efforts" to settle the five year long work rules dispute.

Johnson reportedly met with federal mediators and negotiators for both sides Sunday night for a report on the 10-day-old talks, which he hopes will avert a nationwide strike Saturday.

He had called for a report by today but apparently Sunday night's session covered the ground.

Reedy described the negotiators and mediators as "a group of very weary men."

They have been talking for 10 days since Johnson won a voluntary strike postponement for 15 days, which expires at 12:01 a.m. Saturday.

"The men aren't just sitting there glaring at each other," Reedy said.

Asked whether Johnson might ask for a further postponement of next Saturday's strike deadline, Reedy said the talks were not now at a point where the administration would have to ask for a further extension.

Any extension would have to be on a voluntary basis because all delaying provisions of federal law have been exhausted in the dispute.

Reey said there is still no reason "to be discouraged thus far in the collective bargaining process" as a means of settling the dispute.

But he added: "You have not reached a solution until you have reached it."

Right Amendment Vote Scheduled In Mid-Week

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen announced today he will call up about the middle of the week his first amendment to the House-passed civil rights bill.

The Illinois Republican also said he expects to unveil Tuesday final details of his last amendment to the fair employment section of the measure. This deals with federal - state jurisdiction over job discrimination cases.

The senate today began the seventh week of debate. Democratic Whip Hubert H. Humphrey asserted that the Senate "has not reached the filibuster stage." But Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., leader of the Dixie opposition, said there were indications that "preliminary debate" is going the country better understanding of the bill's "momentous impact" on their lives and their government.

Production Cutback Set Over 4 Years

NEW YORK (UPI) — President Johnson announced today that he has ordered a further "substantial reduction" in U.S. production of enriched uranium for nuclear weapons. He said Nikita S. Khrushchev has indicated he plans a similar move.

In a wide-ranging foreign policy speech, Johnson also disclosed that he has sent William Bundy, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, to Laos for a first-hand look at the political crisis there.

Johnson also reaffirmed U.S. policy to isolate Cuba. He likewise reiterated this country's determination to win the war in Viet Nam and put in a plug for congressional approval of his new foreign aid requests.

TOUCHES DOMESTIC ISSUES

Discussing domestic politics, Johnson said "partisan politics must yield to national need." In this connection, he said he has instructed the Departments of State, Defense and the Central Intelligence Agency to be ready to provide "major candidates" for the presidency with "all possible information helpful to their discussion of American policy."

But the President's address, made before the annual meeting of the Associated Press at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel, dealt mainly with foreign policy.

"We will discuss any problem, listen to any proposal, pursue any agreement, take any action which might lessen the chance of war without sacrificing the interests of our allies or our own ability to defend the alliance against attack."

Johnson said his order reducing uranium production would be carried out over a four-year period. Added to previous reductions, he said, the new cut will mean an over-all decrease in the production of plutonium by 20 per cent and of enriched uranium by 40 per cent.

"By bringing production in line with need," he said, "we reduce tension while maintaining all necessary power.

"I am happy to say that Chairman Khrushchev has now indicated to me that he intends to make a move in this same direction."

Construction Halted At 2 Red Reactors

MOSCOW (UPI) — Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev announced tonight the Soviet Union has stopped construction of two new atomic reactors and will "reduce substantially" its production of uranium for nuclear weapons.

Khrushchev's statement, carried by the Soviet news agency Tass, said the Soviet decision was in return for statements by President Johnson and British Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home that their nations would reduce the manufacture of uranium for military purposes.

Khrushchev said his government took these decisions:

—To discontinue construction on two new big atomic reactors for the production of plutonium.

—To reduce substantially over the "next several years' the Soviet production of uranium-235 for nuclear weapons.

—To allocate more fissionable materials for peaceful uses, specifically for power, industry, farming, medicine and the distillation of sea water.

Truman Says Rights Stall-In 'Foolish'

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman, commenting today on the planned civil rights stall-in on Wednesday, opening of the World's Fair, said: "They're as foolish as they can be."

Truman, walking from the Hotel Carlyle to visit his daughter, Margaret Daniel, also said:

"If they want to make enemies, that's the way to do it. What they propose to do will make an enemy of me.

Truman who will be 80 years old on May 8, arrived here Sunday night to work on a television series.

Ward 5 Hospital Bond Vote Due For Expansion

The polls open at 6 a.m. Tuesday for the bond issue election to expand Glenwood Hospital.

Fourteen polling places will be open for a 14-hour span, until 8 p.m.

During that time, all property-owners who are registered voters in Ward 5 will have the opportunity to cast their ballot on the proposed $870,000 bond issue.

Passage of the bond issue will mean a $1.7 million expansion program which will double the hospital's size. Free federal funds of $830,000 Hill Burton grant will match the local issue.

"Transportation to the polls is available by calling the West Monroe Chamber of Commerce office, 387-0859," according to Tex Kilpatrick, Glenwood expansion program chairman.

The Chamber office will be open until after all returns are in, Manager Eugene Smith announced today. Coffee will be served to all interested persons.

"Poll workers have been instructed to call in the tabulations, and these unofficial totals will be released from this office Tuesday night," Smith noted. "The official count will be made at 5 p.m. Wednesday."

A final report session was held this morning, with Kilpatrick and Charlie Chisholm presiding.

MINISTER AVERS

French Policy Protects Latin America From Reds

NEW YORK (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle's policies in Asia and Latin America in the long run can help the United Nations defend those areas from communism, declares French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville.

The foreign minister offered what he called "clarifications of French foreign policy" in an interview filmed in Paris for presentation at the annual meeting of The Associated Press today.

In a painstaking explanation, the foreign minister made these points:

—Red China: "The future will prove" that France, in recognizing Peking, did nothing contrary to the West's interests in Asia.

—Viet Nam: It is "completely ridiculous" to say French activities in Southeast Asia are related to anti-Americanism. France wants Southeast Asia to "remain or become free—not fall under Communist domination."

—Latin America: French policy can help diminish anti-Americanism by providing an alternative — Europe — for those who now feel they must choose between the United States and the Communist world.

Couve de Murville, interviewed by the Paris AP bureau chief, Richard K. O'Malley, waved his hand in a gesture of impatience as he brushed away the idea that De Gaulle's recommendation of neutralism for Viet Nam smacked of anti-Americanism. The United States, with 17,000 military personnel in South Viet Nam, is deeply committed to defending the anti-Communist regime against Communist guerrilla war.

To those Americans who believe neutralization would be a step toward Communist control of South Viet Nam, Couve de Murville said:

"I think it is completely ridiculous to say that anything we do or express regarding Southeast Asia—Indochina in particular—has anything to do with anti-Americanism.

"I may say our interests and our purposes are the same, and that is that those countries remain or become free, not fall under Communist domination.

"On the other hand, it is absurd to say that there is a ready made French solution capable for solving all the problems and overcoming all the difficulty."

DOMESTIC ISSUES

Foreign Envoys Rate LBJ High

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, in confidential reports many European embassies sent to their capitals, got an "A" in domestic affairs. But grading was deferred in his other major, foreign policy.

A number of Western diplomats, who cannot be quoted, speak with surprising frankness about these reports. Conversations with them reveal that the envoys have amazingly similar views about the Johnson administration.

The explanation for the flattering high mark in domestic affairs is simple. Johnson, the diplomats are saying, has achieved in a remarkably short time good working harmony with Congress, something which they say was on a sadly low level during the last period of the Kennedy administration.

In foreign affairs, however, grading had to be postponed because of what diplomats delicately described as Johnson's reserved attitude on most foreign policy questions which interest this country's European allies.

The envoys of course are aware that 1964 is an election year and that customarily domestic problems push foreign policy headaches into the background.

But, one French-speaking diplomat spoke of noblesse oblige —in this case meaning that as the Western world's leader the United States, election year or not, must continue to give guidance to the West.

There is an almost puzzling similarity among Western diplomats, the French excluded, mildly criticizing the administration's position on Charles de Gaulle. The words they use range from exaggeration to defeatism. De Gaulle is not Europe, the diplomats' reasoning goes. They feel the current Washington thinking grossly overrates the general's power to bring European integration to a halt or to create some kind of a third force.

SPRUCE UP HOUSE

Doors Of Steel Are Handsome

One of the easiest and most decorative ways to spruce up an old house or lend added charm to a new one is with warp-free steel doors. In addition to beauty, new types of steel doors now available offer economy, safety and ease of installation.

Sound-insulated steel doors in decorator colors and finishes have many advantages when used outside the house. They are also suitable for any room or closet inside.

CHOICE

You can have your choice of a painted finish in every shape of the rainbow, and then some. Steel doors also permits you to change the color at will with a minimum of effort. Then there are vinyl or plastic coatings in many colors and patterns that resist fading and scratching while letting you blend the door with any kind of room decor. If porcelain-on-steel is your choice, you can have solid colors or designs with a matte or glassy finish that is chip resistant and easy to keep clean.

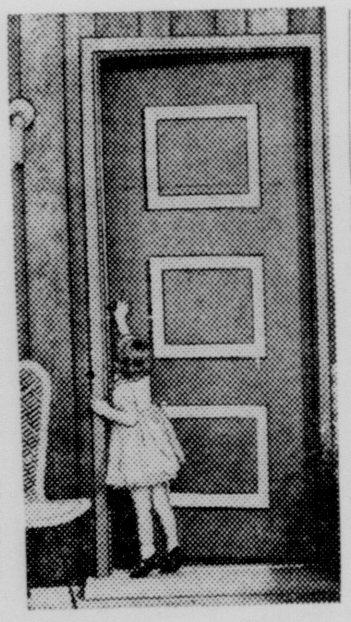
When it comes to styles, steel doors again set the pace. There are single, double, sliding and folding doors, as well as units with glass inserts or side lights, louvers and transoms.

In addition to their handsome appearance, steel doors offer longer than any other kind. Made of cold rolled or galvanized steel sheet, they stand up under extraordinary abuse and require a minimum of upkeep. They are immune to rotting, swelling, warping and sagging regardless of the climate, age or wear.

DIMENSIONS

Since they retain their true dimensions, there is a tight seal between the door and frame. When used outside in colder climes, they virtually eliminate the need for storm doors. And when hardened steel locks are combined with strong steel entry doors, you needn't worry about security.

The safety features of steel doors make them just right for the hobby room if any member of the family uses inflamable paints or electrical tools. They should also be used on house entries from the garage and furnace rooms where a fire could start. Steel doors withstand much higher temperatures than any other door materials.



DOORS OF STEEL now come in a variety of styles, colors and finishes — and when you add their modern good looks to the rugged qualities of steel — it's easy to see why many homeowners are adding this kind of door.

Take Care When Busy Gardening

Mowing may be a man's job but it's the woman who makes the flowers grow. And to most women, the garden is a source of pride and pleasure.

However, even a few hours outdoors planting and pruning can play havoc with good looks. This year why not make gardening a beauty treatment? There's no reason to wither while the garden blooms. After a full days work hands can still look as well manicured as the lawn. Complexion can glow and hair sparkle.

A day of gardening is a good way to cultivate a suntan early in the year. Take precautions so you will end up with a glowing color instead of a dried-out complexion. When your skin is first exposed to the sun after winter months, it's advisable to use a suntan lotion for even tanning instead of a lobster red color. If your skin is particularly sensitive to the sun, invest in a hat with a visor.

Before starting your chores apply a thin coat of petroleum jelly to your hands to keep the skin soft. Too, you will find that grass and other garden stains are easier to remove if hands are protected with a thin film of petroleum jelly.

Diamonds Are Used On Projects

When your home improvement plans include the addition of new plumbing and heating pipes or new electrical conduits, you might find that your interest in diamonds isn't limited to the kind that go into jewelry.

Small industrial diamonds, on the end of rotating drill bits, are simplifying the job of boring holes in masonry walls or foundations for installation of new pipes. These bits go through brick, stone, concrete, tile, and cinder block with a smooth, fast cutting action that is almost noiseless.

DRILLING RIGS

Many plumbers and electricians are now equipped with diamond drill rigs. The diamond-impregnated drill bits come in a wide range of sizes, from one-fourth-inch diameter up to 14-inches diameter. This allows a choice of a bit of just the right size for the pipe to be installed. There is no dust or debris created by the diamond bit, and it does not break surrounding material as do old-fashioned impact methods of opening walls for piping.

Although the diamonds must be cooled by water while the drill is cutting through masonry, vacuum units catch the water and remove it to a container.

Start At The Top To Build Playroom In The Basement

There are few jobs that offer a chance to start at the top, but that's the logical place to begin the construction of a basement recreation room.

Two good reasons for a handyman's starting at the ceiling level are (1) a finished ceiling makes an immediately visible improvement, and (2) a ceiling of acoustical tile helps lessen the noise of future sawing and pounding as the room takes shape, says a home improvement specialist for a chemical company.

HANDYMAN

"A home handyman can build a basement recreation room in three stages — the ceiling, the walls and finally covering the floor — in his spare time," says Bill Herbert. "This will permit him to budget his expenses for supplies over a period of time and also keep his working area from becoming overcrowded with materials he doesn't immediately need."

To prepare a ceiling for tiling, Herbert suggests nailing three-inch-wide staple strips across the joists, 12 inches on centers. Start the first strip flush against a wall. The second strip should be spaced so its center is the same distance from the wall as the width of a border tile. Two nails should be used at each crossing.

The next step is to shim under the joists with thin wedges where needed to guarantee level furring.

When all strips are in place, a pair of wood blocks should be nailed between joists where lightling fixtures are to be installed.

"Plan the layout and start with a border tile in a corner," Herbert explains. "Next position border tiles at each side of the first one. The first full tile will be the fourth fitted in position. Each tile should be secured by four half-inch staples — or nails — driven into the nailing tongues," he says.

CEILING TILES

He adds that fiberboard acoustical ceiling tiles can be trimmed with a sharp saw to fit around edges of lighting fixtures or along edges where trimming is required.

"As with the ceiling, wall paneling such as gypsum wallboard goes on best when applied over furring strips," Herbert continues.

"The furring strips — one-by-three-inch sizes are also best for this job — can be secured to a cement wall with metal anchors made especially for this purpose.

"These furring strips should be applied horizontally, 16 inches center-to-center, except in corners where two vertical strips should be positioned to provide a continuous nailing surface."

Panels of gypsum wallboard—which are made in standard four by-eight-feet sheets — can be applied directly to the furring. Gypsum wallboard can be finished with either paint or wallpaper.

"A suitable floor covering — tile, lineoleum or good quality deck paint — will complete the third stage of basic construction," Herbert says.

"Built-in benches, a soda bar, game area or storage space can be added later — as time and budget permit."

Put Flowers In All Rooms

You need only a few daffodils to bring a fresh, bright look to every room in the house. Put a few in a small vase in the places where you can see and enjoy them as you go about your daily work — beside the telephone, on a kitchen counter or shelf, as a centerpiece for the table, in the bathroom.

A special vase is not needed. You may have an unusual or favorite tea pot, which would be a handsome container for daffodils.

EFFECTIVE

A few of these pert flowers in a creamer or sugar bowl can be very effective; or a pretty glass or coffee cup is just the right size for three to four daffodils. One of the nicest things about daffodils is that they do not require arranging. Just remember to give them water as needed, and they will stay fresh and lovely for days.

This is the time of year when daffodils appear in the shops in great quantity. As long as they are seasonal, you can go on enjoying them through the rest of the Winter until Spring finally returns. And then, if you planted your bulbs last Fall, you can begin cutting daffodils from the garden.

WORLD OF TAPE, SOUND

Variety Of Fun With Recorder

If your home improvement plans call for a high fidelity stereo system and your budget is limited, one of the new portable tape recorders could be ideal.

For example, stereo tape recorder recently introduced serves as a handsome self-contained unit or, if you want to make additions later, as part of a custom-built high fidelity system.

Many people have misconceptions, stemming from rapid developments in the field, about tape recorders. They feel tape recorders are complicated and expensive and are not sure of their uses.

EXPERIENCE NEEDED

Actually, professional tape recorders used in the radio industry and introduced in 1948, do require some experience to operate.

But simplified home tape recorders now available feature more automatic and less manual controls. The new machine has only five knobs and a person unfamiliar with tape recorders and with no technical background can learn to operate it almost as easily as a radio.

The unit is also realistically priced at under $300.

A home tape recorder is surprisingly versatile. Of course, it allows you to record voices or music and it plays pre-recorded tapes of either. The best of the music on discs is also available on tapes and hi-fi buffs feel the sound quality of tapes is superior to discs.

VARIOUS USES

But tape recorders have various other uses.

A growing number of people correspond by tape instead of letter, adding the personal touch of their voices. Obviously, both sender and recipient need recorders.

New Look Is Available For Ceilings

Next time you want to modernize a ceiling in your home, try putting up a suspended ceiling.

The suspended ceiling consists of a metal grid system which is installed at whatever ceiling height is desired. Ceiling panels — acoustical, incombustible, or decorative — are then laid into position in the grid.

For many years the suspension system has been the popular method of installing ceilings in large projects, such as office buildings are being made available to homeowners through local building materials dealers.

COST LOW

The cost is low, too. A modern suspended ceiling can be installed in an average - size room (12' x 15') for under $85.00, according to The Celotex Corporation.

This type of ceiling has several other advantages:

Since ceiling panels simply rest on the flanges of the grid members, they can be tipped out of position and removed at any time. This makes it easy for cleaning. Fiberboard panels, which are available either in acoustical or decorative finishes, can be washed with a sponge and a mild detergent.

This flexible ceiling also permits easy access to above-ceiling fixtures and service lines — especially important in a basement remodeling project.

The high ceilings of old-fashioned rooms can be lowered and modernized without the extra labor and expense of installing heavy ceiling joists and other framing.

GLARE FREE

Evenly diffused, glare - free lighting can be placed wherever required, with the use of transulcent lay - in panels. An all-luminous ceiling adds dimension to small rooms, and cheerfully brightens kitchens and other rooms.

The suspended ceiling is an ideal do-it-yourself project, since no special skills or tools are required. Modernizing the ceiling of an average-size room would take no more than a weekend.

THE MASCULINE TONE FOR THIS LIBRARY is established by the distinctive pecan woodgrain wall paneling and the massive furnishings. The paneling is a factory-finished hardboard which maintains its fine appearance simply by occasional wiping with a damp cloth.

Staple Tiles To Ceilings

Thinking about a new ceiling for your basement, attic, or any room in the house? There is a new lightweight stapler that is a boon to the "'do-it-yourselfer" for putting up ceiling tile. It double-staples the tile directly to gypsum board or rock lath. This extra holding power eliminates any need for glue or cement and makes the job faster and easier.

The Gyplok Tacker already has been tested and approved by most major ceiling tile manufacturers.

There's Art In Cleaning The House

Getting curtains, drapes and slipcovers to come clean is only half the battle against the winter's accumulation of dirt. Brightening colors and fabrics is the other. If whites look tattletale gray and colors look faded and wan, add a special bleach with brightener to the wash water.

Avoid bleaches with chlorine which could harm rather than brighten colors and fine fabrics. Rather, use a chlorine-free bleach which works by oxygen action.

Remember when we depended upon bright sunlight to bleach our curtains? First there was the all day ordeal with the collapsible curtain stretcher. After that duel in the sun there remained a long and painstaking ironing job.

Science, with its beautiful man-made fabrics for curtains, drapes and slipcovers has performed labor saving miracles for the housewife. Today's drip dry materials are laundered quickly and safely by hand or automatic machine. Just be sure to use the detergent and bleach designed especially for them.

Notions Cabinet Lots Of Fun For Children

Want to keep the children on the other side of the screen door? They won't bang in and out of the house nearly so often if you supply them with a Notions Nest outdoors — a gayly decorated box equipped with the items children usually come in asking for.

You can get a big wooden cheese box from the neighborhood grocery and decorate it yourself. Instead of paint it's faster to use colored plastic tape. Why not alternate two colors for stripes to match the awnings? Or make it a bright red, children's favorite color. You either screw the Nest to the back of the house or attach it to a window sill if there's one low enough. Otherwise, hang it inside the garage. That way it's always in youngsters' reach.

EASY TO EQUIP

You'll find it easy to equip the Notions Nest. Just think of the things the children most frequently need. You'll want to include tissues, of course. They never seem to have enough of these. Be sure to supply a tube of petroleum jelly. They can apply it themselves straight from the tube to relieve the pain and soothe their inevitable scratches and scrapes. It's ideal, too, for lubricating bicycles so they won't squeak. And, if your children are like most they ask for an adhesive bandage for the slightest scratch. Keep them happy with a large box in the Notions Nest.

Probably the most frequent excuse children use for coming int the house is to ask for a glass of water. Keep a small thermos filled with water in the Nest, along with some paper cups. That will quench their thirst and eliminate a few trips.

IDEAL GIFT

An ideal gift for city apartment dwellers, the Society of American Florists says, is an indoor plant garden. Lush green foliage is a pleasant relief to these people who see concrete, brick, steel, and glass day and night.

Hardwood Walls

The Kitchen Deserves Improving

No matter how the world may change, the kitchen remains the heart of the home.

It's where children rush to greet Mom after school. It's Dad's first port of call when his work day is done. Most important of all, the kitchen is Mother's exclusive domain, the place where she spends the largest part of her day.

As such, it should be a cheerful room where she can function efficiently and easily. And it should be inviting to every other member of the family, offering them warmth and relaxation at any time.

If your kitchen falls short of this idea, now is the time to do something about it. Now is the time to turn your thoughts to steel for beauty, efficiency and friendliness.

A well organized kitchen should have plenty of counter space and enough storage in each work area to make it easy to put things where they belong.

Gleaming steel requires less care than any other material. This makes it deal for the kitchen from both a decorative and convenience standpoint. Steel cabinets, both the wallhanging and the standing models, are roomy. They're also immune from warping and cracking — the spoil or spills can be wiped up in a matter of seconds.

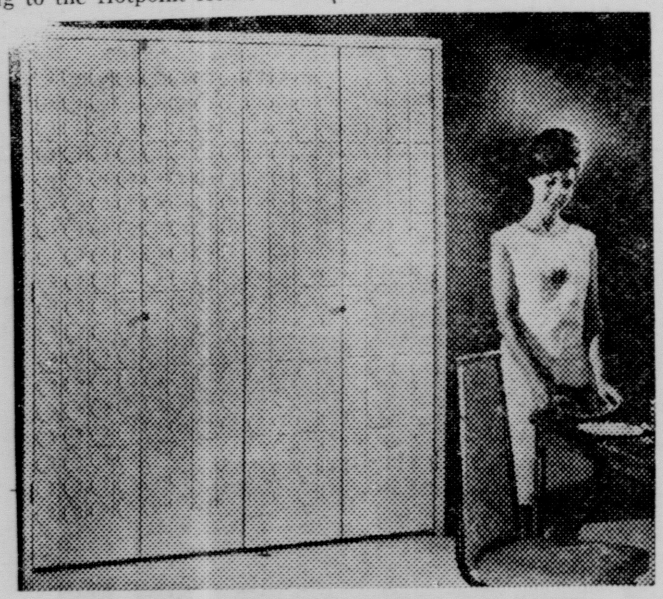
Plan For Every Activity In Home

The location of the home laundry puzzles many homeowners about to build, remodel, or simply improve the house. According to the Hotpoint Home Laundry Institute, the least likely place to find laundry equipment today is in the basement, unless this is a "family room."

The kitchen is a location for washer and dryer that is highly convenient and also eye-pleasing, as the home laundry "twins" are style-and-color correlated to the kitchen appliances. The flat tops of the laundry equipment provides additional counter space.



DECORATOR-STYLED LAUNDRY ALCOVE is possible and easily achieved with the addition of handsome folding doors. The doors shown above are prehung in their own frames so an entire unit can be installed by a handyman in ten minutes with common hand tools. Four patterns are available, all with durable surfaces of polymer plastic that needs no finishing.

PANTRY

A butler pantry adjacent to the kitchen, sometimes found in older houses, is an ideal home laundry area. Some families prefer their automatic washer and dryer in the bathroom as this area not only has convenient plumbing connections, but is near to the rooms where much laundries are frequently found in garages and, in kindly climates, in carports.

The ideal placement for home laundry is, of course, in it s own special area — a separate room devoted to the care of clothes and linens. Sinks, storage closets, folding and sorting areas, facilities for ironing, sewing and mending can be located here.

APPEARANCE

While this is sometimes called the "utility room", it need not look utilitarian. Most women buy white rather than colored washer and dryer as they do not wish to be tied down to an unchangeable basic color for the long lifetime of the laundry equipment. Then they add zestful color by decorating the clothes-care utility room with striking wallpaper design, murals, tiles, and plants.

Extra Phones May Increase Conveniences

In any kind of home improvement project, a little advance planning always pays dividends. This is particularly true in the case of telephone service which is sometimes overlooked or taken for granted.

With the advice of your local telephone company, the most convenient location for phones and other communications services for your home can be determined in advance. For example, a wall phone in a kitchen can be so placed that one can dial conveniently and have easy access to a writing surface for note-taking.

A final thought on phone planning is consideration of the decorative lift that can be obtained through the use of telephones in color. Wall phones now are available in white, beige, yellow and pink; table model phones in white, beige, green, pink and blue, and Princess phones in white, beige, pink, blue and turquoise.

Wood Sidings

Primed wood sidings and suggestions for their use are readily available at local retail lumber dealers.

NEW DOUBLE WALL OVEN features two separate ovens, each equipped with a glass door that glides up out of the way instead of swinging down or out in the usual manner. The brick wall adds a smart note to the area.

MAKE IT YOURSELF with a mosaic kit that comes with everything you need. The size is 8½" by 24" and has a solid mahogany frame. It's a brilliant wall decor!

Treatment Of Walls Is Important

Miss Lockhart, who has done some of Hollywood's most intriguing homes, feels that all too often wall decorations fail to give that "just right" touch to create not only a conversation - making background, but also to coordinate the room's decor.

Charming wall decorations need not be expensive. A bit of imagination in the selection and in the hanging is all that is needed to convert many products now on the market into an accent of elegance.

MOSAIC

Mosaic wall plaques, for instance, are available in a variety of subjects to fit any decor. The kits of these mosaics are unusually complete — right down to the crushed crystals, marble and jewels, which make them not only entrancing to hang but fun to easily create.

The sparkling, jeweled decor dimension mosaics, for example, are as equisite as musuem pieces. Designed by Hallman is a series of 8½" x 24" panel kits which can be hung separately, or coordinated. Gorgeous splendid jeweled pheasant will give any setting a new and brilliant look; and Mrs. Lockhart defies anyone to guess that the kits from which they are assembled cost any more than $5.00.

CORK PANELS

Cork panels, too, available in any lumber yard, can be the decoration of a handsome wall decoration at a complete cost of less than $10.00. Easily set into a baroque frame, the cork makes a character textured background on which to hang or insert a beautifully painted plate, or Dresden china doll that will give a piquant lift to most any mid-Victorian room.

In a stark white modern frame the cork panel will brilliantly set off brass or copper decorations to make a conversation piece for contemporary decoration, while in a maple frame it is Early American.
